THE STUDENTS OF HEMPSTEAD HIGH SCHOOL

this eighteenth annual yearbook of hempstead high school is offered by the class of '40 as a pictorial time capsule with the hope that there will be preserved intact in it a reminder of worthy accomplishments, congenial friendships, and all other experiences which have contributed to this school year to the class of 1939

Admiring you for your eagerness, lauding you for your ambition, granting you your aspirations, we have chosen as a theme for the 1939 Colonial one of pure simplicity, truly symbolic of the world of tomorrow. In your honor and in honor of all youth who face their tomorrows, we present this book.

To the Colonial,

Youth facing tomorrow must be prepared adequately for citizenship in our modern democracy, for dealing intelligently with the new knowledge of the modern world, for continued and increased understanding and appreciation of the treasures of human thought, and for satisfactory adjustment to practical and useful opportunities. Education must, therefore, not only be integrative, yielding common types of information, skills, understanding, ideals, attitudes, and tastes necessary for life in a cooperative society such as our democracy is, but it must also be differentiative, preparing a wide variety of minds with suitable equipment to carry forward work and progress along all fronts of knowledge and activity. Such training will produce higher levels of thought and achievement and open frontiers no less real because today they are frontiers of thought.

It's a fast pace
And a hard race
For the man who gets ahead,
It's a rough road
And a steep climb
With the blood oft running red.

It's a cold day
And a long day
Before every task is done.
But all's forgot
In the warm light
When the wanted peak is won.

to hempstead high

Another page has been written
One more chapter is through,
So now to our Alma Mater
We bid a fond adieu.

Our high-school days are now over
We sail for a new shore,
To the standards of Blue and White
Our aims we'll hold evermore.

We take with us the memories
Of fun and work well-done,
Of all the dances, plays, and meets,
And sports we've lost and won.

We've made friends here that we shall keep
For high school pals are true.
For help and for each guiding hand,
We give our thanks to you.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL of Hempstead High School is an organization which includes the heads of all extra-curricular activities. Its underlying purpose is to bring the whole school into systematic cooperation. One function of this council is the handling of the General Organization budget, by means of which publications, athletics, and other school activities are partly supported.

The outstanding accomplishment of this year's Student Council was its contribution to the fund for landscaping the school's inner court. This was done by sponsoring a series of afternoon dances.

The purchase of the public address system, installed this year, was suggested and promoted by last year's Student Council.

THE ADVISORY COUNCIL is composed of one representative from each home room. It thus represents the student body as a whole and, through its officers, informs the Student Council of the desires of the students. The Advisory Council also acts as the Junior Red Cross Council and takes care of voluntary contributions and distributions to worthy causes of the world, our nation and our community.

The work of the Advisory Council has been the selling of the G.O. tickets and the acting as a voluntary helper to all clubs and activities that need extra cooperation.

THE PURPOSE of the Art Club is to stimulate interest in the broad field of art. During the year several meetings are given over to the study of paintings by well known artists. These are shown through the media of natural colored slides. The club has several parties during the year, the most important being the Christmas party at which a spread is held in the cooking room, following an interesting program. In the spring the club attends a New York play which is enjoyed by the members.

This year the club was fortunate in winning the second prize offered by the Shima Art Company for the sale of Japanese prints.

MEMBERS of the Sketch Club are interested in various means of art expression—particularly fashion drawing and mural painting. To satisfy these interests the weekly meetings include sketching, lectures, and visits to art exhibits. Occasional parties add variety to the club activities.

A committee representing the club is concentrating on the mural designs and plans for completing the club's mural project. The club hopes to contribute towards the future improvement of our high school by making the walls of the ping-pong room in the girls' gym more attractive.

the nativity

IN OBSERVANCE of the Christmas season "The Nativity" was presented to the student body by the A Cappella Choir, with the Departments of Drama, Art, and Home Economics.

"The Nativity" gave in pageant form the story of the first Christmas. The choir provided the musical setting for a series of tableaux which were prefaced by a reading from the Bible.

After the processional, "O, Come All Ye Faithful," and the chorus "Calm On the Listening Ear of Night," the first tableau of the pageant, depicting the peace and calm of Bethlehem with the angels in the sky on the first Christmas Eve, was shown as the chorus sang, "O Little Town of Bethlehem."

"While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks By Night" was sung as a pastoral scene appeared. George Buck, Hubert Drake, Herbert Kendall, and Burtis Knoop were the shepherds listening to an angel who told them the glad news. Solos were sung by Audrey Rapelye, William Barber, Muriel Martens, and John Campbell.

The third tableau, "Journey of the Shepherds," pictured the shepherds going to Bethlehem. George Morges, Robert Lewis, and Dorothy Wildermuth sang the solo parts while the chorus gave "The Shepherd's Story."

As the male chorus sang "March of the Wise Men" the Three Wise Men, portrayed by Fritz Nagy, Saul Schneider, and James St. Croix were shown on their way to the Holy City. With Edna Peters taking the solo part, the girls' chorus sang "No Candle Was There."

The next tableau, "No Room at the Inn," represented the stable with the baby Jesus, his mother Mary and Joseph and the shepherds. Doris Hance was Mary and William Burgess portrayed Joseph. The choir sang Gruber's "Silent Night."

As the choir sang "O, Holy Night" the sixth tableau made a very effective picture of the Three Wise Men presenting their gifts.

The last tableau, "The Adoration," showed Mary, Joseph, the baby Jesus, the Wise Men, the shepherds and twelve angels. The choir accompanied this beautiful picture with Handel's well known "Halleljuah, Amen." The choir closed the "Nativity" with a recessional, "Joy to the World."

The tableaux, representing frieze work, were composed of figures dressed in white having various colored lights projected upon them to produce the effects of marble.

The obligato parts were played by Alfred Breuning, violinist, and Anna Bonney, cellist. The reader for the pageant was Loyola Mathia.

THE UPPER-CLASSMEN who are members of this squad do a great service to the school. The duties of the Assembly Squad are to conduct the classes to the auditorium quickly and with as little confusion as possible, to designate the seat for each student, and to care for the student's comfort.

Formerly the squad was under the supervision of the Pentagon, but it has now become an independent organization.

OUR A CAPPELLA CHOIR, composed of eighty voices, is one of the outstanding organizations of its kind in the state. In the spring the choir was selected as the best of its kind on Long Island, when it sang in the musical festival at Adelphi College.

This fall Mr. Goodhart, a director of music at New York University, chose the A Cappella Choir as a demonstration group for the Teachers' Conference. He worked with them as he had done with the University Glee Club.

The A Cappella Choir contributed much work to "The Nativity," the Christmas pageant. The vocalists, who sang solos which explained the tableaux, were those with outstanding voices.

THE ORCHESTRA is composed of ninety-five pieces and has the only complete symphonic instrumentation in a high school on Long Island. It is considered one of the outstanding high school symphony orchestras in the country.

The many advanced students in the organization enable the Orchestra to play the great works of orchestral literature. The Orchestra gives a number of concerts annually; it gives appreciation programs; and it takes part in various civic musicals. At each concert one or two members play solos with orchestral accompaniment. The training received will give the members a fuller appreciation of music.

Conductor

Imogene Boyle

THE BAND is made up of ninety players and has a complete symphonic band instrumentation. Each year the Band gives several programs of symphonic band literature to the public; it plays and drills for all football games, thus making its contribution to the school's athletics; it plays for all patriotic observances in the village; it takes part in civic functions; and it serves the school and community in many ways. As in the orchestra, the most talented members play solos with band accompaniment.

THE MEMBERS of the Footlight Club are those juniors and seniors who have been chosen for their dramatic ability after a special try-out. The cast of the senior play automatically joins the Footlight Club.

During the year "Overtones," a one-act comedy by Alice Gerstenberg, and "Red Carnations," as a radio production, were presented to the members in the Little Theater room. At a regular meeting a puppet show was presented by the students of the public speaking classes.

The Footlight Club received special tickets from the dramatic departments of Hofstra, Adelphi, and the University of Pennsylvania for their productions.

THE JUNIOR LITERARY SOCIETY is composed of girls who are interested primarily in the arts, especially literature.

The programs, consisting of discussions of the latest in the book mart, the zenith of the Broadway productions, the newest in poetry, the revelations of the globe-tróters, and sundry other types, are conducted in a somewhat informal manner but with an éclat that does justice to the most fastidious student. Ofttimes the serious is intermingled with the frivolous, and a purely social meeting lends variety, and gives the socially-minded members an equal opportunity to indulge their tastes.

DURING the winter months boys interested in gymnastic skills spend time practicing for two exhibitions which are presented by them to the student body. These give the members an opportunity to display their skill in doing the most difficult tasks and allow the students to observe the benefits derived from gymnastic training.

Many of the boys attain a high degree of skill in performing the difficult movements on the high bar, flying rings, mats, and parallel bars. The constant practice and the acquisition of gymnastic skills make possible a physical and mental development that cannot be found in many sports.

All boys of Hempstead High School are eligible for membership in this club.

THROUGH the efforts of Coach Joseph Fay, the Varsity "H" Club was formed for boys interested in sports. Noted men, such as Lou Little of Columbia, "Potsy" Clark of the Brooklyn Dodgers, and Jim Crowley of Fordham, have entertained the boys at their gatherings on Wednesday afternoons. Through the influence of such distinguished men, the boys are enabled to get a larger perspective and a deeper understanding of all that lies behind the sport world. These contacts cannot be found between book covers, neither can the advice and instruction derived from these speakers be measured for their value to the Varsity "H" Club.

CARPE DIEM SODALITAS aims to promote a general interest in Latin and to give a wider knowledge of the relationship existing between our own civilization and that of the Romans. The club also promotes sociability among the members. These aims are accomplished by games and programs, both serious and humorous.

Each year the Latin Club gives three prizes which are awarded to the sophomore, junior, and senior who receive the highest marks in Latin II, III, and IV Regents respectively.

EL CIRCULO CASTELLANO is composed of the students who are taking Spanish and who wish to broaden their knowledge of the Spanish language, customs, and Spanish speaking countries. The members, with William Barreras as chairman of the entertainment committee, provided programs and material for the meetings and exhibitions. Moving pictures of Spain and Spanish America were shown and talks were given by people who had lived in Spain. The club observed as many Spanish holidays as possible and celebrated them in the Spanish manner.

The club has proved to be very educational by giving valuable information to the members who intend to travel in Spanish speaking countries or plan to contact Spanish speaking people in the business world.

THE TUPIAR is the mathematics club of our school. In order to be eligible to join this club a student must have completed the courses in elementary algebra and plane geometry, and must have taken, or must be taking, intermediate algebra.

One of the aims of the club is to work on those things for which there is no time in class. The use of the slide rule is taught. Many mathematical principles which will be helpful in statistical work are discussed.

The Tupiar sponsors a mathematical contest in New York, and the club also offers a prize of five dollars for scholarship.

ALL PLAY and no work make Jack a restless boy and Jill a weary girl. Consequently the History Club had games, dancing, food, and reports on Lincoln, the Fall of Rome, and such erudite subjects at its Christmas Party. The History Club members rate all the Histories, A, B, and C, as favorite subjects, and delight in carrying on a variety of projects in connection with them. An exhibit well worth notice was arranged for Parents' Night. Paying dues is not a favorite occupation, so a dance, a cake sale, and various novel means were employed to raise the funds necessary to finance all activities which involved an outlay of money.

The History Club extends the hand of good fellowship to all who like to participate in matters pertaining to history, friendly gatherings, and painless money raising.

It is the aim of the Rifle Club to assist and encourage those students interested in rifle shooting. The nervous and muscular coordination, the responsibility and dependability developed are most desirable outcomes which this group feels it attains.

A rifle is no longer a necessity for self-preservation, since it is not our sole means of getting food, nor is it needed for defense. Acquaintance with this highly accurate instrument develops qualities of accuracy, care, and patience; it develops a spirit of co-operation and sportsmanship; and finally, it averts accidents.

THE HEMPSTEAD football eleven ended the season triumphantly under the able leadership of Captain "Hack" Kostynick and quarterback Frank Kiesecker. Coach Fay again showed his ability to take a green team and make it one of the top-notch elevens of the conference. Even though hampered by injuries to his players early in the season, he was able to take new and coming stars of the gridiron and make them threats to any of their opponents. Frank Kiesecker, all-scholastic quarterback, gave sparkling exhibitions in kicking, sometimes placing the pigskin fifty or sixty yards down the field. Alveoid Hisbrady, the next season's captain, showed some remarkable open field running, making many brilliant sprints which often led to touchdowns. Captain Kostynick, right end, later converted into a halfback, played unusually well on the defense. He broke through the opponents' line many times to smear the ball carrier.

The Tigers opened the season by scoring a 14-7 victory over the Freeport Red Devils. The Freeport contingent, outplayed by their rivals for three quarters, then watched their team come back within reach of the pay-off line, only to see the Tiger forward wall put up a splendid defense. The first score for Hempstead, made by Hisbrady, followed a twenty-five yard run by Kiesecker. The second tally was made in two successive plays with Hisbrady carrying the ball. Both extras were made by "Hack" Kostynick.

After a two weeks' rest, the Bengals met a strong Sewanhaka squad and fought to a 7-7 deadlock. A pass from Kiesecker to Taruli in the second period was the scoring play for Hempstead, Kostynick scored the extra point. Not until late in the final period were the Indians able to score, and after three tries the "purple and white" were finally awarded the extra point.

Against the Baldwin team, our eleven was held to a 18-6. In the final period, the Blue and White put on a scoring barrage that left the Blue and Gold helpless. The first score, following a pass from Kiesecker to Tarruli, was made by Brewer. With only two minutes to play Kiesecker passed to Tarruli, who lateraled to Kostynick, who scored the final points. Hempstead failed to get the needed extra point.

Westbury handed Hempstead its first defeat since 1936 when Hempstead dropped a 7-6 decision. Westbury was first to score, coming through with a touchdown and the all important extra point in the second period. It wasn't until late in the final period, after Kiesecker had completed a pass to Tarruli deep into Westbury's territory, that Hisbrady was able to score. The point after the touchdown failed.

After a seesaw battle in which the lead changed hands three times, Glen Cove finally subdued the Blue and White in the last three minutes of play: 27-21. Nedwick of Glen Cove started the scoring rampage by running the opening kickoff to a touchdown. The Hempstead contingent then saw their team come back in the same period to even the score. The Tigers took the lead in the second period when Kiesecker passed to Tarruli. The Red and Green tied the score early in the third quarter only to lose it when Kiesecker drove over from the five yard line. The Hempstead defense weakened when the Glen Cove eleven scored the winning points.

The Hempstead rooters cheered their team on to victory over Chaminade in freezing weather on Thanksgiving day. The score was 12-0. The Tigers were unable to score until the final period. The first score came when Brewer went over from the one yard line. The second tally followed an interception by Walter Makofske on the Flyer twenty. Then Hisbrady scored from the three. Both tries for the extra point failed. The Hempstead team ended the season with a record of 2 wins, 2 ties, and 2 defeats.

basketball

IN THE initial encounter of the season Hempstead locked horns with a strong Glen Cove team, in a thrilling battle on the Hempstead court. The game progressed very slowly in the first half, with little scoring by either team. However, as the game continued, the battle became fiercer and at the end of the third stanza, the Bengals were trailing 16-8. The Tigers, undaunted, started a spurt, and finally won the game by a 17-16 margin. This was only one of the numerous examples of courage, fight, and determination shown by the team throughout the season.

In the following five games the Tigers were unable to regain their stride, and lost to Woodmere, Westbury, Chaminade, Sewanhaka, and Freeport in succession.

The Bennermen finally bounded into the "win column" in their second encounter with Chaminade, avenging the defeat they had received earlier in the season.

The Hempsteadites then played seven games, winning the pair that they played with Baldwin but losing to Glen Cove, Freeport, Woodmere, Sewanhaka, and Westbury.

Sincere appreciation most certainly is due to Coach Benner for his faithful mentorship throughout the season. Perry Lanxner, who completed three years' service as manager, deserves a lot of wholehearted thanks and praise for his fine work.

THOUGH off to a bad start, the Hempstead "nine" soon overcame all difficulties and became one of the top-notch teams of the conference. Under the brilliant leadership of veteran coach, Joseph Fay, the Tiger continued on a remarkable record of 10 wins and 2 losses. With the experienced Frank Kiesecker at their lead, the Faymen were able to play remarkable ball throughout the season.

The first two games, both closely contested struggles with their arch rival, Baldwin, saw the Blue and White lose by scores of 6-3 and 4-1. The loss of the opening match shattered two records which had been proudly extolled by Hempstead rooters. It marked the first defeat for the Hempstead baseball team in twenty-nine starts—a record unbeaten and untied by any other high school team in the United States. The game also gave the first loss for "Lanky" Ted Annis in his high school pitching career.

Freeport, Sewanhaka, Westbury, and Chaminade each dropped two thrilling games before the mighty power of the Hempstead Tigers.

Michael "Hack" Kostynick, second baseman and the coming season's captain, led the team with an excellent batting average of .540. His nearest competitor was "Pat" Patterson with an average of .440. Pat was followed closely by Henry "Chink" Kneuer, short stop and "Ritchie" Miller, who both had averages of .400.

Although Coach Fay is losing seven of his regulars, his '39 season looms brightly on the horizon, for there are many fresh replacements coming up, who figure to keep Hempstead uppermost in the baseball limelight.

IN ADDITION to football, basketball, and baseball, the Boys' Physical Education Department also presents fencing, tennis, golf, and track.

Although fencing was at one time considered a minor sport, it is becoming increasingly popular among the boys of Hempstead High School. This year's team has all the marks of an unusually good team. The boys have fenced and defeated Sewanhaka, whose team holds the county championship. The "Musketees" expect to fence more teams, and they are confident of coming through with flying colors. The members of the team are Oscar Gandy, Norman Jones, Fred Mossa, William Alberga and Eugene Botkin.

In the tennis, the "Tiger" again went on to victory, as the racquetmen of the mighty Hempstead squad ended a triumphant season.

The clay court exponents, under the coaching of Mr. Levine, swept through both Baldwin and Roslyn twice, and defeated Woodmere once. The Tigers bowed in their first match to Sewanhaka but were able to redeem themselves later in the season. Garden City was the only team to make a clean sweep over the boys from Hempstead. The racquetmen ended the season with a record of six wins and three losses.

The tennis team was co-captained by Emil and Frank Schiess and composed of Kenneth Helms, Sanford Rague, George Buck, Paul Frank, Eugene McCarthy, Robert Ohm and Sigmund Rosenbaum.

sports

THE HEMPSTEAD TIGER again took its place among the leaders of sports, as the golf team, under the able direction of Mr. Faust and the excellent leadership of Vivian McCree, ended a successful season.

The boys from Hempstead scored a birdie when they opened the season by swamping Freeport, Sewanhaka, and Huntington. Two defeats by Glen Cove followed. Then Hempstead trounced Chaminade and Freeport again. Long Beach, Huntington, Baldwin and Chaminade also fell before the power of the Hempstead squad. The season ended with a record of 10 wins and 2 losses.

The members of this fine team were Joseph Ficarra, Benjamin Grabeck, Adolph Kottish, John Kusen, Howard Lynch, Howard Wernike, William Wright and V. Zacharkow.

The Hempstead High Track Squad, captained by Ted Rojecki and ably led by Coach Franklin Loeb, ended the season by completely defeating Sewanhaka. After a poor start against Freeport and Chaminade, the Blue and White lads were able to redeem themselves by winning from Sewanhaka.

Against Freeport and Westbury the cinder pacers placed second to Freeport. A setback by Chaminade followed. After this came a dual meet with Freeport where the Hempstead boys showed their speed and power.

Scoring honors for the season went to Alveoid Hisbrady. Captain Rojecki and Louis "Flying Frenchman" Trouve followed closely with their scorings.

THE SPORT LEADERS are selected by the girls participating in the respective activities. Nominations are made by the seniors and then voted on by the juniors. Those elected are outstanding examples of good sportsmanship and are especially interested in, and qualified for, the sport they represent. The leaders are not only responsible for their team's equipment, but they also officiate at competitions between students or classes.

To the Sport Leaders and the faculty advisers, who take an active interest in the sports, much credit is given for a successful and enjoyable season of athletics.

girls'

THE PROSPECTUS of sports for girls is so directed that every girl who participates in an after-school sport automatically becomes a member of a team and takes part in inter-class competition. The team sports, hockey, basketball, baseball, and tennis, are extended as class activities for seniors, juniors, and sophomores. The individual sports, hiking, golf, riding, and roller skating, are played and enjoyed by the seniors and juniors.

In this program of sports all athletic awards are made under a point system. Each sport has five or ten points apportioned to it and more may be gained by leadership in athletic work. To receive a monogram a girl must offer a sport for each season, and must earn a minimum of fifteen points in leadership.

Hockey, the first sport of the school year, started the girls' athletics off with a bang. In the inter-class tournaments the seniors won first place. The coaches, Miss MacCallum, Miss Loew, and Miss Bassemir, selected our honor team. After having played three schools at Great Neck, this team brought back the honor of having won second place. The season was brought to a close with a spread at which Ruth Melven, this year's captain, presided.

Basketball was managed by Helen Petrone, the student leader. Miss MacCallum, Miss Loew, and Miss Beighley of the faculty afforded necessary aid. The end of the tournament between classes found the seniors in first place, juniors in second with close competition from the sophomores. After a selection was made for the honor team a showing was given at Garden City. The team came out on top against Manhasset with a 21-5 victory. A social assembly, with the traditional spread, closed the season. At this gathering the captain for the next year was chosen.

BASEBALL started after Easter vacation and continued until the first of June. Renie Walker was the captain who had been elected at the close of the baseball season last year. Under the supervision of Miss MacCallum, Miss Loew, and Miss Beighley, inter-class tournaments were held. Competition was very keen in every game. The season was brought to a successful conclusion with the annual baseball spread.

Tennis is under the faculty supervision of Miss MacCallum and Miss Loew. The student leader is Virginia Duffee. The spring season brings a large turnout of all sophomores, junior, and senior girls interested in tennis. Eight girls from each class are chosen from this tryout. The fall tournaments are played in an elimination manner to determine the best tennis player. Frieda Cohen, a junior, was the winner of this year's tournament.

THE GREEK GAMES are adopted from the Olympic Games held by the Greeks, centuries ago. The freshman and sophomore girls compete in discus throwing, hurdling, hoop rolling, torch racing, and chariot racing. However, singing, lyric writing, and dancing are also feature attractions of this great sport event whose aim is not to conquer, but to show good sportsmanship and the ability to fight. The competition this year is keen; this fact promises an outstanding performance.

The 1939 games are under the student supervision of Josephine Janulewicz and the faculty direction of Miss MacCallum and Miss Loew.

The Roller Skating Club, on Wednesday afternoons, do the Chicago Hop, the straight waltz and other steps to the tempting tunes of the organ at the Mineola Skating Rink. There are approximately fifty girls in this club, which is under the supervision of Miss Layton, and the student leadership of Jean Cumming.

This year more girls have ridden than ever before. Evidently many think horseback riding is an important accomplishment. The girls are taught the fundamentals of riding as trotting, cantering, mounting, dismounting and using correct form. Some of the riders take places in competitive shows among other schools. On Sports Day the Hempstead group showed very well.

The riding group had Patricia Carr for its leader. Miss Rowles, Miss Schwedes, Miss Beighley, and Miss Silver were the faculty advisers. The riding group was divided into three sections, each riding one day a week. The riding season closed with a picnic and a horse show.

The girls' hiking is under the supervision of Miss Wohlschlegel and Janet Withers, student leader. The group meets every Friday afternoon, the weather permitting, and walks to some place of local interest. The longest hike of every season is the eight-mile walk around Hempstead Lake in the Southern State Parkway. The close of the season is usually marked by a picnic hike.

achievement

When I was a young bashful freshman, the high school seemed so vast,
I could not find the proper room while the crowd went rushing past.
Every time I heard a bell, I would scurry down the long hall,
And even though I would run and run, I'd reach a vacant wall.
Finally I passed exams about equations, verbs, and such,
And thus became a sophomore, yet I had not learned so much.
My many books were still in order, my notebook was just right,
All pages neatly kept together and everything was typed.
I would study on for hours and hours to make a ninety-five,
And when I did not have that test, imagine my great surprise.
The joyful hours rolled on and on, and the happy days just flew,
Still I had a little fun loudly sporting the White and Blue.
Then another year was over, and I had become at last
A member of that august group, known as the Upperclass.
How I cavorted and gamboled and merrily did skip,
Until Life's ambition realized, I got a detention slip.

reminiscential seniors

Remember when we lost our lock, and did not know where to look
Then we found that you had carried it off in your pocketbook?
Will you ever forget that day we met your hero in the hall,
You blushed when he said, "Hello," but he did not mean you at all?
Do you recall how exciting it was at that football game,
When we found that the other team won, but we cheered just the same?
Remember when I went away, you took my gym suit to wear
They marked me present for that day, and said that you were not there?
Will you forget when the Choir stopped, and we clapped on and on,
And in the silence we knew that it was a pause in the song?
Remember when we heard the bell and had two long flights to go,
And the day we were almost caught making use of the first snow?
If we forget some things we learned in getting a high school degree
We shall never forget the fun or study hours in 53.

- FRANK AIMS Business
Frank was one of the players on that famous 1937 football team! What a souvenir to take into the busy world of work.
- DOROTHY ALGAR Hofstra
Dorothy hopes that her freshman year at college will be as pleasant as her first one was in H. H. S. What happened to cause such happy times?
- ELIZABETH ALLEN Nursing School
We're sure Elizabeth will ward off her patients' ills if she'll wish them well, as she does to those following her in high school.
- FLORENCE ALLEN Business
Vanity fair! Florence reflects that the mirror in the girls' room was the hardest thing to get before. We hope that she looks into this in her business career.
- ROLAND ANDERSON College
Roland tells us, "I shall always cherish fond remembrances of the many fine people I met during my four years in H. H. S. I sincerely hope that after leaving high school, I shall be able to continue associating with as many of them as possible."
- ELIZABETH ANDERSON Pratt Institute
Elizabeth is certain that she will never forget the thrilling football game on Thanksgiving day in 1937.
- GLADYS ANDERSON Browne's Business School
Gladys recalls her procrastination in study hall in her senior year. Why couldn't she do her homework?
- ROY ANDERSON Cornell
Does Roy plan to shoot his way through college? He takes with him the thoughts of many happy times in the Rifle Club.
- MARY ARCHER Business
Arbitrary Archer has only (??) fights to her name and so considers her four years here peaceful and happy. We hope this future stenographer agrees with her boss.
- MATIE ARMSTRONG Barnard
Here's a future teacher who doffs her hat to her fourth period history class and its teacher—Miss Abbott.
- ANNA ARRESTO Business
The lectures, (hum—we wonder), that the teachers gave Anna when things went wrong, will give Anna something to keep in mind when she is a hardworking business woman.
- JEANNE ASHLEY Columbia
Jeanne confesses that her most embarrassing moment was—"the day a teacher called a boy and me—Adam and Eve! We had been talking to each other. Ever since, those names have stuck." Perhaps when she has finished at Columbia she'll fill an important cavity in the dental world.
- MARY ASSIP Business
As Mary sits taking dictation from the President of the United States, her thoughts will wander back to the time she was practicing secretarial work in room 15 or 16.
- MARIE BABCOCK Business College
In the sparsely populated halls of a business college, Marie will find there a great difference from the crowded locker rooms and halls through which she has pushed her way in H. H. S.
- VIRGINIA BAIRD Business
Virginia will never forget how her feet hurt after taking so many walks in the Hiking Club, with Miss Layton urging her on and on.
- RAYMOND BALDWIN Guggenheim School of Aeronautics
When Raymond is delving deeply into the books of aeronautics, he may refresh his mind by thinking of all the activities of his senior year. He was so free and happy!
- WILLIAM BARRERAS Columbia
Loyal Bill! He says, "I'll always remember the wonderful teachers, and the excellent way H. H. S. provides one with an education."

- MARVIN BARRETT Hofstra
Marvin is different from other football fans, for he remembers the Hempstead-Baldwin football game of 1938—not 1937.
- CLYDE BAUKNEY Business
When Red starts to climb the ladder of success in the business world, we hope he won't be as bewildered as he was during his first week at school.
- EDITH BAUMBACH Barnard
The thoughts of her good times in Senior Girls' Service Squad work will remain the longest in Edith's mind when she studies at Barnard or Hofstra.
- CHARLES BECK Navy
After he has joined the navy and has to take orders from his superior officers, then he'll remember and appreciate our fine, friendly teachers.
- JAMES BEHRENS Business
Jimmy will probably pitch into his work and make a success of it, but his children will hear again and again of those cruel teachers, who didn't give his classes any homeroom period.
- NORMAN BENESCH Brooklyn College
"Hercules of the Hurdles" will always feel his heart beat just a little faster when he thinks about the friendliness of his teachers toward him in any difficulty.
- BERNICE BERG Business
Here, at last, is a girl who actually admits she likes studying. Such an unusual talent will help her in her secretarial work.
- IRVING BERGER Business
Work will be a 50-50 proposition with Irving who can't get over the 50-0 swamping we gave Swanhaka. The band, too, plays an important part in his reminiscences of dear old H. H. S. days.
- ROSE BIANCO Business
Rose well remembers the day that the freshmen were being initiated, and the seniors thought it amusing when they took her clothes, leaving her in her gym suit.
- LEROY BIENEFELD Music
While Leroy is practicing for his coming debut with Goldman's Band, he will pause to laugh when he thinks of the solos he used to play while going to the football games.
- FRANK BIFFAR Business
As Frank passes to and from work, he will get a big "kick" out of recalling the Hempstead-Baldwin game.
- ELI BIRER Johns Hopkins
When Eli is a cut-up, (a doctor to you) he will recall the days of suspense he endured while he waited for an affirmative answer to his application to Johns Hopkins.
- MARTHA BOESENBERG Browne's Business School
Martha hikes and types, but she shakes when anyone talks about pictures. She does not forget her sitting for the senior picture.
- JEAN BOGERT William and Mary
Jean thinks that the song "Bewildered" should be dedicated to the pupils in the library. However, she enjoyed working with them and for them.
- JOHN BONCIC Business
There's a bit of shepherd in this up and coming working man. John used to be tickled pink in getting the teacher's "goats."
- ARTHUR BONNÉ Radio School
Arthur insists that his high school years and his teachers were, "six of one and half a dozen of the other"—fun and hard work. When he's a radio engineer he will find that the same.
- ANNA BORAK Business
Even Anna waited until the very last moment, for she remembers the great rush in the halls after the second bell rings. Be on time, Anna, for the boss likes a competent secretary.
- INGEBORG BORCHERS Business
Still laughing as the incident flashes across her mind, Ingeborg tells of the time when someone sat on a chair and it collapsed. No one was hurt!
- DOROTHY BORMAN Nursing School
The one outstanding thing that Dot remembers is her work in Miss Taft's class. Is Dorothy a good cook, or a fine homemaker?
- ORAN BRABEZON Hofstra
Pleasant hours spent practicing on his French horn—that's what Oran wants to look back upon.
- EDITH BRANTLY Miss Zwerin's Studio
Edith will look at her teachers and grit her teeth, still unnerved by the thought of those oral topics in English.
- DORIS BRECHT Cornell
Just imagine it! Doris was the only girl in solid geometry class. What a picture for Memory's halls!
- PAUL BRESLIN Art School
The future contributor to Esquire remembers when he didn't join the Sketch Club—all the other members were girls!
- MARIE BREUNIG Business
Marie's future calling is an operator in the Telephone Company. She numbers among her high school oddities a teacher who looked at her constantly. Wonder why, Marie?
- LOIS BROWNE Scudder Business School
We hope that Lois finds just as many splendid teachers and congenial friends in Scudder as she did in H. H. S.
- CYNTHIA BRUNKHART Skidmore
The disastrous results of skipping school descended with such full import on Cynthia as a frosh, that she is sure nothing will erase that impression.
- FRANCES BUCK
Frances says, "Oh, my report cards! They will always haunt me!" Really you're a better sport than that, Frances.

- RUTH BULLIS Oberlin
When Ruth is playing the viola in the orchestra at the Metropolitan Opera House, her thoughts will drift back to the time when she played for the "Mikado."
- EDWARD CAIN Clerk
Edward, as a clerk, is a more self-assured young man than the frightened freshman Eddie—that first day is engraved on his mind.
- ROBERT CAMPBELL Missouri University
Oh, Robert has so many things to remember—his junior and senior years, his favorite girl, and the day he stayed across the street at Louis' instead of going to room —.
- HELEN CARLSEN Heffley's Business School
What a loyal girl! Whenever the Blue and White came into view in any sport, Helen was there to cheer.
- BODIL CARLSSON Miss Zwerin's Studio
Bodil will hold tight in her memory the proud feelings that she possessed whenever H. H. S. was victorious on the football field.
- PATRICIA CARR Katherine Gibbs
The "would-be" ballerina Essie worked hard for "You Can't Take It With You", but she will retain the memories of good times at rehearsals.
- FLORENCE CASELLA Mary Immaculate Hospital
Don't ever let her patients know, but Florence recalls foremost of all the topic of English IV "What I do or do not want inscribed on my tombstone." Not a bright memento for one who's supposed to supervise shaky symptoms.
- FRANCES CHANDLER Music
Frances wants to carry with her the memories of activities she enjoyed—especially those in sports and music.
- EDITH CHECKLEY Business
In future years when she is a saleswoman, Edith will spend many hours a day dreaming about the fun she had in her art clubs.
- VIRGINIA CHIMERI Business
Virginia should make a good cereal ad. She went in for the "pep" meetings in a big way. There should be a Kellogg's Business School to attract her to New York.
- ANTHONY CHIOVARO Business
Tony, as a business man, will swell with pride and perhaps relief, thinking of the night he received his high school diploma.
- THOMAS CLANCY Business School
"Where's your pass? Clear the halls! Well, where are you going?" mumbles this one-time hall cop in his sleep, after a long hard day of engineering.
- VERNON CLARK Business
"Bring up a pint of cream, Vernie," yells Mr. Clark, the dairy manager, and as Vernon is getting it he drops the milk. He is thinking of his graduation night at H. H. S.
- ALICE CLEARY Syracuse University
When Alice draws back the curtain of the past, she'll glimpse those one-act plays of her algebra class. It will also be curtains for those Syracuse honor students when Alice arrives.
- DANIEL COHEN Business
Daniel played football and baseball, but it was history which made a lasting impression.
- DORIS CONKLIN Dramatic School
Doris, stepping before the lights on the night of her theater debut, will think back to the fun she had in the dramatics at H. H. S.
- ANNA BELLE CONWAY Cornell or Syracuse
Even though she was busy as a bee in school, Anna Belle had time for admiring the spirit and loyalty of the students during each sport season.
- AL COOKE Business
Put to the test of higher business problems, Al's mind flashes back to his first Regents and its accompanying horror.
- FLORENCE COOLEY Miss Zwerin's Studio
Florence, as a freshman, asked a hall cop where 77 was, and when he said, "Third floor front" she politely snubbed him. We hope her business manager will be a lover of practical jokes!
- JAMES CORNELL Cornell University
James says, "I shall always remember the day I was called to Office 3, and then found—it was a mistake."
- PAUL CORRIGAN Business
A fondness for Hempstead's Color Guard should not, it is hoped, keep Paul in the red when he's an accountant.
- JAMES COUGHLIN Business
"If I live to be one hundred, I shall never forget my camp cookery class. I clogged the sink with the dish towel. That finished my cooking for a short time."
- GEORGINE CREO Cornell
Georgine played baseball in H. H. S., but strangely she remembers all the famous touchdowns in football.
- MARGARET CRONN St. Joseph's
We wonder if Margaret will remember her third year French class just as long as she fondly thinks of the Senior Tea Dance.
- JEAN CUMMING Business
Of all things to remember—the mud at the back gate! We know that Jean has many more pleasant souvenirs of four years' work.
- EDWARD CURTIN University of Virginia
Is Edward going in for football or track at the U. of V.? No doubt he'll carry memories of these with him when he joins southern activities.
- MICHAEL CUSHING Business
Michael says, "I shall never forget the great amount of freedom I had for four years." Do you think Michael will ever get married?
- BETTY DAHLMAN College
Quoting Betty, "I'm going to college, but I haven't the slightest idea where. But wherever I go, I'll always recall how embarrassed and scared I was when I had to make my first speech—in public speaking class."

- NORMAN DANGLO Hofstra
Norman is another hall cop who remembers his excitement at the Baldwin-Hempstead football game of 1937.
- ELISE DAVIS Commercial Art
When Lee is prancing around her studio in future years, we'll know that she's thinking of the H. H. S. dances.
- NORMA DAVIS Nursing
Norma is going to amuse her patients with some of the jokes she heard in her four-year journey through this school of learning.
- JUNE DAWSON Business
The clatter of typewriters won't drown the roar of the crowd at the Hempstead-Baldwin football games. At least not in her memory.
- DOROTHY DECKER Plattsburg State Normal
Dorothy says, "After all rumors, I was surprised to find how perfectly normal and friendly teachers in high school can be." Could that be the reason that Dorothy is going to teach when she gets out of Normal School?
- DOROTHY DELAP
Dot will always remember the party that she gave for the football team!
- MURRAY DELLOFF College
After his four years of sports, physical and mental, Murray knows that his graduation night will always remain in his memory.
- DONALD DEMAREST Cornell
Cornell, Chemistry, Gym Club and Mr. Hayes—these are uppermost in Donald's mind; the first, as his next step on education's stair; and the last three, as high school specials.
- STEPHEN DEMPSEY College
Be it Rensselaer or Cornell, Stephen pauses to reflect whether there will be "rowdies" like those of his fourth period class senior year. Of course he had nothing to do with the explosions of laughter or mixtures of foolishness.
- BARBARA DENNIS Business
Quoting Barbara, "The one thing in my high school life that will remain in my memory is the fine time I had in dramatic class under the direction of Miss Reed."
- FLORENCE DESOUSA Packard
Flo, orating at Packard, will look back fondly on those fourth period public speaking classes in room 34.
- DORIS DEVOY Pratt
It might have been the dress, the boy, or just the night, but Doris looks back at the Senior Ball when she was a sophomore.
- NORA DEWEERD Business
It was such a surprise that Nora will never forget it—she received the highest mark in Home Economics IV Regents.
- JOHN J. DIETZ Electrician
While John is recovering from the shock of his first electrical assignment, he will have more minutes to laugh at some of the funny times in his high school days.
- MALVINA DIETZ Business
Malvina will long remember her nerve-wracking search for a bib the morning of the Senior-Frosh party.
- JENNIE DLUGINSKY Browne's Business School
Browne's won't blot from Jennie's mind the memory of Mr. Pill's sense of humor.
- OLGA DOBROWOLSKI Business
Olga, as a stenographer, will still be Olga, the school girl, for she feels sure she will always remember how to study.
- PRISCILLA DOELTL Music
Such a musical girl! She studies music and enjoys it above all things. Priscilla has no doubt about her recollections of H. H. S.
- ELIZABETH DONOVAN Scudder
Skidding through stenography at Scudder, Elizabeth recalls that she spent four happy years amid the sunlight and shadows, sweat and sportsmanship of school.
- MARGARET DOWELL
Marg'll be going to college, we hope. The sight of the stag line at her first H. H. S. dance will remain a big exclamation point in her memory.
- FRANCES DRAGO University of Michigan
Frances will always remember the friendliness of her humorous, sincere, and helpful teachers.
- HUBERT M. DRAKE Business
"Grandpa" said, "You Can't Take It With You," but we know Hubert will have the recollection of many pleasant moments to take with him to Michigan.
- VIRGINIA DUFFEE St. Lawrence University
Virginia, future co-ed of St. Lawrence, remembers how her heart stood still when Mrs. Foster notified her that she was to be "Chief of the Junior Secretaries."
- VIRGINIA DURKIN Mary Immaculate Hospital
Nurse Durkin will not have much time for loitering while on hospital duty, so she will look back with longing on the many minutes she spent waiting for the bells to ring.
- THOMAS EARL Business
Perched high on lonely pole, we can see lineman Tom Earl as he leans on space and dreams of the many pleasant hours he spent doing nothing in some of his classes.
- HELEN EGLOFF Business
Quoting Helen, "I shall always remember the many activities which this school offers to its students. Everyone should be happy in H. H. S."
- DENNIS ELLIOTT Electrician
If you turn on your radio and hear "Number, pleuz?" you will know that Dennis (while repairing your radio) was thinking of the fun he had on the Assembly Squad or Hall Cops.

- DOROTHY ELLIS Business
 "—and early to rise" must be Dorothy's motto, for she remembers the fun she had before the first period. Wonder if she'll rush to work early in the morning?
- KATHLEEN ELLIS Business
 Kathleen should become a detective or an etymologist to solve this: "The quaint carvings on my seven desks and the meaning which is behind them. Who put them there?"
- MARION ERNEST Miss Zerwin's Studio
 Capable Marion, busy, helpful, and ambitious will make a fine secretary. Marion, oh, Marion, you say you will never forget the first time you were called to the Office. Were there more calls?
- BENNET ERTEL College of Forestry
 At the root of Bennet's high school memories is his freshman year. Here's hoping he is not barking up the wrong tree when he applies at the New York State College of Forestry.
- BARBARA ESTABROOK Vassar
 To the tune of "Time on My Hands", Barbara admits she wasted much time looking at clocks and waiting for periods to end. Speaking of bells, we hope her future rings true at Vassar.
- RITA FATZIE Business
 Here's another would-be pencil pusher and aspirant stenographer. Rita remembers well one teacher's comical expressions while teaching, and that's what makes Rita ready to face busy years ahead.
- EDWIN FENDENTZ College
 Out on the Texas prairie campus amid the bawling of the cattle Eddie looks back and thinks of the bawl games he attended at Hempstead. Edwin's sure to strike up many acquaintances as he pitches into his studies.
- STELLA FISCARRA Business
 Being a high and mighty senior was mighty pleasing to Stella. There are some books she's had here that she would like to keep, but in the future she'll be keeping some for a business firm.
- CHARLES FISCHER Cornell University
 "The first one hundred weeks are the hardest" should be Charlie's motto. Mr. Hayes impressed him so much that Charles confesses that the first week in Advanced Algebra was outstanding. It is hoped that our Best Boy Dancer will keep that title at Cornell.
- ROBERT FISHER Business
 Perhaps Robert is planning to write an historical book for the future H. H. S. students. He remembers his history class as the best of all in school.
- KENNETH FOLK Mechanic
 Kenneth will mechanically turn back the years when he repeats the jokes which were told by his teachers and his many student friends.
- ROBERT FOSTER Colorado School of Mines
 Robert will have much for remembrance when he is far from Hempstead. Of all the intriguing ac-
- tivities of which he was a member, we really know why Robert will look back upon his Science Club meetings.
- CHARLES FRANKLIN College
 Charles, a new student to our halls of learning, reports, "The thing I like best is the system of having a five minute interval between classes. I have attended other schools where this was not in vogue." Of course, he was never late.
- ROBERT FRANKLIN College
 Now Bob really will remember something, the Junior Prom of 1938. We wonder if it was the girl, the music, or just the evening? Of course there will be many more dances, but not one like that of H. H. S.
- CORAL FREY College
 After graduation Coral must make her decision, St. Lawrence or Middleburg. However, she promises that she will never forget the 1938 Senior Ball. Well-dressed Coral should know!
- KATHLEEN FROLIC Business
 After a hard day at the office and a slapped-together-meal, Kathleen's thoughts will wander back to the fun she had working in the school cafeteria.
- EVELYN FULLER Browne's Business School
 Someday when Evelyn experiences a defeat her thoughts will wander back to the day of the great football game, for it was such a disappointment to her.
- MURIEL FULLER College
 Muriel will always be haunted by Miss Beighley's saying, "Still holding down to four," the sixth period. What does that mean?
- ELSIE GADO Business
 The guilty feeling, which Elsie had throughout the entire day, when as a freshman, she wore lipstick to school for the first time; lipsticks to her mind.
- OSCAR GANDY Howard University
 "Rah! Rah! Sis, Boom Bah!" will ring through Oscar's mind. Thus the memory of the good sportsmanship shown by the super-football team comes back to him.
- SHIRLEY GAOUETTE Business
 You will surely not find Dale Carnegie's, "How to Win Friends and Influence People" tucked under Shirley's typewriter. Proof being that she's already made many friends in Hempstead High.
- MARGARET GARAHAN Business School
 As Lady Luck brews her future, and Margaret broods over the past, the many bruises from hockey are recalled. Margaret is headed for Delehanty's School in New York.
- NANCY GARISTINA Business
 Nancy dictated to us (just to keep in practice for her coming occupation) that her first day in school was quite thrilling. Perhaps she'll realize this when she's a busy business woman.
- SEBASTIAN GARISTINA College
 Optimistic Sebastian says his graduation is what he is always going to remember. His goal is college. Good luck to him.

- GRACE GASKIN Business
Grace thinks that H. H. S. is haunted, for she says it has plenty of spirit. The insurance employers won't have a ghost of a chance when Grace graduates.
- AUDREY GEIGNETTER Adelphi
When twinkle-toes Audrey leaves this routine she'll switch over to Adelphi. It's rather superfluous to add that her desires are centered on a musical and dancing career. We all know she had fun practicing for band, concerts, and operettas.
- JOHN GIACINTO Business
The thought of the congeniality and good sportsmanship displayed by all his teammates will linger ever in John's mind.
- VINCENT GIANNONE Business
Lights! Action! Camera! Vincent will never forget the pains of having his senior picture taken. As proof that it had no ill effects, kindly refer to the front of the book. After graduating he'll work.
- RICHARD GIFFIN Pace Institute
Richard will not forget the very expressive teaching of some of his teachers.
- FLORENCE GOEPFERT Business
If every knock is a boost, Florence is at the top of the heap. This must be so for our crowded halls are still crowded into her memories, and no amount of work ahead will push them aside.
- HERBERT GOLDBLATT
The radio club gave Herbert two years of pleasure and experience which he knows he won't forget.
- ALBERT GOLDSTEIN Business
Albert will always remember, to his advantage, the helpful hints he received from Miss Covert, after his history class.
- ELVINA GOMBERT Miss Zwerin's Studio
We know that when the football season opens this fall, Elvina will be cheering with the best of us on the grandstand of her Alma Mater.
- MILLAGE GOMILLION Northwestern
Even at Northwestern, M. J. won't find a football game equal to the Baldwin-Hempstead game played last year.
- DAVID GORDON Cooper Union
The Radio Club gave David four years of enjoyment and of worthwhile experience which is sure to help him in his engineering course at Cooper Union.
- MABELLE GREENE Browne's Business School
While at business school, Mabelle will think back to the times she sat in study hall trying to do the next day's homework. Was she making a very good attempt?
- EDWIN GUTHERLET Business
Edwin is planning to work in the American Telegraph and Telephone on some phase of electrical engineering. Will he remember his math classes? "Yes," says he.
- DORIS HANCE Syracuse
No matter how many dances Doris goes to at Syracuse, she will never forget the grand time she had at the Senior Ball of 1938.
- JULIA HANNA Music
They say all singers have sweet dispositions. But even Julia, as a frosh, got angry at being sent to room 76 when she asked for room 4.
- WILLIAM HANNON Business
When Bill starts his career in stenography and bookkeeping this fall, he'll carry along with him happy reminders of the fun he had in the high school band.
- THELMA HANSSSEN Business
Hustle! bustle! mob scenes in the subway! Well, they'll recall to Thelma the continual rush in the halls of her Alma Mater.
- ROBERT HARDENBURGH R. O. T. C.
If Robert blunders in raising silver foxes and dogs and winds up with silver-haired dogs and tail-wagging foxes, he can blame it on his terrible blunder in selecting the wrong high school subjects.
- HAZEL HARMELING Barnard
"The thing that will always remain in my mind is the recollection of that day I was compelled to take a double Regents alone," remarks Hazel.
- JOSEPHINE HARRIGAN Hofstra
And Josephine was ambitious! Imagine having such mementoes as the enjoyable but busy hours spent working for the Patriot and the Colonial.
- MERLE HASKELL Miss Zwerin's Studio
Trying to get out of the school phone booth when jammed in with two other girls, should put Merle in practice when, in a little while from now, she tries to get out of a jam at the office.
- ALICE HAUMANN Business
Alice was a Junior Secretary, a member of the Aviation Club and an interested member of a history group. Is she planning to write "A History of Aviation"?
- ROY HAUS Business
When Roy starts along the ladder of success in the working world, one thing will be always with him, the memory of friends and experiences in H. H. S.
- MARJORIE HAWES Miss Zwerin's Studio
Marjorie liked the beating of drums, the stamping of feet and the cheers for her Alma Mater at the athletic events.
- MAY HEIDER Business
What a "Metropolitan Life" May will lead as a secretary in the aforesaid insurance company. She could endorse a Kellogg ad, too, with her ardent longing for "pep" meetings.
- WILLIAM HEISS Business
Long live Hempstead High! Three cheers for our dear school! This future clerk was impressed by the school spirit. He promises to remember his happy days at the games.

- KENNETH HELMS College
Alabama bound, Kenneth says that he'll never forget his ideal subject, Chemistry. Let's hope he doesn't make a racket of it.
- LLOYD HEMPHILL Howard University
Down among the government buildings and higher officials, no one will possibly impress Lloyd more than did Mr. Irons, his General Science and Biology teacher of H. H. S.
- WILLIAM HIBEE St. John's College
Up in the grand stand of St. John's, Bill will root for the baseball team as his thoughts run home to the games at Hempstead.
- EILEEN HIGGINS Browne's Business School
Eileen feels that her senior year was the best of all, for she made many friends and enjoyed her work in history class.
- NORMAN HILMAR College
Norman recalls, "Just for a joke I climbed into one of the large lockers. My friends closed it and threatened to leave me there. I'll never forget how I begged them to let me out or how I looked for a chance to get even."
- EMIL HOLLAY Music School
When Em is crooning, or playing a trumpet in an orchestra, his reminder of Hempstead High will be the sports, especially track, in which he participated.
- WILLIAM HOHORST Business
Bill's business training in H. H. S. will be of special advantage to him when he is trying to secure his first contract.
- JENNIE HORBACHEWSKI Business
When Jennie's a grandma, she'll remember the grammar she learned in English IV. Until that time, she'll travel the working road.
- FRANKIE HOWARD Fisk University
It may have been the teacher, or perhaps it was the newness of it all, but anyway this future Fisk graduate will always recall her first violin lesson.
- DORIS HULST College
When Doris' calling card contains the words "Couturiere, Paris" on it, she will still be remembering with a chuckle those high school days, and the crazy puns that were tossed about in her history class.
- FRANCIS HUNTER Business
We hope Francis will come back to Hempstead next year and see all the athletic events. Surely he can't forget the spirited athletic contests between Hempstead and some of its well-known opponents.
- JAMES HUNTER Business
Jimmy will never forget his wild struggle in getting through Latin IIB. If that subject had only been something like fencing, basketball or football.
- JOHN HUPFER Business
Here's a muscleman for you. John could hire out as a bodyguard, for he has had much practice in boxing, and he will get added strength as an electric shovel operator.
- ARTHUR IMHOF Business School
Arthur should make a fine member of the business school at Ridgewood, New Jersey, for he's a loyal defender of all school activities.
- WALTER INGRAM Farmingdale Agricultural
Another future farmer. It must have been the teacher, for Walter surely didn't like algebra just for the subject.
- LORRAINE JACOBSON College
As a freshman, Lorraine actually wanted a longer German I class with Miss Ferguson. Lorraine even liked the quizzies! Cooper Union or Pratt has an extraordinary person headed for its halls.
- JOSEPHINE JANULEWICZ College
Good sport Jo says, "I shall always remember the wide circle of friends which I made in my four years at school."
- HELEN JASPER Connecticut College for Women
The first time Helen went with the Hiking Club, the girls walked around the Hempstead State Park, and stopped at the White Castle to get enough energy to get home. Was Helen discouraged and tired from the experience?
- BERNHARD JENSEN Curtiss Wright Technical Institute
Bernhard has an airy mind. Please don't mistake us, for his sole ambition propels him toward celestial machines. He also delves with great energy into science.
- ELIZABETH JOHNNEMAN Business
Elizabeth will probably say to her boss, "Really, you have no idea how frightened I was when I received my first detention slip, four years ago."
- FREDERICK JOHNSON Business
After a hard day of work and Fred is lighting his pipe, he will think of the time he walked through the hall smoking a pipe. Was he caught? Fred didn't confess.
- NEILY JONGES College
Neily is traveling to the south for his college days. Packed in his mind is the memory of the sports played at H. H. S.
- NAOMI KANTROWITZ College
Naomi is quite certain that she appreciated the excellent teachers who took a personal interest in her struggles. Her college choice is undecided.
- MYRA KAPLAN Packard
"Actions speak louder than words" is Myra's opinion, for she recalls quite clearly the marks the teachers gave to those who talked a lot and said nothing. What does she mean?
- JANE KARSBOOM
This gorgeous girl will never forget the fun she had in activities, or the grand advantages she enjoyed in her Alma Mater.
- WILLIAM KATZ Massachusetts Institute of Technology
Destined to become a genius at M. I. T., Bill says he remembers receiving the junior class prize in assembly. It was the happiest moment of his complete high school career.

- CHARLES KELLER Business
The outstanding high point in his high school career was that exciting time when Tarulli and Kostynick managed to get the ball across the goal line at the Baldwin game.
- ELEANOR KELLER Mills Training School
Mitzie, the beautiful, will look back fondly to the school dances. We do have good dancers at H. H. S., Eleanor.
- HERBERT KENDALL Hofstra
Herb or "Sugar," as he is affectionately known, will carry away the memories of being the business manager of the Patriot.
- DUNCAN KESTER Pratt Institute
Blinded by the blonde who sat in front of him, Duncan's artful confession seems very interesting. His colorful plans include Pratt Institute.
- FRANK KIERNAN Hemphill Diesel School
This future navyman or engineer will always look back with trepidation at his frosh year.
- WILLIAM KIERNAN Pratt Institute
His experience on the art staff of the Quill should make William an easy entrant to Pratt. At least his experience gave him a chance to brush up on his talent.
- DOROTHY KING Browne's Business School
Dot thinks or rather knows, that she'll always remember her two favorite teachers, Mr. Pratt and Mr. Irons.
- CONSTANCE KLAHRE Miss Zwerin's Studio
The many hours spent in Miss Layton's mathematics help-class seem to figure prominently in Constance's mind. Sum day in her business career she's going to need the information for which she struggled.
- GERALDINE KLEINMAN Art
"I love the system of a village school," says Geraldine who came here from New York. She will remember all the friendly teachers, too. Perhaps when she's an interior decorator she'll come back to H. H. S. with some new ideas for the school rooms.
- THEODORE KLIMKOSKI
When Teddy's wielding a hammer, he will recall that H. H. S. is unexcelled in sports, and in regard to facilities, coaching and participants.
- VIOLA KNUDSEN Hofstra
"Three things do I well remember: my first day in school, the friendliness of Mr. Hayes, and the ordeal of having my senior picture taken."
- GERTRUDE KOEGLER College
Gertrude stated that she had a fine time in high school because of the kindness of her teachers. Didn't she ever get a detention slip?
- CHARLES KOEHLER Navy
Make way for a future admiral! Charles' smooth sailing was interrupted in the Freeport football game when he hurt his ankle and couldn't play from then on!
- VERA KOKIERNAK Business School
Vera must have liked her biology, because she remarks that she will always remember the fine student body of her Alma Mater.
- HELEN KOKIERNIAK Business
When Helen says that she'll never forget the school activities, does she mean the school dances?
- EUGENE KOOPMANN Business School
Eugene, one of the patrols, reports, "I made many friends and kept them too, even though I had to take them to task on Campus Patrol."
- MICHAEL KOSTYCNICK College
Hack plans to play college football but he'll remain true to the "Tigers." He'll never forget making the final touchdown in that famous 1938 game with Baldwin.
- ALEX KOZLOWSKY Business
It was a lot of work for "Doc" to figure out what all the little curlicues and ashes meant, but he liked shorthand, anyway. Alex, after graduation, will keep on working too, but at something different.
- WILLIAM KREBS Northwestern
Bill wants to fly. It must be that the Student Council put high ideas into his young head.
- DOROTHY KRESS College
Dorothy is undecided about her future plans. However, she does know that her high school days were happy ones, especially in the French classes and with those friends she made in H. H. S.
- FREDERICK KROEGER Business
Uppermost in Frederick's mind are the snake dances after football games. Something creepy here, because he put down the Telephone Company as the place for his future plans. Just a live wire for Fred.
- FRED KURALOWICZ Airplane Mechanic
He may have more bewildering experiences with airplanes, but Fred will never be more dazed than he was by the first walk through our halls.
- JOHN KUSEN State School of Applied Agriculture
John is going to be in the fruit business at Farmingdale. He takes with him one vivid memory—golf.
- AUGUST LACORAZZA Civil Service
He notes with pleasure his many years in the Glee Club. The grand scale of his clerking days will probably give him little time to exercise his vocal chords.
- JEAN LANDON Hofstra
Jean was an honor girl, each year in the four at H. H. S. What does she remember? Her words, "I'll never forget the football teams and games that Hempstead had."
- DEBORAH LANE Hofstra
"It is not generally known, but after I have been the star reporter on the 'Times' a few years, I am going to write the great American novel." And this girl remembers the empty feeling she had when she first walked into the school.

- MICHAEL LANGONA Aviation
One thought to take with him as he goes flying is the recollection of his first day of school as a young freshman.
- LOYD LAVERTY Agricultural College
Instead of shooting baskets he'll be filling them with his latest crop at Farmingdale. Lloyd takes pride in the fact that he was selected for the All Star Class Basketball Team for two consecutive years.
- VIRGINIA LEE Business
Ginny will never forget the bumps and falls that she took for the honor of her hockey team. We hope that she will satisfy her ambition for a business career.
- BERTHA LEISEGANG Business School
In the years to come, whenever Bertha gives orders in her office she will recall that her first business assignment in H. H. S. was that of finding the auditorium. Did the boss know that she could take shorthand at one hundred words a minute?
- ABIE LERMAN Hempstead
Abie remembers well his first visit to Office 3. He admits that his hair stood on end when he received the little white slip. However, it evidently did not daunt him very much, for he plans to come back for a P. G. course.
- BERTHA LERMAN Hofstra
Will Bertha ever again become as excited as she was at the Chaminade-Hempstead baseball game back in the dear old days of '37?
- WALTER LISTER Brown University
Walter says, "Probably the memory I shall retain the longest will be that of the cute blonde in trig class—or was it history?"
- BERNADETTE LOUGHRAN Business
After a day of heavy dictation, Bernadette will yearn for some of the pleasant times she had in the social activities of school.
- ROBERT LUDWIG Agricultural School
Here's a future farmer who will never grow seconds in vegetables. Robert claims that "firsts" are memorable, especially that first day he came into Hempstead High.
- GEORGE LUM
George seems to be just as bewildered about his future plans as he was on his first day in high school. He would like to go to aviation school, and yet do something in the mechanical line.
- ROBERT LUNDY Business
Bob would like a job as soon as he leaves these halls of learning. His apparent interest in stamps may make him another Farley. Who knows?
- VIOLA LUNNEY College
Maybe when Viola is in Plymouth Normal, New Hampshire, she will daydream about the fine times she had in public speaking, and how much she enjoyed Miss Hoar.
- HOWARD LYNCH Business
What did Howard do that made him frightened the first time he was called down to Office 3? We hope that he'll work hard and not be called down by his boss.
- ELIZABETH MACDONALD Business
Betty writes, "I'll always remember the honor of being a Junior Secretary working in Office 3, answering the telephone and filing information. It was a fine introduction to my future work as a secretary."
- BRIDGET MACIAG Business
The musical Bridget, in her secretarial future, will look back with pleasure to her activities in sports and music.
- JOHN MACLEAN U. S. Naval Academy
This future Annapolis cadet has spent only his senior year at H. H. S. John will take with him the memory of his French II Regents, and the fun he had in Dr. Aleck's study hall—tenth period cafeteria, perhaps?
- MAE MACLACHLAN Business
When Mae walks into the office the first day on her first job, will she remember September 7, 1935?
- ANNA MAILLARD Business
What unusual things one remembers! Anna, an honor student, will carry with her the memory of her first Regents. It was a nightmare.
- EVELYN MAKOSKE Hempstead
Evelyn may or may not be related to Makofske of football fame. The crush and those flying tackles at her Senior-Frosh party certainly seem to be sticking in her mind.
- EDWARD MAKOSKE Business
Ed sums up his high school years in four words—fun, friends, and sports.
- MARGARET MALLOY Business
Margaret likes sports and gym. They are what she has concentrated on in school, and what she'll remember after she graduates.
- LOUISE MANOJLOVICH Business
There's nothing like "Singing While You Work." Louise thinks so, for the "Mikado" was outstanding in the tempo of her high school activities.
- JOSEPH MARGIOTTA Hofstra
Joe plans to raise the standards of sports at Hofstra. He has had fine practice with the good sportsmanship so prevalent here.
- MIMI MARGIOTTA Business
Mimi makes us curious, for she said, "There is a certain teacher I shall never forget." Will Mimi be a secretary the boss will always remember?
- ANTHONY MARINO Syracuse
Anthony wishes to post a notice that his hall cop post was a lot of fun. With all the passes he has collected here, he will surely pass at Syracuse.
- CATHERINE MARINO College
Catherine's future is undecided, but her past has a definite memory spot—the shaky feelings caused by her French tests. She must have passed the quizzes.

- FRANCES MARINO Miss Zwerin's Studio
Many years of dictation, filing, and business work loom ahead for Frances, but behind are happy recollections. By these we mean those anxious, yet happy days when Fran was a freshman.
- JOSEPH MARTIN Pratt Institute
In Joe's recollections he holds the memory of the first Regents he ever had. We hope that he will go out for as many activities in Pratt as he did here.
- LOYOLA MATHIA Hofstra
Here's hoping our brilliant Loyola gets all bright little pupils when she enters her teaching career. Her lucky number must be 34, for she seemed to enjoy most the fourth period with Miss Hoar and the "34 Club."
- ANNA MATUSIEWICZ Miss Zwerin's Studio
Anna, who will trudge the path of business, must have a guilty conscience. Why? She remembers most of all her first detention slip.
- WALTER MATUSA College
Registered in Walter's memory is his registration day as a freshman. There will probably be another day as terrifying for him after he has decided which college to enter.
- EUGENE MCALPIN Business
Gene got ahead in that tiger outfit, but the Glen Cove girl cheerleaders got the head at a game and off came the head. This event will be imprinted in his memory for a long time after he has left school and is setting up type.
- GEORGE MCCUE Hempbill Diesel School
The freshman year must be filled with unusual experiences, for here's another senior who will always remember his first year in H. H. S. George, we hope you have a happy first year as a mechanic.
- WALTER MCGILL Business
Walter wasn't one of those boys who tell freshmen about the elevators. His fondest memory is that of his very first day in high school. He, like many others, intends to work as soon as he gets a position.
- WALLACE MCGUIRE College
Here's a fellow who wishes to express that the expressions of the bewildered freshman were quite comical. Maybe Wallace will beat them all at making faces when he's a college freshman.
- MABEL MCNAMEE Dental School
The fine assemblies and the fellowship with teachers and students will linger in the mind of Mabel when she is a dental assistant.
- FREDERIC MCRAE Yale
The key to Frederic's future is all locked up in Yale. We know he's glad there aren't any Regents there, because they were his pet worry at Hempstead.
- MARY MCSWEENY Business
Number please: Mary's plans are very "phone"y even though she seems to lean to the economical side and Mr. Loeb.
- BETTY MEISTER College
It is not surprising to us that Betty should look back to that day when she was asked into the Pen and Ink Club. Her fine work will either brighten Cornell or enlighten William and Mary.
- RUTH MELVEN Miami University
This future physical training teacher says that she will remember the good times she had in hockey, baseball and basketball.
- WALTER MICHOCKI Business
An optimist in our midst! Walter liked the laughing crowds in his Alma Mater.
- BROUNO MIKOWSKI Business
One who believes in looking ahead is Brouno, for he predicts that in times to come when he's working, he'll associate his graduation with pleasant memories.
- MARION MILLER Business School
As the money rolls into her office, and Marion economizes, she'll be thankful for those instructional and entertaining classes of Mr. Loeb.
- ROBERT MILLER Business
Bob liked trying out for sports, of which baseball made a hit with him. From this it's gathered that he likes to pitch into work. That's just what he is going to do after graduation.
- DORIS MITCHELL Syracuse
Have a full understanding of Plato and a liking for Syracuse when you cut in on our best girl dancer. Doris will carry the memory of philosophy class discussions with her.
- HARRIETT MOELLER College
Harriett recalls cheering at and for the first football game she ever attended here. Her final score is as yet undecided, for she's still sending for catalogues and trying to pick her future Alma Mater.
- MILDRED MOHLENBROK Business
Mildred could always be seen in the milling mob of the football games which she loved. Now Mildred's making it her business to get into the crowded business world as a secretary.
- CHARLOTTE MOHRMAN Russell Sage
Charlotte's very bright. She says that she remembers most the numerous holidays throughout the year. On her first permanent day off from H. H. S., she'll start planning about Russell Sage.
- PRISCILLA MOLDENKE Colby College
The years ahead are mapped out. Priscilla's going to be a travel agent after leaving Colby College in Waterville, Maine. One of her most haunting memories is that of being the king in the Pen and Ink Club play, "The Other Ghost."
- ANDREW MOLLO Business
With his winning way of getting friends, whom he'll always remember, Andrew won't need a sales-talk. There will be smooth sailing for him in the business world.

- ANNE MOONEY Nurses' Training School
As Anne, in a hospital, runs for a hot water bottle for one of her patients, she will recall how cold her feet were when she attended Hempstead's football games.
- GEORGE MORGES Syracuse
Quoting George, future Syracuse soloist,
"I hate to leave this dear old school
At which I am a guest.
I'll name one haunting memory—
Well, there just isn't any best."
- ARNOLD MORRIS Hofstra
The traditional Hempstead-Baldwin game made a touchdown in Arnold's heart. For excitement he should come back and watch the beating we'll give 'em next year.
- JANE MULLER Pratt
Making designs on her future, Jane confides that she'll wield an artistic brush and concoct many alluring costumes. Her specialty will be evening dresses, because Jane was very fond of the school dances.
- EDITH MUNDY Katherine Gibbs
Edith must have been just the type, for she made many friends in high school. She is so happy about the friendliness of the boys and girls that she'll enjoy talking about it at Katherine Gibbs.
- FLORENCE MURPHY Business
Florence plans to be a working girl after graduation. We hope that she makes as many friends in the next four years, as she did in H. H. S. Have good times, too, Florence.
- JOSEPH MURRAY Howard
Polite Joseph will carry to Washington his fine impression of our school spirit.
- FRITZ NAGY Hofstra
Fritz will probably make many good contacts during his study as an aviator. We hope that he will find as much school spirit in Hofstra and at Randolph Flying Field, as he did in high school.
- JAMES NELAN Business
It would be funny if James, in his office work, found himself going out for lunch forty minutes ahead of time. He did that in high school—freshman year, of course.
- ANNA NELSON Business
When dealing with some bossy client, Anna will remember how she coped with trying situations in school.
- FLORENCE NELSON Business
Florence is going to take any work she can find—hunting tigers perhaps. Why? Football games and the accompanying excitement always made her happy in H. H. S.
- NORMAN NELSON Roosevelt Training School
Norman, in his chosen career as aviator mechanic, may help many people come through with flying colors. He will remember the tiger symbol—the fighting spirit of Hempstead High.
- EUGENE NESBIT Boston Institute of Technology
History should really be included in Eugene's course at Boston. Then he could recapture the thrilling feeling he had when he made 100%. Make history repeat itself, Gene.
- ARTHUR NEWELL State Normal School
"Happy-go-lucky" Artie will take to teaching. After enjoying Mr. Hayes' jokes, he'll probably use the same ones in Oswego or Buffalo State Normal.
- WILLIAM NEWMAN Business
Perhaps when William is doing mechanical work next year, he'll forget the so-called torture he went through in some of his classes.
- DOLORES NEYLAND St. Vincents Hospital Nursing School
Even with her future far from a bed of roses, Dolores had better watch out for thorns, because she knows that one chair in school gave her runs. We hope she runs into some doctor in her nursing career.
- ROBERT NICHOLS
Robert spends so much time in Florida that we wonder what his recollections of H. H. S. will be.
- ALFRED NOON New York University
Alfred's memories of high school days may be summed up in two words, mathematics, sports. If he delves into history at N. Y. U., he'll remember the ancient times of his junior year.
- HARRY NORTON Business
"Look what the wind blew in," is what Harry's friends will exclaim when he visits them after he's established in the air conditioning business. Harry has had practice listening to puns and jokes in his four years of high.
- FRED OBERMAN Business
Fred will tell this to his business friends, "I shall always remember the first game which I played of Junior Varsity Basketball."
- FRANK OCCHIPINTI Business School
Frank will recall and will value the useful experience and teaching gained while he played in the H. H. S. orchestra.
- JOHN OCCHIPINTI Business School
"Friends may come and friends may go," but friends gained in high school will never be forgotten by John.
- EILEEN O'CONNOR Scudder
Miss O'Connor, secretary par excellent, believes that the four years spent in H. H. S. were very useful and amusing.
- ELMER ODELL Dental School
That empty "filling" that Elmer got when he asked his best girl to a dance could have been remedied if he had practiced his drilling occupation then.
- MURIEL ODELL
Although Hempstead football teams were not always the winning ones, to Muriel they were always the most sporting.

- THOMAS O'KEEFE Business
To quote Thomas about what he remembers, "Camp cookery class—what a class—wow!" Since he's going to be a mechanic, he'll probably know how to jack up his fallen cakes.
- WINIFRED O'KEEFE Business
Many dictations from Mrs. Foster have probably aided Winifred greatly. She's trying for a secretarial position.
- HERMAN ORTH Business
Sad but true is the fact that Herman gave us very little information. He very nonchalantly told us he has a bad memory. We hope his future work is not in the zoo, for he probably would forget to shut the lion's cage.
- SYDNEY OSTROFSKY Arkansas State
This boy of sports says, "I'll always remember the night of a basketball game between Freeport and Hempstead in 1937 when the whole student body yelled, 'We want Hubbell!'"
- GERALD O'SULLIVAN Business
Gerry will never forget the day he tied for first place in a meet with three other fellows. That day he earned his first points in track.
- JEROME OVEREND New York School of Interior Decorating
Jerome, with interior decoration plans in mind, recalls the first time he decorated Office 3 with his presence for an attendance interview with Mr. E. C. Moore.
- ARTHUR OWEN Pratt Institute
Artistic Arthur regrets that Hempstead did not beat Baldwin while he was here.
- WALTER OWENS Business
Walt's fond memories of H.H.S. include: football, the teachers' jokes, vacations, Louis, and detentions.
- WALDEMAR PABO Cornell
Waldemar will not lose his schedule card at registration at Cornell. He lost one when he was a freshman at Hempstead, and he'll never forget that.
- JOSEPHINE PAKULA Miss Zwerin's Studio
While struggling through her office duties under a severe boss, Josie will remember the fun she had working in Office 3.
- ROBERT PARKS Missouri University
Star senior, President Parks, isn't at all retiring when he confesses that the work of four years of Latin are destined to stand out in his memory.
- WILLIS PARRY College
He should be prepared for the dorms at Lehigh or the University of Miami. Willis came to us just this year and remembers from his past the fun of a boarding school.
- WILFRED PATTERSON College
Pat will often recall the sinking feeling he had when he struck out against La Salle with the tying and winning runs on base. Pat is planning to make a short stop of four years at either the University of Iowa or Hofstra.
- ANTONETTE PAVIA Business
She wants to be a secretary when she leaves high school. Antonette will always recall the enjoyment she received from the work in the art and music classes.
- LESTER PECAN Rensselaer
Lester is prepared for the outdoor life of an engineer. We think four years as a member of the Gym Club, and of the Hall Cops has given him a good foundation for long hours at Rensselaer.
- EDITH PEIRCE Business
Edith has only one great love in her life—art. In a few years she will probably be designing the plans for the window decorations of a Fifth Avenue Shoppe.
- MARY PELLICANE College
Here is another honor girl who has memories galore of H.H.S. She insists that of all her experiences she will recall first of all the "sixth period office work (???????)".
- JORDON PENNOYER West Point
This young man from Michigan entered our school in his senior year. He must like uniforms, for he is planning to enter the army via West Point.
- BRUEN PETERS Hofstra
Bruen will probably use the same jokes at Hofstra that he heard in H.H.S. In that case he will graduate with honors, unless the professors have heard the jokes before.
- RUTH PETERS Dental School
Ruth will be able to sing to the hum and buzz of the drill, for she has had much practice in the Glee Club and in "Iolanthe."
- HELEN PETRONE Business
Athletic Helen surely won't forget that she was in many sports, and that she especially enjoyed the football games (as a relaxation).
- JOHN PETRUCELLI Business
John plans to be a moving picture operator. He asserts that he'll always tell with pride how he felt when he was elected President of the Campus Patrol.
- BLANCHE PHILLIPS Emerson College
Busy Blanche, the future Helen Hayes, will always remember the thrill of acting in her first play before the assembly.
- STEPHEN PILLER William and Mary
Musical Stephen will be missed next year. His playing the Hammond organ for assemblies was enjoyed by Stephen and the school. We hope that he'll remember us when he plays at college in Virginia.
- JESSIE PISANI Browne's Business School
Jessie, no relation to the outlaw, will give a chuckle or two when she's studying at Browne's and thinking of the Hall Cops' Show.
- THOMAS POMBONYO Business
With a smile Thomas said, "I'll always remember how I tried to make the Golf Club. I lost the game and club membership on the last hole."

- EDITH POPLAWSKI Business School
Edith appreciates good things for she likes the school band. She is planning to roller skate back from business just to hear the band at the games.
- CATHERINE PRINCE Miss Zwerin's Studio
The draft on Catherine's neck, as she takes dictation from the Governor of New York, will remind her of the cold room 50 on a winter's day.
- ELEANOR PRUDEN College
Eleanor, a future New York University co-ed, will look back with longing at the quiet, peaceful, orderly halls of Hempstead High School—especially between classes.
- HARRY PURNHAGEN Technical School
Harry promises us that he will never forget the games between Hempstead and Freeport. We hope that Harry will return to cheer the team next fall.
- MARIE QUANTRELL Hofstra
Marie's words, "I'll always remember my junior and senior years, both spent in the doghouse for writing gossip for the Patriot." We know that she enjoyed wrecking lives.
- BETTY QUINN St. Catherine's Nursing School
Next year an undergraduate nurse at St. Catherine's will think of her Alma Mater and fondly sigh—for the summer vacations.
- FRANK RADUKA Pace Institute
Frank will go to Pace Institute leaving a ? behind him. He says that he has nothing memorable to recall about high school. We think that he is just being different.
- SANFORD RAGUE Eastman School of Music
As an accomplished musician of tomorrow, Sandy will still get a shiver thinking of his first day in the orchestra at the Bandbox. He pictures all his memories.
- AUDREY RAPELYE Music
Audrey hits the high c's in hopes of—someday—the Metropolitan. She considers her performance in "The Mikado" the greatest souvenir of her high school career.
- MARIE RAY Business School
Next year Marie will be cavorting at Packard, but she will be remembering her good friends of H.H.S. and the grand times she had with them.
- BARBARA RAYNOR College
Variety is the spice of life, but too much can be a little aggravating. Barbara tried six high schools before she settled down to graduate from our dear Alma Mater. After that momentous event, she will journey to Kingsmouth.
- DOROTHY RAYNOR Music
Dorothy, standing in the wings of the Metropolitan, will recall the night she performed in the "Mikado."
- VERONICA REDDY Business
Ronny is going to be a stenographer, hoping that someday she will be able to study singing. Even if she ends by being a contented housewife, she will still blush whenever she thinks of that first day of school, when she tripped and fell down the stairs.
- DOROTHY REIMER Business
Here is a future working girl who sympathizes with us. Dorothy will never forget working on the Colonial. Confidentially, Dorothy, it was fun, wasn't it?
- DORIS RENTON Pratt Institute
Doris promises to hold tight in her memory the jolly good times she had with those distinguished gentlemen that our school is so dependent on—the Hall Cops.
- DOROTHY RICHTER Business
Now that Dorothy has become an undaunted senior, she knows that she will always remember her frightened freshman days.
- MURIEL RICHTER Business
Muriel, being the industrious type, is going to work. She will never forget the first detention slip that was slipped to her, when she was relying on the future for work, instead of doing it the night before.
- JAMES RIVERS Civil Service
His high school life has flowed happily along. James is well known for his Robeson Club activities and for his speaking ability.
- MOLLY ROBERTS Nurses' Training
If Molly is chased through the halls of Mary Immaculate Hospital as she was here in Hempstead, she might not make as many friends there as she did in H.H.S.
- LOUISE ROEPKE Washington Secretarial School
It is good that Louise is going to commute to New York, for if she went away, how would she write to all her friends in H.H.S.?
- JOHN ROGERS College
Toddy is going to follow in his big brother's footsteps and go to Niagara for two years and then to Notre Dame. He's a football fan, so he'll never forget the Hempstead-Chaminade game.
- MARJORY ROGGE Vassar
Marjory remarks, "I'll always remember getting up at dawn in order to arrive in time for the first period." Terrible thing for sophisticated Marjory to be disturbed out of her beauty sleep.
- KATHERINE ROMANCHUK Miss Zwerin's Studio
Honors come to Katherine! Quote, "I'll never forget the day I was requested to sit in the reserved section of the auditorium, and I finally discovered that I was about the 99th one on the list."
- RAYMOND ROMANO Business
When Raymond is very busy selling furniture, he can relax and think of the thrilling football games he attended at H.H.S.
- PEARL ROSMAN College
Pearl will keep in her memory the hilarious hi-lites of her language class—Dr. Aleck's interpretations of the German stories.
- VINCENT RUMINSKY Pace Institute
Let's hope Vincent will keep the debts and credits of bookkeeping straight in the accounting class at Pace. How did he do it in H.H.S.?

- AUDREY RUSCHER Miami University
Audrey's Frosh year and the happy hours of Julius Caesar in Latin II will always be the outstanding events in H.H.S. to her.
- EVA RUUD Katherine Gibbs
Why does Eva sigh when she thinks of the evening she was the flower girl at Commencement '38?
- AUSTIN RYAN Business
Austin evidently plans to approach his sophomore classmates when he's in the advertising business, for he remarks, "I'll never forget them."
- DOROTHY SAAL College
Our little minx Dot Saal will always remember the trouble she caused in her gossip column of the Patriot.
- DORIS SAUNDERS Katherine Gibbs
It won't be a novel event when they book Doris for Katherine Gibbs, especially if she keeps on with her library work.
- RUTH SCHAEFFER Syracuse University
Ruth asserts that for years she will remember her four years in high school.
- MARGARET SCHARNKE Adelphi
Mr. Pill's Pen and Ink Club Lectures were a great force in Margaret's past. They are a greater importance now that she is honor bound for Adelphi.
- GEORGE SCHEFFLER Columbia University
Bright, blistering red were the sunburns George suffered. Every time the Junior Prom came the sunburn was at its worst, and a tuxedo didn't help any. We hope George has better luck at Columbia.
- FRANK SCHEIBL Farmingdale
Here is a boy whose memory is well punctuated with happy recollections of Miss Bassimer's English class. We can see Frank getting promoted in his work, because the boss is fond of Frank's precision of muscle (from gym club) and clearness of thought (from English).
- CHARLES SCHENCK College
Four years of work in the Orchestra and the Band certainly ought to make Charles reply, "I shall always remember my activities in the music department of H.H.S." We won't forget the "Mikado" or "Iolanthe" either.
- EDWARD SCHENK Aviation
Even though he took a business course in high school, Edward plans to become an aviation mechanic. In his free time Edward read joke books.
- FRANK SCHIESS Business
Our tennis star asserts, "I shall never forget the day our tennis team defeated Sewanhaka. It was the first defeat of Sewanhaka in thirty-five matches."
- VIRGINIA SCHILL Wisconsin University
Demon of the deadlines and energetic editor of the Patriot, in other words our much loved Ginny, heads for Wisconsin. With her head she will surely brighten the campus. Don't forget us, Virginia.
- SAUL SCHNEIDER College
The crowded chattering afternoons at Louis' will occupy a vivid spot in the mind of the future chemical engineer Saul. We know that he will remember snakes, toe dancers, and printing presses.
- ELEANOR SCHWICTENBERG Business
Those horrific oral talks in English IA will haunt Eleanor no more. She has had much more practice since then standing before her class and talking.
- FLORENCE SCRIVENER Business
Florence whispered, "I shall always remember the time I gave the two-minute talk in English 1B. What I said and how I gave it, I shall never recall."
- CORA SEABURY College
Honorable Cora, President of the Pen and Ink Club, guiltily confides that she will always remember the day in 1935 when she decided to find out how it felt to play hookey. P.S. It didn't work.
- RAYMOND SENTZ Business
When Raymond is paging some important person at the Milburn Country Club, he will think of the lusty yells which he gave at the football games of '37.
- FRANK SEPP Art
Artistic Frank is planning to continue his art. He hopes to meet people as fine and as congenial as Miss Field.
- JOHN SEPP Business
John is the handsome usher at the Hempstead Theatre. As he takes the tickets, he rarely thinks about the first scolding he received as a freshman. All is forgotten now, for his senior year was the very best.
- HELEN SKECHUTZ Miss Zuerin's Studio
Helen had an exciting time that period when the stove exploded in Home Economics. Was she so disillusioned about housekeeping that she decided to become a secretary?
- HERBERT SHEPPERD Business
Herbert collected many memories from his work in dramatic class and from "You Can't Take It With You." This fine actor insists that he is going to be a tinsmith.
- LILLIAN SIMEK Miss Zuerin's Studio
Lillian is either a very good sport, or else she has much school spirit. It will not let her forget the football games.
- LOUISE SIMS Teachers Training College
The memory of a very undramatic fall upstairs when rushing to class one morning will remain in Louise's mind when she is attending Cheney Teachers Training College in Pennsylvania.
- GEORGE SKOGLUND Business School
George plans to work when he goes to business school. What has he been doing the last four years besides having fun on his hall cop post?
- CHARLES SLATER Business
Charles spent all of his free time attending the athletic games. Perhaps he will return for the Saturday or evening games.

- JOHN SLIWOSKI Browne's Business School
Here is another good member of the gallery at the football and baseball games. John will remember the crowds, the cheering and the good sportsmanship of the teams.
- CHARLES SMALLWOOD College
A future student of Lincoln college will often recall the strange feelings he had in January and June. No more Regents for you, Charles, even when you are a lawyer.
- HENRY SMITH College
Henry's words, "I shall remember the fun I had being an amateur actor in the operas." We know Henry can sing, and we hope that he will join the College Glee Club.
- LOIS SMITH Adelphi
She reads French, she speaks German, but she enjoys acting with American words. To speak plainly, Lois enjoys the Footlight Club.
- GEORGE SONTAG
Here is a clue to George's real sleuthing powers—he set out as a freshman on the all important investigation of finding the elevator. By now you probably realize that George will join the police force.
- PAULINE SPARACIO College
Pauline is a sports' enthusiast. She will remember the hockey and the football games of H.H.S.
- RAYMOND SPRAGUE King's College
We hope that Raymond will find the same friendly spirit among the students in college, as he did at H.H.S.
- ERWIN STALLER College
When Erwin goes to Alabama preparing for his future work in general business—banking and finance—we shall receive letters and pictures from him. Erwin was a member of the Stamp and Camera Clubs here.
- GILBERT STANCOURT College
"I made my first appearance on the stage in a chapel programme and led the assembly in the flag salute. I was certainly proud to have the whole assembly follow my own voice."
- RITA STENSON Business School
Just picture art classes which Rita enjoyed and blend them with the commercial plans she has sketched for herself, and the result will be future magazine covers.
- JESSE STILES College
Jesse smiled when he said, "I shall always remember how the Radio Club boys tried to collect dues."
- PETER STENZEL College
It is good that Pete will be a chemical engineer, for it will save Fred Astaire sleepless nights. Peter confessed that he remembers with undying joy the high school dances.
- HELEN ST. JOHN Business
The future is well planned for Helen; it will be work, economics, and travel. While doing this, Helen may recall the athletics, the dances, and her classes.
- WILLIAM STOLZ Business
It is a misery to William how he ever completed the four years at H.H.S. We think he meant to write mystery on his questionnaire, for William has a very cheerful expression.
- JOSEPH STRANGE U. S. Army
The Citadel, Charleston, South Carolina, will soon greet happy, friendly Joe. He promises that he will never forget H.H.S., or the very enjoyable days spent in English IV.
- LOUISE STUIB Adelphi
We shall miss capable Louise. She admits that she will never forget the pleasure she had working on Senior Girls' Service Squad.
- MARIE SUTOR Miss Zwerin's Studio
"Hold That Tiger" is probably Marie's favorite song, because she told us that she would never forget our mascot.
- MARION SYMONS Pratt Institute
When the members of the Junior Literary Club saw the "Star Wagon," Marion then and there hitched her wagon to a star. In days ahead she will enjoy Pratt Institute.
- RICHARD SZIKA Business
A walking sense of humor is Richard, who is destined (so he says) to become office boy to the President of the United States. We must warn him, however, not to tell his boss that he once received a detention slip for the ninth, tenth, and eleventh periods.
- DILYS THOMAS Business
Dilys will carry with her the memory of the Hempstead-Baldwin game. Her future will be dedicated to work, and it will be successful we are sure.
- ARNO TIEDGEN Business
Just for practice, Arno should keep a little black book and jot down the feeling he had on his first visit to Mr. E. C. Moore. It is hoped that he will have volumes of success as a bookkeeper.
- ROBERT TIMKE College
Quoting Bob, "As a freshman I walked into a senior class the wrong period, the wrong day and found the room occupied by such superior people—I am one now."
- LEO TOBIN Hofstra
A few years hence, Leo will still recall the pole vaulting he did in the big conference meet at Westbury. We are sure he broke a record.
- EDWARD TONER Business
"Do humans have souls? Of what importance was Plato?" This will all come back to Edward, and he will think of his junior year philosophy class. We hope that there isn't a position that he Cantfil in the working world.
- DOROTHY TOWSMSA Foreign Language School
We think that Dorothy, the future interpreter, is joking when she says that she will always remember her acting as a referee for students who knew more about the game than she did.

- RUTH TOUWSMA Browne's Business School
What a loyal student! Ruth liked all of her teachers, her work and her classmates. Ruth is sorry to leave high school for the world of business.
- MARION TREIBER Packard
Happy, friendly Marion will always remember the many friends which she made in high school. Have you ever seen Marion alone?
- ANNA TRESTKA Miss Zwerin's Studio
Anna, a capable member of the Junior Secretaries, told us this, "I shall always remember the day, when as a timid freshman, I was told by a burly senior to look for an elevator to the fourth floor."
- WILLIAM TYDEMAN Business
Four years ago William learned a lesson which he will never forget. In his words, "One day I tried to collect locker dues from a freshman, and he conquered me."
- MURIEL UHL Miss Zwerin's Studio
This future secretary will often recall the happy evening, the lovely dress, the handsome boy, and the Junior Prom.
- AUDREY UTESS Katherine Gibbs
The noise of typewriters in business school, where Audrey intends to learn how efficient secretaries act, may remind her of Hempstead's crowds cheering at the football games.
- BARBARA UZMANN Adelphi
Our Barbara's words, "I shall always remember how proud I was as a freshman because, having been warned by my sisters, I knew there were no elevators in the school. However, they forgot to tell me that there was no cover charge in the cafeteria."
- EUGENIO VALENTINO New York State Merchant Marine
This football player must have been bruised and battered, since he recalls the first game in which he played.
- VINCENT VANDERHOOF Pratt Institute
Vincent, of the Colonial art staff, has been a handball enthusiast, playing two days a week for four years. We know what he will remember.
- JOHN VANDERMINDEN Guggenheim School of Aeronautics
John enjoyed his algebra classes very much. His sky-high future has been graphed in aeronautical engineering.
- CLAIRE VANDEWATER Hofstra
Operas and senior plays play a big part in Claire's high school memories. She will use her music, because she is going to specialize in kindergarten teaching.
- MORTON VANDEWATER Business
This musical hall cop will always remember the day he met not only a King, but also, a Dorothy.
- SILVIO VELEZ Business
Silvio should have taken a medical course to rid him of the imaginary agony which he experienced here. Maybe he will work it off when he gets his first job.
- ROBERT VINT Business
Let us ask Robert to make a mechanical plan for undermining all our football opponents. Then Robert's mind won't be troubled as it is with the thought of the 1937 Baldwin game.
- ANNA VISINSKI Miss Zwerin's Studio
Next year Anna will close the top of her portable Remington Rand and smile to herself. She will be smiling at the thought of the many mishaps she had as a freshman.
- ANITA WACHTEL College
There's always a first time, but it will be a long time before Anita can forget the memory of that thrilling first day in high school.
- HENRY WAHL College
Whether Henry goes to Pratt or Polly Tech, he will take with him the memories of his happy associations with his classmates and teachers.
- AGNES WALKER College
Hockey, baseball, basketball and riding—all these Agnes can play, yet she remembers best of all the Junior Prom of 1938.
- BERNICE WALKER Business
Busy Berenice has worked in the library, in commercial club and in the gym, so now she is planning something different—she's going to work.
- ELEANOR WALKER Business
This future business girl will carry with her the fond memories of the Robeson Club activities.
- IRENE WALKER Nurses' School
She played basketball, baseball and hockey for three years. We shall miss Irene, but we know that she'll never forget our athletic department.
- MARY WALKER Alfred University
Dignified Mrs. Kirby of "You Can't Take It With You" admits that she will long remember blowing up a paper bag in the cafeteria one noon. Imagine that!
- ELIZABETH WALL Pratt Institute
Elizabeth is going to be a dietitian after studying at Pratt. She ought to ride through with flying colors, for she has had practice in riding club.
- ROBERT WALLACE Cornell University
Robert's clubs were varied—Stamp, German, Science and Tupiar. Even at that he is an adventurer, for he attempted to take the Physical Geography without doing the years' work.
- RUTH WALTON Miss Zwerin's Studio
Ruth's words, "I shall always remember the football games of Hempstead High, the good spirit of the cheering section, and the cooperation of the students."
- HAROLD WALZER Cornell University
Paul Sycamore, alias Harold, insists that he will remember a "till further notice" detention which lasted half a year. Harold became so intrigued with the work, teacher, and seat, that he unconsciously went each day.
- EDWARD WARREN Oswego Normal
Edward, who came to Hempstead in December, hopes that the students who passed him in the halls on the cold winter day, do not think he was in a trance. Edward could not locate the classrooms.

- MARGARET WARNER Hofstra
Peggy says, "The thing that will always remain in my memory is the learning of the 'Lindy' in the book room with a fellow member of the Library Staff."
- ELSIE WATSON Julliard Conservatory
After successfully completing her first concert tour, the applause of her audiences will recall to Elsie the friendliness and sincerity of her high school teachers.
- MARCIA NEAL WEBB Nursing
Our romantic leading lady nurses thoughts of the fun she had in Office 2. Marcia is headed for a future of bottles and bandages.
- JOHN WEBER Business
"Anywhere I can get a job," replied John, in reference to his future work when he graduates. Maybe he should be a fire-eater, because he recalls with fluttering heart his H.H.S. flame.
- MARY WEBER Miss Zwerin's Studio
She must have a weakness for circuses, because she liked the snake dances after the football games. Don't dream about them too often, Mary.
- MARJORIE WEEKS Packard Business School
Marjorie will make a good secretary, because she has a keen memory for details. After four years in high school, she remembers one sixth period class which she enjoyed greatly.
- MARIE WEINBERGER Browne's Business School
Evidently the freshman year must be filled with funny, yet lasting experiences, for that year will always bring smiles to Marie.
- ALICIA WELLS Medical Assistants School
If a patient of Alicia's ever slips out of the hospital, she will forgive him. Alicia declares, "I'll always remember the first time I slipped, with many misgivings, out of the school three periods earlier than the specified time."
- HOWARD WERNICKE
Howard is not going to college, to business school, or to work, when he leaves H.H.S. Perhaps he is going to find the elevator which he thought was in the building.
- LEWIS WHEELER Coast Guard
Lewis whispered to our reporter, "I'll never forget the flower girl in the 'Bond's Southern Wedding' on Class Night '38." Will he take this memory with him to New London, Connecticut?
- VIVIAN WILANT Alabama University
This future lawyer will always remember the athletic games and the enjoyable times in Room 34. In this room he received much practice for his future courtroom talks.
- THEODORE WILD Business
We quote cruel hall cop Theodore, "I shall always laugh when I think of the enjoyment I got for two whole years, keeping the freshmen constantly on the go."
- NICHOLAS WILD Business
Nicholas feels that there are many opportunities in Hempstead High School if one really wants to work for them. Good luck when you are working, Nicholas.
- CAROLINE WILKANOWSKI Business
Musical Caroline will often smile when she is teaching piano, as she recalls the creative dancing class for which she played the piano. What does she remember about the Glee Club and Orchestra?
- CATHERINE WILLIS Mary Immaculate Hospital
"The last is the very best," says Catherine. She transferred from another school to Hempstead just two years ago. If you should need a nurse in a few years call Catherine.
- JANET WITHERS Business
Janet feels that her work in Office 3 has given her fine practice for her future work. She liked the idea of working in an office in a large building.
- EDNA WOOD Nursing School
Greek Games, basketball, baseball and hockey were Edna's sports in high school. What is she going to do in her free time as a practice nurse?
- GLORIA WOOD Barnard
Gloria, the future interpreter of languages, takes with her this picture—the typical freshman who tears down the halls with his schoolbag tucked under one arm and a pile of books under the other, so that he won't be late for—study hall!
- RALPH WRIGHT Government Service
We suggest Ralph as an air mail pilot. He wants to work in the Post Office, yet has had practice in aviation. So combine the two, Ralph.
- EDNA YOUNG Business
Edna is planning to work at a sit-down job, for she remembers how the Hiking Club members returned puffing and perspiring from their walks.
- BLANCHE YURAN Business School
Every minute of her free time is going to be spent studying music. Blanche will be typing in rhythm.
- VLADIMIR ZACHARKOW Business
In his future occupation, perhaps that of being another Bobby Jones, Vladimir will use the benefits derived from his practice in Golf Club.
- JENNIE ZDANOVICH Business
Jennie almost became a book worm. She admits that she was so busy in the library that she became absent minded and often tried to walk through the books.
- GWENDOLYN ZEEZE Business
Gwen will happily remember the many hours she spent playing with the band at the concerts and football games. Gwen has won a scholarship which takes the form of a series of free lessons under Scotti.
- JOHN ZIERMANN Navy
It is over the ocean foam for John whose ship of the future is loaded with nautical ambitions.
- MARTIN ZUBA Business
When spring comes, Martin is always impatient to get out in the field and play a game of baseball. Come back next spring, Martin, and watch our new team.

through the years

ONCE more the Colonial! The publication of the high school annual is an event culminating many weeks of labor. Spring comes bringing with it glorious days and the satisfaction of a year's work finished.

Truly, it is history that nearly eighteen years have passed since the first staff of fifteen assembled in our library to plan a yearbook for the seniors of Hempstead High School. As a result the first Colonial was presented to the class of '22.

With the seventeen previous issues of the Colonial spread before us, we note with interest the strikingly parallel growth of the school and the yearbook. Year by year both have grown larger and, necessarily, more comprehensive. Gone are the days when the senior class consisted of thirty-six, and each senior had half a page in the book devoted to his school activities, future plans, and hobbies; when the Patriot, Science Club, and The Senior Play were the only extra-curricular activities pictured; when the faculty numbered twenty-four instead of ninety; when baseball, basketball, and football were the only sports available to Hempstead athletes; and when the Colonial had but eight pages of advertising.

As time went on, however, the many and unusual themes of the Colonial, among them Grecian, Astronomical, Sampler, Nautical, Candid Camera, and Chinese, were varied and imaginative.

Since 1922 twelve times there has been a boy as editor-in-chief, and a girl has received that special honor but six times.

Now the Colonial staff of forty boys and girls leaves its year's work to the past, trusting that the workmanship realized from the best of its capabilities will equal that of the Colonial staffs of the past, and will inspire the staffs of the future to produce a book better than theirs just as they have striven to surpass these of previous years.

We may now announce, as did the staff of '22, "Our task is done."

in an atmosphere of

SUCCESS

THE impressive number of Delehanty Secretarial School graduates who have found ready employment . . . the well-known record of our students in competitive Civil Service examinations . . . the thoroughness of Delehanty teaching methods . . . the unstinted individual attention . . . and, finally, the effectiveness of our Placement Service.

These important factors all combine to inspire confidence and self-assurance in the Delehanty student body.

NO WONDER THEY SUCCEEDED!

Complete Secretarial Course covering every phase of accepted business practice . . . We also offer short intensive courses in specialized subjects . . . Day and Evening Sessions. Moderate Tuition

Graduates of our Secretarial School are permitted to return to the evening classes at any time to prepare for Civil Service Stenographic examinations, without charge.
