DEDICATION

To Dr. W. Amos Kincaid, as retiring Superintendent of Schools, the COLONIAL is dedicated, a small token of appreciation for his devoted interest and service in the welfare and continued improvement of the Hempstead Public Schools. As the system closes its one hundredth year and Dr. Kincaid his sixteenth, may his plea in behalf of THE FORWARD LOOK continue to play a guiding role in the quality education offered by the Hempstead Public Schools during these ever-changing times.

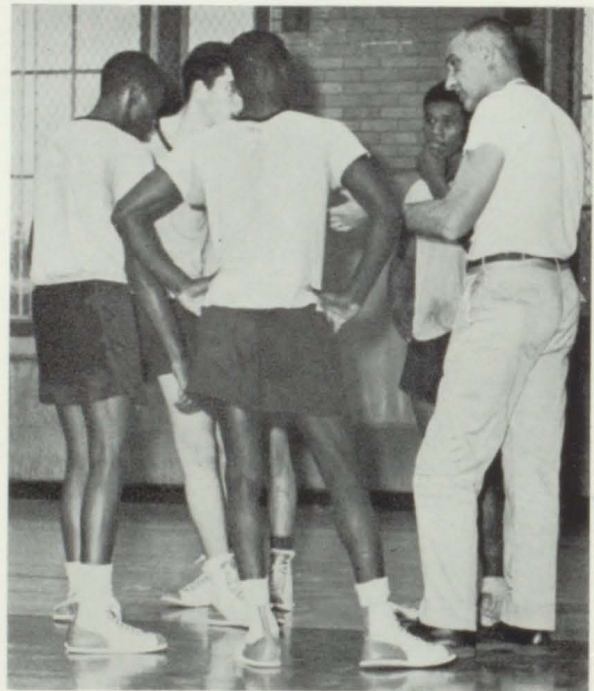

*Paul Krause
Coach and Friend*

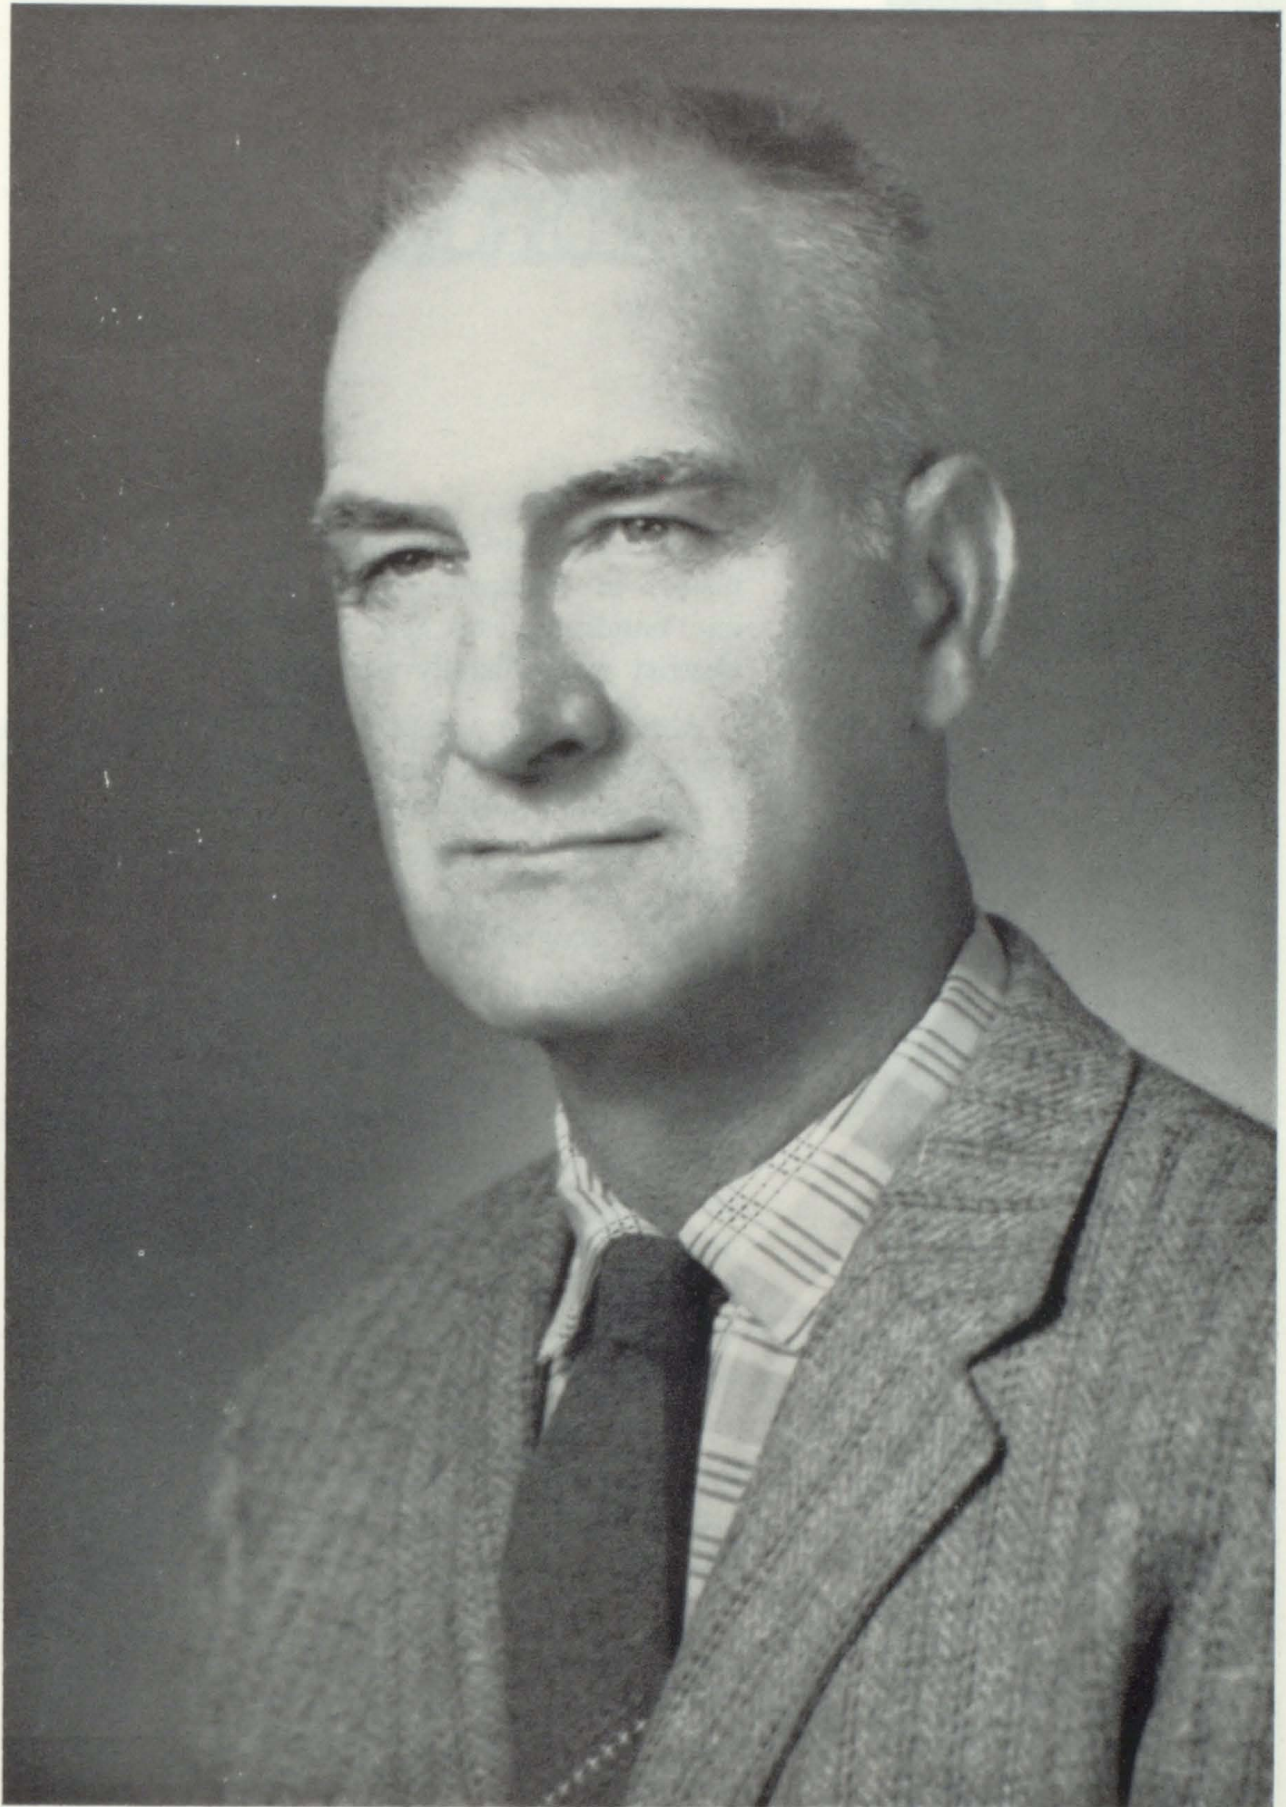

PAUL E. Krause, physical education instructor and coach at Hempstead High School, died at his home, 1032 Oakfield Avenue, North Bellmore. He was fifty. He was the first president of The Nassau County Track Coaches Association.

As head coach in track, Mr. Krause, in 1960, entered H.H.S. sprinter Wilbur Brown in the Amateur Athletic Union national championships at Bakersfield, California, with an eye to the United States Olympic trials at Palo Alto later that year. Under Mr. Krause's coaching, Brown was undefeated in Nassau County competition and had won the State 100 and 200 dashes. He accompanied his protege to Bakersfield, a trip made possible through funds raised by the Hempstead Kiwanians, Lions, Rotarians, and Chamber of Commerce Members.

His cheerful, booming voice could be heard on the track field or in the gym. He befriended the boys in many ways, and it was not unusual for a boy to visit Mr. Krause's home, seeking advice with personal problems.

Mr. Krause was born in New York City. He was a graduate of Notre Dame with a B.S. and of New York University with an M.A. He began teaching in Hempstead in September 1943.

FOREWORD

Nineteen sixty-three marks a milestone in the history of Hempstead's fine school system. Just one hundred years ago, the Hempstead School District was officially established.

Although the school district was founded in 1863, the Board of Education did not provide for a high school until 1878. The high school of that time offered a program of only three years, providing the student with courses varying from physical geography to practical arithmetic.

The Senior in 1878 usually studied chemistry, English, literature, geology, natural history, botany, astronomy, and advanced universal history. Today the senior of Hempstead High may be enrolled in a four year program ranging from a comprehensive college-preparatory course to training in the most advanced business and vocational techniques. In addition to these programs the student has the opportunity to take advantage of Hempstead's superior music, art, and athletic programs.

We are confident that the students of 2063 will look back on our coming century with the same feeling of pride with which we regard the past hundred years.

Board Observes Centennial

THE Hempstead public school system is now in its hundredth year. Records indicate there has always been a five-man Board of Education. As established by the laws of 1863, this body was given entire control and management of all the common schools within the district. Operating with this power, the Board has fostered the growth of Hempstead's Schools into the system of six elementary schools and one high school we now have.

The five-member board, not restricted as to membership except for residence in the district, includes a president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer. These officers are elected for a term of one year. Each board position stands for election once every five years, each member taking office a different year. This general election of school board members is the prime opportunity for the electorate of Union Free School District #1, Hempstead, to exercise its democratic rights, maintaining the high standards of education in our area.

Our school board meets each month in public session, generally in the High School. Three members constitute a business quorum. At these meetings, school activities are set up, money appropriated, and a tax rate set. One of the primary duties of the board is to collect the yearly district school tax, which incidentally, is one of the lowest in our area, thanks to prudent spending and planning.

Although this year marked the passing of Mr. Emil Bejsovec, a past school board president, the Hempstead Board of Education, served by able men, can be depended upon to maintain its splendid record.

Standing, left to right—Mathias C. Helbach; John M. Serenci; Russell G. Booth, Vice President; C. H. Tunncliffe Jones, School Attorney. Seated—Margaret E. Doty, Clerk of the Board; Emil J. Bejsovec, Treasurer; Hyman Geller, President; William Urquhart, Jr., Secretary; Dr. W. Amos Kincaid, Superintendent of Schools.

Superintendent of Schools

WHEN anyone mentions Dr. Kincaid's name, many students think he is just the man who closes school when it snows. But being Superintendent of Schools involves more demanding duties—duties which Dr. Kincaid has been fulfilling for the past sixteen years.

Despite the heavy demands made upon him, he still succeeds in keeping in touch with the students in the schools of our district as much as possible. This year he has attended several assemblies in which he spoke to us.

Under Dr. Kincaid's administration our new music wing was constructed. He was also instrumental in organizing our present Guidance Department. In fact, we can point to many more equally noteworthy accomplishments of our Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Kincaid.

Former Principal Advances

DR. Sheldon came to Hempstead High School in 1959, from Minoa High School in Minoa, New York, where he served as a teacher of physics, chemistry, biology, and driver education, as well as the coach of the football, basketball, and baseball teams.

Dr. Sheldon is a graduate of Syracuse University, where he earned his B.S., M.S., and Ed.D. degrees. In the United States Air Force he supervised Radio Teletype Training as an electronics specialist.

In October of 1961 Dr. Sheldon took a leave of absence from Hempstead High School for active service in the Air Force. Upon his return our past principal became the Assistant Superintendent of the Hempstead School District.

Dr. Sheldon's responsibilities as Assistant Superintendent of Schools are closely related to the students' instruction. He hires teachers, visits classrooms, and initiates new courses of study, such as new foreign language programs.

There is no doubt that such a wide background of experience has made and will continue to make Dr. Sheldon a valuable asset to the Hempstead Schools.

From The Vice Principal To The Class Of 1963

IT is a pleasure to greet the class of 1963 at the time of the publication of the 1963 Colonial. The following pages reflect especially the faces and recorded highlights of an important segment of the formative years of the lives of our Senior students and provide a brief and condensed history of their aspirations, participation and achievements in the many aspects of our high school community.

The 1963 Colonial is a tribute to those who are being graduated and who, in the immediate future, will travel rapidly diverging paths of many different natures. As the passage of years dims the crystal clear recollections of today, it is hoped that these pages will provide testimony of those important events and experiences, the friendships and learning, the amusing incidents and serious decisions, which contributed in no small measure to the weaving of the fabric from which rich and full lives and real happiness have been created.

From The Principal To The Class Of 1963

AS you seniors graduate, we usually try to examine your development over the preceding four year period. We have a tendency to look at final results rather than to review your four years' growth. I am sure that as you review your experiences at Hempstead High School, you will see how you have grown and matured.

Your educational progress and social development have been the result of a conscious effort on your part under the direction of both teachers and parents. This effort has resulted in outstanding achievements in academic pursuits, music, athletics, and other school activities. In spite of occasional grumblings, I think, that as most of you look back, you will agree that high school has been a rewarding experience.

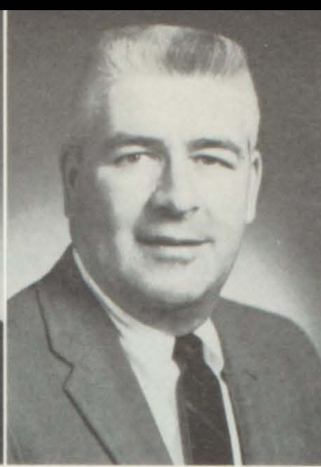

Hempstead High School will continue to bask in the glory of your future successes and achievements. The school administration and faculty have enjoyed working with all of you who are members of the class of 1963. We wish you continued success in your future endeavors, both in schools of higher learning and in the world of business.

Administrative Appointments Finalized

HEMPSTEAD High School's administration was firmly established in 1908 when it was agreed that the size of the student body warranted the appointment of a Superintendent of Schools.

While our administrative staff is virtually unchanged from last year, many of its members are now working under new titles. Upon his return from military service, Dr. Thomas D. Sheldon assumed the position of Associate Superintendent of Schools, under Dr. W. A. Kincaid, who is Superintendent. Thus, the position of prinicipal of Hempstead High School was vacated, to be filled by Mr. Arthur Flax, who served last year as acting principal. Mr. Fred Pilkington, last year's acting assistant principal, is now assistant principal.

Other members of the administration are Mr. Prah, Director of Guidance, Miss Brennan, Dean of Girls, and Mr. Keenan, Dean of Boys.

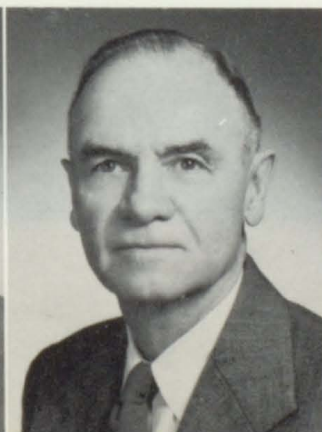

It's about time we had a man to man talk.

Faculty Gains New Members

A major purpose of a teacher is to maintain the highest educational standards for his pupils. Hempstead High School's faculty has never been lax in this duty. Since it is an active and robust faculty, our teachers never fail to help increase their pupils' knowledge and prepare them for today's world.

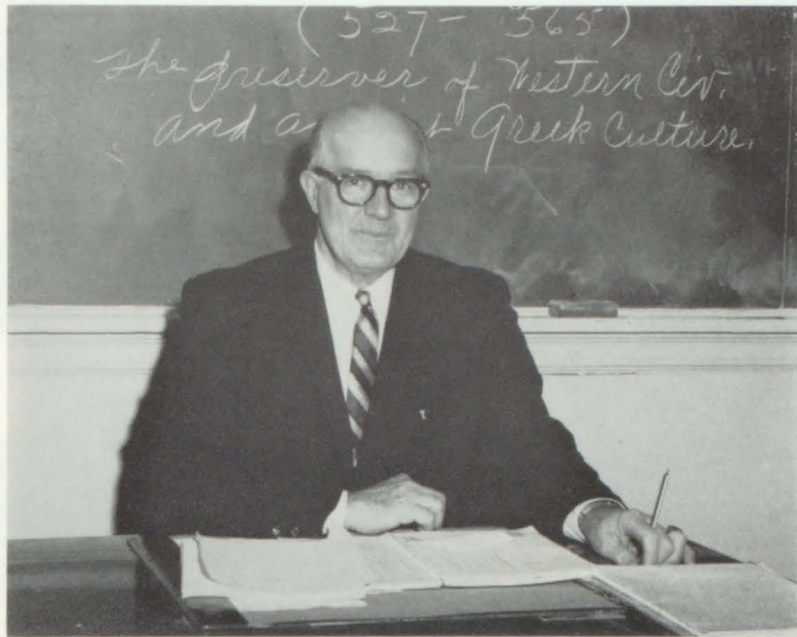

Throughout the history of H.H.S., its faculty has played the most important role in presenting a continually improved educational program. Students representing the academic departments, foreign language, mathematics, history, science, and English, continually win honors.

The achievement of students in all departments attests to the quality education and training offered them at Hempstead.

WHETHER they are assisting a student in filling out a college application, arranging schedules, or doing clerical work, the secretaries of Hempstead High School perform an essential service. The secretaries deserve our acclaim, not only because they are always ready to render assistance, but because of the competent manner in which it is given.

Mr. Flax's Waxers

THE custodians of Hempstead High School are able-bodied people who keep our school neat and clean. Perhaps we underestimate the time it requires for their work, for maintenance and repairs are performed speedily. The students of Hempstead High School are proud of their school and of those who maintain it.

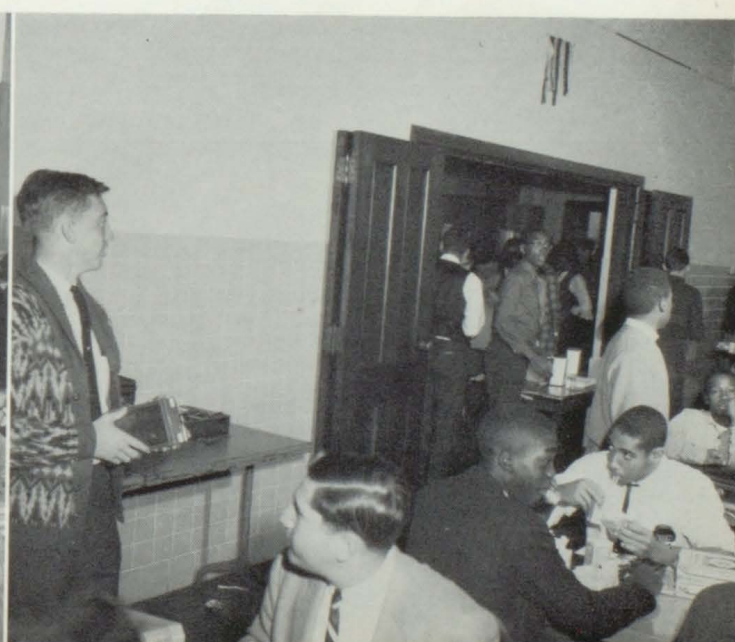

Food For The Epicure

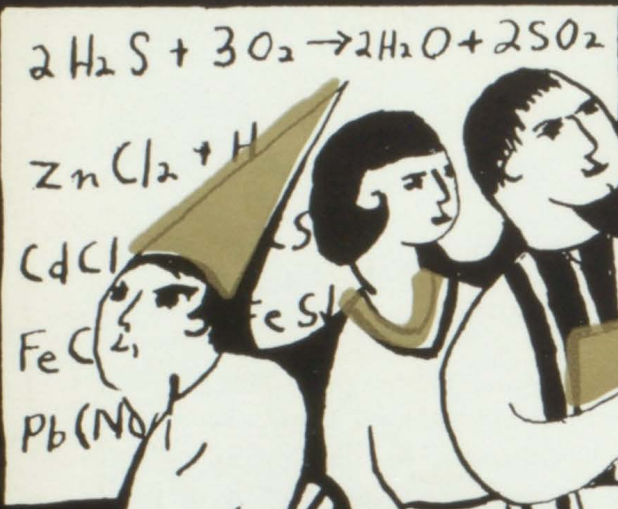

SOME of the busiest people in the school are the members of our Cafeteria Squad. Their many duties include choosing menus and preparing tempting dishes. A new institution of the Cafeteria Squad has been the distribution of monthly menus to the student body. We owe much thanks to Mr. Tobani and his squad, for an efficiently run cafeteria and a well-fed student body.

Food for thought.

Which way did my lunch run!

Sophisticates

THE Class of 1963 has now completed its four years of high school education, bringing to a close the metamorphosis which has been in progress since the class entered as bewildered freshmen. The senior year has been a memorable one, highlighted by Senior-Frosh Day, the Senior Ball, Senior Week, and Senior Class Night.

Ably assisted by the class advisors, Mrs. Dendy, Mr. Lawson, and Mr. Levin, this graduating class has compiled a long list of accomplishments. Many prizes in music, citizenship, athletics, and scholarship were awarded. Cynthia Blocher was given the Alumni Distinguished Scholarship award of Michigan State University; Lisa Horwitz, the DAR award for citizenship. Steven Ayres, Cynthia Blocher, Stefan Leigh, Alan Schwartz, and Edward Ueberall placed as finalists in the National Merit Scholarship contest. In addition, twenty-one qualified seniors won New York State Regents scholarships. It was during their senior year that the varsity football team had a perfect season, and was awarded the Rutgers Cup. The basketball team was also successful, finishing first in its league and entering the Section Eight Tournament.

Now that their secondary education is at an end, and members of the class prepare to enter schools of higher learning or the world of business, all realize that those diplomas handed at Commencement represent more than four years of education; they symbolize a major step forward in life.

Mr. Levin, Mrs. Dendy, Mr. Lawson

Mr. Levin's Lively Leigh-gers

ONE of the most active organizations in Hempstead High School is the Senior Executive Council. This group of senior representatives is chosen by the American history classes. It meets every day for the purpose of determining and directing senior class activities. The advisor of this group is Mr. Levin, and the presiding officers are Jon King, president of the senior class, and the other senior class officers.

Among the activities directed by this group is the choosing of senior class colors, flower, and motto. This year the seniors chose aquamarine and white as class colors, the white gardenia as class flower, and as their motto: "Let each tomorrow find us further than today."

Early in the year, the senior executive council directs the traditional Senior-Frosh Day. Later on comes the grand finale of the high school years for the seniors. They enjoy Senior Week, which is climaxed by the Senior Ball.

The Pseudo-Sophisticates

ONCE a person has reached his junior year, he is truly considered an upperclassman and is just one stepping stone away from graduation. For Juniors, this year was full of hard work along with a special event, the Prom, held on January 19th. The theme was "Moonlight Over Manhattan."

The officers, along with the advisors, Mr. Zara, Miss Abbott, and Miss Dorwin, have worked their hardest to make this year the best junior year ever.

Service entrance in the rear.

Aren't you glad you came with me?

SOPHOMORE ADVISORS

AFTER having spent their freshman year becoming oriented, the members of the sophomore class were able to turn their attention to laying a sturdy academic foundation. In addition, they furthered their knowledge of democratic processes by electing class officers. The officers, Steve Yurasits, President; Janis Collins, Vice-President; Jewel Jones, Secretary, and Judy Douglass, Treasurer, along with advisors Miss Ignelzi, Mr. Wickham, and Mr. N. Williams, have ably led the sophomore class through the year.

An important event in each sophomore's school year was the planning of his course of study for his junior and senior years. This is just one way in which a student's sophomore year prepares him for the rest of his high school career.

The Neophytes

THROUGHOUT the year, the members of the freshman class have developed themselves not only scholastically, but also socially. They have become an integral part of our school.

An event which will be cherished in the memories of many was the traditional "Senior-Frosh Day," when the pigtailed freshman "babies," well supplied with lollipops, and their senior "mommies" enjoyed a party sponsored by the senior class.

Under the able guidance of Mr. L. Williams and Miss Joyce, the officers, Joseph Burton, President Shirley McCallum, Vice-President Sandra Haynes, Secretary, and Luther Cumbo, Treasurer and their classmates have become an active part of our student body and have made a commendable beginning toward becoming upperclassmen.

COLONIAL CO-EDITORS

THE goal of the Colonial staff has been to produce a fine yearbook. The advisors, Mrs. Grant, Mr. Leusch, and Mr. Ayres, the co-editors, Cynthia Blocher and Arlin Brown, copy editor, Arlene Toub, senior editor, Steven Ayres, and the rest of the staff have worked continually to attain their objective.

At this year's annual Columbia Press Conference, in which over fourteen hundred yearbooks were entered, the '62 Colonial received a second place rating, continuing the fine record of achievement that reaches back to 1923, when the Colonial was first published.

As many have noticed, something new has been added to this year's Colonial—a separate music section. Its editor is George Easter, and it deals with the activities of the band, band show, orchestra, and choral groups.

A yearbook is as good as the school it represents. Any success the Colonial has achieved is the result of the fine record of Hempstead High School.

Fieldhouse's Folly

THE Patriot carries on the tradition of fine coverage of school news and has proved this by the winning of many awards. The Columbia Scholastic Press Association awarded the Patriot prizes for several years. In 1956 and 1957 the Patriot was presented the Newsday award for outstanding high school journalism. The Patriot began in 1917 and has since been a promoter of school spirit. It has been essentially an aid to the betterment of students and is now sent to many of the Hempstead elementary schools.

Mr. Murphy, after eleven years of dedicated service, has now relinquished the post of advisor to Mr. Fieldhouse, Chairman of the English Department.

The editor-in-chief, Alan Richmond, and the assistant editor, Lisa Horwitz, have more than adequately performed their duties of preparing a school newspaper. They have done well with the help of their fine staff and fellow patriots.

The aim of the Patriot has been to combine concise thorough reporting with an interesting and informative presentation of the news.

But that's slander!

Boy Cheerleaders Smashing Success

WHY are the Hempstead stands always exuberant? Why are our halls always decorated with posters announcing forthcoming events? The Booster Club has the answer. Under the leadership of Rhona Mednick, President, and Mrs. Gottfried, faculty advisor, the Boosters promote school spirit and win the students' support for all Hempstead High School events. This organization has been functioning as a committee of the Student Council since 1955.

One of the Boosters' most important accomplishments has been to organize a group of Boy Boosters, who help our cheerleaders at games. This group, which had existed in the past, was sadly missed until its re-establishment this year.

Other Booster Club activities include selling programs at football games, producing skits over the homeroom notices, and selling space for names of Colonial boosters in order to raise money for a new tiger mascot.

Voters Outfoxed

THE Student Council, composed of elected homeroom senators, is indeed one of the most important organizations in the school. The officers of this group are Ellen Fox, President; Lisa Horwitz, Vice-President; Kathy Kent, Corresponding Secretary Alan Schwartz, Recording Secretary, and Nich Felsh, Treasurer.

The Student Council, the governing body of the school, decides financial appropriations and also introduces ways to augment its treasury. Mrs. Gottfried and Mr. Holtz work with the executive board, which includes the Student Council officers, and with the representatives to carry out Student Council functions.

Poetry in Motion

THIS year for the third time the student body was given the opportunity to exercise its literary talents by "Perspective," Hempstead's literary magazine. The magazine publishes students' original work in the fields of poetry, of the short story, and the essay. Faculty advisor Miss Newlon, editor Cynthia Blocher, treasurer Robert Blau, and the rest of the staff selected material for publication from manuscripts submitted by Hempstead students. The literary magazine was revived three years ago after a regrettable absence of many years. It provides a most valuable opportunity for ambitious students to express their ideas through writing.

The Roaring 20

THE History Club was formed in 1960 by several students under the guidance of Mr. Fish.

The new advisor to the club is Mr. Williams. Under his direction, as under Mr. Fish's, each year the club studies a different phase of history. Previously, the club studied the Civil War. The club is open to only twenty students. Because of its small membership, the history club is able to accomplish a great deal.

Mark of Achievement

THIS year, as in the past, Hempstead High's scholars have brought glory to their school. Five Hempstead seniors placed sufficiently high on the National Merit Scholarship Examination to be named finalists. Of the five Cynthia Blocher won a coveted National Merit Scholarship. Four months after taking a qualifying test in October, twenty-one seniors were pleased to learn that their scores on this exam were high enough to make them New York State Regents Scholarship winners. Each of these students received from $250 to $750, based on individual need, in addition to a $100 scholar incentive.

Miss Gunther

Wie Geht Es Ihnen?

"SEIEN Sie willkommen" as one would say in the German Club or "Welcome" and all German students are. The advisor, Miss Gunther, and the officers, President Cynthia Blocher, Vice-President Joe Hickey, Secretary Marge Lanman, and Treasurer Marshall Yokell, planned a year of entertaining and educational events.

A movie was shown showing the therapy of a thalidomide baby in a Heidelberg hospital. Also color slides were shown depicting outdoor life in Germany. These slides were taken by Miss Gunther and Mr. Beckett. As usual, the annual Christmas party was a big success with German carols and refreshments. In January another film was shown called "Romantisches Deutschland." In February the annual Valentine Spelling Bee was held. Prizes were chocolate hearts in red foil.

A field trip was sponsored by the club to see "The Wonderful World of the Brothers Grimm." Another trip was taken in the spring.

Although German as a course offering was first introduced as far back as 1880, according to records, the first German Club began around 1930.

¿Cómo Está?

EVER since 1924, there has been a group of students who enjoy having fun together, in Spanish. El Circulo Castellano, under the direction of Mrs. Stilger, meets once a month in a series of programs for "los espanoles." Among "los amigos" are two honorary members whose native language is Spanish. At first meeting this year, Adolfo Taboada, from Mexico, discussed in Spanish the culture and customs of his country with his fellow members.

An important part of the club's program is the presentation of traditions which have been followed since the club's beginning. Because of the enthusiastic reaction to these programs, they will probably continue.

El Circulo celebrated its annual fiesta on "el Dia de Los Tres Reyes," January 6, which included Spanish songs and a pinata brimming with gifts. Another annual celebration consisted of a Spanish dinner. The members joined together to prepare, serve, and eat a delicious meal of "arroz con pollo."

The past year has been educational and enjoyable for "los amigos del Circulo Castellano."

Comment Allez-Vous?

SINCE French was one of the first languages offered in Hempstead High School, it is natural that the French Club, Le circle Français, was one of the original organizations in the school. The purpose of the French Club, under the guidance of Mrs. Young, is to augment the regular classroom instruction with lectures, movies and games, which help the student to better understand the French culture. Keeping in close contact with the French people, the members of the French Club sent packages of paper, pencils, chalk and other classroom aids to French schools during the war, and each year the French Club collects money at Christmas time to send presents to a French orphanage. The officers of the French Club this year are Orel Odinov, President; Ruth Marayati, Vice-President; Gerie Wright, Secretary, and John Grimaldi, Treasurer. The French Club has proved itself to be both a worthwhile organization for the student and a valuable one for the school.

Salvati!

THE Carpe Diem Sodalitas, better known as the Latin Club, was organized in Hempstead High School circa 1944. Qualification for membership is the successful completion of Latin I, whether or not the student continues his study of Latin, for it is said that, "Once a Roman, always a Roman." The purpose of the club's monthly meetings has been to explore the cultural aspects of Latin more thoroughly than is possible in the classrooms. When plays of a Latin nature, such as "Medea" and "Romulus," are presented, the club members usually attend. A special committee to plan programs frequently uses modern games for entertainment, but always with a Latin touch. The officers of the Latin Club this year are Patricia O'Brien, First Consul; June Knight, Second Consul, Francine Aduci, Scriba, and Elizabeth Cortenay, Quaestor. These officers are aided by the guidance of Miss Winter, the Latin Club advisor. Each year the Latin Club gives awards to students with the highest marks in Latin II and III, and for the highest achievement in Latin IV coupled with service to the club.

Scholarship, Character, Leadership, Service

AMONG the many rewards available to junior and senior girls who have demonstrated outstanding scholarship is the opportunity to belong to Pen and Ink Club. This honor club has existed in our high school for sometime, but only in 1961 did it become affiliated with the National Honor Society.

Under the leadership of its advisors, Mrs. Stilger and Miss Abbott, President Arlene Toub, Vice-President Janice Schwenk, Secretary Joan Finkenstadt, and Treasurer Mary Joyce, the club strives to serve its school and to provide its members with enriching experiences. This year, Pen and Ink girls have enjoyed a play at the Mineola Playhouse, a trip to New York City, several interesting lectures given by guest speakers, and a Mother-Daughter Tea, which has always been a tradition of the club. The members have also engaged in service projects including serving as ushers at open house and collecting for the March of Dimes.

Service, Leadership, Character, Scholarship

SCHOLARSHIP, character, leadership, and service: These are the four prime ideals of the junior-senior boys' honor club, known as the Pentagon Club. This club became affiliated with the corresponding girls honor club in 1961 to form the Diogenes Chapter of the National Honor Society.

The Pentagon Club, under the capable direction of Mr. Nelson Williams, consists of boys who have earned cumulative averages above 90%, and who have demonstrated the above qualities.

In order to further broaden their knowledge and interests, the Pentagon Club holds lectures, shows movies, and has field trips of varied natures.

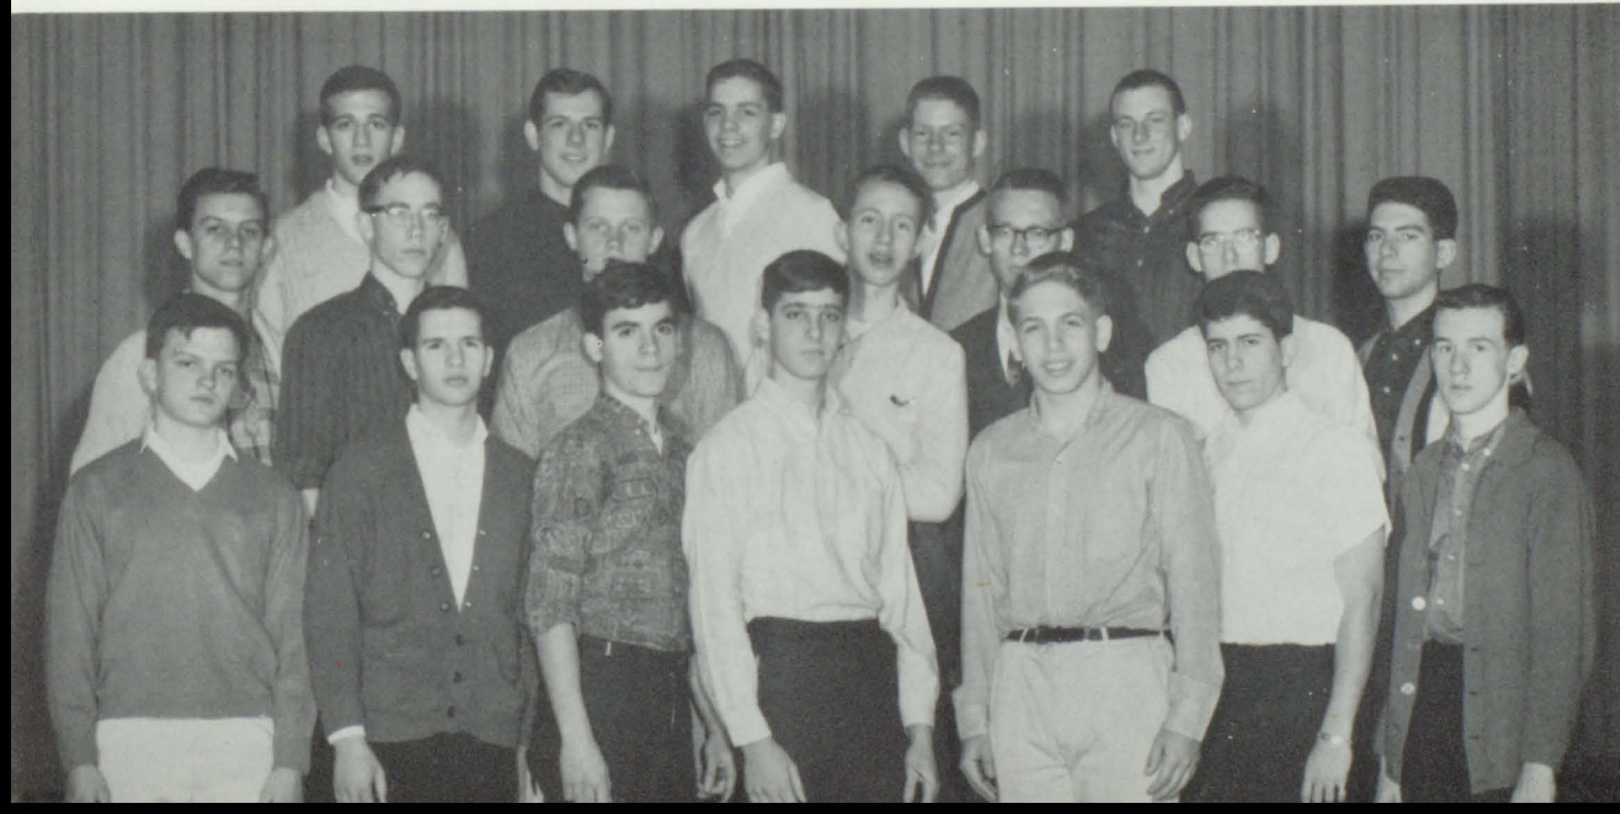

This club is headed by Stephan Leigh, President, Alan Schwartz, Vice-President, George Easter, Secretary, and Nick Felsh, Treasurer.

An Apple for the Teacher

THE joint Freshman-Sophomore Honor Club has been in existence since 1961. This is not to say that members of the freshman and sophomore classes have never had honor clubs before! Formerly the Freshman Honor Clubs were the Pathfinders and the Pioneers, while the Junto and Pallas Clubs were the sophomore groups. According to Mr. Nelson Williams, the advisor, the club does not actually meet until January, when officers are elected. These officers are elected from sophomore boys and girls. The two sets of officers coordinate meetings together. Representing the girls are Katrin Helms, President; Valerie Chatcuff, Vice-President; Dorothy Gnos, Secretary, and Karen Graves, Treasurer. James McDowell is President of the boys' group, and is assisted by Keith Connors, Vice-President; Steven Edelman, Secretary, and John Grimaldi, Treasurer.

Eligibility for membership is a 90% average or better. Members are rewarded not only by a sense of academic accomplishment, but by the opportunity to participate in parties, field trips, and interesting lecture groups, as well.

Business Is Our Business

THE Business Club, organized in 1961, is the successor of the former Commercial Club. The objectives of this organization are to acquaint business students with the possibilities of continuing their formal education and to familiarize them with actual business organizations.

The advisor of the club, Mrs. Houck, and the officers, Margaret Rugino, President; Ruby Sew, Vice-President; Sharon Madigan, Secretary, and Peggy Bigby, Treasurer, have helped the Business Club carry out several interesting programs. Among these were a trip to The Equitable Life Insurance Building in New York and a visit to the United Nations.

Birth of a Salesman

AMONG the many opportunities that Hempstead High School offers is the opportunity to participate in co-operative retailing. Under the professional guidance of Mr. Davidson, students are counseled in finding positions outside of school. They are employed in department stores, retail shops, and various service locations. Besides receiving extra school credit for their work, they gain valuable experience that may lead to advanced employment after high school. Hempstead can indeed be proud of these young citizens who are making a name for themselves in the business world.

Newton, Descartes and Mr. Hayes

THE Tupiar Club, established in the nineteen-thirties, is still one of the most active clubs in our school. Under the guidance of Mr. Hayes and its officers, Eugene Harley, President; George Easter and Dennis DeRiggi, Vice Presidents, and Stefan Leigh, Secretary-Treasurer, the Math Club offers junior and senior mathematics students an excellent opportunity to enrich their knowledge of mathematics through the use of a new and unique system. This year a series of seventeen films is being shown during the eighth and ninth periods on such topics as Boolean Algebra and topology, thus enabling students to gain knowledge of subjects not dealt with in the usual school program.

Fun With Numbers

THE Junior Math Club meets under the supervision of Mr. Windt. Because of the small membership and large amount of interest, more advanced work is taken up in the club than in class. The students solve puzzles and trick problems, learn about the latest discoveries and attend films shown for the Tupiar Club. The freshmen and sophomores enjoy themselves while increasing their knowledge of mathematics. The Junior Math Club, which was started in 1958, has the following officers this year: Michael Schler, President; Alice Fox, Vice-President; and Patricia Harley, Secretary-Treasurer.

Let's Have a Euclid Cheer!

“SINE—cosine—cosine—sine! Cosine—cosine—sine—sine! Yea, team! That's the unofficial cheer of Hempstead High's math team, the Mathletes, who are in competition with teams from over fifty schools in Nassau. To score points, Mathletes must solve unusual problems in a limited period of time. Skill in number problems, algebra, and geometry, and a sharp, clear mind are requisites for membership on the team. Led by advisor Mr. Smith, all members strive to put their school in first place.

We won't cover that this year

Stimulating Scientific Investigation

THE oldest club in the school is the Senior Science Club, founded in the same year as Hempstead High School, 1921. Since then, the club has been meeting regularly once a month, encouraging and stimulating the scientifically minded student through films, lectures, experiments, demonstrations, and field trips. Because of today's great need for scientists, doctors, and engineers, such a club as our Senior Science Club is indeed valuable. It helps to broaden the knowledge and outlook of those with a serious interest in science as it allows them to investigate further than in regular classes.

The club is open to junior and senior students and is under the able direction of Mr. Faust, head of the Science Department. The officers of the club are Anthony Burek, President; Edward Ueberall, Vice-President; Hedy Ambrozy, Secretary; Joe Hickey, Treasurer.

New Frontiersmen of Science

THE Junior Science Club familiarizes freshmen and sophomore students with advanced science training that they may receive in their junior and senior years. Members may attend science club meetings to learn about chemistry or physics. This is accomplished by lectures given by their advisor, Mr. Lawson, talks by their fellow members or officers who are Tom Doliner, President; Steve Edelman, Vice-President, and Warren Lem, Treasurer, or watching experiments done by students of the class in advanced physics.

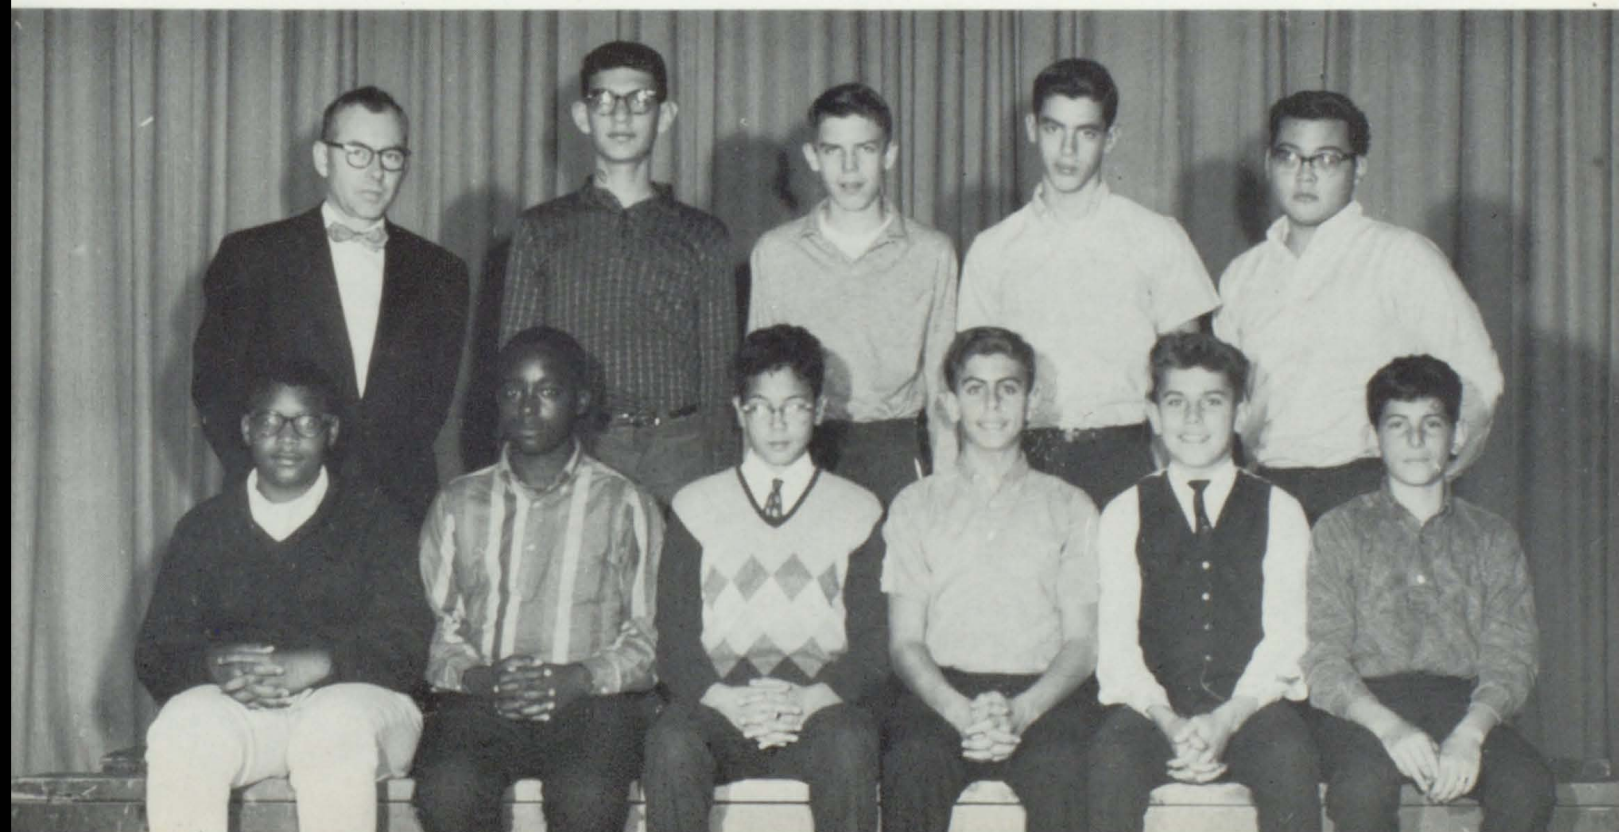

Formed in 1951 from the main science club, an elderstatesman of clubs in our school, the Junior Science Club efficiently operates under the guidance of Mr. Lawson and plays a valuable part in laying the groundwork for the education of our future chemists and physicists.

Pedagogues-To-Be

HEMPSTEAD High School's F. T. A. was founded in the spring of 1949 by Miss May Barth. It consisted of thirty members. Today the club is divided into three sections. The Horace Mann F. T. A. are the freshmen, the sophomores make up the Esther P. Greenlund F. T. A., and the Peter Cooper F. T. A. consists of juniors and seniors, all clubs being advised by Miss Winter.

There are many activities within the club that show its members the different facets of teaching, discipline, and improved methods of teaching. Several times during the year the members participate in different workshop activities or are entertained by interesting guest speakers.

A Picture is Worth a Thousand Words

IT was through an agency set up by the federal government in 1935 called the National Youth Administration that the first audio-visual squad was set up in Hempstead High School under the guidance of Mr. E. C. Moore. Located in the stockroom across from Office 104, the audio-visual squad also had control of the Nassau Instructional Film Library, also housed in the stockroom. The boys on the squad received a small salary as a form of aid during the depression. They were in charge of the school films and of sending out films from the library to other Nassau schools.

The squad is still with us today and is composed of forty-nine boys, who give up their study halls to show films in classrooms and to send our films to the district elementary schools.

Red Cross President.

BEFORE 1952, the Red Cross Organization in Hempstead High School was concerned mainly with handiwork, sewing, etc. Since 1952, however, it has been a working council with officers and representatives from each homeroom and has carried on a wide range of activities. Projects include a financial drive, collection of school supplies for disaster areas, putting up water safety posters, an assembly, international music and art exchange, and an album of Hempstead High School activities sent to a school overseas. Membership in the council is open to all students and presents wonderful opportunities. The council attempts to gain the cooperation of our students and various extra-curricular organizations.

In the middle of the year, Mrs. Chapman, the teacher-sponsor of the Council, left school, and Mrs. Bowen, who had been teacher-sponsor from 1952 to 1957, took her place to continue our successful Red Cross program.

Kildare Was Here

THE "Pre-Nursing Club" of Hempstead High School began in 1953. A planning committee was selected to map future club activities. In this early stage the club members held meetings in each other's homes. Later, however, meetings were held in the balcony of the auditorium.

In 1960 the club, known at this time as the "Future Nurses Club," received its national charter from the National League for Nursing. This major event was celebrated with a Faculty Tea.

The leaders of the Future Nurses Club are Mrs. Dolly, faculty advisor; Yvonne Powell, President, Susan Toensmann, Treasurer, and Kathy Quinn, Secretary.

Looking to the future the F. N. C. hopes to expand to include any student who is interested in a career in fields related to the medical profession. This enlarged program is permitted under the F. N. C. charter and will enable both boys and girls interested in the ever expanding health career field to join.

Mrs. Grant

WHEN asked what the Art Club's plans were for this year, Mrs. Grant, the advisor of the club, candidly replied, "We're going to have meetings." In a more serious vein, she said that her group was talented and hard-working. The club is trying to explore mediums such as oil painting, sculpture, and ceramics. Every Thursday, room 215 is filled with eager art students, ready to delve into new artistic fields and aid teachers and other students in art problems which may arise in their projects.

The Art Club has been in existence for over thirty years, and as it appears now, it will certainly last another thirty, due to the help of its very able officers, President Ruby Sew, Vice-President John Jetter, Secretary-Treasurer Joyce Mescall.

THE Future Homemakers of America originated in January 1960. In that year Hempstead High School girls became members in a candlelight installation and were able to consider themselves members of the national organization. The girls have carried out their goals through many worthwhile projects and ideas, keeping in mind the need to help others. They baked and sold cookies for UNICEF and took field trips to the U. N., where they saw UNICEF in action. During the Christmas season the F. H. A. girls prepared a Christmas open house for teachers and administrators. At the end of each F. H. A. year the girls plan an annual nationality party whose theme last year was Japan. Under the direction of Mrs. Bowen and President Helen D'Abreu, the F. H. A. helps teenage girls become homemakers of tomorrow.

FOR a long time the Blue and White Corner has served the students of Hempstead High School. Under the competent direction of Mr. Davidson, students learn first hand the art of selling. Not only do they become capable sales people, but also clerks and bookkeepers. The attractive display window in the Blue and White Corner attests to the large variety of items made easily available to the students.

FOR those who are interested in photography, Hempstead High provides the Camera Club, an organization with the purpose of instructing members in camera operation and darkroom development of prints. Every year the Camera Club takes a field trip in search of interesting subjects for photography. The officers of the Camera Club are Alvis Pauga, President, and Bob Chorush, Treasurer. They are advised by Mr. Smith.

The Camera Club has been performing services for the school and the student body since 1938. It takes pictures at main events and candid shots for the Patriot and Colonial. This club is in many ways an important and functional part of Hempstead High School.

SINCE its establishment in 1927, the Stamp Club has been meeting to take advantage of that fascinating and worthwhile hobby, stamp collecting. Meetings are usually spent trading duplicates. Earlier in the year, some of the members attended the stamp show at the Hempstead Armory, where they were able to see some rare and unusual stamps. In other years, the club members have held stamp auctions among themselves. Under the leadership of Mr. Holtz, himself an avid collector, President John Klausz, and Treasurer James Rebmann, the club members had both an interesting and educational experience.

ASDGF HJKL;

TEN years ago Hempstead High School announced the formation of a new group known as the Secretaries to the Faculty. This group consists of those girls who, having received a recommendation of their business teacher, are well acquainted with running various office machines, cutting stencils, and typing master copies. These services are invaluable to the teacher.

AMONG the most helpful girls in Hempstead High are those who serve on the Mimeo Squad. The basis for choosing girls for the squad is excellence in business subjects and the recommendation of the Business Education Department. The many tasks performed by this group are typing, cutting stencils, proofreading, and mimeographing. The girls on the mimeo squad not only provide the school with an indispensable service, but gain valuable experience as well.

Art Assistants

THE Art Squad, originally instituted by Mr. Pilkington in 1958, was created to perform "coolie" duties. Its members scurry about during their free periods, attempting to clean up the art rooms. Of course, they receive aid from the art instructors, Mr. Kincaid, Mrs. Grant, and Mr. Chambers. After their tasks are completed, the squad members may work on their own projects.

Nurse's Assistants

THE girls on the Health Service Squad enable the Nurse's Office to run smoothly. Their many duties include applying minor first aid and doing clerical work. Their biggest, and most important task is to keep the fifteen hundred student record cards up to date. Their help is greatly appreciated by Mrs. Dolly and Dr. Fuchs.

Messenger Girls

ONE of Hempstead High School's most indispensable service organizations is the Office Aids. This group, founded in 1928, consists of conscientious girls, who are willing to give up their free periods to help our secretaries keep the offices running smoothly. Among their diverse tasks are filing cards, running errands, typing, relating messages, and making and receiving calls. Girls are chosen to be Office Aids on the basis of their ability and responsibility. Judging from the efficiency with which our offices are run, one can see that these girls have more than filled anyone's expectations.

Bibliophiles si! Biblioklepts no!

THE library of Hempstead High School was organized by Miss Gertrude Rhodes in 1921, the first year of the present high school building. Beginning with a necessarily small and limited number of books, the library added 900 books in the first year, and the number of volumes has been steadily increasing each year. Throughout the years, the library has added a total of 26,659 books, but in keeping the library up to date by discarding badly used books, at present it contains 10,625 volumes. In addition to this, it maintains approximately 101 magazine subscriptions. Each year a staff of selected students has assisted the librarians. In our school library students have been able to find numerous valuable reference books, as well as a wide selection of fiction and non-fiction.

HEMPSTEAD High School's Symphony Orchestra has grown much in size and stature since its inception in 1925, when it consisted of ten violins, a banjo, and drums. Today, it is a seventy-piece performing group, whose members further their musical interests while presenting concerts and special assembly programs for the enjoyment of the entire student body.

Under the direction of Mr. Strickland, the Orchestra members spend fifth period practicing and learning to appreciate, interpret, and understand the music they play. But Orchestra is more than a curricular activity. After school the Bandbox is usually buzzing with small groups, such as quintets and quartets or individuals who are practicing on their own. There is also an after school music appreciation class which many Orchestra members attend once a week. These activities, in addition to the concerts and trips, make Orchestra one of our school's most demanding yet rewarding activities.

HEMPSTEAD High has an outstanding music department. One of its major components is the A Cappella Choir.

Today our Choir, which dates back to 1938, is continually improving under the supervision of Miss Joy Peterson and Mrs. Marion Fish. In the Bandbox during fifth period, one can hear the singing voices of an enthusiastic group. The Choir's performance is always one of the highlights of H.H.S. concerts.

Although becoming a member of the Choir involves a lot of competition, one must face even keener competition in order to make the Art Choir. The Art Choir, composed of select members of the Choir, helps to contribute its small but important part to the music activities fund by singing at various local affairs.

No Strings At All

A GAIN this year, the Hempstead High School Band, which was originally established in 1933, has carried on Hempstead's tradition of excellence in the field of music.

The band's active participation in school activities has been shown by its busy schedule. In the fall, the band took part in the annual bandshow and performed during the half-times of home football games at both Hempstead and Yankee Stadium. There were two band concerts this year, one in March and one in May. The band played for the New York Mets baseball team in April and finished the year by marching in Hempstead's annual Memorial Day Parade.

Under the inspiring direction of Mr. Albinski, the band had a very successful year. Assisting him were Mr. Parvis, in charge of the percussion section, and Mr. Weinberg, in charge of the woodwind section.

Bandshow Wins American Legion Award

IN accompanying Hempstead's undefeated football team, this year's bandshow had just as successful a season.

The bandshow's colorful marching band, along with the lively twirlers and flag carriers, gave the half-time spectators an impressive performance. Certainly the most exciting highlights of this year's performance were the display of historic flags and the seventy-five girl kickline.

The show's theme of patriotism not only inspired the lookers but also the Hempstead Chapter of the American Legion. The Legion awarded the band-show the Citation for Meritorious Service in Americanism for its outstanding display of historic American flags.

As in the past, the bandshow was invited by the New York Giants to present its performance at their first home game in Yankee Stadium.

The men responsible for the success of the bandshow were Mr. Albinski and Mr. Strickland, who inspired the participants to give a first-rate performance.

Undefeated!

Mr. Schuessler, Mr. Gangemi

THE combination of experienced playing, fine teamwork, excellent coaching, and enthusiastic school spirit carried the Hempstead High School Football Team to the dream of every loyal booster. This year, the Tigers, captained by Art Williams and Jeff Goyne, and coached by Mr. Schuessler and Mr. Gangemi, completed an undefeated season winning a well-deserved league championship.

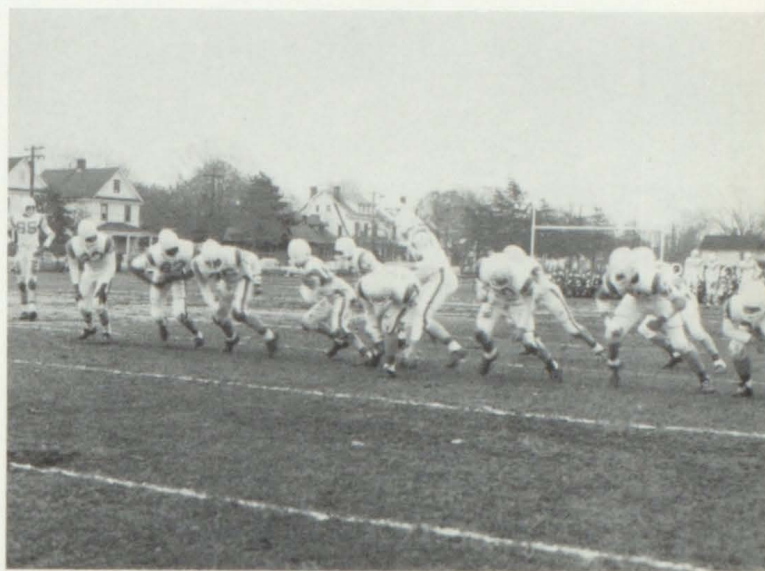

In the early part of the season, the grid men showed their competence and teamwork with victories over Freeport, Sewanahaka, Long Beach, and Baldwin. Fine balance of a strong, fighting line and a skilled, fleet-footed backfield provided the basis for a good season.

As the season drew to a close leaving the Tigers to face top rank Wantagh, the feeling of competition was at fever pitch. Both teams entered the Hempstead field undefeated to play the most exciting game of many a season.

The outstanding playing of this game was typical of the entire season. Great credit must be given to this year's team and its coaches. Plagued with key injuries in the early part of the year, the Mighty Tigers recovered to produce a well-balanced, efficient team, for whom victory was hard-fought and most well-deserved.

Football Honors

AFTER completing an undefeated varsity football season, the Hempstead Tigers received awards, praises, thanks, and laurels. Besides the fact that Desoto Penrice, Jeff Goyne, Art Williams, and Terry Richards were selected for the division all-stars, Mr. Schuessler was designated their coach. In addition to their gratitude of the Hempstead students, the Tiger coach and captains received in behalf of the team the coveted Rutgers Cup, presented to the top team of Nassau County.

In further recognition of a champion season, a combined committee of service organizations of the Village of Hempstead added praise. Hempstead Mayor William O. Gulde declared a special day honoring the team. That evening at a huge dinner at the Salisbury Country Club, a guest speaker congratulated the victors individually. At this dinner, all members of the Mighty Tigers were presented with victory jackets, which well served as lasting reminders of a great undefeated football season.

Tigers Win Section II League Championship

HEMPSTEAD High School's Varsity Basketball team added victory to victory completing a total season which recorded only two losses. Combining the bounding board control of captain Jerry Hall and Bill Burgess with the top-flight playmaking skill of Khafre Deans, Art Williams, and Gene Harley, the Court Tigers treated their fans to excitement, enjoyment, and "good basketball."

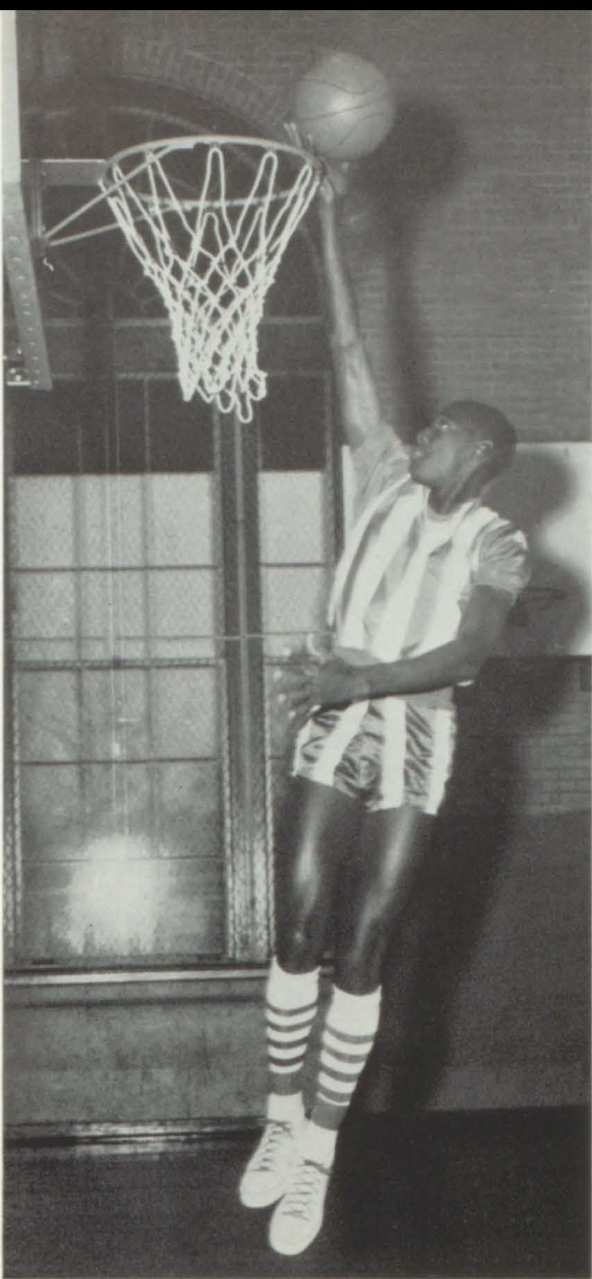

As always, Coaches John Mills and Babe Gan-gemi concentrated on a clockwork zone defense which holds all opponents to a lower score.

Among the six non-league games which prefaced the regular season, consecutive victories over Roslyn and Oceanside won a trophy for the team as Winner of the West Hempstead Christmas Tournament.

The first half of the regular season, with Hempstead's tight defense and roaring offense, resulted in high-scoring victories, among which was a powerful 42-26 win over high-ranking Uniondale. As the Tigers made the rounds again, they succeeded in downing all opponents except Uniondale.

This year again, with a 17-1 league record, the Tigers won first place in Section II, and entered the county tournament as they have done in the past seven years. Cutting through Baldwin in the first round of the Tournament, the Tigers faced defending County Champs Uniondale. In a hard fought, touch and go battle, we were defeated.

We are very proud of Mr. Mills and the basketball team, who have treated their fans to exciting games, kept their position as one of the best teams on the Island, and exhibited the prowess and skill so typical of Hempstead High School teams.

Rodney Williams Heads Successful Season

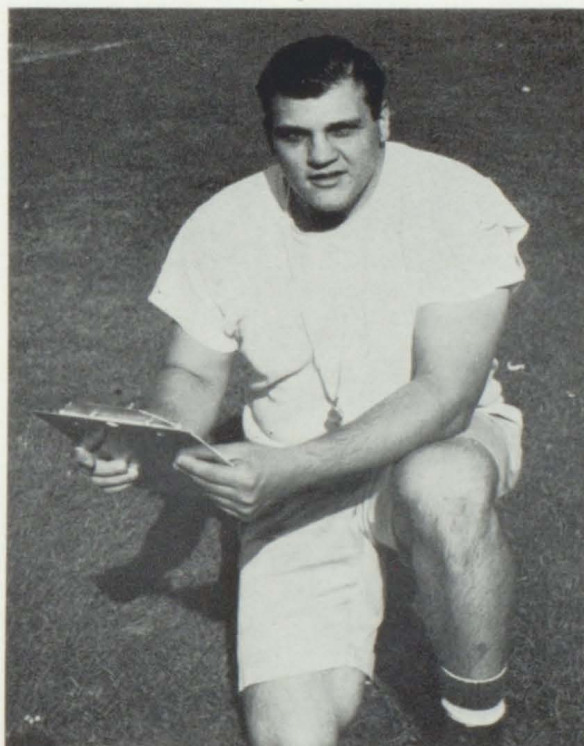

AFTER only three years at Hempstead, soccer has taken its place among the ranks of popular Tiger sports. This year's team, under its capable and hard-working coach, Mr. Just, completed the season finishing third in its league.

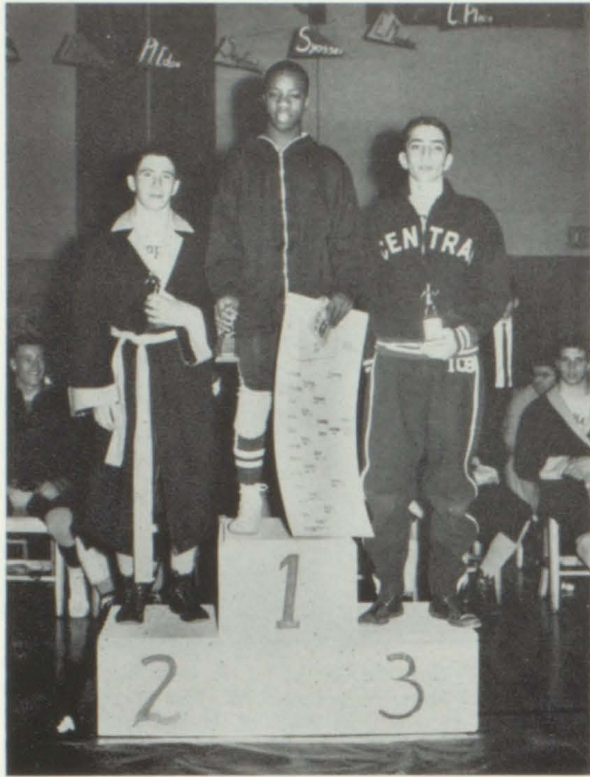

Although only one player from last year's team returned, the '62 season was filled with hard-fought battles, outstanding offensive playing, and soaring team spirit.

As with any athletic event the team's record of 5 wins and 6 losses does not provide a clear view of the outstanding team. Two members, both newcomers, Pete Margo and John Harris, were selected for the all-star team of their division.

The team's excellent conditioning and unflinching enthusiasm under Coach Just provided a fairly new squad with the desire and ability well to represent Hempstead High School.

Mr. Just

COACHED by Mr. Just, this year's Varsity Matmen completed a regular season with three wins and six losses. The ability of our wrestlers is far greater than this record signifies. In all of the last matches, the score was close both in individual matches and the entire meet.

The Wrestling season was highlighted by the skill and accomplishments of the grappler who wrestled at 106 pounds, John B. Harris. Ever since the sport started at H. H. S., three years ago, Johnny has been wrestling. This year he placed second in the division finals and then became county Champion at 106. Late in March, Harris and Coach Just traveled to the State Meets. They returned bringing a 10-6 victory, a State Championship, and glory and honor for H. H. S. and its wrestlers.

An innovation this year was a J. V. wrestling squad. Their 7-2 record promises a very good season next year.

Keen Alley Competition

UNDER the supervision of Mr. Lucius Williams, our Varsity Alley Cats completed a successful season finishing second in their section. Later, in competition with forty teams, both North and South Shore, they placed nineteenth. Captain Kevin Delaney, who has been bowling for three years, wound up the season with a 189 average, second highest in the South shore. Mr. Williams plans to start from scratch next year building his team up around his one returning letterman, Tom Kravitz.

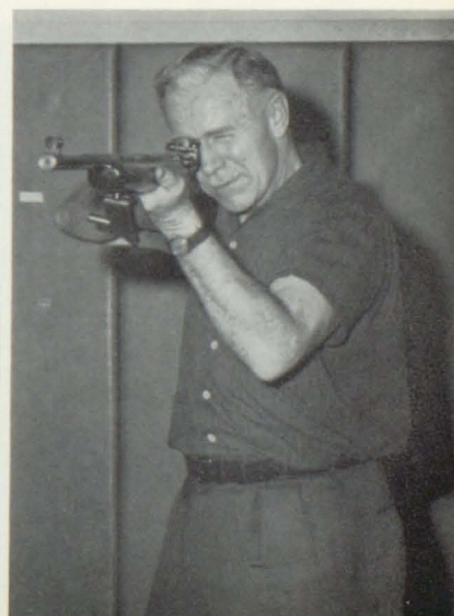

Shoulder Arms!

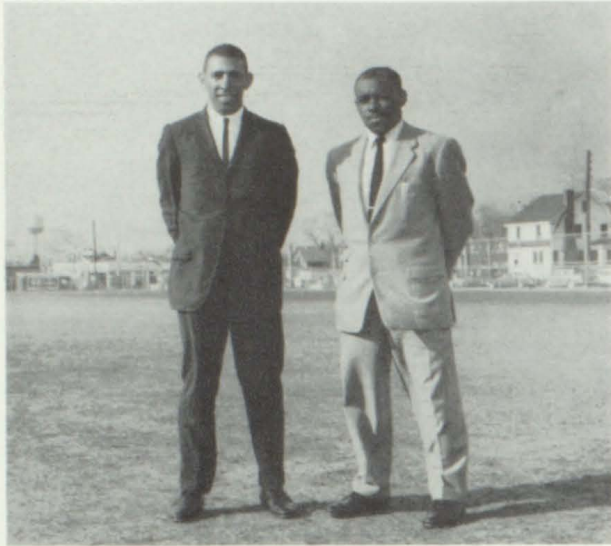

UNFORTUNATELY, since silence is necessary and spectator interest is lessened, few students realize the ability and accomplishments of our Varsity Rifle Team. Coached by Mr. Voorhies and captained this year by crack-shot Marshall Yokell, the Riflemen completed a regular season of six wins and four losses, placing second in their league. Upon entering the Section 8 County Tournament, they placed fifteenth out of twenty-seven schools, with excellent shooting done by Ed Albinski, recording 184 out of a possible 200 points.

Lacrosse Team Looks For Undefeated Season

THE Varsity Lacrosse team this year predicts a very successful season. Last year's squad finished first in league competition and met only their third defeat when they lost to top-rank Uniondale in the Section 8 Championship Finals.

Almost the entire Varsity squad this year were members of that champion team. Their coaches, Mr. O Mills and Mr. Keyes, have high hopes for fielding an excellent club, whose captancy is shared by three-year veterans Frank Sheriff, Jeff Goyne, and Dick Keck. Also returning are many other veteran players.

The team has drilled, run, scrimmaged, and run since mid-February, and at the opening of the league season consisted of a persistent and crashing defense, a whiplash attack centering upon John B. Harris and Bob Keenan, and a long-winded, practiced midfield, not to mention a quick-reflexed goalie.

THE opening of the spring sports season brought a multitude of blue "sweats" enveloping the track and playing field in serious conditioning and practice. Guided by Mr. Kight and Mr. Linkner, this year's young, experienced track squad is captained by half-miler Ken Schneider and shot-putter William Dowdy. The varied selection of veteran sprinters, jumpers, and lifters is supplemented by a throng of capable underclassmen.

In the five meets of the eleven which are to take place this year, both school and league records have been shattered. The first meet, non-league against Hewlett, saw Dickie Howard hop, step, and jump 43'8" to set a school record. In a subsequent meet, Tom Crawford succeeded in leaping 6'2½" in the high jump for another record. Martin Tripp continues to put the shot farther each meet, now achieving 50'.

As the spring sun sets over second base, almost thirty eager and trained players leave the field after a hard day of practice. This scene is repeated throughout the spring as the Varsity Baseball Team trains for its league competition.

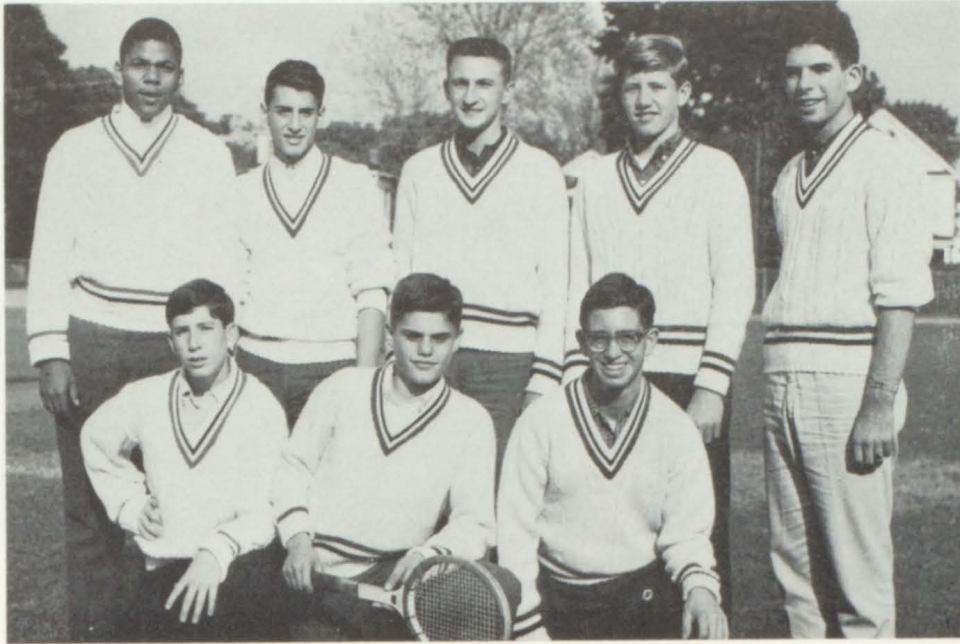

Coached by Mr. Martone and Mr. C. Mills, the team is constantly improving fundamentals and techniques. This season's nine is lead by pitcher Jim Luniewski, first baseman Harold Mueller, and catcher Steve Yurasits. The first string contains three freshman starters whose experience will be invaluable in the future. Mr. Mills is in charge of specialized training of eight promising freshman players.

ALTHOUGH there are few spectators at high school golf games, there has always been a serious interest in the game at Hempstead. Guided by Mr. Faust, this year's ten-man team looks forward to an improved season. Five squad members have played previously and all show an eager enthusiasm for the game. J. V. Teams Promising

AN undefeated season in any sport is not merely the result of luck or sudden ability. Varsity Football coaches rely upon the training received by their players while in J. V. ranks, to produce a top-ranking team. Thus the fundamentals and practice of Tiger football is taught to the members of the Junior Varsity squad. Coached by Mr. Beck and Mr. Keyes, this team perfects the talent and technique displayed later on the Varsity gridiron. This year's Junior Varsity completed a fairly successful season, with an even number of victories and losses. Due recognition must be given to the J. V. Tigers who graduate to the powerful Hempstead Varsity.

AS always, varsity coaches keep one eye on the accomplishments of the Junior Varsity Team. This year, J.V. Basketball exhibited a season of excellent ball playing, completing a 15-1 record. Under the direction of their spirited coach Mr. O. Mills, the team received the fundamental training in the offensive maneuvers and zone defense which is the basis of their varsity playing. The first string consisting of captain and high scorer Fred Ryan, Robert Zirkel, 6'4" Terry McKnight, Hank Fishette and Arthur Keoripaulaus combined good ball handling and rebounding to display a fine basketball season.

FRESHMAN football coach Mr. Martone is entrusted with teaching his beginning gridmen the basics and fundamentals of Tiger football.

Too little credit is given to this underpublicized Freshman football team, and few students realize the importance of it to our varsity season.

This year's team completed a powerful 5-1 season, which foretells many future victories for the Tigers. Mr. Martone and the unsung heroes must be recognized for their spirited efforts and commendable record.

Girls' Sports

THE list of after school activities for girls in the physical education department increases every year. The long list now includes Field Hockey, Badminton, Volleyball, Cheering, Bowling, Archery, Basketball, Greek Games, Tennis, Softball, and Field and Track.

This year Sportsnight was added to the after-school list. Also because of the large number of girls who turn out for basketball yearly, basketball was not played in the classes. The time usually given to basketball was devoted to gymnastics. New equipment was added to the department. The three big additions were mats, a buck, and a trampoline.

This school year was the second year that Hempstead High School girls competed against girls from other girls in the section. Wherever we went we distinguished ourselves. Among our many victories was our championship of Section II Volleyball Field Day with a record of eight wins and no losses.

The girls physical education department is a member of both Long Island Girls Association (LIGA) and the State Athletic Association (AWPENYS). Girls earn points towards a letter, numeral, shield, key, or plaque on the basis of attendance and level team they make. Much credit for the well-organized and enjoyable department and activities goes to the teachers who give their time, especially Miss Burton and Miss Bineares.

Are You Ready? Let's Go!

THIS year the Cheerleading squad, under the guidance of Miss Bineares, underwent a change in membership. The Varsity squad, previously consisting of eight senior girls, now consists of twelve junior and senior girls. The girls are picked for their ability, appearance, and personality.

Under the capable leadership of Betty Harris, captain, and Andrea Rosen, co-captain, the cheerleaders assisted in rousing school spirit at football and basketball games, besides adding a few peppy new cheers to their repertoire. A cheer should be given for these school-spirited girls who lead the student body at athletic contests.

Greek Games

EACH Spring Hempstead High's freshman and sophomore girls revert back to the classical days in Greece and become Spartans and Athenians. Amid the shouts of their fellow teammates, the girls compete against each other in athletic events such as hurdling, discuss throwing, torch races, and hoop races.

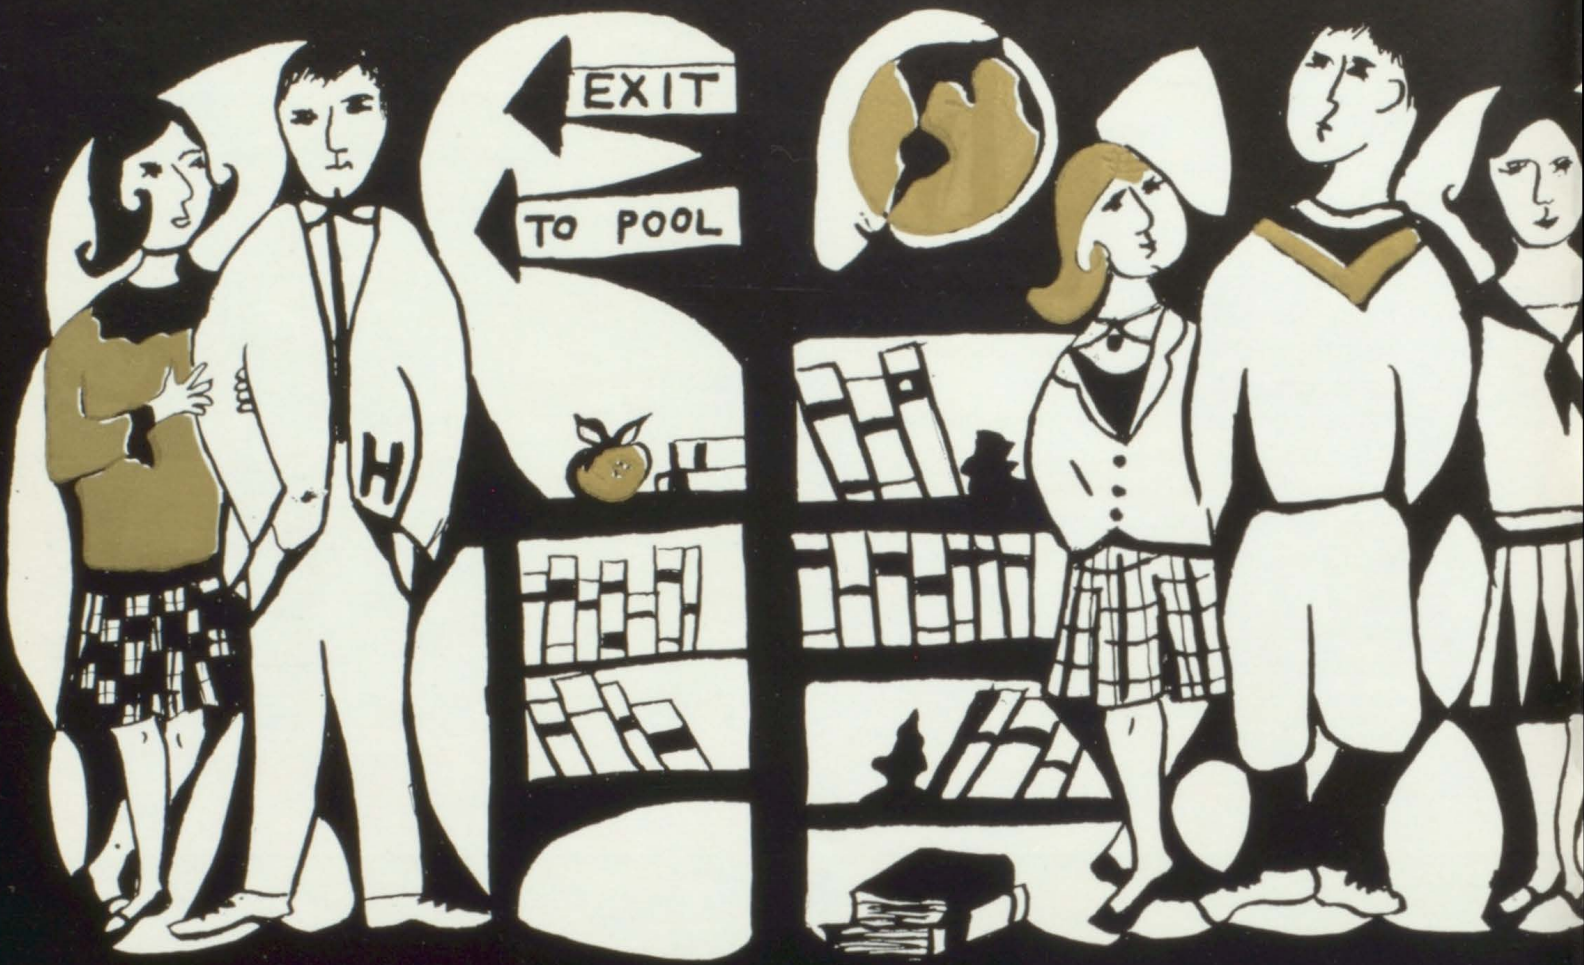

Inspired by the fiery speeches of the challengers, the participants strive to win in order to be crowned by the laurel wreaths used in the wreath ceremony. Not only is there fierce competition among the opposing athletes but also between the two chariot exhibitions. The demanding but coaxing voices of the charioteers command the high-kicking horses to present excellent performances. The songs and dancing of the Glee Club and the Modern Dance girls respectively add greatly to Greek Games' pleasant atmosphere.

The logo for Delma Studios features the name 'Delma Studios' in a cursive, handwritten-style font. The text is contained within a hand-drawn, irregular rectangular frame. The right and bottom edges of the frame are jagged, with horizontal lines extending outwards, suggesting a torn or cut edge. A horizontal line passes through the middle of the frame, behind the text.
