Dedication

To Florence Abbott, as an expression of appreciation and esteem for her inspired and dedicated teaching, the 1964 COLONIAL is respectfully dedicated. In making American History come alive, she develops in her students a respect for accuracy of fact and clear thinking. On the lighter side, how can anyone who has been in her classes ever forget her "romance" with General Robert E. Lee or her comments concerning "snow on the roof"? Her friendly warmth and willingness to help continue to leave indelible imprints upon all who come to know her.

In Memoriam

MARGARET BEIGHLEY

MARGARET Beighley, General Science instructor at Hempstead High School, died on February 20, 1964. Her friendly smile and warm personality many times offered the first sincere welcome to Hempstead's incoming freshmen. Both in the classroom and in extracurricular activities, she was always known for her energy and enthusiasm. She served as the advisor for the Horseback Riding Club for many years and annually assisted with Greek Games. The women faculty members enjoyed her company during their weekly bowling matches.

Among the honors given to Miss Beighley was her selection as an exchange teacher during the 1952-53 school year. She enjoyed her position in an English girls' school on the Thames River as it provided a look into a different kind of secondary education. While in England, she witnessed the coronation procession of Queen Elizabeth II, saw the opening of Parliament, visited the royal yacht, and was privileged to meet the Duke of Edinburgh and the Queen Mother. Although she was fond of England, with the exception of its foggy atmosphere, she was happy to return to Hempstead High.

Miss Beighley was born in Connellsville, Pennsylvania. After having been graduated from Bethany College in West Virginia and having obtained her M.A. from New York University, she then furthered her studies at Pennsylvania State College. She taught for a short while in Fairchance, Pennsylvania, and then came in 1933 to Prospect School when it was the junior high school. Later Miss Beighley joined the staff of the Science Department and has been with us ever since.

Foreword

THE student's life revolves extensively about his school. Here at Hempstead High we are living in our own metropolis in which we have our daily work, entertainment, and activities.

Our school has just as much variety to offer as any city. Certainly the halls between classes remind one of the hustle and bustle of the big city streets and sidewalks. We have our own stadium where students can watch either professional—varsity or amateur—JV sports, our own music hall, art studio, and playhouse in which students can appreciate and participate in the fine arts. There are our own literary guild and library, our own newspaper, and a sophisticated magazine. We can even boast our own radio station, W104, which brings us the news of the day. The school administration, the teachers, and the student council provide us with a democratic government. We students have jobs which pay us salaries ranging from 50 to 99.

Even though the citizens of our high school derive from varied backgrounds and environments, we live and work together to create a functioning metropolis of which we're indeed proud.

We'll Miss You

A. FRANKLIN FAUST

MR. Faust, Chairman of the Science Department, has devoted forty-two years in education creating interest in science and preparing students for future studies in this area. Mr. Faust has had a great deal of satisfaction in knowing that his former students have gained some national prominence. He was advisor to the Senior Science Club, initiated the new Physics II course, and has been coach for the Golf Team, which enjoyed many successful years under his coaching.

Although he'll miss his pleasant association with students and faculty, he's looking forward to a more leisurely life in a milder climate, playing golf, and continuing with his many hobbies.

What did Mrs. Vincent say, people?

ALLISON VINCENT

MRS. Vincent, Chairman of the Citizenship Education Department twenty-eight years, has taught virtually every course in citizenship education. She was instrumental in forming the relatively new History Club, and in 1952 she initiated the first course to study the little-known countries of the Middle East and Africa and an advanced college level course in American history.

She leaves Hempstead High with mixed emotions. Although looking forward to traveling and continuing her other hobbies, she'll miss her contacts with the teaching staff and student body. Here she enjoyed working with students and watching their growth and development.

MATTHEW MURPHY

MR. Matthew Murphy of the English Department will be retiring after eighteen years of teaching. Since joining the Hempstead High School faculty in 1952, Mr. Murphy's one love besides his classes has been the eleven years he spent as advisor to the Patriot, under whom it received many awards. As advisor he made many personal relations with the students and therefore considers Hempstead High his second home.

After retirement, he plans a long rest, after which he expects to read and write as much as possible. Because of his love for Hempstead, Mr. Murphy plans to settle in a ranch house in the Hempstead area.

Board Continues Fine Work

THIS year, as in the past, our Board of Education has continued its fine work in helping to maintain the high standards of education set by Union Free School District No. 1. Since 1863 it has had control and management of all the common schools within the entire district, which at present number seven, six elementary schools and one high school.

Under the leadership of President William Urquhart, Jr., the members of the Board are as follows: Mr. John M. Serenci, Vice-President; Mr. William F. B. Lindenberger, Treasurer; Dr.

Richard Pasternak, Secretary; Mr. C. H. Tunnicliffe Jones, School Attorney; and Mr. Russell G. Booth.

Meeting once a month in public session, these men deal with such issues as determining district policies, appropriating funds, and establishing a tax rate. It is indeed fortunate that these members are concerned with providing high quality education for the students of Hempstead and with maintaining most favorable conditions for teaching and learning.

Superintendent

Dr. Sheldon Moves Up

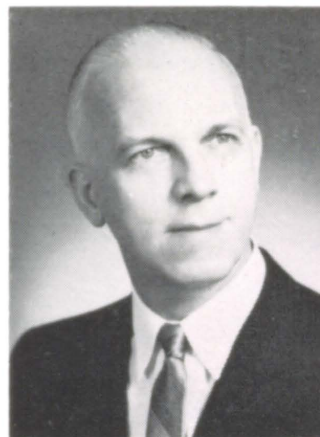

UPON the retirement of Dr. Amos Kincaid, Dr. Thomas D. Sheldon has taken over the many duties and responsibilities of Superintendent of Schools. Dr. Kincaid now fills the post of Administrative Superintendent. In his post, Dr. Sheldon serves as the chief executive and advisory officer of the Board of Education. His varied duties include attendance at all Board meetings, the supervision of all employees of the school district, and making recommendations on educational matters. He is responsible for the general supervision of educational activities in the schools in this district. In his capacity as Superintendent, Dr. Sheldon strives to maintain the fine quality of the Hempstead Public Schools.

To The Class of 1964

The faces and events of the past four years will dim and change as the years go by. The 1964 Colonial contains a record of your classmates and school activities. It is a record of your contribution to Hempstead High School.

Like preceding classes, you have left your mark on Hempstead High School. Into the record has gone the scholarship award, contribution in athletics, music, drama, your participation in Greek Games, dances and other social activities. The Class of 1964 has made a fine contribution to the Hundred Year history of the Hempstead Public Schools and we are proud to have you as the 74th graduating class.

My sincere best wishes for success in your future endeavors.

Guiding

RESPONSIBLE for the varied facets of administration are Mr. Flax, the Principal, and Mr. Pilkington, the Vice-Principal. One of the most important administrative areas is the Department of Pupil Personnel Services, headed by Mr. Prah. Functioning in this department are Mr. Miller, the junior-senior college counselor, Mr. Turnbull, vocational counselor for upper class business education and industrial arts majors, Miss MacDougall, counselor for sophomores and some college preparatory juniors, and Mr. Tingman, who counsels freshmen exclusively. In office 103, the Dean of Girls, Miss Brennan, and the Dean of Boys, Mr. Keenan, handle all problems dealing with student attendance and discipline. Still another administrative service is performed by Mr. Lind, the director of the Audio Visual Department. To these qualified administrators, the school community owes its thanks not only for the actual existence of, but also for the efficient operation of Our School Metropolis.

To The Senior Class

The annual publication of our yearbook is an event which is anticipated by all, but to each year's Senior Class the advent of the Colonial has special significance. To them it represents not only a nostalgic digest of fond memories, faces, and events proclaiming the end of high school days, but also a symbol marking the threshold of a period of even greater transition, a period of challenge and decision. Fortunately the young men and women of the Senior Class of 1964 having had the advantages of a faculty and educational program such as Hempstead's can cross this threshold with confidence and expectancy.

Efficiency Personified

MANY administrative procedures of the high school community owe their smooth operation to the capable assistance of the secretaries. In the offices of the Director of Pupil Personnel Services and the college counselor, Mrs. Perkell and Mrs. D'Acunti are found; in office 102 we find Miss Ronnerman (afternoons only) and Miss Nowoczenski; in office 103 (mornings) Miss Ronnerman performs her secretarial duties. In office 104, the office of the Vice-Principal, Miss Wolf is the assigned secretary. Across the hall in office 105, the Principal's office, Mrs. Stern and Miss Quigley perform all secretarial duties. In office 106, Mrs. Siegmann handles all organizational funds, while Miss Duryea and Mrs. Keenan are kept busy with student records. The citing of Mrs. Murphy, the secretary to the audio-visual director, and Mrs. Blenn, part-time secretary in the music department, concludes the recognition of the personnel in this field of service.

Lucia's Luscious Lunches

THIS year, as in the past, the cafeteria cuisin-ières have done their best to provide us with quick and efficient service, clean and pleasant surroundings and the good, simple fare worthy of Our Metropolis. This fare includes cassarole dishes, assorted fresh salad plates, sandwiches, soups and appetizing deserts and fruits. The menu, copies of which are distributed monthly to the students, is carefully planned by the cafeteria manager, Miss Lucia Mead, with consideration for providing well-balanced meals.

Department of Public Works

ALL of us are aware that first impressions are very important. The image of Our Metropolis is reflected in the overall condition of our building. As students, we are proud that visitors to Hempstead High School have noted with approval the neat, clean appearance of our halls and classrooms, and the well maintained condition of our walks, driveways, and grounds. For this we owe many thanks to the members of our custodial staff in recognition of their excellent services to our school.

The Suave Seniors

THE Senior Citizens of Our Metropolis have completed four successful years of service, and are now ready to depart our midst to make their way in the outside world. This year's class, composed of approximately 315 members, is one of the smallest classes to be graduated in recent years.

Scholastically, we can be proud of its many achievements, among these being Merit Scholarship semi-finalists, Regents Scholarship winners and alternates, and various individual awards, both academic and commercial, from colleges and private organizations. Seniors also assumed their share of leadership and responsibility while participating in sports, musical organizations, clubs, and committees.

Among the pleasant memories of our last year we certainly would recall the frivolities of "Senior-Frosh" day, the delightful Senior Ball, the never-to-be-forgotten activities of Senior Week, and the culmination of our stay in H.H.S. with graduation at the Calderone Theater.

Thus, after having received the benefits that Our Metropolis has offered, our Senior Citizens are ready to climb one more step on the ladder of life. Let it be hoped that we will never forget our compact community, for it has been the focal point of our attention for four most important years in our life.

The Jiving Juniors

THIS year's Junior Class, consisting of 380 members, played an active part in Our Metropolis. After having elected President Steve Yurasits; Vice-President Judy Bates; Secretary Liga Auzins; and Treasurer Jeff Waldner, these officers led their class through a prosperous year. The Juniors helped to support the General Organization, the central working part of the student body, by selling magazine subscriptions sponsored by the Educational Readers' Service.

The Juniors' social life was highlighted by the annual mid-year prom. Linda Loughran, committee chairman, planned the event and helped to convert the boys' gym into a wonderland, emphasizing this year's theme. Musical entertainment was provided by the Percels, a popular singing group, and by a seven-member band, the Society Six.

Although the students did much of the work during the year, certainly Miss Dorwin, Mr. Lacombe, and Mr. Lunde, the advisors, should be included among those credited with the success of the class.

Sublimated Sophomores

THE Sophomore Class, 360 in number, returned to school this year looking forward to the many academic and extracurricular activities open to them. Early in the year the following class officers were elected: President Ida Jackson; Vice-President Sandra Haynes; Secretary Betty Malta; and Treasurer Bob Schuessler. Supervised by their advisors, Miss Ignelzi, Mr. Wickham and Mrs. Snowden, these officers led the class through their second year at H.H.S. with enthusiasm.

During the year, each sophomore planned his high school course of study with Miss MacDougall. Some enjoyed their first year of a foreign language, and many had an "experience" with geometry and biology. A journalism class taught by Mr. Fieldhouse was an enjoyable and valuable change for some of them. The members of the Class of 1966 have again shown industry and enthusiasm that should help them become important citizens in Our Metropolis.

WITH the help of the advisors, Mrs. Carde, Miss Joyce, and Mr. L. Williams, the 420 newcomers to Our Metropolis have wasted no time in taking an active part in all phases of our community life. Student Council, F.T.A., orchestra, Greek Games—the freshmen are everywhere, obviously working hard to make their generation, the graduating class of '67, the most outstanding yet, and they are proving themselves very capable.

After having experienced the usual period of anxiety, confusion, and bewilderment, our young citizens began to organize as a group with the election of the following officers: President Dean Rollins; Vice-President Carliss Collins; Secretary Pat Conyers; and Treasurer Gilbert West.

The Big City Bosses

JUST as any town must be governed, so it is with our student citizens. The Senior Executive Council is the governing body of the senior class. Its members, advised by Mr. Levin, consist of the senior class officers, Bob Keenan, President; Martha Boyce, Vice-President; Kathy Wright, Secretary; and Tom Kravitz, Treasurer; and a representative from each of the senior American History classes. It meets daily during homeroom to discuss and plan the activities of the seniors throughout the year.

Among its varied functions, the Council performs the duty of directing the annual Senior-Frosh Day. Then, as the year proceeds, it makes plans for the greatest week in a senior's life—Senior Week—which is wondrously topped-off by the memorable Senior Class Night and the Senior Ball.

The Senior Executive Council also supervises the selection of the class color, flower, and motto. This year the colors are burgundy and gold, the flower is the black orchid, and the motto is "Learning from the past, acting in the present, and striving towards the future."

The Right of Assembly

THE representative governing body of Our Metropolis, the Student Council, is advised by Mrs. Gottfried and Mr. Holtz, and presided over by Howard Ginsburg. For the first time in several years, the organization sponsored a foreign exchange student. Jerusha Holder came to us from Liberia and spent her stay here as the house guest of Donna Kaplan. Among many other activities, our foreign friend attended several parties given for her by her

The Council's magazine sale was successfully carried out under Glenn Rubin's direction. Treasurer Rubin effected a soaring increase over last year's sale revenues. Vice-President Jeff Sacks produced a fine G.O. Show, and both Robin May and Sandra Haynes concocted amusing pep rallies. Charlie Wehnes organized one of the best G.O. dances we have had in a long while. Secretaries Ken Stein and Mary Hwang were also extremely active and were instrumental in the success of this year's Student Council.

WHAT organization serves the community as willingly as it helps the school? It's the Booster Club, a group of Hempstead High students led by Gail Urquhart, under the supervision of Mrs. Gottfried and Mr. Holtz. During the school year, the spirited Boosters publicized school functions with

The Year in Pictures and Print

CHOOSING the theme—Hempstead High—Our Metropolis—the coeditors, Susan Maturlo and Paul Smith, with their advisor Mr. Leusch, introduced new touches here and there in the 1964 edition of the Colonial. The editorial and art staffs implemented the theme, emphasizing similarities of our high school community to most any city.

This year's Colonial represents several changes. In the past, class pictures were taken either by alphabetical groups or from the physical education classes. Undergraduates were photographed this year in their respective English classes together with the English teacher. Senior boys wore formal dress for their individual portraits. In addition to expanded coverage of the Girl's Physical Education Department, the layout of the faculty section was completely revised. To further the new look, the art staff, with Mrs. Grant, their advisor, made use of the technique of woodcutting.

Together with Mr. Ayres and the business staff, the combined efforts of all the staffs have once again produced a book capable of bringing back fond memories of Our Metropolis.

THE Patriot is our community's newspaper. Co-Editors Suzanne Goldblatt and Donna Kaplan represented student opinion in editorials, about an evening G. O. Show, longer vacations, and excess homework. Mr. Flax, the Principal, recognized these editorials and some were quoted in the Garden City high school paper and over radio station WABC. The Patriot continues the columns News-in-Brief and Hats Off, and found popular response to two new features—In This Corner and The Inquiring Photographer. With Mr. Lattimore, new advisor of the literary staff, and Mrs. Kamen, business advisor, the editors, reporters, and photographers aimed to present accurate, pertinent, and interesting news of Our Metropolis.

Our Scholars

HEMPSTEAD HIGH SCHOOL was proud to announce this year's results of the New York State Regents Scholarship Examinations. In addition to thirteen first-place seniors, H.H.S. has fifteen alternates who will be offered these scholarships as they are declined by the original winners throughout New York State. Furthermore, 147 students are eligible for the Scholar Incentive Award, because they scored over 100 points on the exam, which was given early in the school year.

Even more desirable is recognition from the Merit Scholarship Examination. This year's class boasted two finalists—Paul Smith and Peter Stoehr.

THE Freshman-Sophomore Honor Club is composed of students having achieved a 90 per cent average or better. Under the guidance of Mr. Nelson Williams, two sets of sophomore officers were elected at the beginning of the second semester to coordinate the meetings. Leading the girls are Delrita Hunter, President; Cheryl Formisano, Vice-President; Alice Fox, Secretary; and Carol Matthews, Treasurer. The boys are repre-

Among the most interesting programs planned was a talk by Mr. Leon Sacks, who has recently visited Russia. Ellen Fox, who spent last summer in Mexico, also had some fascinating stories to relate concerning her adventures. Several other interesting lectures and a field trip rounded out the year's program.

WHO hasn't heard about German Gemütlichkeit? This feeling of warm friendliness is found in Der Deutsche Klub. The club's advisor, Miss Gunther, President Alvis Pauga, Vice-President Nancy Moore, Secretary Karen Graves, Treasurer Craig Douglas, and the members have enjoyed an exciting year.

In December, the club celebrated its annual Christmas party with the German Club of Baldwin

High. Baldwin's group provided the program and ours the refreshments. All present participated in singing the ever-popular German Christmas carols.

In January, the German and Music Departments participated jointly in a field trip to the Carnegie Cinema for the Salzburg film of Strauss' "Der Rosenkavalier." Of course, the perennial favorite is the Valentine Spelling Bee with chocolate hearts as prizes. These outstanding activities captivated the interest of the members.

EL CIRCULO CASTELLANO is Hempstead High School's active Spanish Club. Meeting once a month, the members prepare for the colorful events which have long been traditional for todos los amigos. The annual fiesta is celebrated on January sixth, the Day of the Three Kings. The members anxiously await the games, songs, refreshments and little gifts from the piñata. The annual trip to New York includes a visit to the Hispanic Museum and a meal in a Spanish restaurant.

This year El Circulo is fortunate in having members from Cuba, Argentina, and Mexico. They have contributed to the program by showing dances from their native lands and by teaching Spanish songs and customs.

Usually before the end of the year, the members meet for an evening to have their Spanish dinner. Mrs. Jean Stilger, the club's advisor, supervised and helped with the planning of the various events.

THE French Quarter of our city is well represented by Le Cercle Français which meets monthly under the guidance of Mesdames Young and Menza. This year's capable officers, President Orel Odinov; Vice-President Elaine Nadolny; Treasurer Suzanne Goldblatt; Secretary Marie Jensen and Program Chairman John Grimaldi, have led an enthusiastic group through many fascinating programs. During the fall, Ricky Kaplan lectured on Ravel, the famous impressionist composer, and a newly organized group, the French Singers, led the group in some charming folk tunes and rounds. At the annual Christmas party, Serge and Jean-Claude Andriamaharu, students at Hofstra University, spoke to the club in French about their native country, Madagascar. During the holiday season, the club went caroling around Hempstead. Toward the end of the year, the group was able to fill out its program with a trip to New York City.

Exercendo Ad Perfectionem*

FOR students of the classical language Latin, Hempstead High offers the Carpe Diem Sodalitas, better known as the Latin Club, meeting the third Tuesday of each month. Its purpose is to instill in its members an understanding of the Roman way of life. First Consul Claudia Menza, Second Consul Tony Costello, Quaestor Katrin Helms, and Scriba Ricky Smith, assisted by Miss Winter, the club's advisor, presented aspects of the ancient times in Rome through the use of modern games. Court trials or festivals dedicated to the "immortal gods" were often familiar activities at the meetings. The club's varied program proved to be an invaluable extracurricular experience for its members.

THE Footlight Club, under the supervision of Mr. Roy T. Rector, serves as Hempstead High School's legitimate theater group. Members inclined toward any phase of the theater, including acting, designing sets and costumes, make-up and directing, find ample opportunity for pursuit of their common interest. During the year, the members saw Marcel Marceau films, received a demonstration by Mr. Rector on the application of stage make-up, and heard "An Afternoon with Robert Burns," taped last year. In February, the major production, "Stage-Door," which the Footlight Club helped produce, was presented. The group took its annual trip to Stratford, Connecticut, for the Shakespeare Festival in May. Also in May, the club concluded the year's activities with its third Annual Awards Tea, a farewell tea for seniors, at which the drama awards for teachers and pupils were presented and the new officers named. President Claudette Dussol, terminating her second year in office, presided at the tea.

AN organization comprised of all Math 12 students, the Tupiar Club provided interested people with an opportunity to seek additional knowledge in the field of mathematics. Mr. Robert Hayes and the officers President Edward Albinski; Vice-President Dennis Huskins; and Secretary-Treasurer Ruth Marayati planned an exciting year. In January club meetings, Mr. Hayes aided students in passing the Regents examination. Other activities introduced new concepts and advanced topics related to subject matter handled in class. Also, movies covering such topics as Boolean Algebra and calculus were shown to the interest and edification of the members.

The Quiz Kids

HEMPSTEAD HIGH's outstanding math students often become members of the math team, which competes against fifty-one other schools in the county. These schools meet in small groups of about five each six times a month. Top scorers Paul Smith, Peter Stoehr, and Anthony Burek often correctly answer several of the five timed problems assigned at each meet. Awards are given to top team members, the leading county team, and the leading individual. In addition, Mr. Smith, the mathletes' advisor, presents an award to all local senior participants.

It Figures

THE Math Club is composed of freshmen and sophomores interested in more advanced concepts of mathematics not ordinarily pursued in regular math courses. With the patient, generous help of their advisor, Mr. Windt, these students broadened their understanding, enjoyment, and knowledge of math. The fact that qualified mathematicians are more and more in demand is evidence of the growing importance of the field of mathematics in any modern metropolis.

The Star Gazers

AS "senior citizen" of science activities in Hempstead High School, the Senior Science Club is composed of junior and senior students interested in delving deeper into the principles and the curiosities of science. Under the supervision of Mr. Frank Faust, a planning committee of members and President Anthony Burek decided the program for the year.

The most challenging group activity was the building of an astronomical telescope for observing the heavenly bodies. Each member helped construct the various parts of the telescope. As in the past, individual initiative was encouraged in all club members. Those who were bitten by the scientific bug performed both the demonstrations and experiments to make this year a most enjoyable as well as educational one for the future scientists.

UNDER the supervision of Mr. Lawson, the future scientists of Our Metropolis are guided into independent research. Such research is a prerequisite to summer college research programs and accustoms the student to the type of experimentation done in college.

The club itself meets every other Tuesday, but the laboratory and equipment are accessible for club members' use on Tuesday afternoons. Some of the projects performed include the measurement of a molecule of oleic acid, another the making of an inexpensive analytical balance. One ambitious team, however, worked on the making of a simple seismograph.

AS the youngest of all club activities, the History Club gained prominence not only in our school, but also throughout Long Island. This year, under the guidance of Mr. N. Williams and the leadership of Richard Kaplan and David Stein, as national committee chairmen, the club, as the State of Illinois, participated in the Long Island Mock Political Convention at Farmingdale High School in April. At this convention, the future voting citizens learned the procedures upheld by our own country's national conventions.

Original student compositions in poetry, the short story, and the essay are read by the staff, which decides whether or not a work should appear in the magazine. The editor-in-chief this year is Orel Odinov and the faculty advisor is Miss Newlon. Besides encouraging creativity and giving recognition for high quality work, the Perspective is a source of great delight to both students and faculty.

ONE picture relates the story of a thousand words. The proper techniques for picture-taking must be learned. Under the leadership of Mr. Albert Smith and President Robert Chorush, the Camera Club members become skilled in the art of photography. This skill was first shown when the club photographed the Hempstead Varsity Football Team for picture sales.

To help develop photographic techniques the club has its own dark room and has also visited photographic laboratories. Films from the Kodak Company and the annual New York Coliseum Photo Show have entertained as well as taught the proper procedures of photography to the energetic members. The experiences offered by this club has provided a stimulus for service to the community as either a hobby or for profit.

Charlie's Bargain Store

NEEED an extra pen, a book for English, a map for history? The place to purchase such items is the Blue and White Corner. An important center of any community is its shopping area and our Metropolis is no exception. With its eye-catching window displays, its extensive stock of school supplies and Hempstead bookcovers, sweatshirts and mascots, the store attracts both students and teachers. Under the guidance of Mr. Charles Mills, assigned business students have an opportunity to become salesmen, clerks, and bookkeepers. In this way, they are able to apply what they are learning in class to real business situations, while maintaining an efficiently run store for the entire school.

Home on the Range

GIRLS particularly interested in the arts of cooking and sewing find the opportunity of pursuing their interests in the Future Homemakers of America. This club is affiliated with both county and state organizations.

As the year unfolded, our busy homemakers attended workshops for the preparation of exotic dishes and baked foods, served on panel discussions on improving home life, and visited exhibits. Drives for such charitable groups as UNICEF and the Red Cross were also on their agenda.

In a joint effort to utilize their culinary skills to the fullest, the members enjoyed the fruits of their labor at their annual dinner.

Enrichment for the Art Devotees

ACCORDING to Mrs. Grant, the advisor, the purpose of the Art Club is to "enable the students to use different media" and to "afford an opportunity for students in an academic program to share in an art program after school." In this way, the club supplements the art forms studied and taught in classes, where time may be limited. The 25 members experiment with jewelry making, various forms of sculpture, oil painting, water color, graphics, ceramics, enameling on metal, and related crafts. Their original work can be seen on display from time to time in the school. These young art devotees also find time for a little social activity. They celebrated both Christmas and the closing of school in June with a party. The club boasts Mr. Chambers as its co-advisor.

THE Business Club, formed to promote student interest in the various opportunities awaiting them in a real metropolis, actively worked toward achieving this goal under the advisorship of Mrs. Houck.

The club went on two field trips and many of its meetings featured guest speakers. To raise funds for these activities the club members sold all-occasion cards early this year and found it a successful endeavor.

It is the hope of the club's advisor and President Brenda Hughes that this year's activities have not only stimulated interest but furthered the understanding necessary for a successful career in the competitive business world which they will soon enter.

The Lifesavers

THE Health Careers Club, one of the newly organized clubs here at Hempstead High School, has in its ranks a large number of students desirous of entering one of the medical professions. Future nurses, laboratory technicians and perhaps many doctors have come together under the advisorship of Mrs. Dolley, our school nurse, to learn more about this field of such importance to the community. During the course of the year they had numerous guest speakers, saw films, and discussed many aspects of life in a medical profession. It is sincerely hoped that enthusiasm for this new club will continue so that it can render better than adequate service to the community.

The Red Cross Again Campaign-Conscious

THE Red Cross has had a very active year as usual. President Jerada Petrano, Vice-President Kathleen Quinn, Recording Secretary Ethel Owens, Corresponding Secretary Lembi Saarmann, and Treasurer Jeanne Buchanan planned a full schedule for the year. The club's first undertaking was the collection of money from each homeroom. Every student who contributed received a Red Cross button and a membership card. The next project was the filling of Christmas Red Cross stockings. The representatives from each homeroom were given lists of items to be donated by their homerooms. These stockings were then sent to the Red Cross Chapter House in Mineola. The members also found their time occupied with the collection of pictures of all classrooms, football games, and clubs for an album. Its advisor, Miss Lane, helped to make it a successful one.

And Behind the Scenes...

SELECTED senior girls of the Business Education Department acted as secretaries to the chairmen of the various departments. Under the direction of Miss Margaret Jones, each one spent some time daily in the service of her respective department head. The mimeographing and duplication of tests or other articles were taken care of by the Mimeo Squad, under the supervision of Mrs. Dorothy Houck. Squad members gave up certain free periods during the week to perform their duties. The Bulletin Board Committee, directed by Mrs. Ruth Gaffga, performed a helpful service in keeping the bulletin boards up to date with current information of all organizations and events. Thanks should be given to all the girls for these duties which added to the efficiency of our school.

Headaches, Neuritis, Neuralgia?

THE fourteen members of this year's Health Service Squad assist the nurse with their skills in telephoning, typing, clerical work and the application of minor first aid. Their biggest job is attending to the 1460 student health records, which must be handled three times a year. Selected with the approval of the Guidance Department, these girls have an opportunity of becoming familiar with certain phases of nursing and first aid.

Kincaid's Kleaners

JUST as a city's maintenance crew is vital to its upkeep, so is the Art Squad indispensable to the department it serves. Responsible art students perform the necessary tasks of cleaning up the art rooms, keeping the Art Office and its library neat, and making signs which announce school events. Not only do the members of the squad add to the efficiency of the Art Department, but they also have the chance to learn techniques they would not ordinarily be exposed to in class, and to work on their own projects after their duties are completed.

THE clerical work involved in the successful running of Our Metropolis is inestimable, and to help carry it out we rely on the ability of the Office Aids. Among their varied tasks are typing, running errands, filing, scheduling interviews, making and receiving telephone calls, and, in general, offering any assistance they can to ease the burden of the office staff.

It is an honor to be an Office Aid, for these girls are selected with extreme care. In order to qualify, a candidate must be a capable, responsible, honest citizen, who is expected to live up to the high standards set by the offices.

Library Under New Management

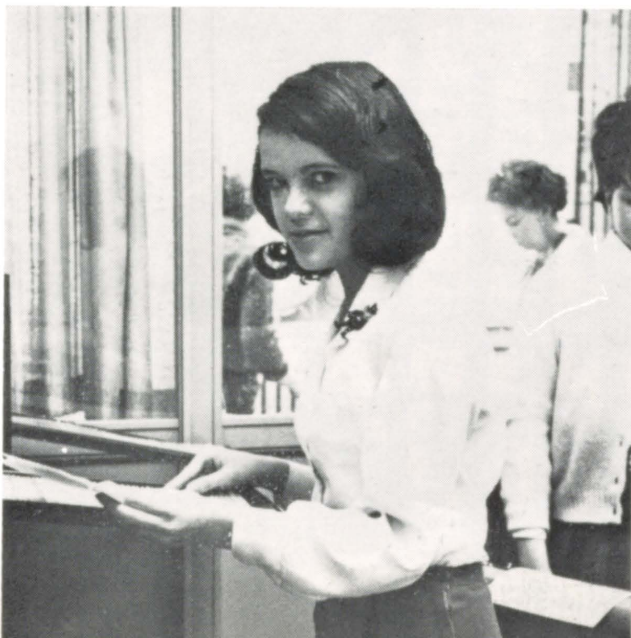

SHOULD a modern metropolis function without a library? Not Hempstead High School! Much of the library's efficiency can be attributed to its hard-working staff under the guiding supervision of Mrs. Ryder, the librarian, and her full-time assistants, Mrs. Young and Miss Herod.

The library staff, composed of 25 students selected because of genuine interest in library work, checks books in and out and works constantly to keep the library an organized place in which to study. Both faculty and students find the library an enjoyable place for research and browsing because of the efforts of the staff.

Big Concerts From Little Sectionals Grow

THIS year, as in the past years, the Hempstead High School Orchestra continued to prove that it belongs among the finest high school musical organizations. Under the direction of Mr. Strickland, several performances were planned and other activities were made available for interested students. The faculty members, consisting of Mr. Lillicrapp, strings; Mr. Weinberg, woodwinds; Mr. Parvis, percussion; Mr. Hodges, bass; Mr. Foster, cello; and Mr. Albinski, brass, have a broad background in music and are very able to transmit their knowledge to other individuals.

The orchestra with its seventy-five members meets each day during the first period. Sectionals and individual lessons are held throughout the day. The formation of smaller musical groups, such as string quartets and wind quintets, is encouraged. Certain orchestra members take advantage of a special music theory course for enrichment. Students welcome the opportunity to further their progress on their respective instruments.

A Christmas assembly and spring concert were presented in which the works of such composers as Bizet, Gershwin, and Schubert were played. An assembly program of chamber music was presented. There can be no doubt that the orchestra regularly displayed a high calibre of performance.

THE A Cappella Choir, 122 strong, had a busy and exciting year. The first big event was the Centennial Celebration, held November 15, in which the choir sang songs from the Civil War era through the Fabulous Fifties, bringing back nostalgic memories of Hempstead in the old days. Soon after, they plunged enthusiastically into a series of holiday programs. The forty-member Art Choir, selected on a competitive basis, sang for various service clubs in town and the Retired Teachers of Nassau County. An assembly with numbers by both the choir and orchestra added to everyone's enjoyment of the season.

In May, a choral program was presented by the Music Department. The "Porgy and Bess," "Deep River," and "Didn't My Lord Deliver Daniel" were just a few of the songs that brought delighted smiles of recognition from the audience. The concert was also a benefit for the group's "penpal," a choir in Kenya, Africa. Linda Ann Kunz, a graduate of H.H.S., teaches music at this African school, and suggested a musical exchange program between the two groups. A scrapbook of pictures and concert programs and a tape of a recent concert were sent to Kenya and received with great interest by the African students.

LIVELY interest and activity are found in the glee clubs of our community. The boys' group, known as the Note-Dusters, has achieved an enviable popularity. Two distinct singing groups are open to the girls; the Nightingales, or Advanced Girls' Glee Club, and the Lorelei, primarily for freshmen. Each year the girls' glee clubs are an integral part of the Greek Games pageant in addition to their participation in a spring concert. Under the direction of Miss Joy Peterson and Mrs. Marion Fish, both participants and audiences enjoyed a season of delightful musical entertainment.

HEMPSTEAD HIGH's symphonic band has always represented our community with outstanding achievements. Having begun the year with its football show, "Holiday in Europe," the band continued its activities with shows for the Giants at Yankee Stadium and the Jets at the Polo Grounds. Also among its performances were those for the World's Fair and the Memorial Day parade.

Led by Mr. Kazmier Albinski, the band played in the instrumental concert held in April. The program included "The Universal Judgment" and a piece composed by our own Mr. Strickland.

A fairly new function of the band has been to play at the various assemblies during the year.

Bandshow at World's Fair

THE citizens of Our Metropolis who were unable to do much traveling themselves were transported to foreign lands by the nationally-famous Hempstead High School Bandshow. In the show, spectators were taken to Italy, by a formation of that country and a chorus of "O Sole Mio." From there the show went to Greece, playing a typical Greek folk song, to Holland, forming a spectacular windmill, and to Paris playing the "Can-Can" complete with the traditional kickline. Finally they returned home with "America the Beautiful," "The Stars and Stripes Forever," and a display of the Music Department's historical American flags.

In addition to their imaginary traveling, they actually journeyed to and performed at nationally televised football games of the Giants and the Jets as well as the World's Fair.

Little of the Bandshow's fame could possibly have been attained without the instruction of Mr. Kazmier Albinski. Through his perseverance, the Hempstead High School Bandshow has maintained its high calibre of excellence.

The Rah-Kettes

ONE year ago, sixteen junior and senior girls were selected with regard to ability, personality, and appearance, with Miriam Sands as captain and Martha Boyce as co-captain. In the fall, a pep rally was held, and the girls, wearing their striking new uniforms, were introduced as members of the 1963-64 cheering squad. This was the first of their numerous performances.

Throughout the year, they were present at all home and away football and basketball games shouting their rousing cheers. When appearing at games, they always endeavored to spur on the spirit of the spectators and members of the teams. It was evident that the girls enjoyed encouraging local pride in Hempstead High School activities.

Somewhere Over The Goalline

AFTER a decade of winning seasons, an unhappy combination of injuries and a majority of inexperienced players forced the Tigers to build for the future. Co-captains Bob Keenan, Andy Brown and Willie Blunt represented the only experience on the team. Unfortunately, Blunt was injured during the Freeport game. Arthur Keriopoulis and Charles McLean were also key victims of mishaps during the year.

As a result, Coach Schuessler had no alternative but to play sophomores and juniors. John Tripp displayed his versatile talents as center and middle linebacker. Bobby Schuessler, Jr. showed promise of being one of the better runners, along with Mike O'Brien, in next year's backfield. Dick Champlain and Hank Savarèse teamed at the guards, and John Buckley saw duty at the tackles with Steve Roth. The outstanding seniors also included Charles McLean, Marty Tripp, and Dennis Huskins, along with Brown, Blunt and Keenan.

Hoopsters In Play-Offs Tenth Year In a Row

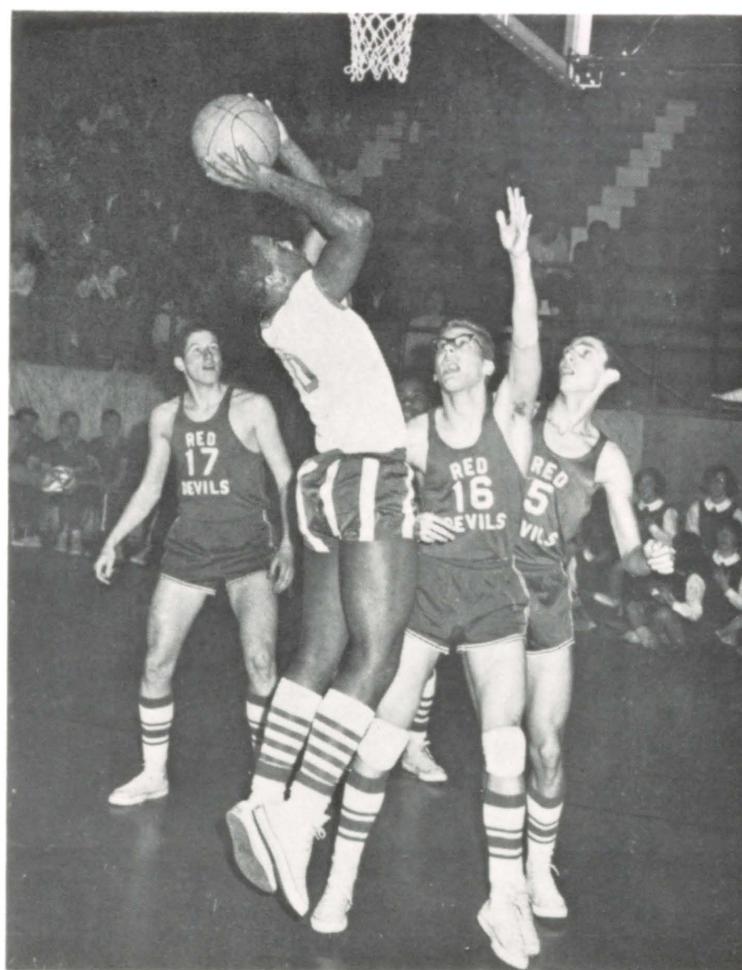

HEMPSTEAD'S Hoopsters gave loyal supporters a pleasant surprise this year, and jolted opposition forces who had expected to take advantage of the youthful Tigers. The high-strung youngsters fell victim to powerful Malverne in the opener. Bouncing back, they reeled off four straight triumphs, including a major upset of Long Island Lutheran. West Hempstead's Rams caught the Tigers in a post-Christmas letdown, and shaded Hempstead by a narrow three point margin. Division I Champion Baldwin handed the Hub quintet a league loss, but the Bengals kept in the race by trouncing Massapequa, East Meadow, and upstart Lawrence, not to mention traditional rival Freeport.

Then the onrushing Tigermen crashed head-on into a stone wall and dropped two key contests to Mepham and the Golden Wave of Baldwin. However, the Tigers pulled the rug out from highflying Mepham later to clinch third place and a play-off berth for the tenth consecutive year. It is the result of Coach John Mills' thorough and inspired instruction that the basketball team competed so well. Next year, six of the seven first men will return. Special attention should be given to the sharp-shooting of Artie Keriopolus and Fred Ryan and the fine hustle displayed by Captain Andy Brown, a senior.

Team Wraps Up Good Season

NOW in its fourth year of existence, the Soccer Team has improved amazingly. Coached by Mr. Just, this year's team has had a favorable season of seven wins, five losses and one tie. Hempstead was the only school in the league to have two members on the All South Shore Starting Team, Captain John Harris and Adolf Laboada. Adolf was selected for the All County Team making one of the country's eleven best players.

Although our soccer team will lose one of its finest players, John Harris, Coach Just foresees a return of almost all of this year's team next year with a starting team of eleven experienced lettermen.

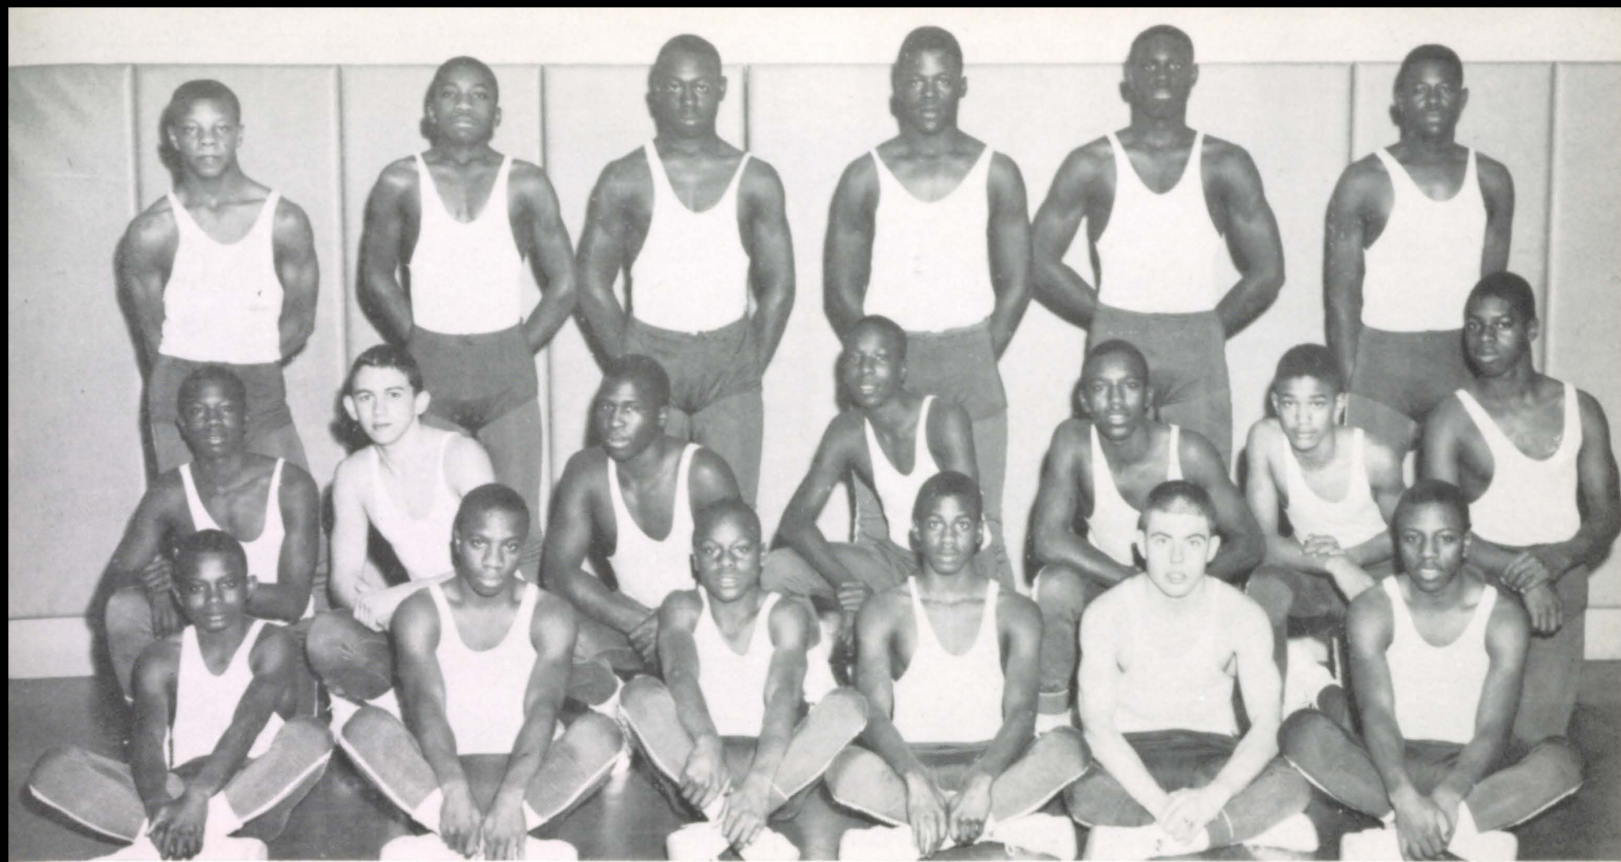

Hempstead students can be genuinely proud of these boys who, through work and determination, have raised their young team to a high standing in the league.

ACTION at H.H.S. is spelled with a capital "W" for wrestling. More and more students are enjoying the sport because they are beginning to understand it. This year's twenty-five wrestlers, coached by Mr. Just, reversed their first 8 losses by winning 5 of the last 6 bouts.

Accolades to H.H.S. because George Harris and Laverne Spry became fourth best wrestlers in Nassau County. Johnny B. Harris defended his title as Nassau County Champion by defeating a defending N.Y.S. Champion and a previously unbeaten wrestler. For this, Johnny was voted most outstanding wrestler in the county for 1964. In subsequent competition, he successfully defended his N.Y.S. Championship.

As far as next year is concerned, Mr. Just is leaning heavily upon Danny Downs, Glenn Deans, Tony Moran, and Bill White.

Lucky Strike Or Make That Spare

BOWLING is a game of accuracy requiring a great deal of practice for one to become proficient. Therefore, Mr. Lucuis Williams, coach of the team, had his men practice twice a week besides the regularly scheduled matches.

With a starting roster composed primarily of seniors, Mr. Williams had a relatively new squad. The team, led by the only veteran of past years, Captain Thomas Kravitz, finished fifth out of ten teams during the regular season. With the final roll-off tournament of twenty-four teams, the men in blue finished eleventh. The tournament was highlighted by Tom Kravitz' 249.

Next year, Mr. Williams must begin to rebuild his team. Consisting of mainly sophomores and juniors, it should be a striking success.

22-Caliber Deadeyes

THE Rifle Team, composed of the city's sharpshooters, could literally serve as the protective force of Our Metropolis. Among these sharpies are actually only two Varsity men—Ed Albinski, who holds the county record of 193 points, and Paul Smith. Both boys are exceptional marksmen, but in Mr. Voorhies' opinion, Bob Small and Du Bois Tibbs are top contenders for their places next year. With a rising popularity in rifle, the team, with 11 members, playing 8 schools, concluded the season with a 6-6 record.

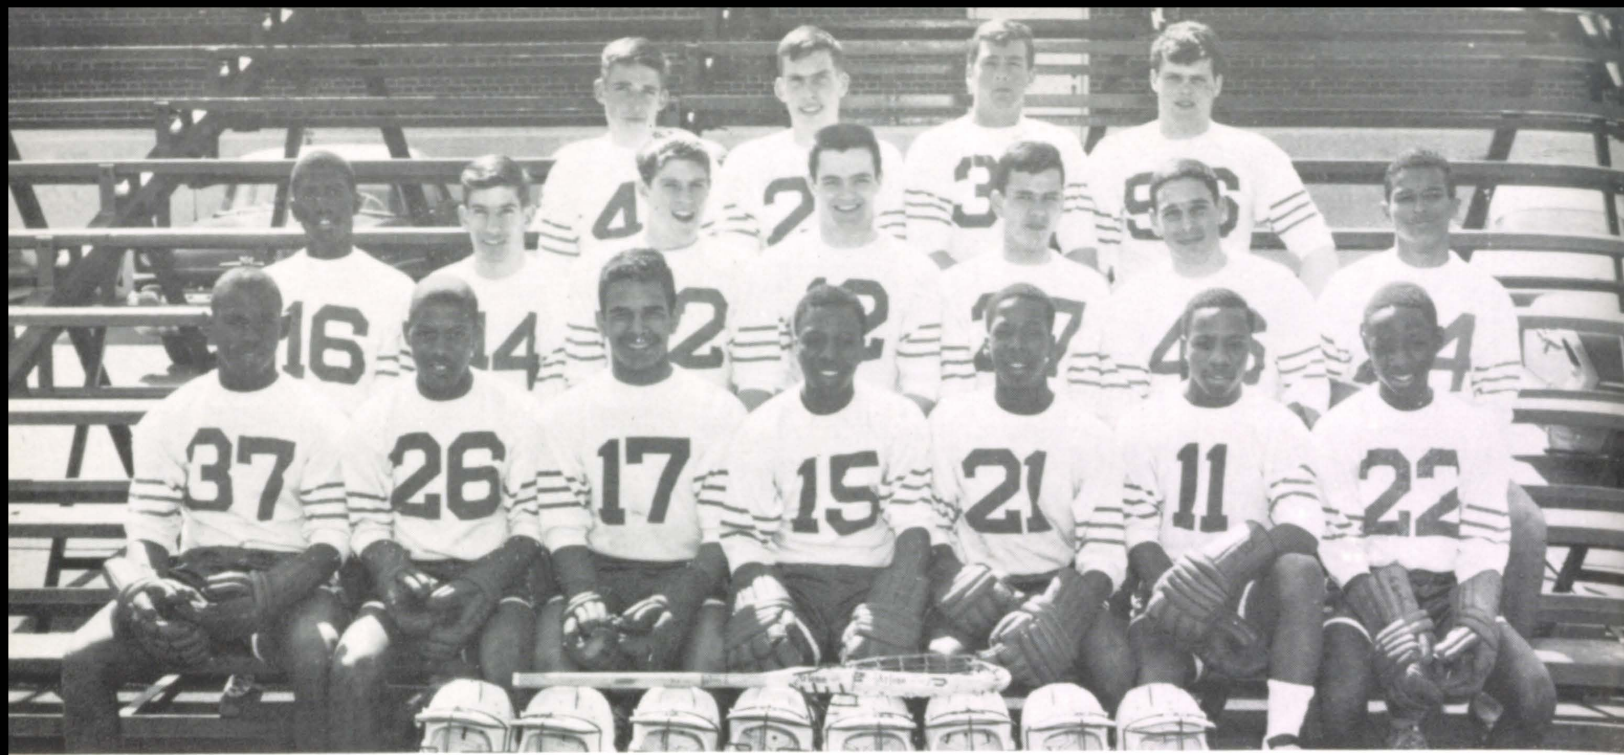

We Aim to Shoot

AN important part of the rifle program at Hempstead is the Rifle Club. Fifty boys under the direction of Mr. Voorhies learn the fundamentals of shooting and safety rules. With half of the boys coming on Monday, and the other half on Wednesday, they enjoy an excellent opportunity to practice their skill. They are also able to earn National Association awards if they fulfill various requirements. It is not uncommon for members of the Varsity Team to have received their basic training in the Rifle Club.

AS in the past, this year's Lacrosse Team, under the capable supervision of Mr. O. Mills, completed a fine season. With eleven of last year's squad, there was no lack of talent. Captain John B. Harris, and his co-captains, George Harris and Bob Keenan, three-year members of the starting squad, returned after playing on '62 and '63 Division II championship teams. Lionel Ross, Wilford Champlin, and Richard Bell also contributed to the team's success.

Lacrosse has become a popular enough sport to warrant organizing a J. V. team, thus training more boys in the fundamentals to produce even more superior teams in the future.

The Olympians

MR. Kight, Tiger track mentor, is in an enviable position. Many track coaches long for the wealth of talent and experience that Hempstead possesses this year. Coach Kight has a few competitors back from the State Championships of last year. Martin Tripp, a solid 200 pounder, is the stellar performer in the weight events; he is backed up by his brother John. Dickie Howard and Charles Moore comprise a gruesome twosome for opponents in the jumping events. "Mr. Lightning," Steve Eason, represents our cindermen in the dashes, and Brian Pearsall runs a good quarter. All told, the Tigers look good for a plethora of trophies this year.

Let's Go Hempstead Mets

AMONG the sports featured at H. H. S. the most unpredictable is perhaps baseball. An error, a missed sign, a bad bounce can mean victory or defeat. Win, lose, or draw, the players find enough challenge from participating to encourage their efforts. They're anticipating a successful season.

This year, with a new and young team, Mr. Martone hoped that the players would be rewarded with victory. There were eighteen games on the Varsity schedule and in preparation for future seasons a J. V. team has been formed for the first time. It is Mr. Mills' hope that the team will soon be ready for Varsity play.

THIS year's tennis team returned, minus two members from last year. Although their record was three wins to eleven losses, this is an improvement from last year when no games were won. Much credit is attributed to the coach, Mr. Menza. The captain was John Silliman, who played first singles. He had a great season winning twelve and losing two. On first doubles were Kenny Stein and Dennis Fuchs. There is reason to believe the team will do better next year because of promising lower classman.

The Hempstead Tee Party

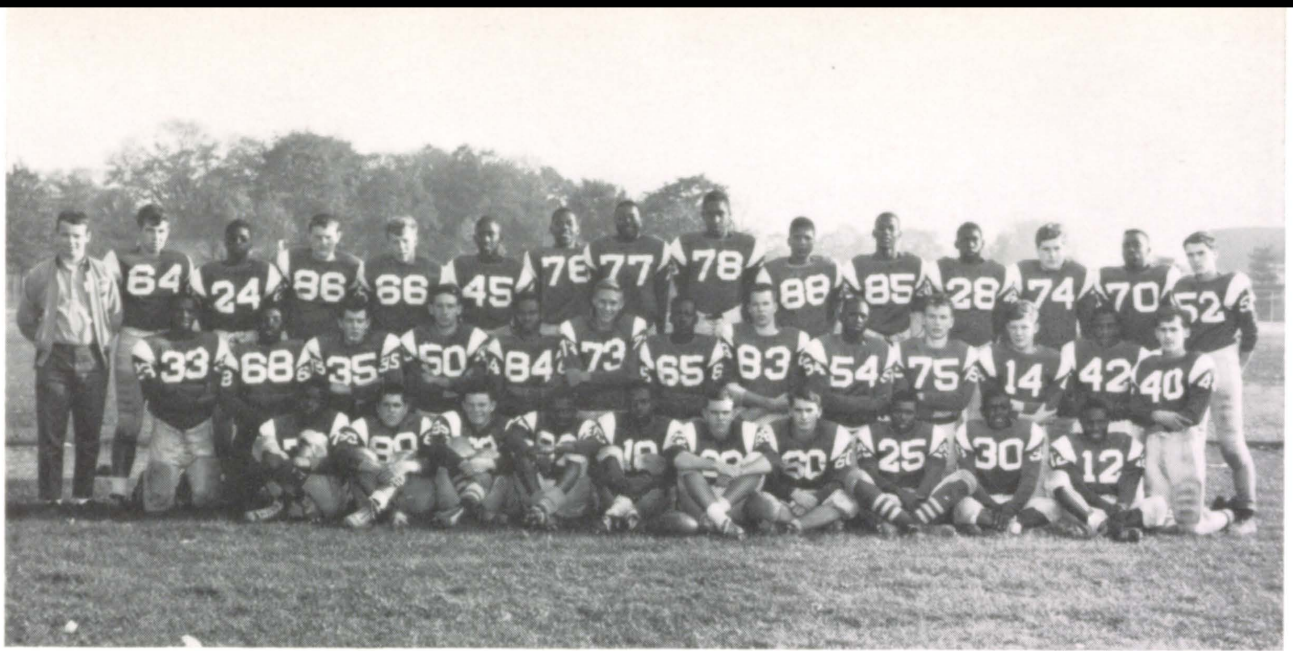

MR. Faust's linkmen were ready to tee off for a successful season. With many experienced competitors back from last year, Hempstead's golfers were eager to attack the challenging greens and fairways around the Long Island area. Opponents probably did find the Tigers more formidable as a team than they have in recent years. We'll keep our eyes on Paul Pangretic, Hempstead's future candidate for the golf grand slam.

J. V. Football Chalks Up Experience

WHEN a community is as closely knit as ours, we are all affected by the wins and losses of our teams. One should look closely at the J.V. Football Team because these boys are going to be plugging for us in the Varsity next year. Although their scores were not as favorable as they might have been, the team chalked up a great deal of practical experience.

Frank Sutherland, Irving Williams, and Joe Burton were this year's captains. Coach Beck had the opinion that "the line and backmen should be an asset to next year's Varsity, for when the going got toughest, the boys played their best ball."

33 Straight Wins for J. V.

THIS year's Junior Varsity Basketball team seems prepared to step up next year to create one of Hempstead's finest Varsity squads. Coached ably by Mr. O. Mills, the team had an undefeated season by winning all eighteen games played.

As a result of their teamwork and solid defense, their playing displayed the ultimate in cooperation necessary for this sport. Although the team could boast of no star players, Steve Morse held the distinction of being highest scorer. He, John Tripp, Calvin Hall, Robert Moore and

Grid And Bear It

WITHOUT a doubt the success of the Varsity Football Team rests heavily upon the fine guidance and training made available to boys who participate in Freshman Football. The team is the foundation of the system of developing ballplayers. Coached by Mr. Martone and Mr. Brennan, the freshman team played almost as heavy a schedule as the Varsity and showed as much stamina and enthusiasm.

Leaders Help Out

THE physical well-being of citizens is an important foundation for the vigor and vitality of all activities of Our Metropolis. The Girls Physical Education Department provides a program beneficial to all participants, assisted by the Girls Leaders' Club.

Leaders help Miss Burton and Miss Bineares in instruction, demonstration and supervision of activities. They perform jobs from office work to stenciling names on gym suits.

This year, money was raised from the sale of pretzels and jelly apples at home athletic contests, and orders for fruitcakes were taken for Thanksgiving and Christmas. A newsletter, issued seasonally, related the news to all interested readers. Copies of the newsletter and Patriot were sent to past members as an alumnae project to keep them in touch with their alma mater. A junior leaders' group, more familiarly known as the Serfs, was also organized.

New Equipment Adds Variety to Program

THE Girls Physical Education Department again offers a varied and worthwhile program including field hockey, volleyball, gymnastics, softball, and archery. This year, an experimental class was held for a limited number of girls whose interests were such that they participated in the extended program. They spent time learning lacrosse and scrimmaging with other schools. When volleyball began, the boy's first period class was invited to play in a co-ed tournament. Then emphasis switched to gymnastics, using the horse, parallel bars, traveling rings, ropes, tumbling mats, a balance beam, Swedish box, and trampoline. Many girls grew so proficient that they became the nucleus of Hempstead's first formal girls gymnastic team, competing with several schools on the Island.

After school, tennis, bowling, and basketball, were open to all. In these activities, girls participated in intramural and interscholastic tournaments. At the close of each season, an honor team was chosen to represent the school in a Sportsday. Many girls earned numerals, shields, and letters from the Long Island Girls' Association. Among these were seniors Sandy Brugger, Diane Vanek, and Nancy Waite, who earned enough points to receive the highest award, the gold key, and the invitation to attend the Gold Key Banquet in June.

Wreathes of Glory Awarded at Greek Games

GREEK Games were dedicated to Hera, queen of heaven and goddess of women and marriage. After the prancing horses marched in triumphantly, the Greek Chorus followed singing the Greek national anthem. As is the custom, each team challenged the other to compete in the athletic events: hurdling, discus, hoop race, and torch race. The winners were crowned with sacred wreaths by their respective priestesses. While the eternal light of Greece glowed steadily, Greek Games were again performed successfully.

Spotlight on Sports

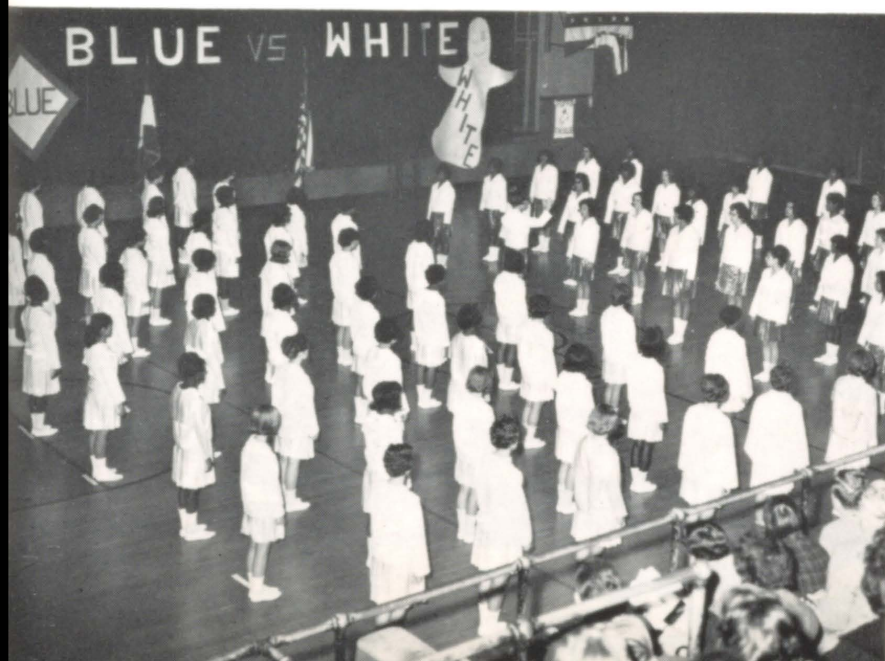

THE most comprehensive activity was the Second Annual Girls' Sportsnight. Heading the Blue Team were captain, Nancy Waite and co-captain, Jewel Jones; captain, Sandy Brugger and co-captain, Diane Vanek, led the White Team. One hundred and twenty girls competed in ticket sales, program-cover design, posters, songs, cheers, originality, and organization. Exciting competition was held in marching, modern dance, calisthenics, gymnastics, relays, pyramids, square dance, and volley ball. Later, Leaders and Serfs delighted the audience with a soft shoe routine. Excitement grew as Manager Barbara Sloop commented on events and announced winners. At the close, a shout of victory came from the White Team members as the trophy was presented to their captain. Much credit for its success goes to Miss Bineares and Miss Burton for the planning, guidance, and understanding they gave.

Hempstead Welcomes Student Diplomat

EARLY in January, after a week of orientation at Sarah Lawrence College in Bronxville, Jerusha Holder arrived in Hempstead. A participant of the Herald Tribune Youth Forum exchange program, 19 year old Jerusha from Liberia resided at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Kaplan, who have two daughters attending Hempstead High.

During her stay in Hempstead, Jerusha followed a regular schedule at the high school, attending various classes. She spoke in our own assembly, at Ludlum School, Fulton School, and at the Lions and Kiwanis Clubs. In addition to this, Jerusha appeared on television and taped a radio discussion for the Voice of Liberia. For the first time, she watched television and witnessed a wrestling match and a basketball game. At a tea given in her honor by the Student Council, Jerusha brought to a close her activities in H. H. S.

Having departed from Hempstead, Jerusha made a trip through New England with the other delegates of the program and visited such landmarks as Yale and Harvard Universities. Before her departure in March, she lived for three-week periods with families in Yonkers and Manhattan and had the opportunity to see Radio City Music Hall and a Broadway show. At Philharmonic Hall, the delegates entertained their host families and friends in the fashion of their native country.

Although Jerusha's visit to Hempstead High was brief, we shall all miss the radiant smile of a most charming guest.

Selecting a profession or business in which you will devote your life earning a living for yourself, and contributing something in addition to your fellowman, can be a very perplexing problem for students. The management of this bank recommends that you seriously consider the banking business as a vocation that can be challenging, rewarding and satisfying.

Centennial Celebrated

ON Friday, November 15, Hempstead High School presented a quite original program to celebrate the 100 years of existence of the Hempstead Public Schools. After having heard an introduction by the President of the Board of Education, the audience was pleasantly surprised to find that the A Cappella Choir was to accompany the guest speakers who were former alumni of H.H.S. classes in the past. Thus, the program was presented in chronological order with the arrangement of old songs by William B. Strickland of the Music Department bringing back memories for all those who attended. Also, to accompany the choir, an excellent narration written by Mr. James Fieldhouse and Mr. Fred Pilkington was presented.

Among the distinguished guests who attended were Mr. C. Maynard Lawrence from the Class of 1898, Mr. J. Herbert Mirschel (1914), Mr. Raymond Heatherton, otherwise known as the "Merry Mailman" (1928), Mr. Peter Rocchio (1930), Mrs. Caroline O'Conner Seaman (1943), Mr. Nicholas C. Vogel (1940), and Miss Rosalyn Maria Cain (1955).

Two roads diverged in a yellow wood,
And sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveler, long I stood
And looked down one as far as I could
To where it bent in the undergrowth;

I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages hence:
Two roads diverged in a wood, and I—
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.

ROBERT FROST
