VIOLA DENDY

Dedication

For this year's "Academy Award Winner" from "Stage 1967" The Colonial proudly nominates VIOLA DENDY, for many years Biology teacher extraordinary. Moving quietly and almost unobtrusively through the rigors of her classroom role, she never ceases to amaze her "protégés", both with the skill and grasp of her subject, and with her enthusiasm for it.

Extracurricularly speaking, seniors have come to know her as one of their reliable class advisors. Recently stepping from the role of teacher into the role of lecturer, she literally "wowed" the sixty members of the Senior Seminar with her encompassing and stimulating delivery on "The Evolution of Man". It is to be hoped that future classes will continue to benefit from the varied talents Mrs. Dendy brings to the part she so ably plays.

Making every moment count.

PROLOGUE

Imagine being transported back into time—September, 1966. The stage is Hempstead High School, and as the summer scene is slowly coming to an end there are no longer hours for relaxation and leisure. School is opening, and it is our cue to walk upon the stage once more to resume the rehearsing which has eluded us for the past two months.

We, the Class of 1967, are preparing for our opening night. We shall step into the spotlight at Commencement and receive recognition for achieving a certain maturity as qualified performers.

Let us pause to evaluate the strengths and weaknesses of our rehearsals before assuming a more challenging role on Life's stage.

Angels Watch Over Our School

The Board of Education represents the citizens of Hempstead. These men are responsible for authorizing educational programs, providing staff facilities, apportioning funds and preparing the budget for the next school year.

As Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Sheldon is charged with implementing the policies which have been requested by various administrators in our school system. It is Dr. Sheldon's duty to advise the Board of Education, and it is the Board that has the task of transforming recommendations into realities.

Assistant Superintendents Mr. James T. Beale and Dr. Robert Cody share a great deal of the responsibility which Dr. Sheldon has. Dr. Cody is responsible for the instructional phases in the grade schools and Mr. Beale handles the financial aspects and acts as Business Manager.

Recommendations which have become realities this year include the transformation of the Cultural Enrichment Department into the Cultural Arts Education Department, the Prospect School Study Center, six additional remedial classrooms and teachers in the grades, the Fulbright Exchange Teacher from India, Miss Chakravarti, and expanded summer school programs in the high school offering advanced courses in foreign languages, sciences and histories. The entire Board of Education has been responsible for the continued renovation of the classrooms in the high school, as well as continuing the implementation of the original plans for the new high school. Administrative Assistant in charge of buildings and grounds, Mr. Mathias Helbach, has been working closely with our maintenance staff and contractors.

BOARD OF EDUCATION Sitting: C. H. Tunnicliffe Jones, School Attorney; Dr. Frank M. Kitchell, Treasurer; William Urquhart, Jr., Second Vice-President; John M. Serenci, President; Dr. Richard Pasternak, First Vice-President; Russell G. Booth, Secretary; Standing: Dr. Thomas D. Sheldon, Superintendent of Schools; Mathias C. Helbach, Administrative Assistant.

All Eyes Look to Producer

Dr. Sheldon's responsibilities as chief executive of the Hempstead Public Schools are closely related to those of a producer of a play. As chief executive, Dr. Sheldon fulfills the administrative requirements of his job with ability and intelligence. The supervision of all the district activities rests in the capable hands of this esteemed man. The Hempstead Public Schools are fortunate to have such a first-rate producer on our stage of educational activities.

DR. ROBERT CODY, JAMES T. BEALE
Assistant Superintendents

Producer Looks to Assistants

The producer's two right hand men are Assistant Superintendents James T. Beale and Dr. Robert Cody. As business manager, Mr. Beale takes care of budgetary expenditures and business affairs. Dr. Cody serves as Assistant Superintendent for Instruction. His position entails planning uniform curricula for all grade school students in order that they will be equally prepared for high school studies. It is the efforts of the two assistant producers which help the producer with his multifaceted responsibilities.

To the Class of 1967

The Class of 1967 is to be congratulated for its contributions to the traditions of Hempstead High School. We proudly look back on your academic achievements and your participation in athletics, drama, music and publications.

As you look back over the past four years, I hope you see profitable experiences that were enjoyable although strenuous. At Hempstead High School we have tried to provide you with a background that would facilitate the transition to work or to further education. I am sure that your many future successes will reflect your fine efforts in Hempstead High School.

To the Senior Class

It is, indeed, a pleasure to greet the Senior Class and to extend my sincere congratulations and best wishes to those who, very shortly, will be graduated from Hempstead High School.

Without question, graduation is recognized as an important achievement of which each individual may be justly proud. It is well, however, to balance the pleasure and emotion evoked by such an occasion with the sober realization that each success is not an end in itself but the precursor of yet another challenge. L. M. Alcott stated very simply one of the great goals to which all other achievements should lead. "Life is my challenge. May I graduate well, and earn some honors."

Guidance Reorganization in Its Second Successful Year

Co-ordinated by Mr. Prah, Director of Pupil Personal Services, the Guidance Department finds "nothing new except everything." For the second consecutive year, the four counselors, Miss MacDougall, Mr. Miller, Mr. Tingman, and Mr. Turnbull, guided students with last names falling into a specific alphabetical section. This arrangement continues to permit students to remain with the same counselor throughout their first four years.

We'll Always Remember

Miss Florence Abbott is retiring for the second time around. We'd hope that this, too, is a false alarm. In each of her American History students, she has developed a respect for people in all walks of life. She has inculcated into each of them a keen appreciation of learning. How could anyone ever forget Miss Abbott and that man in her apartment—referring, of course, to the portrait of General Robert E. Lee! We'll all remember that "All life is a compromise, a give and take." But even more than this, we'll remember Miss Abbott.

Twelve New Faces

Twelve new teachers filled vacancies created by recent retirements. They have become members of the English, Math, History, Business, Language and Home Economics Department.

The new head of the English Department is Mr. Lawrence Bergen. He served as a teacher and chairman of the English Department at Garden City High School. After having attended New Paltz Teacher's College, he continued studies at Columbia University and he was a recipient of the coveted John Jay Fellowship at Harvard.

Mr. Robert Rennyson, a graduate of Le Moyne College, Syracuse, N.Y., is a new member of the English Department. At Le Moyne he received a Bachelor of Arts in English.

Also new to the English Department is Mrs. Carole Starr. She matriculated at the State University College of Massachusetts with a minor in Education. Previously, she taught in a Massachusetts junior high school.

Mr. Harry Steeve is new to the Citizenship Education Department. He attended Wagner College and graduated from the University of Colorado. He majored in geography and history, and received a B.A. He previously taught at the Friend's Academy.

This year we host Miss Chakravarti, an exchange teacher from India. She is teaching math and is serving as a resource teacher for Asian studies. She received her M.A. in Mathematics and Education at Allahabad University and Delhi University. Previously, she taught in Vasanta College.

New to the Language Department is Mr. Albert Magnotti. He was previously employed in the N.Y.C. school system, after having attended Seton Hall, Columbia University, and the University of Mexico.

Michael Newman, of the Math Department, took his degree work at the College of the City of New York and at Syracuse University. Formerly he taught at Syracuse Center Technical High School.

Mr. Gerald Antis comes to the Industrial Arts Department. He attended the State University at Oswego where he earned his B.S. in Industrial Arts.

In the Home Economics Department, on a part-time basis, is Mrs. Nell Hudson. She has a B.S. and a M.A. in Home Economics from Columbia University. Her previous experience includes the Great Neck and Freeport Public School Systems and Jamaica Place School.

A new addition to the Business Department is Mrs. Sandra Heft. She received her B.S. in Business Education at Rider College. Previously, she taught at Central High School in Valley Stream.

Also new to the Business Department is Mr. Francis Stallings who took his B.S. and M.A. in Business Education at Worcester College, LaSalle University, Rider College, Seton Hall, and Montclair State University. He previously taught in New Jersey.

Foreign Exchange Teacher Graces the Scene

Not only did Hempstead High play host to foreign exchange students this year, but in addition was host to Miss Chakravarti, a foreign exchange teacher from India. During her year here, she served as an active member of the Math Department.

Miss Chakravarti was born in Calcutta and received both her Bachelor of Arts and her Master of Arts at Allahabad University, which has been a prominent Indian educational center since ancient times. Later, she received her Masters Degree in Education at Delhi University.

While at Hempstead, Miss Chakravarti organized many programs concerning Indian culture for various school organizations. After the completion of her duties as a teacher, she hopes to travel through various parts of the United States before returning to India.

Back-Stage Organization

Often overlooked in our list of credits is the diligent staff of secretaries. These behind-the-scene workers perform various duties involving among other things, recordkeeping and college applications. With such dedicated service the organization is capable of performing effectively.

Catering to Our Needs

Every student in the high school owes a great deal to the members of the Cafeteria and Custodial Staffs. The Cafeteria Staff prepares lunches for about one thousand students daily, many of which are the Class A lunches planned by Mrs. Lellis. This year the staff's important job is made slightly easier by the installation of a new self-service counter.

The Custodial Staff continues to maintain the appearance of our school building, both inside and out. Although they work independently of the crew remodeling the old classrooms, the Custodial Staff takes daily care of the overall condition of the building.

The Stars

Every other Monday afternoon in Room 302—"Mr. Lawson's Den"—one could find the members of the Senior Executive Board busily planning the major functions of the Senior Class. Both the traditional Senior-Frosh Day and the Book Fair were held, but the Board's most important accomplishment was the Senior Ball. Although sufficient interest was not shown in holding the ball as originally planned, those seniors who had expressed a will to support the dance were not disappointed. The Board also held an election to determine the class colors—olive green and champagne; the class flower—gardenia; and a most appropriate motto from Hillel—"Judge not your fellow man until you have stood in his place." Since arriving on the scene as extras, these senior stars have become immeasurably more professional in portraying their respective roles.

The Understudies

This year's Junior Class prepared to take on next year's leading roles. College Boards, the Merit Scholarship Exam, and third-year Regents tested their ability and worthiness for the all-important job to come.

Sharon McNease and Mara D'Amato were the top sellers in the annual magazine sale which totaled $3200. The major highlight of the year, however, was the Junior Prom. The theme, "The Club Beneath," depicted underwater beauty and mystery. The overwhelming attendance and spirit at all class activities demonstrated how this Junior Class will not only be worthy of their leading roles, but will perform them enthusiastically.

The Bit-Players

A bit part, though short, entails a year of experience. This year, the Sophomore Class put its year of experience to good use. By holding many varied fund-raising activities, the class was able to put money away for the Junior and Senior Proms to come. In the spring, many of the class members attended what has now become the annual sophomore dance. The overwhelming turnout was characteristic of the class pep and spirit. It was this same enthusiasm which saved many sophomores from falling into the traditional "sophomore slump". The members of this class have already proven to be important players on the stage at H.H.S. The restricted lines of the bit part did not hinder them in any way.

The Extras

Although the extras usually remain unheralded in the list of credits, they are actually an important part of every play, for they add much to the atmosphere. In the beginning of the year, the Freshman Class was faced with the problem of adapting to the rigorous rehearsal schedules and of sacrificing their free time to the learning of their parts. As extras, they had not yet had the preparation necessary for trying out for the larger roles. The Freshmen were soon acquainted with the various activities, clubs and sports. On Senior-Frosh Day, October 22nd, the Freshmen were able to meet some of the senior girls. The overwhelming attendance was characteristic of the class spirit and enthusiasm for their assignments. This year's Freshmen Class performed well.

Support for G. O. Wavers

The officers of our Student Council had to work doubly hard this year to provide us with the traditional activities that have long been part of H.H.S. life. An all-out campaign was waged by the officers, homeroom representatives and alternates for the sale of G.O.'s. However, this year again showed a decline in support of the Student Council with only some three hundred purchasers of G.O.'s. The Junior Class magazine sale of $3200 sponsored by the Student Council also netted less profit than the sales in previous years. The decline in both G.O. and magazine sales has created some doubt about the future of the Student Council and of all the activities which the Council not only sponsors, but those which it assists financially.

The Spirits Move Us

What've you got? Pep! What? Pep! This familiar cheer surely describes our Booster Club, headed by President Joanne Benjamin. Club members are seen at every football game vigorously selling refreshments and programs and cheering as loudly as possible from the booster section.

Membership is by application and only those who show a true interest in school affairs are chosen. This year's club has carried out many projects among which were an old clothes drive, the annual car wash, and an end-of-the-year picnic.

Staff Gives Full Coverage to Stage 67 Colonial

The Colonial staff's goal was to match the 1966 Colonial's first place rating from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

Co-editors, Dean Rollins and Paul Fields, and advisor, Mr. Leusch, made considerable format changes—the most noticeable being the senior section alternating "x and o" design. Once again the cover reflects the Senior Class's chosen colors. Furthermore, all faculty and administration pictures were taken in candid instead of in traditionally formal poses.

The theme—Stage 1967—relates our Hempstead High School career to the mastering of one's role during rehearsals necessary before the opening night of a stage performance. All our school is a stage, with our efforts culminating in graduation ceremonies—our Opening Night.

Good Things Happen With Four

Contrary to the popular belief that too many cooks spoil the broth, this year the Patriot profited from its four new editors. Dividing up the different phases of newspaper work, these various editors executed their jobs with the greatest efficiency and skill. The highlights of each edition were "Tiger Tales" and the many controversial editorials. Under the direction of Mr. Lattimore, editorial advisor, and Mrs. Kamen, business advisor, the Patriot has continued the high quality of work which was established in earlier publications.

Society's Principles Upheld

Service, character, scholarship and leadership are the four principles of the Diogenes Chapter of the National Honor Society at Hempstead High School. Students who represented these attributes and maintained a 90 per cent average were inducted into the society and presented with their pins at an assembly in the spring.

The National Honor Society participated in various noteworthy activities this year. In February, the members collected money for the annual March of Dimes, and in December they proved most helpful to parents visiting the school for Open House.

The club members aptly demonstrated their loyalty to the principles of the National Honor Society and showed promise of continuing to do so when they leave H.H.S.

Scholars Show Their Merit

Hempstead High was proud to announce the results this year of the New York State Regents Scholarship Examination. There were 13 winners and 9 alternates. The alternates will receive the scholarships if they are declined by the original winners.

Those students who received at least 100 points on the exam that was given in October were winners of the Scholar Incentive Award. The Senior Class also gained recognition through the Merit Scholarship Examination, four students received a Letter of Commendation. In addition, four students were recipients of Letters of Commendation for the National Achievement Scholarship Program for Negro Students.

Honor Students Recognized

The Freshman-Sophomore Honor Club is composed of students who possess a cumulative scholastic average of 90 or better. Under the new advisordship of Mr. Lattimore, the club invited guest speakers who spoke about post-high school careers and study. Panel discussions were also held during the semi-monthly meetings. The main objective of the club was to accomplish a successful fund-raising campaign for the purchase of a display case to house the names of honor club and honor society members.

Figures Don't Lie

Possibilities are extensive for any student wishing to enrich his math background. The Math Club, composed of freshmen and sophomores, pursued topics not found in their usual courses of study.

The Tupiar Club this year is under the leadership of the newly appointed advisor, Mr. Lucius Williams, who replaced the retired "Pop" Hayes. Sliderule studies comprised the greater part of the early meetings. Mr. Williams endeavored to choose fields of mathematics that appealed to the major interests of the club members. He topped the list of events with field trips to college campuses to explore their computer center.

In spite of their keen interest, the members of the Math Team could not compose themselves "on stage". The Math Team again made a poor showing despite the efforts of Mr. Smith, the advisor, Captain Albert Rumaks, and the determination of the entire team.

Experiments Pave Way For Knowledge

Although the Senior Science Club has fewer members this year, thirst for science has not been quenched. Several such individual projects as the manufacturing of artificial rubber and the building of a telescope were conducted. Experiments were done in quantitative analysis which required the handling of new equipment.

The Junior Science Club, consisting of interested freshmen and sophomores, met once a week. The members participated in student demonstrations, lab workshops, and personal projects. On an individual basis, members did a study on microscopic protozoa, the pendulum, and the stroboscope after scientific lab techniques were demonstrated to the members.

It is hoped experiments in both these clubs will bring needed experience and helpful techniques to the Future Scientists of America.

French Club members had a greater opportunity this year to acquaint themselves with the different aspects of the French language and culture. By corresponding with a pen pal in France, members were able to acquire first-hand knowledge of the country and people. A newspaper, printed entirely in French and edited by John Koegel, gave students a chance to absorb more modern phases of the language. At the joint Language Clubs'

Christmas Party, the club members sang traditional French Christmas carols. Later in the year, a choral group was formed. Le Cercle Français showed that with active and interested members a club can delve into both the old and the new and come up singing.

What makes a club worthwhile and exciting? Any member of El Circulo Castellano can tell you. "Tiene mucha habilidad"—that is, it has a lot on the ball. This small but active group enjoyed a prosperous year due to the members' spirit and creativity. The November meeting and the combined language holiday party were sparked by the traditional Spanish songs performed by the duet of Phil Creech and Yvonne Hodge, with Charles Weinstein accompanying on guitar. At that same holiday party members of all four language clubs enjoyed the candy packed inside the Spanish Club's homemade piñata. Other highlights were the viewing of slides depicting the bullfights of Acapulco and Mexico City and enjoying Spanish and South American music.

This year has been a most exciting year in the German Club. The club planned many new and interesting activities.

The former Hempstead Community Ambassador, Mr. Pergenza, came to speak about his trip to Switzerland and Austria. The club participated in the joint Christmas party of the Foreign Language Department. The members made good, old-fashioned apple strudel and other German traditional goodies for their contributions. Probaby the most enjoyable meeting of the year was the "Fondu Party". Rounding out the year the club made its annual field trip to New York City. From all these activities, it is easy to understand why the German club had a successful year.

For students whose interests are more classical in nature, Hempstead High School offers the Carpe Diem Sodalitas, or Latin Club, which meets on the third Tuesday of each month. This year's meetings continued to follow the format of holding highly ingenious, imaginative and enjoyable meetings set by previous Latin Clubs.

Among the many activities was a treasure hunt, in which various hidden objects that were found had to be identified by their Latin names. The club also participated in the joint Foreign Language Department Christmas party singing Christmas carols in Latin, and surprising the audience with a Latin version of Rudolph the Red-nosed Reindeer.

The Latin Club, following its tradition, showed itself to be a lively, colorful, and enthusiastic part of the scenes of Hempstead High.

Literally Speaking . . .

Hempstead High School's literary magazine, Perspective, is living proof that Hempstead High School students engage in creative literary activity. After reading numerous original short stories, poems and essays submitted by students, the staff selected those writings judged best on the basis of ideas expressed and the language and writing skill demonstrated. Appearing first in 1961, each annual issue receives plaudits for the excellent caliber of its contents.

Hempstead High Bibliophiles

The Literary Society is composed of students possessing an interest in English literature. This year's activities, however, have been limited because of its small membership. In their monthly meetings the members read poetry, acted out Arms and the Man by Bernard Shaw, listened to the Three-Penny Opera, and discussed Marlowe's Dr. Faustus, thus closing a rewarding year.

History Club Spotlights Americana

This year's History Club has been revitalized under the new leadership of Mr. Frank Fish. Many new activities were undertaken to heighten the members' knowledge and appreciation of history. Among these were several bulletin board displays. The American colonial period was stressed in this endeavor. The club also presented an assembly program dealing with various aspects of America and its history. The Florence Abbott History Award for the outstanding senior history student was again sponsored by the History Club. The money for the award and for club activities was obtained by a cake sale.

Year Ends In Foto Finish

The Camera Club devotes itself to the art of photography. Its purpose is to supply a medium for the members to learn from one another, not to compete. This is accomplished through talks, audio-visual materials, and from work sessions in the darkroom.

The members attended the Photo Show in New York City. There, the participants were stimulated by interesting talks, outstanding exhibits, and shapely models—mainly the shapely models. Through such activities the Camera Club members have been enlightened in photography.

Philately Can Be Fun

The barter system may be an outdated method of exchange nowadays, but once a month "swapping" is in full swing during the meetings of the Stamp Club. The group engaged in such activities as augmenting and evaluating each members' collection in addition to discussing the origin and history of various stamps. The fellow philatelists fully enjoyed their interesting hobby.

Keynotes In The Art Club

Walking down the corridors on a Friday afternoon, one hears the wild music that sets the mood for the "Van Gogh-Goghs" of the Art Club. The students who join this club find opportunities for developing their creative talents in an unhurried atmosphere in whichever area they choose: sculpting, printing, painting, sketching, rug weaving, or drawing. No special talent is needed to join, just interest and imagination.

Big Reels In School

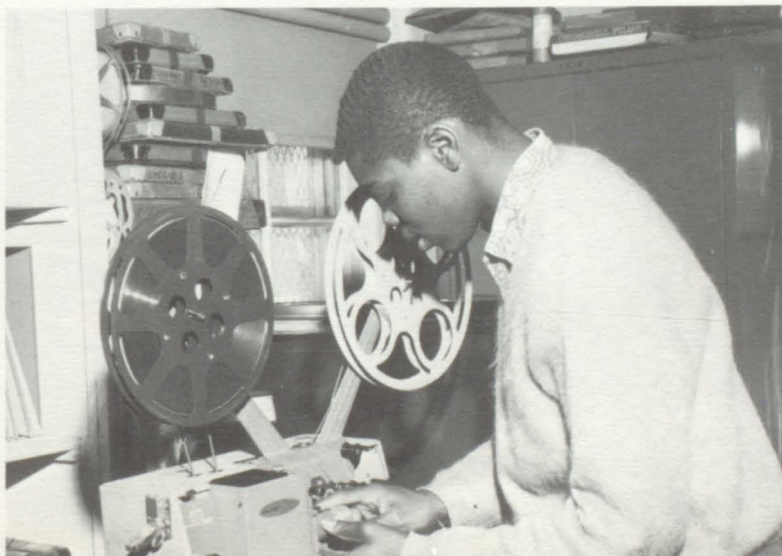

Under the guidance of Mr. Lind, the director of the Audio Visual Department of the Hempstead Public Schools, the Audio Visual Squad has done an efficient job in showing movies throughout Hempstead High School.

The boys on the squad not only show movies, but run taperecorders, filmstrip machines, overhead projectors, and other electronic equipment that is used. It is also the responsibility of each boy to make sure that every time a film has been shown, it is inspected for any breakage.

We owe much to the A.V. Squad. If it weren't for the boys' responsibility and desire to do a good job, our high school would be lacking in one area in its quest for higher education.

Lucky Break for Secretaries

As advisors Miss Brennan and Miss Ronnerman say, "the office aids are the best things invented since coffee breaks—and you know how much we love coffee breaks". These aids are the girls who run the errands, file the material, deliver the messages and literally make life much easier for secretaries lucky enough to have them.

Service Is Their Business

Perhaps one of the indispensable service squads is that of the Secretaries to the Faculty. Assigned exclusively to departmental chairmen, the secretaries offer a helping hand at typing, filing, taking dictation, and fulfilling various other tasks assigned to them.

Other squads equally aiding the faculty are the Mimeo Squad and Bulletin Board Squad. Every time you see a mimeographed or dittoed sheet in class, the ones to thank are the members of the Mimeo Squad. Thanks also should go to the Bulletin Board Staff which helps keep the students informed of club meetings and school activities by means of the prominently placed bulletin boards throughout the school.

Blue and White Corner Registers Profits Business Club Has Heft Behind It

The Blue And White Corner is open for business to provide students with everything from an H.H.S. book cover to a treasured photograph of Hempstead's gridiron action. The sales help consists exclusively of students.

The store exists for the convenience of the students, providing them with supplies at school prices and making available those items not obtainable elsewhere in the community. It also provides opportunities for certain business students to gain experience in the art of salesmanship.

Bright and entertaining panel discussions and interesting guest speakers were the highlights of the Business Club's program this year. The club was sparked by the new direction of Mrs. Sandra Heft. Dressing once a week in the garb of business women, the members brought an aura of business to their classrooms.

The Future Homemakers of America increased their knowledge of domestic concerns through their participation in the FHA, a club affiliated with both county and state organizations. Because of small enrollment, however, the club was handicapped and their activities were limited.

Do you feel tense, nauseous and irritable? Don't take it out on your teachers. Go down to the Health Office for fast, fast relief. On arrival, you will be greeted by Mrs. Dolley, our school nurse and members of the Health Squad. These girls assist Mrs. Dolley by running errands, doing clerical work, and aiding ailing students. Nursing A Career

Again this year, those girls with a special interest in any phase of medicine and social work as a career were invited to join the Health Careers Club.

Among the organization's activities was a field trip to the ship "Hope" sponsored by the "Person to Person Foundation". A Christmas party was also given for the pre-kindergarten children at the Prospect School. At each meeting various programs of interest to the members were planned. At one such gathering a psychologist spoke to the club and another meeting featured a guest speaker on epilepsy. Several films were also presented throughout the year.

The girls have shown enthusiastic concern for the well-being of others, as exemplified by their extensive program. In contributing so much to our school's extra-curricula atmosphere it seems to have been "just what the doctor ordered".

Orchestra Scales Great Heights

The Hempstead High Symphony Orchestra continued to live up to its reputation for outstanding performances. During Mr. Strickland's sabbatical, the orchestra was under the direction of Mr. Lillicrapp.

In concert, the orchestra performed Schubert's Unfinished Symphony and then in conjunction with the choir, performed selections from Handel's Messiah. The members of the orchestra have the opportunity to gain a priceless foundation in music background while participating in their rehearsals and concerts. However, the success of the orchestra is not based on musical genius alone. A great deal of its proficiency results from continuous rehearsals and sustained effort.

For the Joy of Singing

The A Cappella Choir serves as a constant reminder of the potential that can be activated by tireless striving coupled with strength derived from unity. The Choir, unified and molded by its director, Miss Joy Peterson, is an organization guided by pride in both its accomplishments and in those qualities for which it stands—effort, love of singing, brotherhood.

The Choir profited from the new knowledge Miss Peterson brought back after she attended a director's workshop this summer conducted by Robert Shaw. She returned with new ideas for vocal exercises and introduced many choral selections representing various periods in music history.

Every aspect of choir—the sleepy morning rehearsals, the hand-picked quartets, the informal sectionals, the spotless white robes, and the one hundred sets of eyes glued to Miss Peterson during concerts—comprise the Joy of Singing which became an inherent part of each choir member.

A Chance To Sing

The Glee Clubs are the most important sources of talented singers for the A Cappella Choir. At the end of each school term singers are chosen from the advanced girls' group—Die Lorelei—and the boys' group—the Note-Dusters—to fill seats of departing seniors. The Glee Clubs essentially train students and give them enough background to meet the high musical performance standards of the A Cappella Choir.

Under the leadership of Miss Peterson and Mrs. Marion Fish, The Glee Clubs offer a change of pace from everyday activities and offer life-long experience in music appreciation to all students who like to sing.

Band Marches On

This year's Symphonic Band showed great versatility. Besides enhancing assemblies with its lively marches, at the Spring Concert it performed works ranging from a major overture to a Mexican number. During half-time of Tiger games and at Yankee and Shea Stadiums it gave a spectacular bandshow, entitled "Holiday Seasons". It also was among the many other Long Island bands participating in the Newsday Marching Festival. Hempstead's Symphonic Band certainly "did Hempstead proud".

What would any football or basketball game be without a cheerleading squad? This year's squad is made up of twelve girls, with Mara D'Amata and Rayna Brown as co-captains and Mrs. Trigg as the advisor.

In becoming a cheerleader, each girl went through stiff tryout sessions which included an original cheer, many of which they have used this year. This year's squad has been an ambitious one. They spent four nights each week of the summer practicing, and even obtained new uniforms for themselves by selling sweatshirts and football T-shirts.

These dynamic twelve have given our teams much support and with the humorous touch of the Tiger mascot, eased the tense atmosphere of our games.

Tigers Tank Runs Out Of Gas

The Tigers had a disappointing season this fall. They finished second in their division with a 4-2 record, and a 4-4 overall. Not many gridiron teams in the county can claim this to be a disappointing season, but the Tigers have a tradition of excellence. They showed power equal to almost any county team in scrimmages against Thomas Jefferson, Sewanhaka, and Oceanside. However, the young team had not developed a winning attitude.

If the drive shown by Michael Bigby is indicative of what high school players can do, then next year's team can take inspiration from him. However with fine coaching and a fine team effort, the Tigers lived up to the Hempstead tradition by dramatically beating highly rated and undefeated Wantagh Warriors, 9-8.

Success On The Proving Ground

Contrary to what many people think, the Junior Varsity Football team is not for people lacking talent. It is a practice ground for players who need only experience to make the varsity team. This year's J.V. has the winning experience needed to help next year's Varsity Tigers, for they finished with a six win and two loss record.

Cubs Find Key To Success

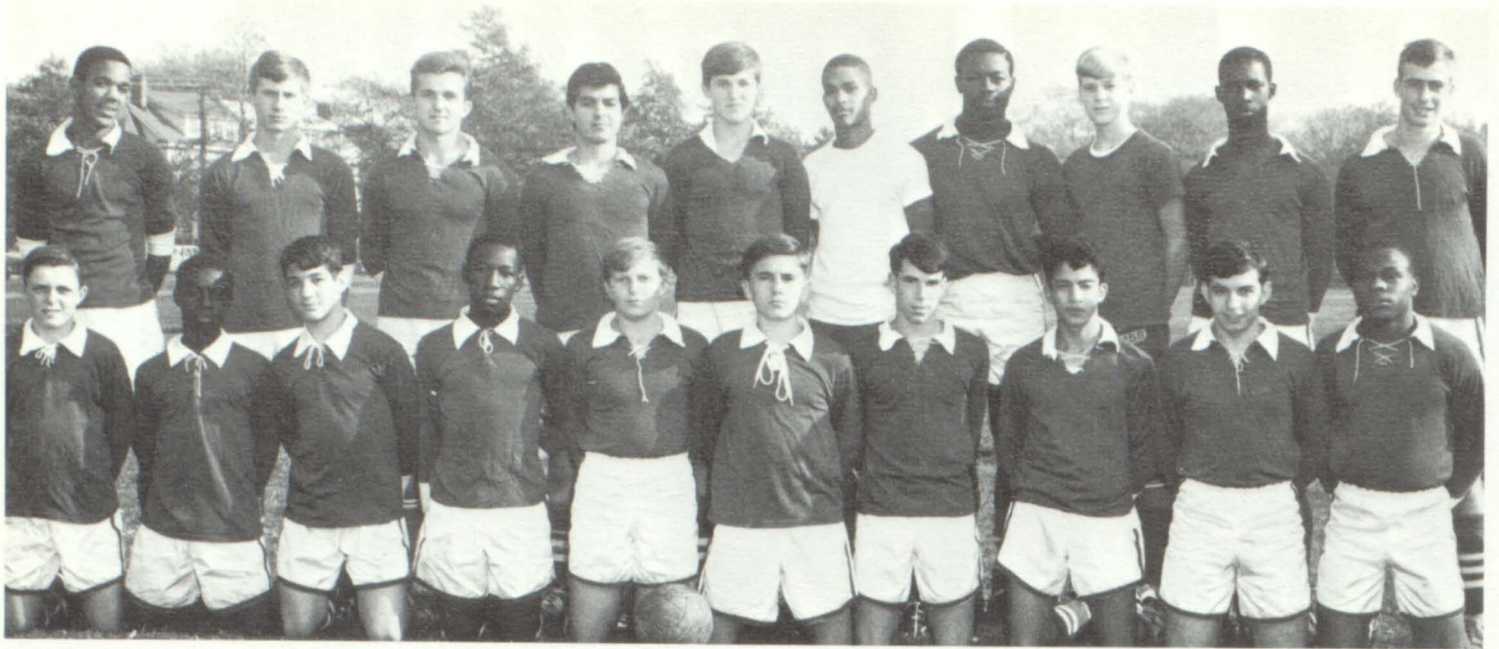

Many of the freshman football players received their first taste of organized football last fall. Playing a six-game schedule against other local freshman teams, the boys were at a disadvantage since they did not have the benefit of organized junior high school play previously. However, the Cubs' posted a 5-1 record, a tribute to both the coaching staff and the diligent practices of the boys.

Just Counts On Athlete's Feet

This year, the soccer team finished a surprising third in South Shore Division III. Although the season started slowly, the team spirit was quite strong and they finished it with five straight wins to give a final record of seven wins and five losses.

The co-captains, Paul Martin and Jan Wierbecki, were two main factors in building the team's spirit. These two boys, along with Marvin Bing, Frank Coral, Doug Stother and other members of the team were out on the soccer field every day with few or no spectators to cheer them on. Their sole inspiration was their love for the sport, and it is this love that helped them to make the team a strong one in the true tradition of the Hempstead Tigers. The selection of Paul Martin as all-county goalie is an indication that "sweat pays off".

Tennis Is A Racket

Plagued with inexperience, but showing promise for the future was the 1966 Tennis Team. Despite the strenuous efforts of the squad, the team compiled a disappointing 3-9 record. Senior Jim Kelly sparked the team with his 7-5 season, with freshman Joel Sanantonio displaying great capabilities. The team, however, played at a disadvantage this year with no home court, having to play nearly all matches at the courts of the opponents' schools.

R. Massey, Captain; Mr. Rennyson, Coach.

Run For Your Life

The boys on the Cross Country Team increased their strength and determination as the season progressed. As a result of the hard, steady running of the team, the boys completed a successful season. In the final elimination contest, Walter Smith proved stronger than ever and represented Hempstead at the state meet in Binghamton.

Tigers Vie For Championship

Evidently the cagers from Hempstead are not susceptible to superstitious beliefs, since they roared into the county tournament for the thirteenth consecutive year.

With his promotion to varsity coach, Mr. Ollie Mills took with him a phenomenal 66-4 record as the J.V. pilot. Led by Al Williams' superior ball handling, the accurate shooting of "Biggy" Deans, the hustle of Rodney Raiford, the rebounding of Zan Pelzer and Dennis Burgess and a strong "sixth man" in "T-Bone" Tarvin, the Tigers fought their way through four tournament games before meeting Great Neck South for the county championship. Our South Shore Champions gained pride for both themselves and the school before losing in the last hectic minutes of the game.

A Winning Habit

Playing the bulk of the season with only one of the original starting five, the Junior Varsity cagers upheld their winning tradition of the past by compiling a 12-5 record. The players were molded and instructed by Coach Kight, who had a successful tenure as a first-year coach. Of special note was 6' 7" Art Barton who helped our Varsity during the playoffs.

Wrestling Has Hold On Success

Tradition is a good excuse for having high hopes. The wrestling team began this year, as last year, undefeated for the first five matches. The team has ousted such teams as Sewanhaka, Roosevelt, Elmont, and Malverne. In the Christmas tournament the Tigers hailed Maurice Johnson and Marvin Bing as outstanding wrestlers in their weight classes. In the county finals Otis Grier won first place in his class and shared the Tiger gratitude with Maurice Johnson who came in second place to add solidarity to the Tiger winning streak.

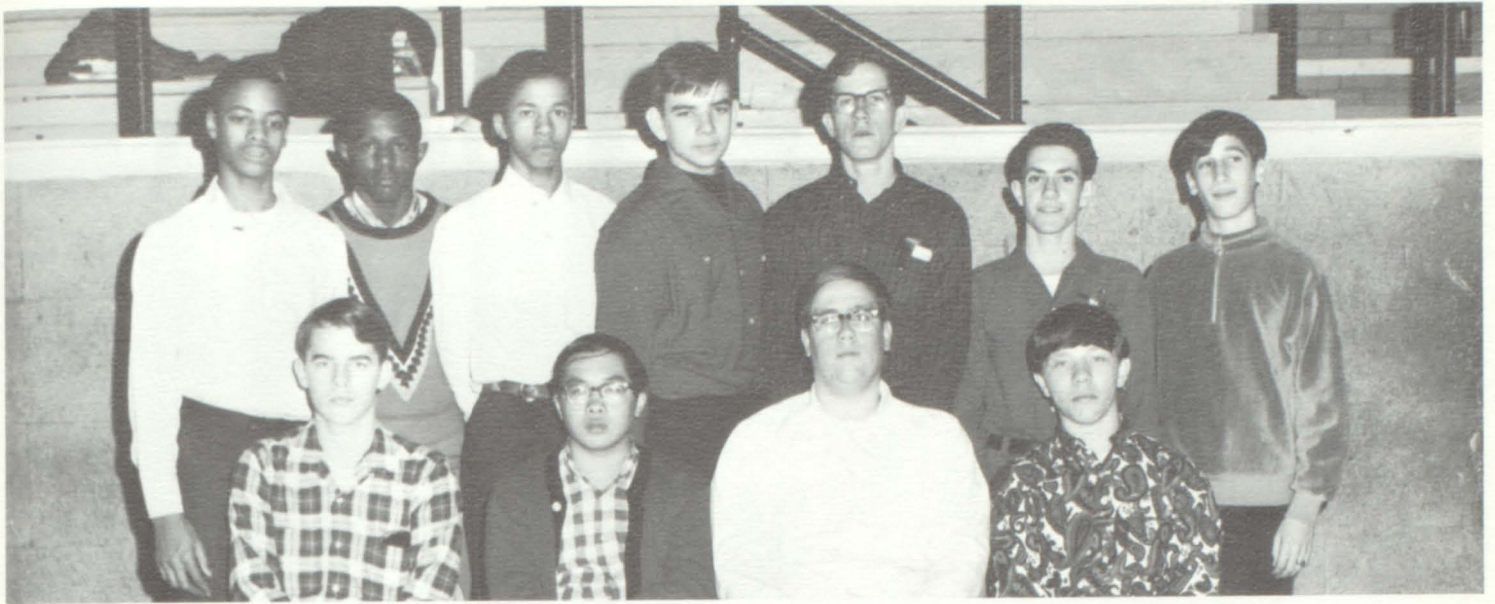

The Varsity and Junior Varsity wrestlers go through diligent preparations and violent struggles to meet the weight limit. The Hempstead High wrestling team is noted for its stamina and sportsmanship.

Battjer's Boys Botch It Up

One can only say that bad luck was with the Bowling Team this year. Despite the high averages of the Varsity Team, all of which were over 148, the team ended the season second to last in the league. Ken Richardson had the highest, overall average of the year which was 158. On the Junior Varsity, Charles Roberts had the highest average of 145. There were many 200 games during the year, the highest, 210, being bowled by Keith Tennyson. Even though the members of the team showed their individual talent, the team on the whole did not fare so well. That's the way the bowling ball bounced.

Hotshots Break Even

The Rifle Team completed its 1967 season with an overall record of six wins and six losses, winding up in fourth place in its league. The team, although not doing as well as anticipated, boasted several outstanding members. Peter Coras, John Moodie and Nick Munoz each contributed to the Tiger victories.

LaCrosse Comes Of Age

With its increased popularity, Lacrosse has become an important team sport in Hempstead High School. Under the coaching of Ollie Mills, last year's Tiger Lacrosse Team compiled a 9-6 record. This year Ollie Mills was appointed Varsity Basketball coach, leaving a vacancy that has been filled by Mr. Hank Lunde, the present Lacrosse coach. Mr. Lunde, who coaches tennis in the fall, acquired his lacrosse experience at Hofstra University under the coaching of Howdy Meyers.

This year's teamwork centered around Co-captains Mike Bigby and Dean Rollins. No longer do people refer to the lacrosse players as "the guys with the monkey sticks" or to the game as "that crazy game". Lacrosse has won the respect of skeptics and is recognized as a truly American team sport, as evidenced by our team which won the Section IV Championship and proceeded on to the County Playoffs.

Set For Big Leap Forward

As in former years, Mr. Kight began the year with an inexperienced young team. By the end of the season, we hoped to have one of the strongest teams in the county.

After last year's disappointing loss to our arch rival, Wantagh, this year we determined to revenge the loss. With the aid of the returning seniors like Gilbert West, Horace James, Gary Visco, Mike Graff, Colon Diggs and others, our chances for victory are greatly enhanced.

Moundmen On The Rise

This year's Varsity Basketball Team promises to be one of the most successful that Hempstead has produced in several years. With the return of last year's solid infield, the Tigers feel confident that they will better last year's 9-10 record.

The experience gained in past seasons should be very valuable to the returning Tiger nine.

In The Rough

The outlook was dismal at the beginning of the golf season. Four of last year's five starters were lost through graduation. However, this year's five starters responded to the challenge. Through hard work and the instruction of Mr. Nolan, the team clubbed their opponents on both the familiar Hempstead Golf Club course and neighboring courses. This dedication led to a finish up to par with that of last year's team.

The Fencing Club made its H.H.S. debut shortly after Thanksgiving. Under the leadership of Advisor Mr. Meyers, the club is designed to give basic training in the art of fencing, to develop graceful coordination and to supply exercise. The club hopes that fencing may some day develop as a regular sport in the school, but presently the club lacks equipment and a proper place to fence. The year was highlighted by the second gathering when a crowd of thirty-four watched John Gilbert challenge Mr. Meyers to a duel.

Push-Up To Success

Participation in a variety of sports was encouraged this year by the Girls' Physical Education Director Miss Korneliusen. Among the activities offered in the intramural program were soccer, field hockey, volley ball, bowling, modern dance, gymnastics, archery, track and field, softball and badminton.

Class honor teams competed against each other in individual tournaments that were held at the end of each season. This year, as members of the Long Island Girls' Association and the Women's Physical Education Association in New York State, the girls took part in competition with other schools in the same organization. At the close of the year achievements that warranted special merit were recognized at the Annual Awards Dinner.

Greek Games Modernized

Once again the battlefield was drawn between the Spartans and Athenians in the thirty-second annual Greek Games. Over one hundred girls took part in the competitive events of discus throwing, hurdling, hoop racing, torch racing, and horse exhibitions. This year's format also included a complete gym show consisting of displays of tumbling, gymnastics and modern dance, which represented spring and winter.

Greek Games was dedicated to Apollo, the Sun God. A Greek Chorus narrated the story of Greek Games, contributing to the aura of ancient Greece. New touches included cartwheeling lines of girls and a bamboo dance. The Athenians made their entrance with original words to the tune of "Everything's Coming Up Roses" and the Spartans created their entrance song to the tune of "Consider Yourself". In addition, use of walkie-talkies was made between the advisors and entrance teams.

Mrs. Luckman and Miss Korneliusen were the advisors, and Marilyn Dickerson and Linda Weissberger were co-chairmen. The twenty coaches involved contributed to the variety of activity and exhibitions that made this year's Greek Games an especially exciting event.

What Does a Yearbook Mean?

For you, a yearbook means memories. Throughout your life it will help you recall old friends and relive the good times of your student days.

And for your publishers, too, a yearbook means something special. As former members of yearbook staffs, we bring to our professional duties a deep personal interest in the goals of a yearbook editor, as well as a real understanding of his many problems.

To this we add more than a quarter-century of experience publishing many scores of school and college yearbooks. But what we offer you is more than balanced by what you give us—the happiness of sharing in student projects, the delight of finding each year new and younger friends.

The Americanization Of Jill

Hempstead High School was proud to host Miss Jillian Philas, our exchange student from Australia. Jill hailed from the small town of Manyborough, near Melbourne, in Southern Australia. After her arrival in the U. S. she attended Uniondale High for five months last year. She then entered Hempstead High in September and remained here until her departure for home in late November.

Jill's stay lasted just long enough for the completion of the football season. Fascinated by the game, and especially by the uniforms, Jill eagerly attended the games complete with her assortment of Aussi-American cheers. Anyone who had not heard Jill rooting could not possibly have attended the Hempstead games, for Jill's voice boomed high over that of the crowd.

Jill was greatly impressed by the American life she saw. Her overall impressions of America bore out her earlier concepts, which were formed surprisingly by American movies in Australia. Jill had pictured Americans and our way of life as lively, largely carefree, fast-moving, and friendly. Not only did she find that Hempstead students possessed these qualities, but Jill herself quickly adopted them.

Jill and her visit will long be remembered by those students fortunate enough to have known her and we are sure that Jill has profited from her stay just as we have.

Edwin Shatters Illusions

Sponsored by the Herald Tribune Youth Forum, Edwin Kamara came to Hempstead for a three-week stay with the Graff family. The honor student from Sierra Leone could make many contrasts between his life in Freetown, capital city of Sierra Leone and life in Hempstead. He said that he felt relatively at home in Hempstead because of its similar size and population. He also remarked about how excited he was to see New York City—from its Statue of Liberty to its discotheques.

Edwin plans to be either a writer or a teacher. As it was the strength of three essays which first drew Edwin into the major Herald Tribune Youth Forum competition, it is obvious that Edwin has great possibilities for either of these two fields. One thing is certain, Edwin has shattered any illusions about Sierra Leone's being a backward nation.

Riccardo Comes To America

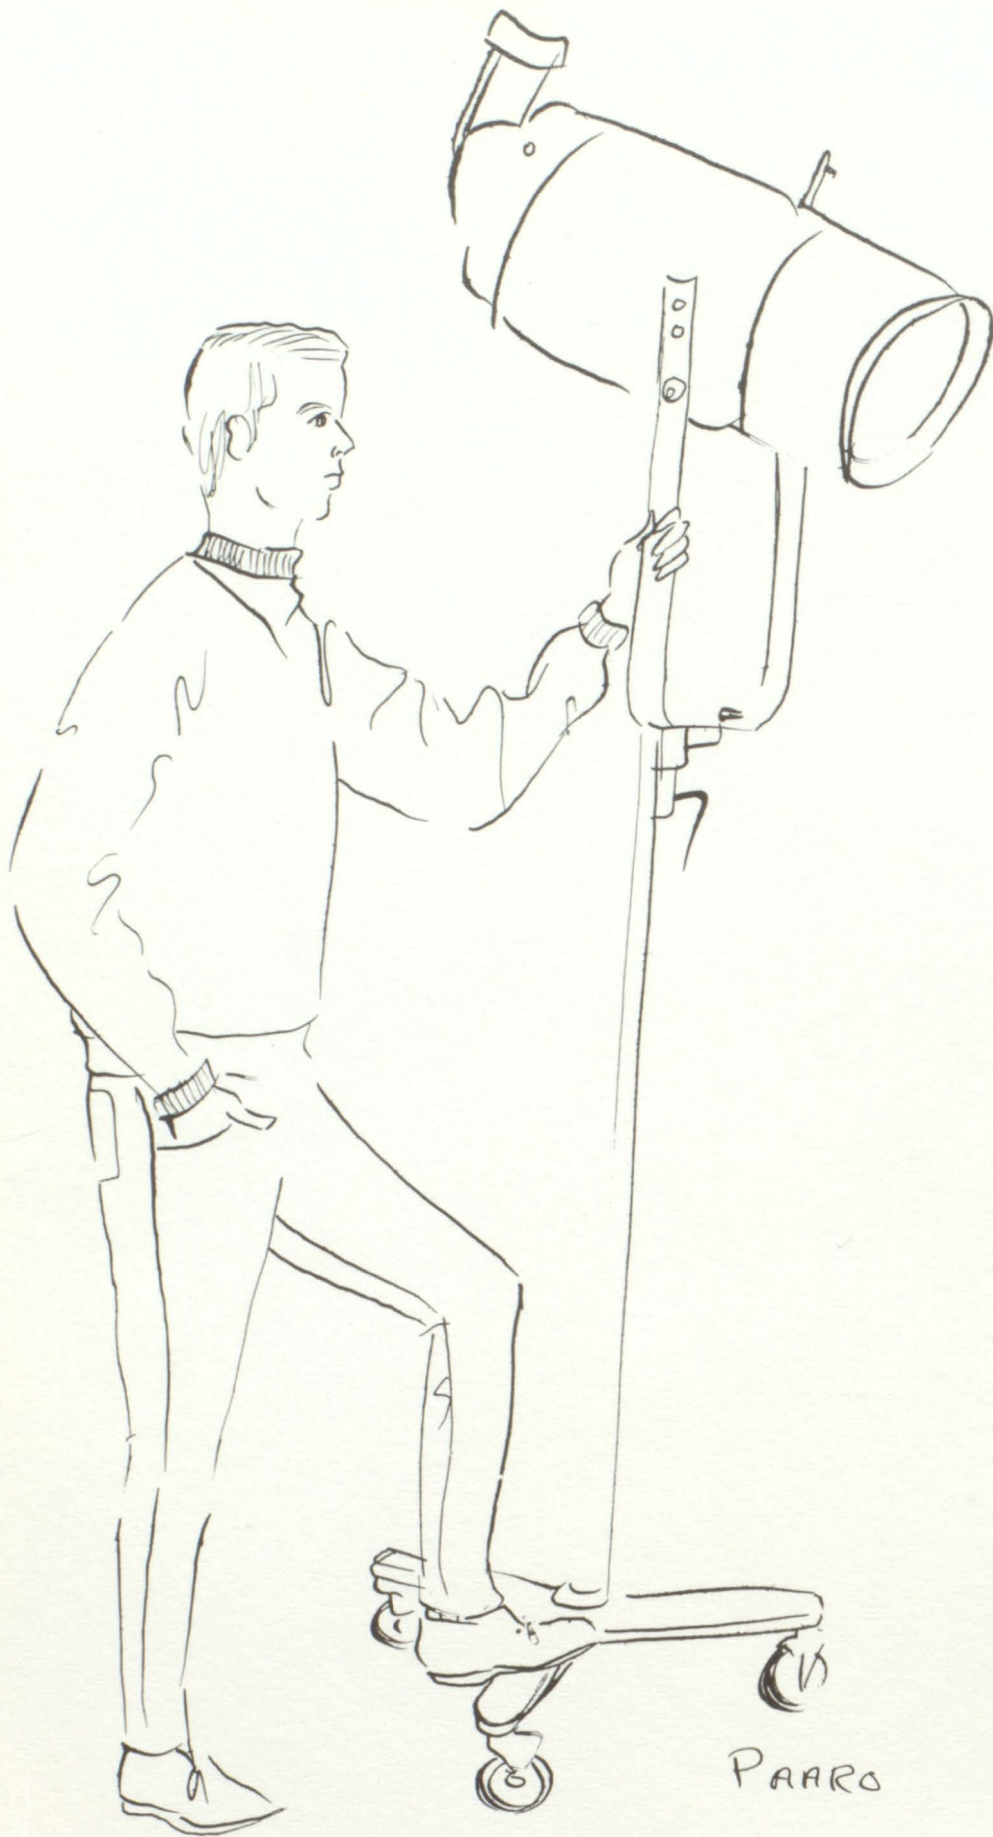

Hempstead's third and final visitor was Riccardo Fermi, a sixteen-year-old exchange student from Genoa, Italy. During his three-week stay here, Riccardo observed American life and gave his American classmates new insight into Italian culture, education, and society.

At H.H.S., Riccardo followed a typical senior schedule. He was fascinated by the system of scheduling and the variety of courses available, explaining that in Italy, students have common schedules and remain in the same class all day with only teachers moving from room to room. He enjoyed our method and hoped that it could be employed in Italy.

Riccardo stayed at the home of Randy Pasternak, and during his visit, found himself shoveling snow from the blizzard of February 7. More pleasant diversions included several trips to New York City, where he was captivated most by the color, congestion, and vivacity of Greenwich Village.

Riccardo remained in the United States until April 7, 1967, at which time he returned to Italy to finish high school. He hopes that upon his graduation he will enter the University of Genoa to study medicine.

Riccardo's departure on February 20th brought to a close the influx of foreign exchange students to H.H.S. We are very grateful to these "guest stars" who added so much to our school life, and wish them the very brightest of future careers.
