Dedication

IN September 1936 Camille R. Yilek joined the English faculty of our high school. She came to Hempstead from the Setauket Schools over twenty years ago. She has noted and contributed to the growth of our schools as she passed from the Washington Street School to the Prospect Junior High School and finally to the high school.

Miss Yilek carefully considered other careers, but it was with no apprehension that she finished her studies at Oneonta State Normal School and launched into her chosen field. At Columbia Teachers' College she later received her Bachelor of Science degree. Profiting by her quiet, loyal and cooperative spirit, we are glad that she preferred the teaching career.

Whenever vacation permits, we find Miss Yilek enjoying her home in Bayport, Long Island, a seashore town. Here she participates in outdoor activities and gives vent to her delight in unusual recipes. The most fastidious gourmet would be well pleased. Interior decorating is another of her hobbies in which colorful seascapes play a part.

The staff of the 1950 Colonial is proud to dedicate this book to Miss Yilek as a means of expressing its sincere appreciation for her loyal service to Hempstead Schools.

Foreword

AN old familiar figure in Hempstead High School is our genial mascot, Timothy Tiger. Guided by his loyalty we have kept our school spirit and sportsmanship through thick and thin. His hearty roar may be heard at all our sports events. To him one event is as important as another. He will always be loved for his sense of humor and his good will.

With his keen sense of loyalty again inspiring us, he has aided the Colonial Staff in its attempt to record the year's activities. He was ever present as you may see.

Now, with his warm heart and whimsical ways Timothy presents to our readers the 1950 "Colonial." It is a true picture of life in H. H. S. as we live it from day to day. We hope that his appearance in your year book will in the future recall many pleasant memories.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

THE Board of Education is the final governing authority of our school system. These board members are elected by the taxpayers of Hempstead, who help to finance our schools. These chosen citizens are capable business and professional men who have the interest of the schools at heart. These skilled and experienced directors try to run the schools to the best of their ability while at the same time avoiding unreasonable expenditure of the public money entrusted to their good judgment.

On the third Thursday of each month the Board of Education meets regularly. Whenever unexpected emergencies or needs for immediate decisions arise, they assemble before the regularly appointed meetings. These meetings are held in the School Superintendent's Office, at the high school. During these friendly meetings which are sometimes extended and exhaustive, the members of the board usually happily and unanimously solve problems which are brought up for their careful consideration.

Since these efficient public-spirited citizens give freely of their time taken from their private businesses, the taxpayers appreciate their guidance and fair decisions. Even the least appreciative pupil in the Hempstead Schools must honestly confess that our School Board has been most generous with building additions and fine new equipment. We speak for all—we are indeed grateful.

DR. W. AMOS KINCAID
Superintendent

THAT we had found a new friend was our first impression when Dr. Kincaid came three years ago to direct Hempstead schools. Timothy Tiger with the balance of us is enjoying the special interest of this good friend.

The states of Ohio, Vermont and New Jersey are the locations where Dr. Kincaid had formerly directed city school systems before coming to Hempstead. After earning various degrees, Dr. Kincaid came to his present position with a Doctor of Education conferred by Teachers College of Columbia University.

Under his administration all Hempstead schools are enjoying many pleasant and most efficient advantages. In the high school the new Guidance Department has been of great assistance. The new bleachers on the athletic field are a pride and joy.

The rehabilitation of the Band Box and the enlargement of the girls' athletic field are at the top for future plans.

When Dr. Kincaid takes time from his school planning, we find him displaying the same vigorous enthusiasm for his favorite sports: golf, badminton and fishing.

DR. RAYMOND MAURE

Principal

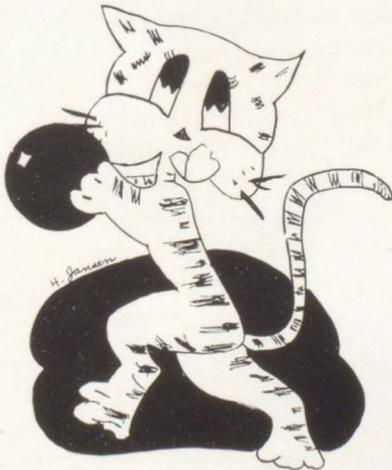

AN old friend of Timothy Tiger is our genial principal, Dr. Raymond Maure, with us since 1921. Timothy, as we of the student body, knows Dr. Maure as an attentive and thoughtful friend to all.

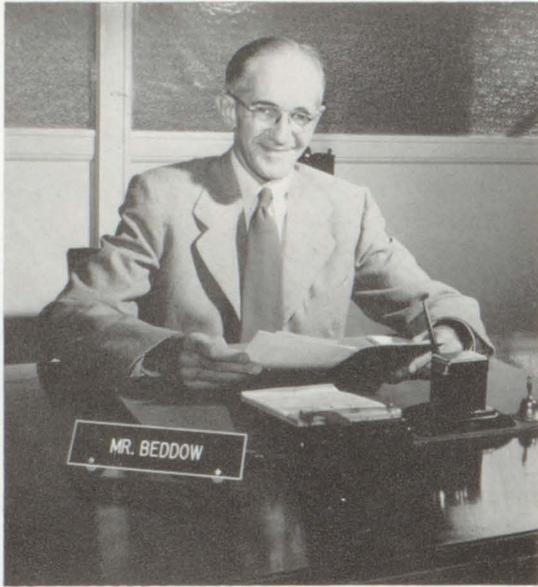

After receiving his Bachelor of Science and Master of Arts degrees from Alfred University, Dr. Maure continued his studies at Columbia and Rutgers Universities. From there he went to New York University for additional courses, thus earning his degree of Doctor of Education.

Of great interest to Dr. Maure is Tim's football team, the Hempstead Tigers. His love for football goes back to his college days at Alfred University. During the season of 1915 Dr. Maure was the captain of Alfred's football team, losing only one game, 7-6.

Taking first place in Dr. Maure's interest is the student body and faculty. He is greatly pleased with the students' loyalty to the faculty and fine school spirit.

When at home Dr. Maure finds his affections taken over by his two lovely grandchildren, who greatly enjoy hearing their grand-dad recite nursery rhymes. Although under great demand by his grandchildren, Dr. Maure still has time for bowling, long his favorite recreation.

MR. WILLIAM D. BEDDOW
Assistant Principal

MR. BEDDOW in Office IV keeps a close check on the many athletic schedules as well as all other extra-curricular activities. A minimum of conflicts in scheduling these many activities is a feat in itself. When the date arrives for awarding credit in the point system, Mr. Beddow has it all on record.

ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANTS

From his office come the approved home room notices. All tardy pupils must report to Office IV for admit slips. Pupils who have trouble adjusting themselves to proper class room behavior also come in to hear and be heard.

Mrs. Foster, Dean of Girls, also has her private office in this section of administrative offices. Here she trains the efficient junior secretaries. All girls in the school are responsible to Mrs. Foster's standards of conduct. Mrs. Foster is of great assistance to the teachers in this respect. Teachers' registers of attendance are first checked at her desk. Each and every activity in which girls participate is a special interest to Mrs. Foster.

From Office III Dr. Maure, Principal, supervises the entire educational program for the school. At the same time he somehow manages to keep well informed as to the individual interests of both students and teachers. All arrangements pertaining to substitute teachers are handled by his secretaries.

In Office II there is never a dull moment. Mr. Pill, Director of the Guidance Department, among other duties interviews all freshmen with their parents. Miss MacDougall in a personal interview plans schedules with all sophomores. Mr. Turnbull takes over the guidance of the commercial and general course students when they reach their junior year. Mrs. Hueston, Registrar, also assists the college preparatory students in their junior and senior years. Mrs. Walter, school psychologist, works in connection with this office. She gives special tests and follows up with recommendations regarding all individuals referred to her.

Dr. Kincaid, Superintendent, and his Office Staff in Office I and I-A deal with the enormous quantity of business involved in the smooth management of the entire Hempstead School system. Mrs. Hardy, business manager of all these offices, from long experience knows all the answers to so many problems. She, with the help of her able assistants, collects tuition for the non-resident students, manages the pay rolls, makes state reports, approves purchasing orders, and keeps track of all cafeteria and activity funds. All these and many other duties keep this office humming with activity.

Mr. E. C. Moore, director of the Audio-Visual Department, is located in Office 18A with his large store of machines and equipment. This is a rapidly growing department which reaches out into every building of the school system.

To our capable administrators we are indebted for our well-organized and carefully-planned opportunities.

Mr. Lints is interestingly conducting this senior class in chemistry. He is explaining one of the many problems concerning the basic foundation of chemistry. Most of these students plan further study in this advanced field of science. Those who have chosen the field of science as their chief interest do excellent work.

SENIOR CLASS

FRESHMEN: dazed, confused, and bewildered by many strange things—seemingly endless halls; room after room; bells; crowds. A strange new world, this, that those Freshmen entered in September, 1946.

Sophomores: confident and optimistic, sure of themselves in the now familiar high school—school was fun! But, "What was that the teacher was saying?—Regents?—What are they?" So, there was more to school than fun. Hard work had its place too. Regents came and the Sophomores took them and then, headed for two months of freedom—vacation!

Juniors: half way through high school! Ready for anything! "They're saying that word again, Regents? So, this ordeal awaits us this year, too." Junior subjects were harder and there was more work to be done. However, most proved equal to it and became in due course. . . .

Seniors: the dictionary defines a senior as "A student in the final year of his school or college course." To each of these people it is much more—it is to have weathered the uncertainty and confusion of the Freshman year; the newness of real study and Regents as a Sophomore; the earnest hard work of the Junior, and to have arrived finally at the enviable position of being one of the leaders of the school—a Senior.

So now they were Seniors—the Class of 1950. Knowing it was important this year to select good officers, they chose carefully and well. They elected Thomas Arnott, the future engineer from Cornell, president. When asked for his life's ambition, Tommy answered, "To have a million friends." He is well on the way to his goal. Besides the football team, which he captained this year, Tommy is a member of the honor club, the Student Council, the Senior Executive Committee, and the Hall Cops. When the seniors chose Caroline Nostrand vice president, they chose a girl of many interests and outstanding ability. The Pen and Ink and Footlight Clubs, the Home Room Representatives, and the Senior Service Squad all have Caroline on their rosters. Barbara Macdonald, the secretary, is on the Senior Service Squad and the Health Office Squad; she enjoys music and sports, particularly bowling and softball. And, last but not least, to round out the slate of officers, Jack Easa was chosen treasurer. Besides the Senior Executive Committee, Jack is a gym aide and was on the Assembly Squad and Hall Cops in his sophomore and junior years.

This year the seniors are slated for their graduation exercises in the Calderone Theater. This will be the first time in the history of Hempstead High School that the senior graduation ceremony will take place away from the school auditorium. The Class of 1950 also voted for the white orchid as class flower, and blue and white as class colors.

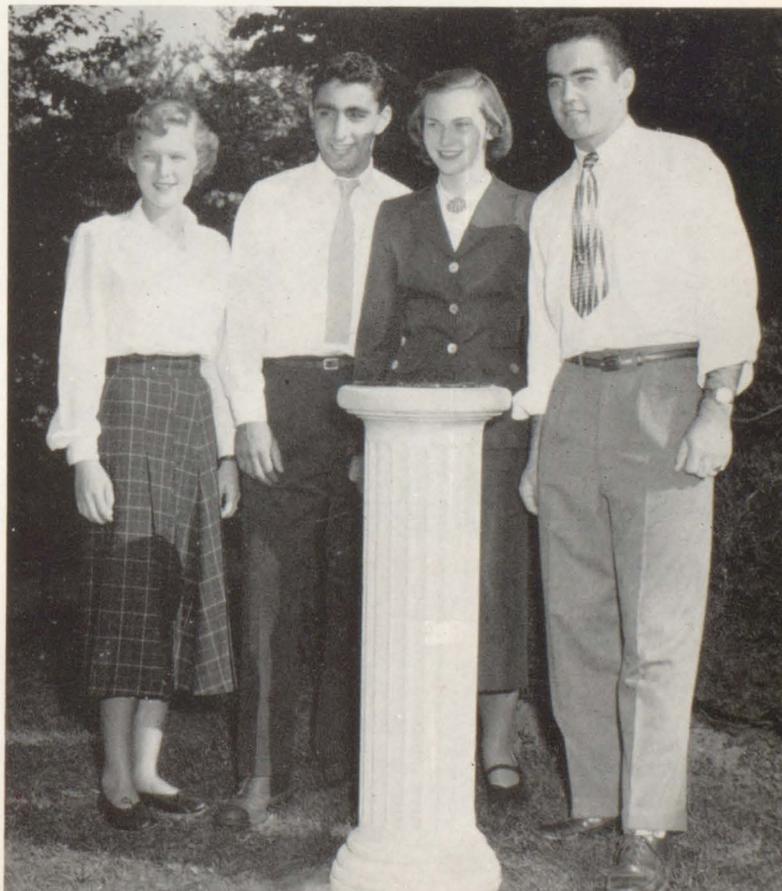

The big event of the year is the Senior Ball, held at the end of mid-term Regents Week. This year the theme chosen was "Moonlight and Roses," a charming theme for a lovely ball.

The advisers for the Senior Class are Miss Barth, Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Vincent, Miss M. Rhodes, and Mr. Lints. Seniors are welcome to go to all of them for advice of any sort whenever it is needed, and they are given competent aid.

The Class of 1950 has been an outstanding one, and when they leave, whether it be to take up a Latin text, a stenographer's notebook, or the tools of a craftsman, they will be greatly missed. Good luck, Seniors!

SENIOR BALL

"A ROSE is a rose is a rose. . .!" When you take great numbers of them, blend them with moonlight, and use that combination as the theme for the annual Senior Ball, the result is something to be remembered for many years to come by all who see it. This year's decorations were executed by Brenda Lopez and her very competent committee, and they were indeed a success. Black silhouettes of dancers were outlined against clouds of a shaded blue drapery, which was donated by the class of '48 and in use for the second time. Everywhere were red roses in the moonlight. Soft music and the perfume of many corsages added greatly to the atmosphere in the quaint Colonial garden, which you would never in the world have recognized as the boy's gym.

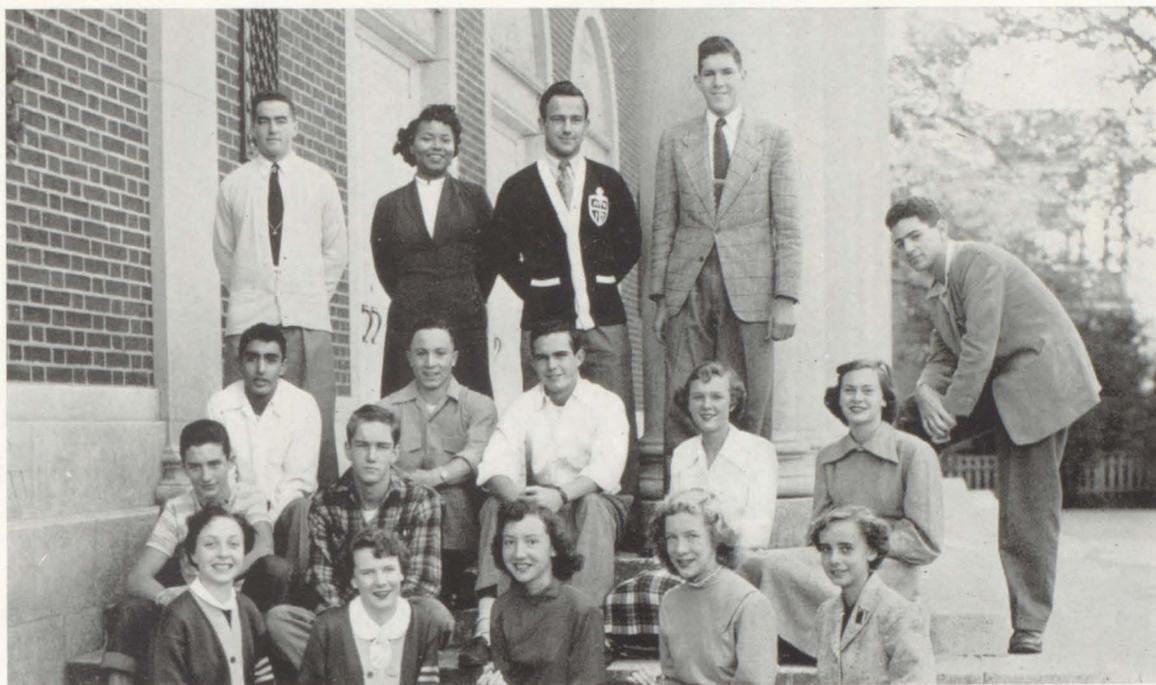

In charge of the entire Ball was Nancy Ryan. Posy Danforth, with her capable committee of seven, handled the table decorations which were very attractive. Brenda Lopez and the thirteen girls of her refreshment committee added zest to the evening. The music was supplied by the very popular Hofstra Band procured for the gala occasion by Richard Hixon. Together these hard-working seniors sponsored one of the most highly successful dances ever to be held at Hempstead High. The Ball took place on Saturday night, January 28, 1950, and the pleasant atmosphere of moonlight and roses was a welcome change, if but for one evening, from the harsh, drab grayness of winter.

The highlight of the evening was the choosing of a King and Queen. Barbara Cuttrell and her escort Butch Welsch made charming monarchs to preside over this year's Senior Ball.

Those who were fortunate enough to spend the evening in the quaint and romantic atmosphere of this moonlit garden will always treasure the memory of the Senior Ball of 1950.

SENIOR EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

TWICE each month, on Tuesday, Room 55 is very much alive with the busy boys and girls of the Senior Executive Council. Heading the nineteen members are the officers of the senior class, namely, Thomas Arnott, president; Caroline Nostrand, Vice-president; Barbara Macdonald, secretary; and Jack Easa, treasurer. Miss Barth and Mr. Lints are their capable advisers.

Although it is a comparatively new organization, since it has been in existence only three years, the Senior Executive Council has proved to be a very efficient group. These people capably deal with all the problems that otherwise would be too difficult to present to the entire senior class. The elected representatives from each senior history class discuss such things as the all important senior ball; the class colors; class flower; and the place of graduation. The colors approved by the class were blue and white; the white orchid is the class flower. For the first time the class voted to abandon our auditorium and hold their graduation exercises in the Calderone Theater. This change for graduation facilities was decided by a landslide vote.

Among other important decisions which the senior class must make and which are first discussed by the Executive Council, are the amount of class dues and the class gift to the school. From the class dues, voted to be one dollar, the senior class has bought and presented collapsible coat racks to the school. Those who have attended the formal proms and balls in the boys' gym have long felt the need of this convenience.

The choice of the senior class ring is a most important decision first presented to the council. Not often do they change the firm for the contract, but they are good traders.

From this busy group comes the plans for the annual goodwill gesture—the Senior Frosh Party, entirely a girls' affair.

All these problems and many others that might arise, and their decisions are told to the history classes or their representatives. If any matter is given a vote, that, too, is taken care of in the classes. The history teachers very graciously give up some of their class time for this purpose of final decisions by the Senior Executive Council.

Abbott, Miss Taft, Mr. Zara.

IF the interest shown by the class of '51 in both scholastic work and extra-curricular activities is any indication of their future attitude to the world around them, the Junior Class is sure to do well in adult life and to be helpful in solving the problems of a sorely troubled world. This year the juniors have been active and busy in every phase of school life. Some of them have been outstanding in sports, while others have added greatly to the dramatics, art, and music departments. Juniors interested in journalism have competently filled many positions on student publications other than the "Colonial." Juniors are well represented, too, in the honor clubs and service squads.

This active group chose an unusually good slate of officers. Gary Smith, the popular academic student planning to make engineering his career after a course at Lafayette, was elected to wield the gavel; his able assistant is Jean Haste, president of her class last year and vice-president the year before, who aims at business administration and would like to study at Cornell University. Beatrice Schalk, the future journalist from Cornell, was appropriately chosen secretary. Daniel Shybunko also thinks engineering is a good career and is planning to prepare himself for that field at Brooklyn Polytech. Danny was voted the job of handling the finances of his class.

With the help of Mr. Zara and the junior representatives, Danny collected fifty cents in dues from each of 290 juniors. Part of this money will go to make some junior very proud when at an honor assembly next year, he or she is presented with a cash award for the class member with the highest yearly average. This group planned an assembly for the Junior Class with talented juniors singing and dancing as well as presenting a skit about the troubles involved in collecting junior dues.

After the ordeal of "June Regents" has been successfully weathered, the juniors will turn out in force for the big event of the year—the Junior Prom. At this time the boys' gym will be transformed into a ballroom in honor of the gala occasion.

Under the expert guidance of Miss Taft and her assistants Miss Dorwin, Miss Abbott, and Mr. Zara, the Junior Class has had a very successful year. You may be sure they are well prepared to take the place of the graduating class, and next year to shoulder the responsibility of being the Seniors of Hempstead High School.

WITH a year of experience behind them, the Class of '52 started their sophomore year in Hempstead High School with a great deal of enthusiasm. Past was the time of misleading directions to take the "elevator" or "subway"; ahead lay a year to be more enjoyed because they were now thoroughly acquainted with Hempstead High. Ahead, also, lay a year of hard work with "Regents" in June, but they proved equal to their task and brought with them, besides their enthusiasm, plenty of energy and ability.

her executive duties. Sports also interest Ruth Bond, secretary, but she enjoys sewing too. Ruth is a member of the German Club and likes bowling and basketball. Alvin Fritz, well remembered as one of the clowns at the football games, was elected treasurer. Alvin is the outdoor type—likes hunting, camping, wood craft, and outdoor sports, but he cuts a good figure on the dance floor as well. Besides being a hall cop, Alvin is a member of the French, Dramatic, and Square Dance Clubs. These officers with their different interests and activities typify the sophomore class as a whole—interesting and interested in many things.

The dues that are collected from each sophomore are put to many uses. Some money goes

SOPHOMORE OFFICERS

Eleanor Helms was chosen to head her class, and a better president for this group of people, whose many interests are wide and varied, couldn't be found. Art ranks high on her list of sparetime pursuits as do softball, basketball, and cheerleading. Sports enthusiast Jan Carlson was elected as vice-president to help Eleanor with for the sophomore page in the "Colonial" and some goes to cash awards for the sophomores with the highest scholastic averages of their class. These prizes are presented at an honor assembly the following year. The balance of the class dues is used for the sophomore party.

This party is a gay affair, usually held in the Spring. Both boys and girls gather for entertainment, dancing, and, of course, refreshments.

Mrs. Greenlund and her assistants, Miss Tripp and Mr. McGregor, are the advisers for the class, and sophomores can come to them for advice at any time. Academic students with problems in guidance go to Miss MacDougall for counsel, while commercial students have thoughtful consideration given their problems by Mr. Turnbull.

With the help of their advisers, the Class of '52 have had a wonderful year, and have the satisfaction of knowing they have done well during their first two years.

FRESHMAN CLASS

Miss Joyce.

"HAVE you paid your locker dues?" "The Band Box? Oh, that's easy! Just take the subway." A bewildered group of people started their careers in Hempstead High School on September 7, 1949. These were the freshmen. But in no time at all, they were laughing at locker dues and directions to the subway. They had no need to ask—they knew! Soon this up and coming class was active in many ways. The honor clubs were full, frosh entered enthusiastically into sports, and they were soon noted in many clubs and activities.

The ambitions and undertakings of the freshman officers are as enterprising and varied as those of the class as a whole. George Docteroff, president, pictures himself coaching football and spurring triumphant teams to victory.

Someday we may be reading the news of George's team with a by-line by Lynne Horsfield, vice-president of her class, and some day a journalist. Sometime not too far off when we pick up our favorite magazine, we may see the smiling face of Gail Anderson on the cover. She hopes to graduate from cheerleading to modeling. Gail was elected treasurer of the freshman class. Holding the office of secretary is James Dowling who, being mechanically inclined, intends to make his way in the world as an electrician.

Early in the fall the senior girls hold a party in the boys' gym for their freshmen sisters. This year the seniors, who looked extremely motherly wearing aprons and carrying baby dolls, and, for a gay touch, sporting huge hair bows, entertained the freshmen who boasted bibs, bonnets, knee socks, and name plates, and, of course, lollipops. After the awarding of prizes to the cutest freshman, most typical freshman, etc., the senior girls served refreshments to all present. Each freshman pays class dues of fifteen cents. This money is used for the page in the "Colonial," for the party which is held in the spring, and for awards to the boy and girl with the highest averages. Any additional money is used for extra scholarship prizes. The freshman party is a festive occasion when boys and girls gather for games for all, dancing, and refreshments.

OFFICERS

Miss Farrior with her able assistants, Miss Joyce and Mrs. Turnbull, has helped the class of '53 over the hurdles of the first year of high school. This year's freshmen are well prepared for their remaining three years in Hempstead High.

Lots of luck to you, freshmen! You are really a grand class.

Activities

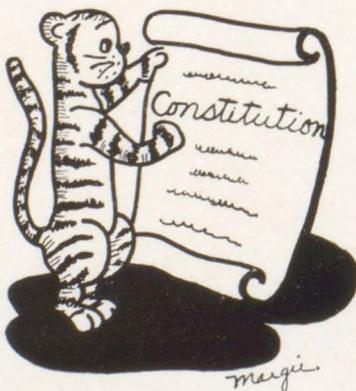

STUDENT COUNCIL

COMPOSED of the class officers, presidents of clubs, and leaders of other activities the Student Council is widely representative of the student body. Besides acting as a policy making group, the council compiles a budget for extra-curricular activities and supervises collections for charities.

Regardless of the immediate results, this year was important in the history of the council. After organizing and campaigning the council presented a new constitution for the student body's approval. Although the proposed constitution suggested many changes making the council much more democratic, the students' vote defeated the change.

The proposed Executive Board planned to meet each week. This board was to be comprised of the president and vice-president of the Student Council; the president of Home Room Representatives, and five appointed members to be approved by the entire council. Each member of this group was to hear and collect student problems and suggestions for discussion in the council.

HOMEROOM REPRESENTATIVES

THIS active organization, composed of an elected member from each homeroom, plays an important part in the activities of student life.

To his homeroom representative the student goes for such things as the General Organization ticket, otherwise known as the G. O. The representative will obligingly make financial arrangements easier by offering a time payment generous contributions for the Red Cross, the Red Feather, and other worthy charities

Once a month these "Reps," as they are so often called, hold a meeting. Presiding over them is Catherine Provost; in her absence Patricia Leckie, the vice-president, officiates. Barbara Millman is the secretary and Paula Johnson is the treasurer. These officers are important not only as the officers of the Homeroom Representatives, but also as members of the Student Council. Their capable advisers are Mr. Windt and Mr. Beckett.

1950 COLONIAL

THROUGH the joint efforts of each staff the "Colonial" for the 1950 Graduating Class is ready for the printer. Until you have scrimped for time to do your share on this publication you don't realize the constant team work required for the final result. Each staff is absolutely necessary to all the others.

You no doubt will enjoy and appreciate the superior work done by the Art Staff. This work, under the supervision of Miss Covell, greatly adds to the quality and beauty of our book. The talented artists worked with their chairman Joan Macauto.

Without the financial interest of our friendly advertisers our book could not assume its splendid appearance for the nominal fee charged. Mr. Davidson advised the energetic Business Staff which so efficiently handled the finances. Business Manager Stanley Dembrosky and his workers are congratulated.

the Senior Staff are perhaps more closely associated during the building than are the other groups. The position as editor-in-chief was filled by Doris Anderson. She was greatly assisted by a number of editors: Photography, Naomi Saure; Seniors, Audrey Koch; Clubs, William Heath; Activities, Robert Nesbitt; Boys' Sports, Fred Carman; Girls' Sports, Patricia Finn. Other faithful staff members kept the copy rolling in faster than "Keyboard Klickers," Wilhelmina Stallbom, Carolyn Rocchio and Patricia Graham could cope with it. Mr. Prahl, chief adviser, was assisted by Mrs. Martin in working with these groups.

After the tea is given, including the dedicatory speech, and other special acknowledgments are made, these proud Juniors sit back to enjoy the result of their patient work.

THE PATRIOT

THE purpose of "The Patriot" this year is to bring the students, the Student Council, and the teachers of our school into closer contact and cooperation with each other through good reading.

You can always spot the Monday on which "The Patriot" comes out by looking in on the auditorium during fourth period. All you can see is the interested faces buried in their Patriot. "The Patriot," a student-run publication, always provides students and teachers with all the pertinent news of the high school. Whether you like to read the sports articles or the school gossip, or if you just enjoy the jokes, pictures and cartoons, this publication provides an interest for all. This year the members of "The Patriot" Staff proudly boast that they haven't missed a trick concerning school and athletic activities. This was accomplished by increasing the number of the staff to sixty-six and also by enlarging the size of the paper.

The new, enlarged Patriot, under the editorship of Stuart Levine and with Francis Wood as Managing Editor, has contained articles, written in a very clear print, and the photographs could pass for those in a city paper. The paper has certainly received the praise of former members of the staff, who have been able to compare a college paper with the paper published by our own students.

One of the favorite sections of the paper is, and probably always will be—Sports. The sports writers take on a pretty tough assignment. Just stop a moment and recall how many different sports are enjoyed in this school. Quite a number, Eh! Well, Alden Lee, Sports Editor, certainly has his work cut out for him in keeping the sports news rolling. This season the sports writers can boast of having the story of a sport, occurring on a weekend, appear in the following Monday's edition of "The Patriot."

The girls of the school certainly are well informed on the fashions of their world. In the new article the "Clothesline," the gals are told everything from pocketbook fads to what to wear at that coming formal. For the gossip fans, there is more than enough, in that clever article entitled "Sidewalk Superintendent."

"The Patriot" has also added a puzzle once in a while about things in or around the school to keep up the interest in the paper. There was a mathematical question fit for a quiz kid concerning the number of seats in the auditorium; the number of class rooms in the school; the number of custodians, and so on until you interested in the activities of the Music Department and has kept us well informed on these programs. Now the Music Department has tried to repay their enthusiasm by holding a matinee performance of the Mid-Winter Concert for the benefit of "The Patriot." The choir and band all contributed their talent and presented the proceeds to the paper. These funds were used to help maintain the high standard of the publication. Recently a feature section containing eight pages of pictures has been distributed with every copy of "The Patriot."

You will always find a clever cartoon originated by Richard Hixon and his staff of artists. Another top feature of the paper is the photographs. They have included pictures of top sports events, pictures of teachers, and of school plays, under the supervision of Henry Rosenberg, Photography Editor.

Hats off to "The Patriot"! Those on this year's staff can be proud that they have contributed much to our school both in knowledge and entertainment.

SENIOR SERVICE SQUAD

THE Senior Girls' Service Squad, the first of the service organizations to assist the administration with various office tasks, was formed in 1924. This group of girls is one of the most important and useful service groups in our high school. Each day, each girl serves one period in the office and in addition, during the year, each girl is assigned two weeks late duty covering the ninth and tenth periods.

The members assist the personnel of Office No. 2. Their duties are alphabetizing, filing, going on errands, acting as hostesses, and assisting in any way in which they can be of most service.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Hueston, who has been adviser to the Senior Service Squad since it was organized, each squad has been a useful, efficient, and co-operative one.

JUNIOR SECRETARIES

At present the Junior Secretaries of Hempstead High School are still carrying on the traditional duties of the Office 4 squad. Ever since its organization, this office and its squad has proven to be a very necessary department of our high school.

The entire squad enjoys working under the pleasant guidance of Mrs. Foster, their competent adviser. They also act as aides to Mr. Beddow and his assistants. Mrs. Foster selects these girls on the basis of conduct, scholarship, efficiency and reliability. As models of their squad this year the girls have wisely chosen the following officers: Betsy Kyle, chief; Joanne Kittell, assistant-chief; Jeanette Oliver, secretary; and Jeanne Haste, treasurer. The three aims of the Junior Secretaries are: to become acquainted with office procedure, to develop skill in the routine duties of a secretary and to receive people intelligently pleasantly and serve them promptly and efficiently.

The girls perform many duties, some of which are telephoning absentees, filing schedules, running errands, and typing. Each girl spends one period a day in Office 4, besides collecting absentee slips during homeroom period. Every girl is expected to stay for late duty two weeks of the year.

There is little doubt as to why the Junior Secretaries are held in such high esteem by the faculty and students of our school.

ADVISER AIDES

TO all who have been summoned to Room 80, the adviser aides are well known. They are the ones who write out and deliver the white slips which tell the desired students to report at once to Room 80.

Although the boys are the ones who deliver the slips, and receive many glares and looks of bewilderment from the freshmen for their efforts, the girls also play an important part in this organization. These girls have their own files which are arranged according to the aide. In this file are cards with the students' ratings on them. From these cards the aides plan an interview program for their adviser. Each adviser chooses her own aides, and has different ones each period.

The Adviser Aides are chosen on the basis of character, loyalty and especially honesty. Scholarship is not considered as the most important factor although pupils with good scholastic rating are preferable. It is extremely important that the aides be accurate in their schedules for interviews. The busy grade adviser must see all freshmen with failing grades. Any freshmen upon request may consult his adviser regarding school problems. No interviews may be neglected by careless records of the aide on duty.

The positions of the chief and assistant chief, who are picked by Miss Silver, are filled by Joan Matthews and Constance Taylor, respectively. The Adviser Aides have been a part of Hempstead High School since 1935 and this year they have twenty-nine members. At the beginning and the end of each year, they hold a meeting. The last meeting is looked forward to, for with it comes a big party which is enjoyed by all.

EL CIRCULO CASTELLANO

If you would walk into one of Miss Zaremba's classes, you would be greeted cheerfully with a "Come esta Usted?" Of course your reply should be "Estoy muy bieú."

El Circulo Castellano was organized for upper class Spanish students. The members of this club are very busy. Not only do they have speakers on Spanish and South American cultures, but they also enjoy Spanish movies. This year they saw the movies, "The Bells of San Fernando" and "Don Quixote," which were shown in Hofstra College. This club also sponsors a Spanish poetry contest which arouses keen competition. They also have a Christmas party every January 6th which is the "Day of the Three Kings." In Spain, Christmas is recognized on this day. On April 12, they are planning for Pan-American Day. There are two girls who come from Puerto Rico. They taught the Mexican Hat Dance to the club members.

At the end of each school year, they take a trip to a Spanish Museum in New York City. Then they see a Spanish movie and eat in a Spanish restaurant. Their very understanding adviser, Miss Zaremba, always suggests an excellent film for them to see and a very good restaurant in which to eat.

This year the club officers are: Beulah Gutberlet, president; Joyce Crane, vice president; Angela Margiotta, secretary; and Rita Santicioli, treasurer.

This club awards each year, five dollars to the person with the highest mark on the Spanish two regents. Also, a bronze medal is awarded to the person with the highest mark in Spanish three.

ASSEMBLY SQUAD

THE Assembly Squad was first organized by Mr. Schem when he was at Hempstead High as a physical education director. Before the days of this efficient squad, classes struggled for passage to assembly. Seating was done in a haphazard and confusing manner.

Now under the capable direction of Mr. Franz, this squad has become an important activity to which it is an honor to belong. The squad is divided into different committees which work together to perfect the smooth assembly movements. Each committee has its own individual duty. One group prepares the schedule of rooms to be invited and issues a previous invitation. Others, as guides, call at each room at the appointed time and escort them to the auditorium. As the classes pass through the hall's still another group of boys keeps them at the correct speed and provides smooth flowing into the auditorium. Upon their arrival each class is checked from a list and directed by the seating committee to its proper location.

These boys are juniors and seniors who are recommended by the faculty or suggested by boys on the squad. If a boy is accepted, he is apprenticed at the end of his sophomore year.

Chief of the squad is Joe Zarzycki; assistant chief, Oakleigh Caldwell; secretary, Alfred Hotzinger. These officers never fail to schedule their annual party.

LIBRARY STAFF

THIS year's Library Staff consists of thirty girls and one boy. These students are recommended to Miss Rhodes by the students' teachers. The student librarians are sophomores, juniors, and seniors who assist the faculty librarians in one of the two libraries.

The four amiable and capable librarians Miss Rhodes, Mrs. Cullen, Mrs. Anderson and Miss Ford direct the staff in their work.

This work is interesting and varied. The staff learns how to use the library and how to show the students the workings of the library. Those white slips which come into your homeroom so often are largely made out and stamped by the student librarians. All errands to the offices and other places are run by the staff. All the books have the cards returned and are put back on the shelves by the staff each period. Of course books are stamped out each period by the student librarians on duty that period. The biggest job of the staff is to help the students who come to the libraries. They show the students how to use the card catalog and where to find books on the shelves. The librarians on duty must see that everyone signs the attendance slips and that the slips are delivered to the right study halls. All the books need to be arranged on the shelves and have new cards and pockets typed very often; all of which is done by the staff. When school first opens all new, old, text and library books must be unpacked, if necessary stamped, counted and put away on the shelves.

Another phase of library work is art. The staff plans and executes art exhibits that pertain to books and their contents. These exhibits are planned to bring books to the attention of the students and faculty.

This year several girls went to Malverne High School where they attended a forum. This was another pleasant opportunity of the Library Staff.

SKETCH CLUB

DID you ever wonder where the posters and sketches of various activities came from that you saw hanging in the halls and classrooms? These were a few of the many accomplishments of the Sketch Club. This club, organized for the benefit of those who are interested in art, is one of the most active clubs in Hempstead High. Since its reorganization in 1946, its membership has been steadily increasing.

These young artists, eager to have an active schedule for the year, initiated their program by having the Hempstead Garden Club come to the school to demonstrate flower arrangement. They also invited the Garden City Art Club and the various honor clubs of Hempstead High to participate in witnessing this demonstration. As a result, the three following meetings were spent in making flower arrangements and sketches.

Next on the agenda were two art appreciation lectures and movies, given for the Sketch Club and honor clubs. One lecture was based on architecture, and other on painting. The boys and girls also spread the Christmas spirit around school by making Christmas decorations for the halls and classrooms. In addition the Sketch Clubbers had a professional artist come to give a lecture, which inspired plans for a trip to New York City to visit a museum.

With the help of Miss Covell and Mrs. Oman, the advisers, Patricia Moore presided over the meetings. Sigrid Wolke was chosen as vice-president and Lenita Deming as secretary, with Joan Kaiser acting as treasurer.

HALL PATROL

ONE of the most familiar sights around Hempstead High is the Hall Patrol. These alert guardians of law and order are stationed at definite hall posts throughout all nine periods of the day. This year the squad has 150 boys, which is more than ever before. From the good appearance of the halls, it is evident that the boys are doing a competent job.

All the hall cops are chosen from study halls or, if necessary, gym classes. Every period there is one teacher on each floor and at the beginning of the year the teacher selects the hall cops for her floor. From these the boys elect a lieutenant who takes charge of attendance and replaces absentees on his floor. At the first meeting with everyone present the boys elect a chief. This year they have chosen Joseph Zarzycki.

Among the duties of the Hall Cops are the following: controlling traffic and maintaining discipline during the changing of classes, seeing that halls maintain a respectable appearance, and keeping the halls quiet while classes are in session.

Closely connected with this group is the Campus Patrol performing similar duties on the school grounds. These patrols work together to discourage all loitering.

The success of the Hall Patrol stems from the attention given by those teachers who are in charge. This organization, with Mr. Fish and Miss Layton as its advisers, is one of the many important activities of our school.

HOSTESS CLUB

DOWN in Room 16 is where this club meets. Yes, the same room from which all those savory aromas float down the halls. Since its organization in September, 1947, the Hostess Club has become one of the most active, in that its members are very proficient not only in regard to our school, but also in outside projects. They had proven this fact when they acted as ushers at the program given by the Westminster Choir in our school auditorium and when they sent scrapbooks and toys to children in various hospitals. In addition to helping others, these girls took time to help themselves. This, they accomplished by taking trips to theatres and manufacturing plants, by having guest speakers and demonstrations, and by completing their club year with a picnic.

Under the direction of Miss Taft, Alice Maas presided over the meetings with Patricia Franck as vice-president, Mary Look, secretary, and Nancy C. Ryan, treasurer.

STAMP CLUB

SINCE 1850 people have been making stamp collecting their hobby. Now, in the United States, stamp collecting is at its greatest peak of popularity.

Our Stamp Club was organized to bring together fellow philatelists. When it was first organized, it was called "The Philatelic Society." At the present day meetings, under the assistance of Mr. Holtz, those stamp enthusiasts gain wide information. Trading stamps among themselves, planning stamp exhibitions, and conducting an annual stamp auction keep old and new stamps in circulation.

The inexperienced persons, looking in on one of their meetings, might be baffled. The several people carefully studying seemingly valueless bits of paper, and the others leafing through large books of colorful scraps are simply trading their duplicate stamps.

This year's club members elected George Austin, president; Arthur Kunz, vice-president; and Else Dalby, secretary and treasurer.

RADIO CLUB

ONE of the most interesting and useful clubs of Hempstead High is the Radio Club. This club is made up of those who are interested in radio or related subjects. A few of the members have amateur radio operators licenses.

The meetings are conducted by Charles Goethe, who was elected president; William Heath presides in his absence. Clifford Townsend records the minutes, and William Nordin handles the finances.

This year the club moved its meeting place from the third floor of the high school to the electric shop at Prospect School. The electric shop offers more in tools and equipment than does the radio room. The members built two tube sending sets and receivers. They also learned Morse Code and how to make repairs on radios. The members of this organization may become amateur radio operators if they pass the federal examination. With the friendly help of Mr. Dale, the club's adviser, this club has become one of the most popular and interesting of our school.

BLUE AND WHITE CORNER

THE amazing number of 40,000 transactions is made by the Blue and White Corner each year. The Retailing II students, twenty-five in number this year, are in charge of the Blue and White Corner and their display windows. Working in pairs, each week a different couple of students display their artistic abilities by designing and decorating the exhibit cabinet.

The students spend one period in class and one period at the store. By class instruction and discussion they gain information and use these ideas in the store management. They obtain practice in bookkeeping, cashiering, selling, stockkeeping, advertising, and ordering. Besides conducting the sale of many articles, this store dispenses football, concert and senior play tickets; the last two are reserved seat sales. In addition they render such services to the student body and the faculty as mailing, messenger, and repairs. Any merchandise made by the clubs or activities for sale to increase their funds are displayed and sold at this corner.

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA

IN the spring of 1949, Hempstead High decided to form a club for those students planning to make the teaching profession their work in the future. A charter was drawn up early in the year to get the group off to a professional start. The club is composed of thirty members under the supervision of their enthusiastic adviser, Miss Barth, one of our English teachers.

As part of their program, Miss MacDougall spoke to them about the responsibilities, benefits, aims and the principles needed for teaching. Miss MacDougall also mentioned the practicality of being on a student advisory council of some sort. The students are advised as to the type of course that would be the most profitable in college. For first-hand information the members observed nearby grade schools so that they might observe the methods used by the local teachers and get acquainted with school operations in general.

Each member of this ambitious group of students has decided upon his vocation and is preparing for it while there is plenty of time. Without a doubt some of these students will help form the faculty of this school one of these future days.

Presiding over the club this year is Marilyn Ruggiero assisted by Susan Ritt. Carolyn Tedesco keeps the minutes and John Wulff handles the treasury funds.

CAFETERIA SQUAD

THE active cafeteria pictured here is one of Hempstead High's prized possessions. The 1,000 or more students who pass through its portals each fifth, sixth and seventh period do not realize how much work goes into preparing their wholesome meals.

Although their tasks are many and varied, the squad still has a welcome smile for the students. Mr. Tobani is the competent manager of the squad which is composed of both students and adults.

Now that the cafeteria is under Federal Aid, it can serve a hot meal and dessert for the sum of thirty-five cents. Many students find it difficult to choose from the wide assortment of foods. Milk far surpassed the sale of everything else.

Probably this is the reason we have so many robust lads and lasses charging about H. H. S.'s halls. The above mentioned choosing does not necessarily bother the seventh-period lunchers. These neglected souls get the picked-over end of the menu, especially on rainy days, when the cafeteria is overflowing with people. These seventh period hopefuls don't mind even if they have to wait for their lunch to be made up because they are sure that the waiting is well worth the good meal they receive.

This year the Cafeteria Squad has again come through with the same courteous and dependable service for which they have gained an enviable reputation.

RIFLE CLUB

DOWN a dusty flight of stairs, around several mysterious turns, through small doorways, over creaky floor-boards, we come upon the secret haunt of the mob known as the Rifle Club. This group of individuals meets here twice daily, except when there is a match, to train themselves to be expert marksmen. When they are able to shoot an acorn off a chipmunk's head at fifty paces with both hands tied behind their backs, the big boss, Mr. Voorhies, puts them in a gang known as the Rifle Team.

The Rifle Club has been in operation for many years, under cover . . . of the school, of course. The club is composed of about 160 guys and gals, all proficient in the art of marksmanship. New blood is coming into the club all the time, because the club teaches them how to shoot, even if they've never held a rifle before. The coach is thrilled when a new one takes to it like a duck to water.

The club members elected Charles Belinky as president, Richard Oman as vice-president, and Carol Rose as secretary and treasurer. These officers helped Mr. Voorhies to take care of any difficulties the club ran into. Dues this year were seventy cents which paid for new targets, repair of the range and any thing else that would necessarily come to the attention of the club's treasurer.

The club is very proud that it has grown to its present state of popularity. With new members always entering the club, advancing to expert marksmen, thus joining the rifle squad, the club is never static. Good luck, Rifle Club Members! May you all eventually make your goal—the rifle team.

GERMAN CLUB

DURING the recent school year, the German Club has had the largest enrollment in its history. Indeed, it is not too much to say, that it is one of the most popular clubs of our school. It claims a membership of about 120.

In this club students of German meet one another and their teachers in an atmosphere less formal than in the classes. There the students enjoy singing German folk songs, waltz classics, and popular songs. In this activity they are ably led by their instructor, Herr Leusch. Frequently German games are introduced for further group participation. Occasionally a skit in German is presented by several members of the club. The group has been fortunate in that someone is always returning from a European trip. This year Ralph Herbst, a member of the fourth year German class spent Christmas in Germany. Naturally, they enjoy telling about their experiences. Sometimes a veteran, back from Europe, has been invited to address the group, not infrequently a fine collection of pictures illustrates the talk.

It has become traditional in the German Club to celebrate Christmas with a very special party. This year the party was held in the student cafeteria. The club decorated the room appropriately. After the students entertained themselves by progressing through a series of games, they were given a German cross-word puzzle, with prizes awarded to the successful participants. Space was provided for folk dancing followed later by group singing of German Christmas carols. Following the refreshments, the party ended with distribution of gifts from the grab-bag.

The officers for the year are: President, Elaine Luick; Vice-President, Charles Ericsson; Treasurer, Norman Goldstein; Secretary, Margaret Engelke.

NATURAL SCIENCE CLUB

ON the second and fourth Thursday of each month meets a group of students filled with insatiable curiosity to discuss the fields of Natural Science.

At the second meeting these scientists took time out from Aristotle's Metaphysics, Koch's Postulate, and Darwin's Theory of Evolution, to elect officers. Arthur Seabrey emerged as president; William Heath, vice-president and treasurer; and Robert Miller as secretary.

This club was originally started for those who are interested in the many fields of Natural Science. This year the club listened to talks on natural science, given by various speakers on the subjects they knew best. Some topics of the talks included "The History of the Microscope," "Collecting Rocks and Minerals," "The Logic of Plato," and a demonstration of the bioscope.

Also on the agenda was a proposed field trip to Bear Mountain, and a trip into New York City to the Museum of Natural History.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS

SEVERAL years ago a group of upperclass French students decided to form a club in which they could expand their interests in France and its language.

For the past few years Mrs. Celine Young has been adviser of the club. When it was formed this year, the members voted Larry Wasserman as president; Angela Cavuoto, vice-president; Sigrid Wolke, as secretary and Carl Rudzik as treasurer.

During the year, the club saw many movies about life in France, and as in years before, the club collected money and clothes for children in "La Famille," a small school in France.

The annual Christmas Party was a great success. The club met in the band-box and had a wonderful time eating, singing, and playing games.

It is gratifying to note that students who study the language, enjoy the privilege of extending their knowledge of France as provided in the French Club.

HEALTH SERVICE SQUAD

THE Health Service Squad headed by Miss Best and Mrs. Marsden is a group of girls who are interested in nursing. They give up a study hall every day for the privilege of working on the squad. Their scholastic record must be good enough so that taking a study hall won't interfere with their studies. The girls must be juniors or seniors. Occasionally a sophomore is accepted. To be on the squad the girls are interviewed by Miss Best and request a position in the Health Office.

These nine girls help Miss Best and Mrs. Marsden by running the errands, filing records such as audiometer test and height-weight cards, and helping with all first aid. They also help to correct the tests. When examinations are held in the gymnasium, the gym aides and Health Service Squad take the eye test and fill out the height-weight cards.

For girls who are interested in nursing this is an excellent opportunity to learn about the profession. This practical experience gives the girls a working idea of some of the requirements in nursing.

WRITERS' CLUB

ONE of the most newly organized extracurricular groups of the student body is the Writers' Club. Members of all classes join with one principal interest uppermost. Freedom to write any type of literature that pleases their fancy at any time is their privilege. Friendly critical discussion of their efforts stimulates these potential authors to write interestingly and to develop a real style of their own.

Recently they had the pleasant and inspiring experience of hearing a lecture by Richard Lewellyn. They learned of his childhood and saw how he had experienced some of the background for his novel, "How Green Was My Valley." The writers returned to their next meeting more convinced that your own experiences in your native locale make good material for writers.

On this year's agenda is a trip to a newspaper's printing office. Perhaps more inspirational will be a conducted tour of a neighboring book publishing company.

Miss Newlon, the adviser, is assisted by the club officers, Natalie Gerardi, Carole O'Brien, Margie Janvey, and Shirley Zylan.

THE SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

ONE of the most appreciated attractions of our music department is our outstanding orchestra. The Symphony Orchestra has actually put Hempstead on the map with the people who know fine symphonic music. The orchestra is tops with the student body especially because it usually has something to offer both on the light and deeper side of music. Most surprising is the difficult music that our orchestra tackles and plays along with the best orchestras of the country. No wonder that our school group is rated with the ten most outstanding school orchestras of the country.

Under the direction of Miss Boyle, the orchestra has continued to bring good music to the student body of our school through assembly programs and to many interested villagers with its numerous concerts. It is gratifying to have an orchestra, but not many high schools can present one as expert as ours.

As most of you know, last year our orchestra played in Baltimore, Maryland, and everyone concerned had a good time and put on a good performance. We know also that the people who attended the conference marveled at our symphonic orchestra. The large number of music students who have earned a place in this organization are grateful for their unusual opportunities.

We are confident that the future concerts will maintain the high standard of appreciation for which Miss Boyle aims. The entire student body profits by these high ideals.

THE CHOIR

PERHAPS the appearance of the Westminster Choir in our auditorium early this fall gave our A Cappella Choir added inspiration. Under the very able guidance of Miss McQueen the choir has enjoyed a pleasant and profitable year.

For the annual Christmas concert the choir presented an unusual program of appropriate music which was enjoyed by the entire student body. On the last day of school before vacation, the choir frequently had the halls ringing with old time carols. During the Christmas vacation both the Rotary Club of Hempstead and the Calderone Theater engaged the choir for their special programs. At these performances they were joined by the symphonic band.

In February the choir participated in the Mid-Winter Concert by singing two numbers directed by guest conductor, Dr. Harry Wilson. This widely known authority on choral music arranged several selections sung by the choir.

For the benefit of the elementary students the choir presented a matinee performance of their part of the concert program. Again in February the choir appeared at the Mineola Skating Rink for the close of the Boy Scout Drive.

From funds received from concerts the choir was enabled to buy fifteen new robes. These fifteen additional voices increased the choir to one hundred and fifteen members. The Glee Club and Advanced Glee Club have singers who fill the new robes as soon as they are purchased.

The choir is an ever popular and fast growing organization of the music department. Their contribution to our concerts is always a delightful one.

THE BAND

"LOOK at those uniforms! listen to the brass!
LOOK at those twirlers! That's our band."

Under the inspiring leadership of Miss Boyle and Mr. Albinski our band practices to stage unusual shows between halves at the football games. Let no one believe that band is only a seventh period subject. The lower classmen have a practice every morning, and also late in the afternoon you may have seen them tramping up and down the football field working out some more difficult maneuver. Then comes the finished program where all their practice is rewarded. Enjoyment of the appreciative response by the students, faculty, and guests at the game is sufficient to pay for their many hours of practice.

These marching musicians, more than 250 in number, give generously of their time and talent to the demands of our local community. We are not alone in our enthusiasm for our band since the "New York Daily News" saw fit to feature them in their Sunday edition of November 13, 1949.

Immediately after the football season closes with its colorful marching, these same musicians are busily rehearsing for the school concerts. The more classical music is eventually played with the equal skill of that on the marching field. The February concert would not be complete without the symphonic band playing in their truly professional manner.

Later in the spring when they make their last concert appearance, band leader Mr. Goldman will again appear with them as guest conductor.

PALLAS CLUB

THESE torch-bearers of Hempstead High School are the sophomore girls who have maintained a high average in their studies, and have taken the pledge to excel in scholarship, leadership, and service.

From sixty members, Helen Sormani was elected president. The girls agreed that should Helen be absent, Sue Barden or Eleanor Tint would make an excellent substitute. Margaret Moore was chosen as the girl who could best keep the minutes of the meetings, and Margie Moores convinced the members that she was most capable in club finances.

At the first meeting of the year, the Pallas girls invited Miss MacDougall of the guidance department as their guest speaker. Duties began when they served as hostesses at the Teachers'

Convention. Again at a meeting of the Friends of the Hempstead Library, at which Miss Pearl Buck was guest speaker, the club proved to be good ushers. This year they started something new by selling programs at football games. Another service which they performed was officiating as guides on open house nights for the parents.

A highlight of their scheduled activities for the year was a proposed trip to New York City. A Valentine Day party, given for their sister honor students, the Pioneers, is an annual pleasure. In addition, the girls decided to show off their baking talents by having a cake sale at the Franklin Shops. Visiting museums and plays were other forms of their enjoyment.

A most successful year was made possible by the very capable adviser, Miss Gunnerson, who has had charge of this club for the past four years.

JUNTO CLUB

THE Junto Club was formed for the special purpose of helping those students who were exceptionally alert in a more cultural background. This aim was accomplished by presenting to the students material which is not usually taught in a class-room. The Junto Club is limited to sophomores.

The master-minds of this year's class met together and chose the following members as the club's officers: Richard Lutz, president; Alan Craig, vice-president; Peter Pill, secretary; Morton Kahn, treasurer. Thus equipped, they proceeded to plan their activities.

During the year they were honored by many guest speakers who talked on a variety of subjects. One such speaker came from Japan. Mrs. Gehrig, noted pianist who has given several concerts here, gave a lecture on music. Other guests spoke on interesting professions, such as law, accounting, engineering and medicine.

The honor clubs of Hempstead High assembled during the year with the Art Club for meetings of special importance. They have shown slides, donated by the Metropolitan Museum, on Ancient Art, Renaissance Paintings, Architecture of the Middle Ages, and the development of Grand Opera.

The Junto Club, at the end of each year, gives two prizes to the two sophomore boys with the highest grades. We sincerely hope that the Junto Club continues its good work in furthering the education of our students.

PIONEER CLUB

THE Pioneer Club is an organization formed for those freshman girls who have maintained an average of ninety per cent or over. In the organization at present are seventy-eight energetic members who have been working hard to keep their marks on a high level. Their goal is to promote leadership, service, and scholarship among themselves and their friends. Their emblem is the covered wagon which signifies true "Pioneers."

Presiding over the meetings of the present club is Eileen Mifsud, assisted by Suzanne Thomas. Elisa Steinbrenner keeps the minutes and Valerie Vaughn is treasurer. Mrs. Price is their enthusiastic adviser. Much of the club's success is due to the fact that she has been so cooperative in dealing with the club's activities.

At the beginning of the school-year the girls decided that they would have a very full and active program. They carried out their plans by visiting the Atomic Energy Exhibit, the Newsday Offices, and the New York Telephone Company. In addition they held a hobby meeting at which the girls told about their individual pastimes. Also on the agenda, were meetings at which women who represent various fields of accomplishments such as real estate selling and

It has been the custom for a number of years for the Pallas Club, the sophomore honor girls, to give a Valentine Day party for the Pioneers. This year again, the Pioneers were entertained by their older sister honor club students on that day.

During the meetings held on every first and third Tuesday of the month, there was a great deal accomplished in providing each member with something of interest to her.

PATHFINDERS

It appears that each year the freshman boys are becoming smarter and smarter. The membership of the honor club has increased again this year. The total of which is now thirty-five members.

The aims of the Pathfinders are to maintain the scholastic average that the honor student has acquired, and these enthusiastic freshman boys also support the school activities. Upholding these aims, all of the honor students participate in stressing cultural backgrounds. Often in competitive examinations for scholarships, these boys with an interest in high averages find that they need a knowledge of the arts old and new.

The requirements for eligibility to this club are an average of ninety per cent in four subjects and eighty seven per cent in the fifth subject.

An interesting talk on future occupations was given by Mr. Frank Pill, the guidance director of Hempstead High School. The club is planning to have one of the technicians from the police laboratory speak to them. The topic will be "Scientific Police Detection," which sounds very entertaining. They also hope to visit a television studio and another scientific exhibit. This type of modern science interests these honor boys greatly.

At the meetings the boys discuss and debate upon topics of great interest derived from their reading. The Pathfinders saw a number of interesting films this year. One of them was entitled "Shy Guy," which was enjoyed by all of the members.

Very capable Mr. Levin advises the Pathfinders in their planned programs and chosen expeditions.

The members elected Ronald Johnson, president; Fred Barth, vice-president; Bruce Corrie, secretary, and Russell Weiss, treasurer.

CHESS CLUB

THE old expression, "When in doubt, move a pawn," is probably often heard at the meetings of one of our new clubs. Formed last September, the Chess Club is for those intellects who like to hem and haw over a game of chess.

These staunch defenders of their kings and queens, who are twelve in number, are advised by Mr. Menza, who irons out any difficulties. Alan Schiff presides with an assist from Alan Sullivan. Keeping the records is Robert Benson and Graham Harvey handles the funds.

At each meeting, the members play one another. Each tries to improve the other fellow's game as well as his own. Since chess is one of the best games for training of the mind, we expect to see these fellows out front. Competition is keen and everyone strives to be in the top ranks of the club.

COLOR GUARD

PRECEDING all assemblies presented by the school, the Boys' Color Guard has the honor of carrying the American flag and the school flag to position on the stage. Joseph Zarzycki, the chief, is present at all times to lead the assembly in the flag salute and singing of the "Star Spangled Banner."

This year the Color Guard has not been appearing when there were visiting artists. By this omission more time may be given to their program. At such times the assembly opens with "The Lord's Prayer," led by Mr. Franz, who is the adviser of the Color Guard.

The other three boys in the Color Guard are not permanent members; different boys are chosen for each assembly. A boy in the Assembly Squad is honored when he is chosen to be in the Boy's Color Guard.

SQUARE DANCE CLUB

THE boys and girls enjoy learning not only our square dances but also foreign folk dances. Although, at first the dancers have little confidence in themselves, they soon gain courage and poise as they learn some simple steps. Presently they are whirling around in complicated dances. The freshman meet every Thursday to dance. The dancers from the upper classes meet every Friday.

The president is Richard Brennesholtz and the secretary is Fran Ryan. There are also two freshman secretaries, Sue Krim and Robert Wishart.

This club was formed in 1941 by Mr. Franz, their patient teacher. Mr. Franz learns the folk and square dances from the Community Folk Dance Center in New York City. This year he is going to take twenty couples with him; all of the dancers are eager to be chosen. These whirlers entertain at the G. O. Student Assembly each year, by showing us some dances from their huge repertoire.

This club is one of Hempstead High's most popular and enjoyable clubs.

FISHING CLUB

"NO, I didn't catch any fish, but ya should have seen the one that got away!" That's a normal fish story told by many dejected anglers. This is another fish story; the story of one of Hempstead's newest clubs, the Fishing Club, which was formed this year by Mr. Stanley White.

The Fishing Club elected its officers for the first year of its existence. They were Paul Bofinger, president; Gay Crevoiserat, vice-president; Arlene Rhodes, secretary; and Donald Johnson, treasurer.

During the year the club members, at their bi-weekly meetings, heard many lectures on the "Rod and Reel." At one meeting, Mr. Beddow gave a very interesting talk on his experiences as a fisherman. He told of wet and dry bait, salt and fresh water fishing, and how he raised several hundred little ones . . . trout. He also exhibited some artificial bait which he himself had made. The club also sent representatives to the Motorboat Show and the Sportsman Show during the year. They are eager for the spring days and the first trip.

CAMERA CLUB

HAVE you ever seen those prize-winning photographs, frequently posted by Office II, and wondered who had snapped them? Then, look no farther than the nearest darkroom, for behind that door lies a treasure of enjoyment for all photographers. For some it is a newly discovered hobby, and for old members of the club it challenges perfection. They are the ones whom you may admire for their photographic achievements.

Once organized by Mr. A. Smith, the club members elected Edmund Ford as president, Edward Stahel as treasurer, and, in a double-duty job, Paula Johnston as the vice-president and secretary.

Soon they began carrying out their planned activities. This was a "snap" for most of the members and soon the club was "clicking." They took field trips to the Bronx Zoo and many interesting places for candid shots. There were many camera exhibitions displaying divers models of cameras. You may also remember the "Miss Shutterburg" contest for the most photogenic gal in H. H. S. Also, there were print contests to judge good prints.

The year was a successful one as the records show interest and progress, a record of which each member may be proud. It is gratifying to know that the present members will, as years before, carry on photography, some as a vocation, others as an avocation. All enjoyed the activities as a profitable pastime and hobby.

PRINCIPAL'S SERVICE SQUAD

AMONG the various activities of Hempstead High School the Principal's Service Squad is recognized as one of the most prominent and honorary aids to the administration. Every period of the day two members of the squad are in Office 3 performing their various duties quickly and efficiently.

These girls are carefully chosen by Dr. Maure on the basis of scholarship, efficiency, dependability, and uprightness of character. His two competent secretaries, Miss Whaley and Mrs. Lagakis are aided by these girls.

Among the many duties of the squad, the main task is operating the switchboard. The switchboard is the center of all incoming and outgoing calls over a network of telephones throughout the school. The girl who has this job must be carefully trained.

Some of the other duties of the squad are typing, running errands, filing and taking over classes. Not even occasional late duty lessens the lively interests of the girls in the squad.

This year the girls have wisely chosen Dorothy Dunn to lead the squad as chief. Barbara Taylor was elected assistant chief. At their meetings the girls discuss many matters which will improve the squad's service to the student body and faculty.

This organization is a valuable asset to the school, and its services will always remain a part of Hempstead High.

COMMERCIAL CLUB

EVERY third Tuesday of each month you will find Miss Degenhardt and Miss Bringhurst capably supervising the enthusiastic members of the Commercial Club. Girls who are interested in becoming the future business assistants of America comprise this club. Any Commercial student in her freshman or sophomore year is eligible to join. This club, consisting of forty members in all, was organized for social enjoyment.

The girls are very co-operative and responsive in planning their projects. The capable chairman of the social committee, Corinne Udris, helps the girls to decide upon their recreational programs for the coming year. The social activities for this year consisted of a Halloween party in which the members played games. The girls participated in such games as were suited to the seasons. No secretary knows when her duties may consist of planning a social event. Buying and serving refreshments as well as planning entertainment are valuable social assets. In January they had a meeting which was followed by a very interesting and educational movie entitled, "The Life of Alexander Graham Bell." In February the girls filled lovely gift boxes and sent them overseas for the Junior Red Cross.

Leonard, P. Lynch, E. Olsen, S. Kolano. Row IV: C. Lupski, J. Epp, C. Cloud, B. Wilson, G. Riechert, M. Reichert, F. Blake, C. Heinzerling, S. Spuhler.

Each year the Commercial Club takes a trip to the city where the members have luncheon and see a play. In the spring they reserve a date for a picnic. Visiting the telephone building or the courthouse, and a speaker to address them on the subject of employment are also future engagements. As you can see these social-minded girls are also civic-minded.

The very capable officers are Dorothy A. Smith, president; John Grywin, vice-president; Margaret Bohnet, secretary; and Diane Gerber, treasurer.

PENTAGON CLUB

EACH month the masculine geni of the junior and senior classes meet to form the Pentagon honor society. These fellows have maintained a 90% or better average in their major subjects.

There are about fifty members in the club whose activities are under the supervision of Mr. Fish, their capable adviser. The main purpose of the club is to help out around the school in any way possible. All the offices are held by seniors this year. The meetings are brought to order by Henry Rosenberg and Carleton Moore acts as the vice-president. Edward Packert keeps the records and Donald Kline protects the treasury.

Left to right, Row I: S. Bloom, M. Rosen, M. Siegel, A. Sullivan, J. Leather, H. Rosenberg, Mr. Fish, C. Moore, James Leather, M. Barkan, A. Simpson, V. Mazzotta. Row II: A. Lee, T. Arnott, R. These fellows, who take serious interest in their studies and still have time for recreation, go in for the finer points of learning. Experts in all fields, often professors, are asked to come to lecture to the club on music, architecture, and art. The members also take trips to museums to learn things which might come in handy on the scholarship exams. They are also coached at the meetings for these exams, study the requirements of different colleges and are advised as to the type of colleges for different courses of study.

Annually, the Pentagon awards a scholarship of fifty dollars to the student with the highest average. This year the money was raised by selling Christmas tree ornaments. A gold Honor Key is given to the senior with the highest scholastic average and a gold Service Key is presented to the member doing the most for the club.

And so, this active group has had another successful year. Watch these fellows; they are the leaders of tomorrow!

MUSIC APPRECIATION CLUB

THERE are no rigid qualifications for membership in the music appreciation club. All classmen are invited to join, and both students and faculty are welcomed as visitors for any program. Although there are no requirements for attendance, you will find the genuine love for fine music the one impelling force that brings these people together.

Naturally this club may and often does consult with the music department, but it has no immediate connection with the department. In fact one of the purposes and aims of the club was to create a taste for good music among those who could not play an instrument. Among the more active members you will find many of our trained musicians, but several appreciative attendants enjoy the music by a layman's ear.

The club has two programs each month. Usually at least two meetings are devoted to hearing and discussing one composer. In case they are studying the sonata or special composition, different composers are introduced. When the members of the club, Mr. Fish, the adviser, and friends have pooled their records, they have quite an extensive library.

In addition to their record programs they have a variety of other interesting programs. Visiting speakers and local musicians add to their musical enjoyment. During the season a large number of the members attended two operas and a ballet performance. Another variation of program is a good stiff musical quiz in which all work for the prize of some favorite records.

Throughout the year they enjoy three social gatherings. Mr. Fish is host to his club and you may be sure that if a pipe organ is handy he gives them some music from the instrument he loves to play.

When this large club of over fifty members organized this year, they decided to adorn themselves with an emblem. A silver laurel wreath centered with a lyre distinguishes this club.

The elected officers are president, Ronald Eppler; vice-president, Arlene Smith; secretary, Pat Donovan; treasurer, Larry Wasserman.

THE SCHOOL PLAY

THE biggest event of the Dramatic Department each year is the School Play. It is quite natural that most of the proven talent for the cast lies within the more experienced membership of the Footlight Club.

In the past few years we have enjoyed a great variety in types of drama. For the play of this spring they have chosen "George Washington Slept Here."

The following cast is now in rehearsal: Shiela Carr, Ann Doherty, Betty Hand, John Hickey, Helen Lagergren, Rosemarie Leckie, Nancy Nolan, Bernard O'Laughlin, Ed Packert, Douglas Palmer, Ruth Pess, George Poss, Carl Rudzik, and Robert Russell. We look forward to this hilarious comedy.

Under the direction of Miss Randall any production becomes a polished piece of dramatic art.

AMONG this group of "stage struck" enthusiasts we recognize many names and faces familiar in last year's Freshman Dramatic Club. Their success in performing "Rip Van Winkle" for the several elementary schools seemed to whet their appetites for bigger productions.

To say that this group is enthusiastic and serious about their dramatic efforts is no exaggeration. They voluntarily put in their appearance each day before their first scheduled class. By this free will attendance the adviser, Mrs. Kantzler, soon recognizes those who are really interested in all phases of producing a finished play. When, by faithful attendance and good serious work, a large number of these underclassmen had proved their worth, they selected a play to try their skill.

After much discussion and elimination of various plays they finally chose the comedy "Out of the Frying Pan" by Francis Swann. Long before the date of the presentation, February 17, the publicity group had done an effective job with interesting posters which put the date on many schedules.

When the curtain went up, an excellent setting gave background for the expertly trained talent of these theater actors and actresses. By aid of the program we identified the following students in the various roles: Alvin Fritz, Eleanor Hedden, Richard Jacoves, Richard Lutz, Barbara Millman, Paul Mitchell, Marguerite Schaedel, Lester Schulman, Barbara Simpson, Donald Taylor, Florence Thompson, and Sigrid Wolke.

The fine coaching and superior acting of this cast was made more effective by the equally original and faithful stage hands. Stage Manager Diane Carter and her crew received great praise for their efficient work. Carol O'Brien, Paula Cahill and Sue Barden displayed great ingenuity and alertness in managing smoothly the problem of so many stage props. Without all these behind the curtain workers, no production is a success.

A highly entertained full-house audience gave proof to Mrs. Kantzler and Miss Randall, coaches, and to the entire cast that their efforts were appreciated. Doing a Broadway hit was fun, work, and—success.

FOOTLIGHT CLUB

THE Footlight Club is composed of juniors and seniors. Some of them have been interested in dramatics since their freshman year. From this group Miss Randall, the adviser, can select her most experienced dramatic talent. The membership of this year's club totaled eighty. These "footlighters" elected James Leather, president; Marion Jacoves, vice-president; Carleton Moore, treasurer; and Joseph Zarzycki, secretary.

Under their leadership the club made an effort to give all the members an opportunity to participate in some dramatic production. Many one-act plays were given as "workshop" productions, with critical discussion following each performance. This procedure developed members capable of making creditable appearances in the public presentations.

The play, "Happy Journey," starring Ann Wiggin, Beth McKinney, Bernie O'Loughlin, Robert Russell, and Frances Nolan, was presented very successfully for an Assembly Program. For a later program, the club presented Eugene O'Neill's play, "In the Zone." This production was rather unusual for both the participants and the audience. An all male cast portrayed the colorful life of merchant marines during the first World War. George Ross, Charles Paul, John Piakis, Lenny Karwowski, Bernie O'Loughlin, and Robert Russell, presented this play in its original script.

FRESHMAN DRAMATIC CLUB

UPON entering high school the freshmen who are interested in dramatics are invited to join the club organized especially for them. The group is composed of thirty-five boys and girls. They are really enthusiastic about writing their own skits, setting the stage, costuming, and playing a part when by trial they are voted best for the role.

At the end of the year their adviser, Miss Randall, selects from this group the nucleus for the next Sophomore Work Shop. This choice is made on the basis of ability, interest and sustained enthusiasm.

"Freshman Frolics" was the first production of this group offered for the entertainment of invited guests. In this program they presented in period costume two scenes from "Little Women."

"Not Quite Such a Goose," a one act play, was amusingly portrayed. Other short skits pertaining to problems of young people, originally arranged, added to the amusement. In Spanish costume another member did a Spanish Waltz with graceful effect. A vocal solo and a violin solo both gave evidence of talent and good stage presence.

Any spectator could see that the club was highly successful.

CARPE DIEM SODALITAS

THE year of 1949-1950 has been a successful one for this club. In December, plastic Christmas cards were sold by the members to raise funds for a one-hundred dollar scholarship which is given to the member with the highest average for four years of Latin. Five dollar prizes each were given to the persons having the highest marks in the Latin II and Latin III Regents. Frances Wood and Fred Wilson were awarded the prizes for the highest marks in the Latin II Regents, while Robert La Rosa won the prize for the Latin III Regents.

As in previous years, groups of members were taken to leading plays in New York by the capable advisor, Miss Winter. "As You Like It" by Shakespeare was the first of these to be attended.

So you see, to some people Latin is a live language. It serves as the basis for English, French, Spanish, Italian, and indirectly, many other studies. Since better understanding is needed among the nations of the world today, Latin plays an important role as the background for the languages which bring us closer to our neighbors across the seas.

A note of Julius Caesar, Cicero or Virgil may be heard in Room 7 every third Tuesday as the monthly meeting of Carpe Diem Sodalitas is brought to order. Presiding this year as first Consul was Ruth Pierson, a senior, assisted by Andrew Tufano, second Consul, a second year man. Susan Sadenwater, the scribe or secretary, produced accurate accounts of the previous meetings while Thomas Hayes, the quaestor, handled the pecuniary matters, collecting dues and doling it out to worthy causes.

Approximately sixty-five students who take second, third, and fourth year Latin gathered together to make up the membership of one of Hempstead High School's long-standing and prominent clubs. At each meeting a different member of the club was chosen chairman of the month's program with a committee of eight to help. Many fine plays were given including "The Christmas Carol" with a Roman twist. Several parties were also given. These plays and parties help to teach the lighter side of Latin and promote social activities and better co-operation among the students.

TUPIAR CLUB

ONE of the largest clubs in the school is rapidly progressing through another active and successful year. This group is composed of one hundred mathematically inclined students who have climbed out of the ranks of plane geometry. The members are eager to learn math outside of the regular classes. This is the Tupiar Club, often represented by the geometric symbol.

Presiding this year is Stanley Birer, ably assisted when necessary by Richard Oman. Mary Ollmann keeps the records and Susan Sadenwater handles the treasury books. The club is advised by two well-liked math teachers, Mr. Hayes and Mr. McGregor.

The topic for the year's activities is "Mathematical Models." Several experts on the subject from local colleges were asked to speak on different phases of this topic. Mr. Hawthorne from Hofstra College brought his collection of models which were studied with relish by the members. Dr. Barravelli, from Adelphi College, and one of the nation's foremost mathematicians, brought a slide picture projector with which he projected different figures onto a wire-strung cylinder. These lines formed surprising results and all were amazed. Dr. Barravelli spoke on the subject "The Beauty of Geometric Curves" while the pictures were being projected. Miss Griswold, from Garden City, spoke about building mathematical models and demonstrated the principles for making them, leaving a desire with everyone to make his own. The club spent the remainder of the year making all types of math models. As in other years, a Christmas party was given. The party was a great success; the students, mostly club members, provided entertainment. Toward the end of the year, the annual outing at Hempstead Lake State Park was held. All took part in the activities and had a wonderful time.

The Tupiar Club provides excellent training for occupations in science and engineering and presents exceptional entertainment through math, making it very popular with the students.

LE PETIT CERCLE

THREE years ago a group of French I students, realizing that they would be unable to enter the upperclass French club, decided to form a new club of their own. At one of their first meetings that year, they chose the name "Le Petit Cercle," showing proper deference to the upperclass group.

At several of their regular meetings, the first and third Mondays of the month, they amused themselves by playing French games. Other meetings they planned future activities, suitable for the club. They planned on visiting New York, seeing a French movie, eating in a French restaurant, and, perhaps boarding and exploring a French steam-ship. The members enjoyed a Christmas party, complete with all the trimmings, which has become an annual custom.

To see that the club ran smoothly, the following members were selected to run Le Petit Cercle: Stephanie Koffbauer, president; Alvin Fritz, vice-president; Peter Pill, treasurer; and Barbara Millman, secretary. Mr. Menza advised the four officers.

SCIENCE CLUB

AGAIN this September, the oldest club in our school, the Science Club, was soon probing deep into the realms of natural and physical science. Early in the year, experiments in chemistry and physics were performed by the members of this club. Soon they discussed topics which were far beyond those used in the classroom experiments and lectures.

Since its organization, this club has made anything from guncotton to chlorine gas. This year, Mr. Faust, the club's adviser, showed the club experiments which were used in physics. Who knows! Maybe someday these young scientists will be solving the problems of Heterogenous Equilibria and Statistical Thermodynamics or perhaps practical applications of Atomic Energy.

Early in the year Ernest Rosenberg was elected president of this group, with Marvin Fricklas assisting as vice-president and treasurer. Edwin Elsbach was elected secretary. Mr. Faust and Mr. Lints are the very experienced and helpful advisers of this club.

AUDIO-VISUAL SQUAD

AN interesting as well as useful student organization of our school is the Audio-Visual squad. This squad is composed of eighteen students and is responsible for circulating a library of three hundred motion picture films to twenty-eight schools throughout Nassau County.

Established in September of 1948 by the present director, Mr. E. C. Moore, the group was formed to carry out necessary duties in the Audio-Visual office. William J. Heath was elected chief of the present squad with Edmund Ford as assistant chief. Robert Weidler is scribe and Robert Benson controls the purse strings. Each year Mr. Moore picks three or four of his best operators from his Machine Operation Class, to be on the squad.

One or two members are in the office each period throughout the day to handle the many problems which might arise.

The students are responsible for such duties as sending and receiving motion picture films; repairing damaged films; running P. A. System for home room notices; making out the excused list for the machine operation class; and care-ing for films, motion picture projectors, record players, and microphones. The repairing of motion picture projectors in the class room shows that they are highly skilled in repairing technical equipment.

The squad has carried out its duties more efficiently this year with the new equipment it has received.

PEN AND INK CLUB

Do you ever happen to have a detention in the school cafeteria during the ninth period of the first or third Monday of the month? If you did, then you were sure to see a group of smart-looking girls enter the teachers' cafeteria for a meeting. And who are these girls? Why, they're the Pen and Ink Club members, of course. They're the junior and senior girls who have kept their school average at a level of ninety per cent or above. Starting this year, however, regents marks are included in the average, thus making it harder to belong to this club.

One of the outstanding services performed by this club is the publication of the handbooks put out yearly for distribution among the students. The editor-in-chief of the 1950 Handbook is Mary Ollmann and the business manager is Jean Johnson. Thanks to the diagram of the interior of our Alma Mater provided in the handbook, the freshmen didn't have to rely on the seniors to show them the way to the elevator to the sixth floor.

The first scheduled activity presented Miss Zarembo, who gave a lecture on her travels in Mexico. Not only did she talk about Mexico, but also brought souvenirs which she distributed among the girls for their inspection. Another guest speaker was Miss Blodgette from Hofstra College who gave a talk on Shakespeare.

Among many more of the scheduled activities for the year, was a Halloween party, a theater trip, and a large cake sale. Perhaps no activity of this club creates wider interest and pleasure than their formal tea given for the faculty.

Presiding over the meetings was Arlene Smith with June Christ acting as her stand-in. The minutes of the meetings were kept by Laura Jean Swanson while Mary Frances Fickling acted as banker.

Miss Abbott and Mr. Pill, the advisers who have helped in every way they could to make this club one of the most outstanding in our school, are given much credit by the girls for their good times and success.

MODERN DANCE CLUB

THIS select group of very graceful girls creates the dances for the Greek Games. Each dance they create is to enact portions of the life of the Greek god or goddess who is being honored. This club is organized in the beginning of February and work is begun immediately. The girls are selected by Miss Birnbaum who assists them with the dances. Those who most ably qualify in a try-out test of dance skills are selected.

At present, the club is composed of twenty-four members. There are twelve juniors and twelve seniors. After the members create the dances, they teach them to the girls who are taking creative dancing for their physical education class credit.

In 1949 Joan Shutkind was president of the club. The dances were created in honor of Diana, Goddess of The Hunt and of the Moon. In this interpretation Theresa Galupo portrayed Diana; Grace Pynn portrayed Hecate; and Joan Shutkind portrayed Endymion. The members of the club have the main parts in the dances. Some of the other dancers portrayed wood nymphs.

Hecate was an evil sorceress and Endymion was a shepherd. These inventive girls made very impressive figures as they leaped and whirled about the gym.

In the spring of 1950, the Greek Games will honor Dionysus, God of Drama and Vegetation. One of the dances in honor of Dionysus will be the enactment of a prayer which will be very impressive. Grace Pynn is now president of the club and Dorothy Dunn is vice-president.

Last year and many years previously, these graceful girls danced to recorded music, but this year they will dance to the piano playing of Cecilia Gniewek. She is an alumna of Hempstead High School. As another contribution, each year these creative girls perform for Senior Class Night.

As you can see, these girls are very interested and original in their dancing. All credit is due to them and Miss Birnbaum for doing such a wonderful job in bringing this modern Terpsichore to Hempstead High.

PRE-NURSING CLUB

THE future nurses from Hempstead High School organized the Pre-Nursing Club in November, 1949, under the direction of Mrs. Marsden, one of our school nurses. The organizing of this club was due to the enthusiasm and suggestion of Nancy Kowall. The only officer of this club is Susan Sadenwater who is the chairman.

The members visited the Red Cross Headquarters in Mineola prior to a conducted tour through a large hospital. In the future they are going to visit Hofstra College to inspect its modern laboratories.

At their meetings the members have discussed at length the most desirable features of nursing school. They have become conscious of the importance of the nursing profession. Regularly scheduled meeting days are not possible at present because of the wide interest these girls have in other extra-curricular activities.

Twenty interested girls have attended the meetings thus far. This organization will serve to help our future nurses to start their preparation with more assurance.

KEY KLICKERS

AS one of the new clubs formed last September, the Key Klickers has progressed splendidly during the past year. A constitution was drawn up early in the season to start this organization on its road.

Electra Tsighis presides over the twenty-five and every-growing membership with an assist from Frances Kubick; Helen Russell practices the fine points of secretarial duties. A financial balance is the duty of Carolyn Rocchio.

Chaperoned by their adviser, Miss Silver, these girls visited the Business Machine Corporation Exhibit in New York City. Upon return they passed on their enthusiasm for the newest in business practices and office equipment. Plans are in progress for attending the theater in the city during the Easter vacation.

To acquire knowledge and to gain experiences that will better fit them for a place in the business world is the ambitious aim of these girls. Each activity is planned with this value considered. In one year they have made a good contribution to the Commercial Department's activities.

"WE SERVE." This is the motto of the Junior Red Cross Council. Under the supervision of Miss Davis, the adviser, Millicent Squares presides over the meetings and Joan M. Sheridan keeps the minutes. The members gather in Room 17 once a week to make plans for future activities and to carry through their plans.

Among their many projects are filling gift boxes with toys, pencils, and pads for the children overseas. They also make soft toy animals for the blind children abroad. In the fall of every year they hold a membership drive. At Christmas they supply menu covers, which are made in the art department, for Christmas dinners on navy ships. The council distributes copies of the American Red Cross Journal in our school libraries and throughout various classrooms.

The activities of this group which gives so generously of its time for others reach beyond their assembly room. They run different courses such as a Nursing Course. Also, they send several representatives to the conventions which are held three or four times a year.

Athletics

COACHES

THERE is no question of the superior coaching of both boys' and girls' athletic teams in Hempstead High School. Naturally each coach has his own favorite sport, but we find both the men and women coaching various teams. "Chief" Benner sticks to his basketball as does Mr. White to his football. Mr. Navarra turns out only for the keglers and Mr. Faust is lured out when the golf course is in hope.

Although the girls do not enter into the competition spirit with other schools as do the boys, they have practically the same teams with the exception of track and football.

TWIRLERS

BARRROOM! Barrroom! Out on the field they come! It's the H. H. S. band, headed by the whirling twirlers, with Dorothy Hayes, our strutting drum majorette, leading the way.

All the girls are under the direction of the capable Miss Boyle who chooses each girl for her skill and character.

The twirlers were honored this year by being chosen to lead the Harvard Band, and to perform at Guy Lombardo's. Three of the twirlers appeared on television.

The twirlers make a very smart appearance in their cream and gold uniforms, and they are the pride and joy of Hempstead High School.

TIGERETTES

CONSIDERING the fact that the Tigerettes have been connected only two years with the Hempstead High music department, they have made an unusually fine showing with the band.

This group is composed of thirty-six dancing girls instructed by Miss Miriam Birnbaum. During the football season the girls may be seen each Tuesday and Thursday in the gym originating new dance routines and perfecting the old ones.

Last season the girls produced spectacular effects while performing their routines to the snappy music of "The Hawaiian War Chant," "The Darktown Strutters Ball," and "The Parade of the Wooden Soldiers."

GIRLS' COLOR GUARD

AS our inspiring band approaches, our eyes meet the snappy line of the Girls' Color Guard, wearing uniforms of white and gold, and carrying the flags of America and Hempstead High School down the football field.

The eight girls, all connected with the music department, are carefully chosen by Miss Boyle on the basis of dependability, personality, and good posture. They are led by their capable captain, Lorraine Zarkowski, who teaches the new girls the formations which the more experienced ones have already mastered.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

AFTER many years of championship football the law of averages caught up with the Hempstead High Football Team. Hempstead, a team made up of young players, was under the capable direction of Coach Luke White. The end of their reign as county champions came in the 1949 season when they played eight games, winning one, losing five, and tying two.

Hempstead started the 1949 campaign against their arch rival, Freeport. Most of the action in the game took place in the second and third quarters, with Freeport scoring their nine points in the second quarter. Hempstead went into the third quarter trailing 9-0. Several times their spirited attacks were staved off by the powerful Freeport line. A pass to Noonan, and a conversion in the fourth quarter did not prove to be enough as Hempstead went down in defeat to an improved Freeport team 9-7.

Hempstead returned home to meet the ever dangerous Baldwin team. The Golden Wave marched from the Tiger 40 yard line to the four yard line in the first quarter, but they were halted by a fumble. In the second quarter the Tigers roared back with Ernie Walker and Jack Hemberger alternating at the ball-toting chores. Coach Luke White's charges were on the Baldwin twenty yard line when the half ended and with it the Tiger's touchdown hopes. In the third and fourth quarters Hempstead was forced to play defensive ball. Although both teams had scoring chances, they couldn't gather the needed punch to reach paydirt, and the score ended in a 0-0 tie.

Sewanhaka was forced to come from behind to gain a tie with Hempstead. Hempstead opened the attack in the second quarter, moving the ball 54 yards across the field for the first score. Sewanhaka scored on several passes in the third quarter. The highlight of the game was Hempstead's goal line stand in the third quarter. The game ending in a 6-6 tie marked the second year these two teams played a tie.

The Tigers just couldn't get started against the mighty Chaminade team. From the opening kick off the Flyers shifted into high gear, and on the first two offensive plays scored a touchdown. Their effective passing and superb running continued to give them a 25-0 bulge at the end of the first quarter. From there on they coasted to victory. The only bright spot for Hempstead was Jack Hemberger's 89 yard return of a kickoff. In a rather one-sided game Chamnade defeated Hempstead 32-6.

The White Plains eleven got off to a flying start, by driving 78 yards in the opening minutes to the Hempstead goal line. In a hectic first half they ran up to a 24-0 lead. They continued their running and passing to boost their lead to five touchdowns in the third quarter. Although Danny O'Brien scored two touchdowns, the Plainsmen coasted to a 32-14 victory.

Still looking for a win Hempstead took on the Mineola Maroons. Showing a lot of power and speed the Tigers jumped ahead, scoring two touchdowns in the first quarter. With a touchdown in the third quarter and one more in the fourth they led 26-0 going into the final minutes of the game. But the determined Maroons were not to be counted out. They scored twice on long passes before they accepted defeat at the hands of Hempstead, by the score of 26-14.

With the football season nearing a close, Hempstead faced the undefeated Glen Cove Team. The winner of this game was to receive the H. H. Chapman Memorial Bell. Glen Cove got the early jump and scored first blood. They went on to smash the Hempstead line and gain a 20-0 lead. The Tigers countered with an aerial attack making the score 20-6. From then on, Glen Cove, with a comfortable lead held their own. In a game packed with excitement Glen Cove emerged victorious over Hempstead 33-20.

On Thanksgiving Day Hempstead played their last game of the season against Brooklyn Tech. The first half was a bitterly waged battle with neither team scoring. Three times Brooklyn Tech came within the Tiger's ten yard line, but each time they were turned back by a stubborn Hempstead team. In the third quarter the Brooklynites scored due to an untimely fumble. Hempstead came close to scoring in the fourth quarter but lost the ball on downs. For the first time in three years Hempstead lost to Brooklyn Tech by the score of 7-0.

Although Hempstead finished the season with a poor record they need not be depressed by their deeds on the football field. All through the year they showed good sportsmanship, and the willingness to try their best for the honor of the school.

Now the Tigers may put away their uniforms and rest, with the consolation that next year many of the green players will be ready to challenge and beat this year's victors.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

AS usual the basketball team representing Hempstead gave a fine exhibition of spirit and sportsmanship to all of their opponents. The five Tigers elected to start by Coach Benner were Ned Mattlage, Captain elect, Gene Kinnison, Bob Blumenthal, Roger Schaffer, and Andy Pohalski.

Unfortunately our hoopsters lost their opening game to Westbury, but the team, sparked by high scoring Gene Kinnison, rebounded by defeating Westbury. Our basketeers, their claws apparently dulled by a weeks lull in the schedule, then dropped a close contest at Sewanhaka. In this encounter, Mattlage excelled—scoring thirteen points. The Chaminade Flyers then felled our team and although Mephram was too powerful for us it was notable that one of our boys, Ted Caplan, provided one of the games outstanding plays—a driving one hand shot taken from half court. The boys in blue were beaten by powerful Central only after their opponents had overcome a stubborn first half resistance. Then followed two defeats by Westbury and surprisingly strong Freeport. Again encountering Lawrence the Tigers tied the count with minutes remaining but were eventually subdued. Once more they met Sewanhaka and this time, sparked by the rebounding of Jerry Noonan and the marksmanship of Schaffer and Kinnison, staged a last period rally only to lose by a slim one point.

Coach Benner believes that next year's prospects are bright as we will have many promising "J. V." candidates and several returnees from the varsity.

VARSITY BASEBALL

DURING the past baseball season Hempstead's varsity aggregation compiled an even record of six wins and six losses. The Tigers, under the supervision of Mr. Schuessler, after losing their South Shore Athletic League opening game to the Mephram "nine" 11-1, proceeded to down Baldwin, Freeport, and Valley Stream. Then the team went into a tailspin and finally they were dropped below the .500 mark by the same Mephram team.

The mainstays of the Tiger's 1949 baseball team were pitchers John Organ, Burt Rich, Richard Wright, Ben Randazzo, and Bill Kelly. In the infield were Phil Reddall, Mort Kelly, Roger Shaffer, Ed Cunningham, Roger Cook, Bill Savarese, George Schierenback, Bob Lomini, Walt Sosnoski, Al Norton, and Bill Dempsey. In the outer garden were Ed Riker, the Kelske brothers, Frank and Ed, and Benny Hampson.

One of the most outstanding games of the year was a masterpiece in which the Schuesslermen led by the pitching and batting of Bill Kelly shut out previously unbeaten Central by a 1-0 score. In his brilliant win, Kelly scattered five hits throughout the game. The winning run came on doubles back to back by Kelly and Ed Riker.

in the coming year Mr. Schuessler hopes to mold a high-ranking team around this year's remaining veterans. Since such standouts as Riker, Cunningham, and Kelske have graduated, Mr. Schuessler will be on a constant watch for new outstanding baseball material.

TRACK TEAM

TRACK today is a combination of the ancient sport in which men competed against each other in feats of skill and endurance and the competition of men against records. The contestant in a present day track meet is always competing against some previous records, just as a golf player plays against the par for a certain course. The 1949 Hempstead High School Track Team proved outstanding against both its opponents and previous track records.

Hempstead opened the 1949 season by defeating Chaminade 57-47. They also defeated Valley Stream Central 55 $\frac{1}{2}$ -48 $\frac{1}{2}$. The only loss of the season was the meet with Mephram resulting in a 60-44 defeat. In a triangular meet Hempstead won over Sewanhaka and Freeport. In this meet Sewanhaka scored 43-7/12. Freeport scored 18-5/12, while Hempstead's score was 68.

Hempstead was unfortunate in losing first place in the South Shore Athletic League Championship by only $\frac{1}{2}$ point. This loss was caused by the disqualification of our relay team. But one must realize that this same relay team set the new 440 Relay Record at 45:1 at the Nassau County Relays. At this same meet Hempstead took second in the Shuttle Hurdle Title and a fourth in the Two Mile Relay.

Hempstead gained third place in the Nassau County Championships.

A group of boys which made up the nucleus of the 1949 team, were taken up to West Point, New York, by Mr. Krause, where they entered in a Sectional Meet. At this event Fred Banta, the captain of the team, took both seconds in the 100 and 200 yard dashes. Lee Dluginski scored a third in the Hurdles while Al Kohanowich scored second in the High Jump.

It has always been the aim of Hempstead teams to break previous records and this 1949 team has certainly lived up to the standards of Hempstead High School trackmen.

RIFLE TEAM

THE 1948-1949 Rifle Team ranked among the nimrod champions of the Country, thus, again upholding the high standards of Hempstead High School rifle teams.

The team, under the leadership of Coach Voorhies and Captain Ronnie Berghauer, went all the way this season with an undefeated and untied record. They started off the season on December 7, beating Sewanhaka 887-802 and every match after that was a victory for Hempstead. Hempstead defeated Chaminade, 922-867 and set a new Nassau County record for two positions, "shoulder-to-shoulder" competition. The previous record was 919 which was also held by the Tigers.

After winning 16 matches this team won the Long Island Sectionals of the National Tournament and also placed 6 in schools competing from Continental United States, the Canal Zone and Hawaii. This winning team was composed of Ronald Berghauer, Arnold Batina, Richard Germon and Stephen Kirby.

The 1949-1950 Team is doing an equally good job this season and hopes to retain the Nassau County interscholastic rifle championship.

VARSITY SOFTBALL

IN the past year Hempstead High's varsity softball team, directed by Mr. Keenan, had a very good season. It ended up finally in second place with an overall league record of eight wins and four losses. Two of these losses were suffered at the hands of the champion Sewanhaka Indians. Against the other SSAL teams our team either won both games or split the contests.

Without a doubt the outstanding game of the season was a 6-0 no-run no-hit game hurled by Don Daigneault. In other game with Sewanhaka Daigneault also pitched a two hitter but lost the game 4-1 as Melinski of Sewanhaka pitched a one hitter.

The prospects for next season is quite bright, although stars such as Goepfert, Anderson, Mayer, and Massie have been lost by graduation. Another regular, Noonan, is too old to compete. However, such returning lettermen as West, Guando, Wulff, McLaughlin, Montiero, and Ohland will provide a nucleus with which Mr. Keenan hopes to build a first rate team ready to challenge all for softball supremacy.

TENNIS

COACHED by Mr. Hamburg in his last season at the helm of the netmen, the Tigers finished their spring season with a fair record of three wins and five losses. Assisting Mr. Hamburg in managing the team was Bob Nesbitt.

Under his supervision, were Lionel Layden, Jack Doyle, Doug Livingston, Bill Weygand, Bob Warden, Gil Meltzer, and Pete Gaenzler. Losing its first three matches to Sewanhaka, Valley Stream, and South Side, the team, eager to make up for their poor showing, rallied to take the next two from Oceanside and Lynbrook. Returning to their slump, they lost their next three games, the last two to Lawrence and Malverne.

This year, the team coached by Mr. Menza will start with a clean slate and a brand new group of hopefuls whose aim is to bring to Hempstead High, the S. S. A. L. tennis championship.

BOWLING

BOWLING, a sport which is recognized as more than just a game, but as a glimpse of America united in recreation, is rapidly becoming one of the major sports of Hempstead High.

The Hempstead High Bowling Team, coached by Mr. Navarra, finished the season coming in fifth place out of fourteen teams in the South Shore League with a total of $43\frac{1}{2}$ points won and $21\frac{1}{2}$ lost.

Hempstead started the season very impressively with wins over Lynbrook, Oceanside, and Southside, 4-1, 4-1, and 5-0, respectively, all matches being played at Heineman's Bowling Center. A loss to Central, a win over Woodmere, and a loss to Mephram followed. Then the Tigers encountered difficulty resulting in defeat by Long Beach, Malverne, Sewanhaka and Baldwin.

Near the end of the season, the Tigers finished strongly, beating Freeport, East Rockaway, and Lawrence all by scores of 5-0.

GOLF

FROM the time when the first man teed off down the fairway to the last putt on the green, the members of the 1949 Golf Team displayed the true spirit. Led by captain Walt Matuza, the team won twelve out of twenty tournaments.

Eugene Silverstrone following right in the steps of his older brother, Art, was the most consistent winner. Silverstrone carried the banner for Hempstead High in the semi-finals of the Section Eight Golf Tournament.

Mr. Faust, the able coach, travels to all the golf meets with the team, and is always ready to give instruction and criticism.

There has recently been a growing interest for golf in the high schools. As a result, Mr. Faust expects more recruits. These, with the members from last year's team, promise an even more successful Golf Team for 1950.

RIDING CLUB

ALMOST every Monday during the year from September until June you may see Mr. Schaedel and his Riding Club off for a canter from the Blue Ribbon Riding Academy. Unlike the more timid horsewomen, the weather is never a deterrent in this club's schedule.

The present club with a membership of from ten to fifteen riders, is composed of beginners in the art of easy graceful riding. Proper mounting, more difficult paces, and, above all, conquering the slightest fear of a horse seems to have been accomplished by all with no spills. Although each rider is usually allowed to choose his favorite mount, they are encouraged to try out different horses in order to become more expert in mastering the horse and at the same time keeping a seat.

For over ten years Mr. Schaedel has enjoyed this club riding with equal pleasure when he encouraged the beginners or raced the expert rider.

CROSS COUNTRY

UNDER the capable coaching of Mr. Krause, Hempstead continued their winning ways in cross country. The team completed a grueling season with an excellent record, being defeated but once in five starts.

Our barriers opened the campaign with a one point victory over a game Chaminade team. In a triangular meet with Mephram and Riverhead the Tigers paced by Stevenson took second place. Hempstead then downed Chaminade once more and also Sewanhaka in another triangular meet.

At Valley Stream the Tigers scored an upset victory as Don Jackson took first, and in doing so set a new course record. Captain Sandy O'Donnell also clipped the record copping a close second place.

George Fish took first and Jackson second in a photo finish in the Oceanside meet. In the sectional championships Hempstead finished eighth in a field of twenty-nine.

J. V. BASKETBALL

ONE of the Hub High School's better teams this year was the J. V. Basketball Squad. To date the Tiger cubs, under the direction of their mentor, Mr. Zara, have compiled an almost sterling record of eight wins and one loss.

From knowledge gained in the Tiger's first game Mr. Zara was able to choose Louie Flego acting captain, Bob Meddis, Pete Salit, Eddie Darmetkoski, and Bob Collins for the starting positions. Frequent alternates were Ronnie MacLeod, Doug Witt, Bill Darcy, Sam Forelli, Lexington Gay, Pete Piccioni, Lansing Natsch, Roy Hansen, Louis Petta, George Leopold, Joe Lazer, Nick Sambucco, and Augie Agapito.

The "Jay Vees" opened the season falling before Lawrence 45-25, but the squad showed true to form racing up a 30-15 victory over Westbury. The Tigers next shaded Chaminade 35-32, and then the cubs trounced Central 47-24. Following a 21-20 victory over Westbury, Mr. Zara's apt charges downed Freeport, 48-45. In this thrilling battle the team, after employing a man to man defense, trailed at the close of the first half. They so baffled Freeport by switching into the zone, that they were victorious. Our J. V. Hoopsters avenged their lone blemish by swamping Lawrence 42-23. In their last contest, so far this season, the Hub's representatives overpowered Sewanhaka, 49-30. Mr. Zara predicts that the club should garner at least four victories from their next seven games.

In the scoring department Flego leads with 118 points and Meddis follows him with 66 markers. The team has sunk approximately fifty per cent of their foul shots and their percentage from the field is considerably better than average.

Possibly seven or eight members of the J. V. squad should gain a position on the varsity next year. Among these boys are Flego and Salit, two excellent outside shots; Darmetkoski and Meddis, two improving all-around players, and Collins who, if he continues to gain the needed form and finesse, should partly supply the varsity's need for big men.

J. V. FOOTBALL

AT the beginning of the 1949 fall season, ninety boys turned out for J. V. practice. After a few weeks, Mr. Wilson picked forty-five boys, and began to get them in shape. This practice did not go unrewarded because the first game against Sewanhaka ended in a 32-14 victory for Hempstead. It was Mr. Wilson's opinion that this was the team's best performance offensively. After blocking Valley Stream with the impressive score of 27-0, there appeared some outstanding members of the team. Among these are Flego, quarterback; Sosnowski, fullback; halfbacks, Kershaw and Harry Nelson. Of the linemen we find Lexington Gay and Bob Collins, ends; tackles, Matteucci and Walker, all with promising futures. Arthur Szeglin is also one of the up and coming players.

The next team on their roster was Farmingdale, with Walt Sosnowski carrying the ball for the better part of the game. After winning this one 21-0, Mephram fell into the claws of the Tigers, and down it went, 26-20. Still victorious, they took a plucky Chaminade by a wide margin of 27-14.

The most outstanding game was the final one with Baldwin who was undefeated. Even though the size of the opponents was exceptionally large, nothing could hold old Hempstead down. They finished their victorious season with an 18-0 score, featured by Miller's ninety-seven yard run for first touchdown.

As a reward for their good work, nine of the J. V. players were promoted to the Varsity. Congratulations to you, Coach Wilson, for the record you and your team upheld. We wish good luck to the new coach, Mr. Tord Beck, with his future teams.

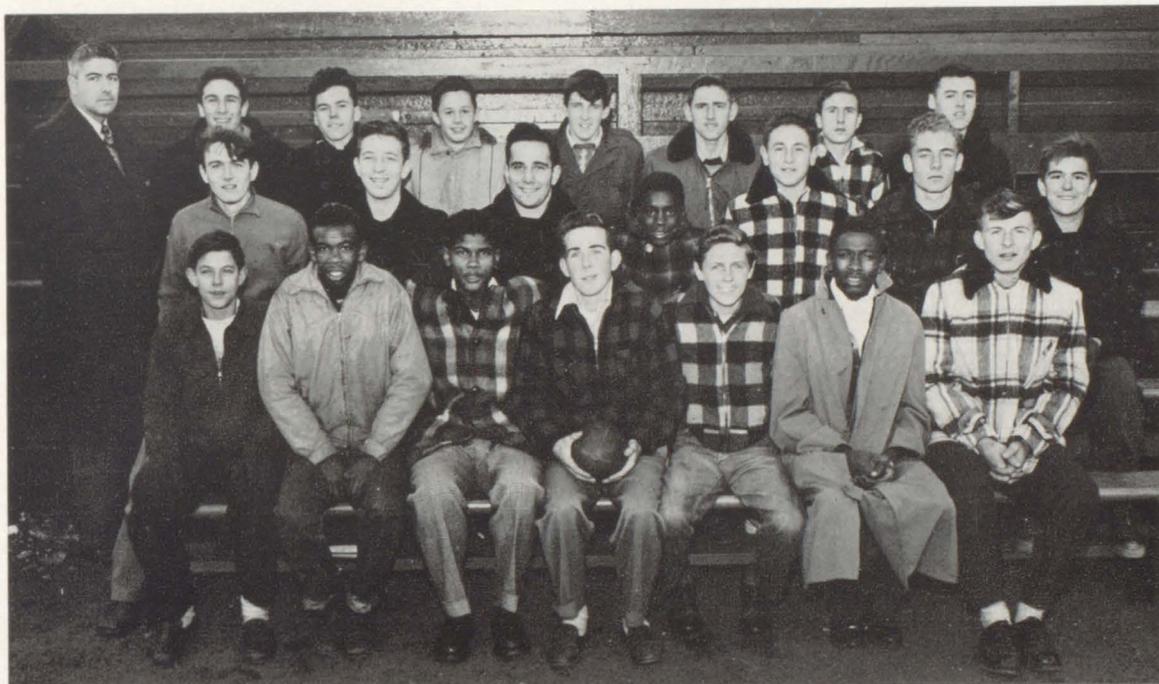

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

AT the end of the ninth period every day this fall, you would have noticed in the back of the grandstand, a group of twenty-two boys practicing football under the guidance of Mr. Keenan. Eleven of those boys were destined to become Hempstead High's second freshman football team.

After two weeks of practice, their first game was scheduled with Hicksville.

Losing their next game to Baldwin 14-13, the team finished out the season by a large margin over Chaminade, 25-0. Mr. Keenan felt that if it weren't for the excellent co-operation of the whole team, the record of four wins and three losses could not have been set. He has every right to be proud of his second freshman football team. Good luck to him with all his future teams.

Winning this game 13-12, they felt they were ready to tackle a school that hadn't lost a freshman game in five years—Glen Cove. They lost this game 12-0, but Mr. Keenan's opinion was that if the team had had a better offensive this game might have been won.

Following this game, the freshmen lost to Sewanhaka 7-0, and then really buckled down to some good playing. The next two games were won with the able assistance of the backfield stars Docteroff, Junda, and the captain, Maher. They started their winning streak with Farmingdale. The score at the end of the first quarter was 20-0, and the final score was a remarkable 40-7. Valley Stream became their next victim when Mr. Keenan's "charges" won 19-0.

GYM AIDES

THE girls' gym classes at Hempstead High School are certainly better organized with the help of the Gym Aides. This service squad consists of junior and senior girls who are interested and experienced in sports and who enjoy assisting the teachers in class work.

The duties of the girls are taking charge of attendance and supervising the locker rooms. Besides their classroom duties, the aides coach the freshmen and sophomore girls for Greek Games. They supervise outside sports such as basketball, baseball, and hockey, and they participate in after school sports. Not only are the teachers aided, but the girls themselves benefit greatly. Since many of them intend to become physical education teachers, they gain experience.

The captain of the Gym Aides is Lorraine Zarkowski, who deserves a great deal of credit for capably leading the school's largest feminine organization. Lorraine calls and presides over the meetings which are held to try to improve the squad.

At the end of the year, each gym aid receives a certain number of points which help to earn the desired "H." The number of points a girl receives varies according to how she rates as follows: a good appearance; co-operation, which includes attitude in class and following instructions; initiative, dependability; leadership, which means getting along with other gym aides and the pupils; knowledge of rules, and getting the games started quickly.

To these girls the knowledge gained by being a part of this organization is well worth the time put into it. While they serve voluntarily, they are gaining actual experience in self-discipline.

GIRLS' SPORTS LEADERS

ANY day at any time that you happen to be near the girls' athletic field or gym, you will see some sport in progress. It might be softball, basketball or any of the numerous seasonal sports.

From this group of energetic girls, is chosen the Girls' Sports Leaders. Each girl is chosen for her aptitude and interest in the particular sport in which she excels.

Miss Birnbaum, Miss Mack, Miss Prediger and Mrs. Reicher choose each girl only after they know that she is dependable, skillful and willing to do all she can to make her sport popular.

Representing our feminine sports this year is Lorraine Zarkowski, the efficient head of the Gym Aides. Audrey Fremgen is chairman of the spectacular Greek Games. Captain of the softball team is Joan Collins. Anyone who knows the ambitious Eleanor Whitney will agree that she deserved the leadership of the basketball team. Rita McSherry certainly made a strike as the leader of the bowling team. Agile Nancy Keplinger is head of badminton. Leading "the bow-legs" is equestrian Elizabeth Landon. Vivacious Doris Hudson and Patricia Mack cheer our teams on to victory. Grace Pynn demonstrated the grace of teen-agers in modern dance. That ancient sport, archery, was just organized with Carol Rose as the team's first leader.

The girls are in mourning for their discontinued sport, hockey. We hope it will be enjoyed again next year.

ARCHERY

STORIES of William Tell inspired the hearts of the girls in Hempstead High School, and an archery team was started this year. This sport was greeted enthusiastically by all our feminine sportsters.

Carol Rose hit the "bull's-eye" by being chosen the teams first president. The season lasted from September to Thanksgiving which seemed a short season for our archers. All the girls worked hard to improve their skill and make the archery team tops on the girls' sports list.

During the team's season, an archery play-day was held in Garden City. In a tournament against keen and skilled players, Marilyn Warby won the highest honors.

Miss Prediger, being very skillful with the bow and arrow, instructed the team in its infancy. The girls were very grateful to have such a capable person to coach them.

The archery team hopes that their facilities will be increased so that more can participate in this exciting sport. Here's wishing the archery team the best of luck in their future years.

BASKETBALL

RANKING first among girls sports in popularity and participation, is the strenuous and lively game of basketball. This game not only requires skill and stamina but also hard work and perseverance. After some practice, the teams are formed and the tournaments begin.

Elinor Whitney, chosen as captain this year, is very well suited to her position. Ably assisting Elinor in her duties is Joan Collins.

The most successful freshman team this year was led by Rhoda Thaw. These girls are under the guidance of Mrs. Reicher, who aids them in their game. Audrey Thaw led her sophomore team to victory with Miss MacCallum as coach. The girls on Dorothy Pitrot's team were the successful juniors during the season. The swift and energetic girls, whose captain is Julia Morgan, were the senior champs. Both junior and senior teams are instructed by Miss Prediger.

At the end of the season, the honor teams compete with the top ranking girls at Great Neck.

SOFTBALL

SOFTBALL, a favorite among all sports-lovers, is also very popular with the girls at Hempstead High. From the middle of April to the end of June, either freshmen, sophomore, junior, or senior girls are seen out on the softball diamond trying to connect with the fast ball coming in their direction or reaching up for a fly-ball.

Louise Loeffler was the able and energetic captain of this fine sport last season.

Miss MacCallum and Miss Prediger helped the girls in the fine points of improving their game.

After much hard work and diligent practice, the teams played in tournaments among themselves, and finally chose the honor teams. The sluggers from St. Mary's, Great Neck, and Garden City High School were invited to Hempstead to compete with our girls. Last season the Hempstead teams proved their superiority and competitive spirit by placing first among these schools.

At the close of the season, the girls chose Joan Collins as their captain for next year.

BOWLING CLUB

"AND, it's a strike!" Well this is what the girls of the bowling club like to see and quite frequently do. All the girls are very enthusiastic and that is why the sophomore bowling club is such a lively success.

There are two groups of bowlers: the senior and junior group, and the sophomore group. Miss Rowles and Miss Silver supervise these bowlers. These coaches do a magnificent job in improving the girls' game since they themselves are both marvelous bowlers.

The sophomore bowling club met every Monday at the Hempstead Recreation Center on Front Street. This group started in September and continued bowling until January 16. After they had finished, the juniors and seniors continued until June. This new arrangement of schedule prevents our doing credit to the upper-class team this year.

Rita McSherry was chosen as the sophomore's capable leader assisted by Marlene Reisch.

The highest average went to Jeanette Losee who came up with 120.

RIDING CLUB

CLIPPETY-CLAP! Clippety Clap! You will hear this familiar sound any clear Wednesday afternoon. It's the haywagon which takes the girls of the Riding Club to the Blue Ribbon Stables for an hour of riding.

The girls are under the supervision of Miss Prediger, who has charge of the more advanced girls, and Miss Beighley, who has charge of the intermediate and beginning riders.

Because of the large membership, thirty-two girls, the club is divided into two groups. The advanced class rides from 2:30 to 3:30 and the intermediate and beginners class rides from 3:30 to 4:30.

The riding club was very fortunate in having such beautiful autumn weather which enabled them to ride almost every Wednesday afternoon. This privilege delighted all riders. The girls are so enthusiastic that they are going to continue riding in the spring although the club officially closes at Thanksgiving.

Equestrian Elizabeth Landon is the president of this popular club, and was chosen because of aptness for this sport.

BADMINTON

THE puffing and panting which you are likely to hear if in the vicinity of the girls' gym on Mondays and Wednesdays during the fall months, is made by the energetic girls trying to master the very popular game, badminton. This game, although it appears easy, requires remarkable skill and stamina.

During the first month of the season, the girls practice laboriously to improve their game. The next three months are spent competing among themselves and playing in tournaments with other schools. This year the team competed with the girls of Garden City, St. Mary's, and Great Neck. Their record was a perfect one with Nancy Keplinger and Nancy Ryan as the top double champs.

The very competent leader of these junior and senior girls is Nancy Keplinger. Being responsible for the equipment, scheduling badminton tournaments, and coaching the girls, are her duties as captain.

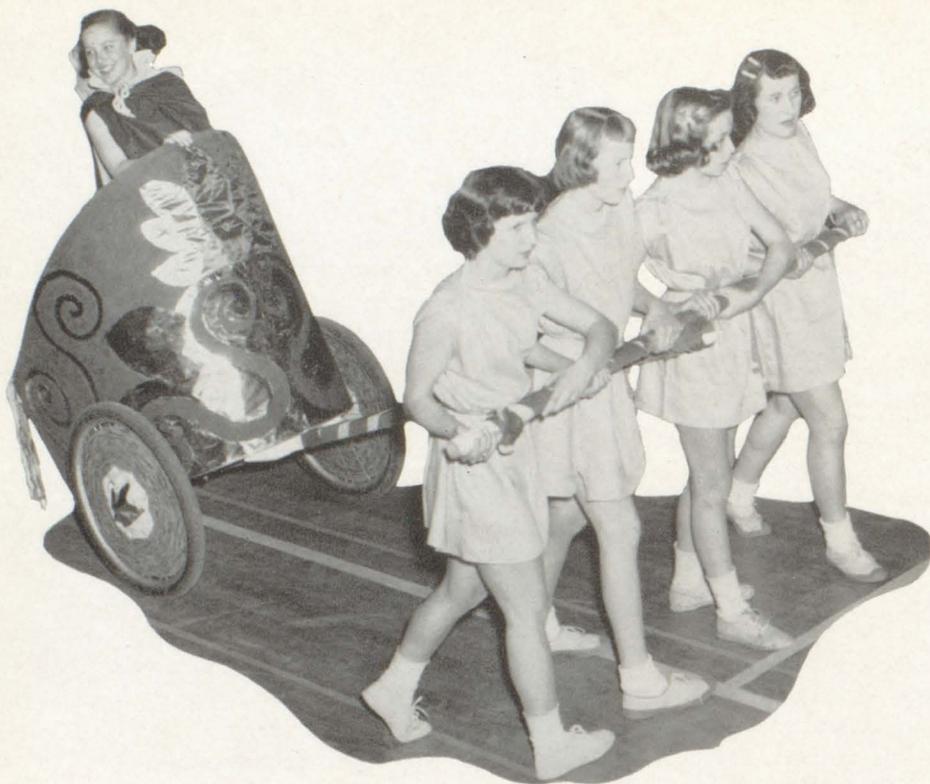

Miss MacCallum is the adviser of this sport, and is in the gym at all times to help the girls when they seek advice.

GREEK GAMES

FOR the past fourteen years our freshman and sophomore girls have ushered in the spring season by recreating the ancient Greek tradition of a game festival. In the spring of 1949 the boys' gym was transformed into a reproduction of the Plains of Olympia where the Greek Game Festival was dedicated to Diana, goddess of the moon and the chase.

The art, music and literature students also compete on this Olympic Plain. Sophomore Lynn Fisher designed the winning program cover. Freshman, Eleanor Helms designed the prize chariot; sophomore, Joan Kittell wrote and delivered her ode honoring the patron, Diana.

After Electra Tsighis sang the Greek National Anthem, the freshman and the sophomores, competing for the first place, made their dramatic entrance. The Modern Dance Club with their original dances featuring Grace Pynn, Joan Shutkind, and Theresa Galupo added to the true Greek setting.

The athletic contest began with hurdling for form—a victory for the freshmen. Discus throwing started the sophomore count which mounted as their hoop team came in first. The next event, torch racing, was won by freshmen who also Paula Cahill as charioteer. Sophomores won the next event, the chariot race, with Patricia Keller at the helm.

When the sophomore and freshman priestesses, Frances Wood, and Dorothy Morlock, respectively, presented the laurels to the winners, an air of solemnity prevailed the plains. The announced score of $54\frac{2}{3}$ — $41\frac{1}{3}$ indicated the sophomores winners for 1949.

The instructors of the Girls' Physical Education Department sponsor these games. The honor of Student Chairman went to Joan Distler. scored a victory in the chariot exhibition with Priestesses: Freshman—D. Morlock. Sophomore—F. Wood.

Hurdler—M. A. Selvaggio. Aide—A. Thomson.

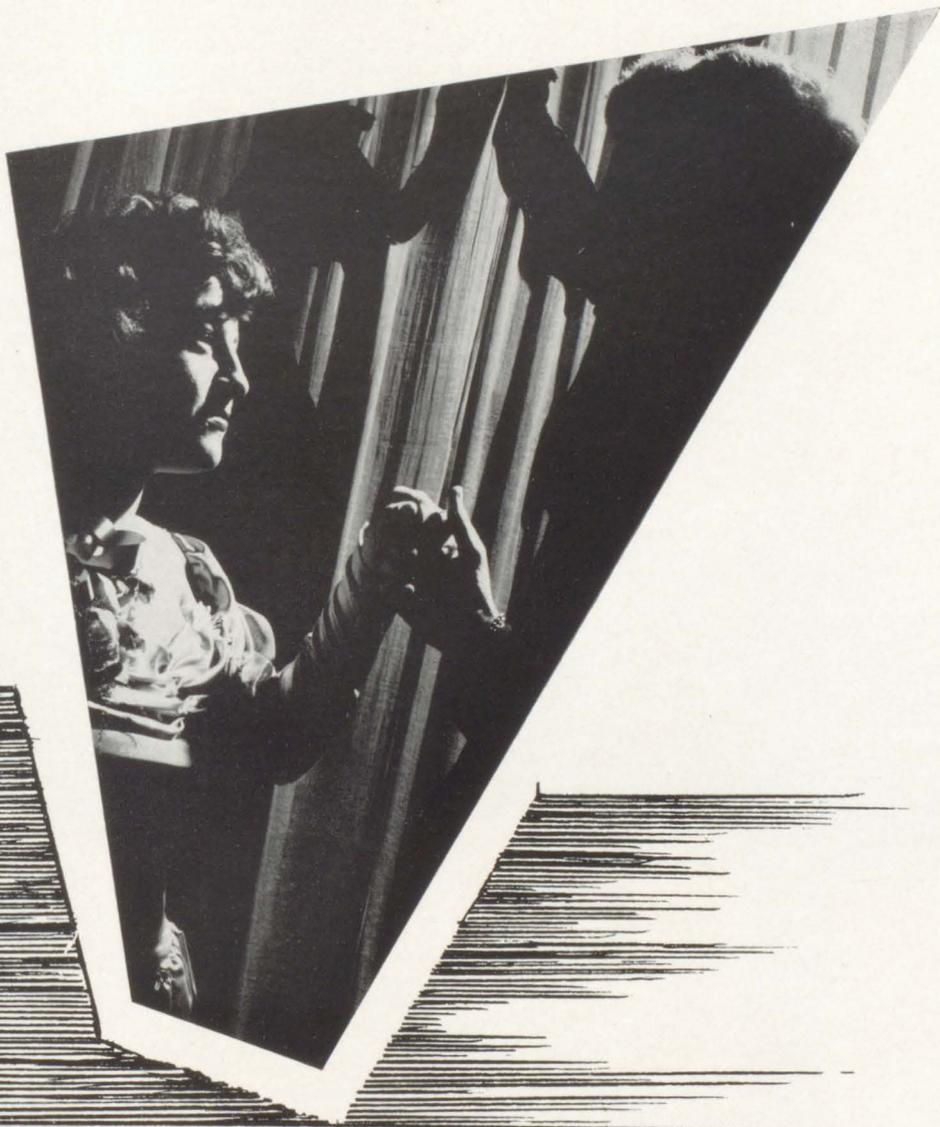

Discus—A. O'Neill.

GATEWAY TO HEAVEN

THE annual Junior Prom was held on June 25, 1949, and was, as always, a wonderful success. The boys' gym was transformed into a "Heavenly Paradise," and as you walked through the "Pearly Gates," Saint Peter himself greeted you. The resemblance between Saint Peter and our own Mr. Zara made us feel very much at home.

The gym itself looked as though a piece of heaven had floated down to earth. The walls and ceiling were covered with angels, moons and stars on blue drapes which created a heavenly atmosphere. Let's tack a star up for the wonderful job the decoration committee did and another star for the refreshment committee for providing the cool punch on that warm June night.

We danced on clouds to the strains of the celestial Hofstra College Dance Band.

Although the Juniors may dance in more elegant ballrooms to the music of larger orchestras, the memories of the Gateway to Heaven will always remain.

THE SPORTS PATROL

"H EH! I caught you. Trying to sneak in again. How many times have I told you —etc." Sounds familiar? It's one of the able members of our Sports Patrol. You may think them unfair but they are only doing their job.

The letters S. P. on his back do not, as the rumor goes, stand for "Stuffy Pest." They proudly proclaim the fact that he is a member of the oldest police force at the football games. He will most definitely turn a deaf ear to your pleas. Of course being in a grumpy mood you will undoubtedly begin to mumble under your mustache, "Who does he think he is!"

However, he is only following instructions. These fellows really put their heart into their work. Although they gain full admittance to the games, they rarely get to see them. They maintain order and keep exits clear at all times.

"WHEN YOU WERE SWEET SIXTEEN"

PUT together sixteen lumps of sugar and a few yards of your favorite color ribbon and what do you have? Why, a "Sweet Sixteen Corsage," of course! Is there any better way to let everyone know when the all-important day has arrived? The whole day seems so much brighter when you get cheery calls of "Congratulations," and "Happy Birthday" from the kids as they pass you in the hall. Even people you hardly know extend their best wishes.

Of course, there are a few freshmen who do not know the significance of the corsages, when they see the girls wearing them.

The "Sweet Sixteen Corsage" has become so popular that you can even buy one in a florist shop. Why shouldn't they be popular? A dash of bright ribbon and a few lumps of sugar makes this day more outstanding.

There is one thing, girls, you must avoid. Don't get too close to a horse.

CUSTODIANS

EVERYONE who enters the halls of Hempstead High School enjoys the cleanliness and nice appearance of the building. Yet so often we forget to appreciate the hard work that produces this appearance in which we take pride. The full credit goes to our industrious custodians who daily perform various tasks that range from being a fireman to a locksmith.

Shining windows, clean floors, proper heating, and everything for a healthful and comfortable environment are the handiwork of these men and women. Repairing broken windows and desks, aiding one whose locker key has been lost, are among their minor responsibilities. In winter they shovel the snow from the walks, and in spring keep the green lawns mowed and tend the brilliant flowers around the flagpole and walks.

They are continually on the job making surroundings pleasant for us.

FACULTY-VARSITY BASKETBALL GAME

As usual, this annual game between the faculty and the varsity was begun by the parade of the "hick" band. Before the musicians were identified as some of our top band artists, they were followed by the much-disguised faculty team and women cheerleaders. Many flashlight bulbs popped as the students hoped for a permanent record of the cheerleaders enjoying chewing gum. Mr. Nilsson introduced each member of the faculty team and the referee, but not until their trappings were shed for the game did we really know "who's who."

When the game really got under way, we saw some fast play and pretty shots. The panting faculty made frequent substitutions, but continually their scores mounted. The over-stuffed knee length dress which darted about as referee contained most of "honest" Mr. Zara.

The big crowd which went to enjoy a circus was well satisfied.

COLONIAL CHRISTMAS PARTY

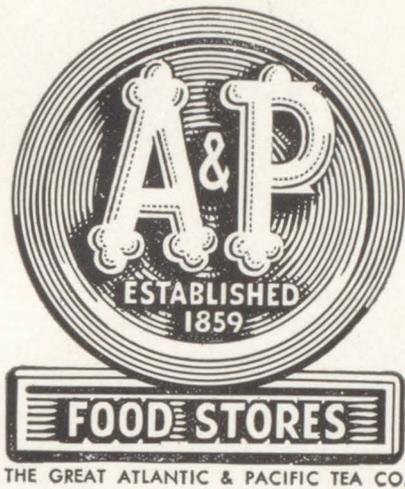

THIS year the combined staffs of "The Colonial" began their Christmas vacation in an appropriate way. Each member contributed his share toward a gala, informal Christmas party and a committee, with Doris Anderson as its chairman, procured the most important ingredient of any successful party—the refreshments.

When the members had assembled in Room 23, which had been gaily decorated in red and green with dashes of glistening tinsel, a great surprise was awaiting them. A few of their fellow-members, who are musically inclined, organized themselves into a band. These talented people are Richard Hixon, Robert Nesbitt, Mary Palmer, Charles Paul, and Janet Reynolds. They more than proved their skill by rendering a variety of Christmas songs.

After the serving of the ice cream, cake and soda, the room hummed with friendly chatter.

THE G. O. ASSEMBLY

"HAVE you seen the G. O. assembly yet?
It's terrific!"

"Weren't Pete Vanucci and Tillie Panteson sensational?"

These are just some of the praises of the G. O. assembly exchanged in the halls. Everyone is talking about the fine performances of the annual G. O. assembly held each year in the Hempstead High School auditorium. From the songs and dances to the puppet show the assembly was a tremendous success this year.

One of the most outstanding performances was that of Jerry, who presented us with an original puppet show. The lovable little clown who played the piano and the puppet, "Gretie," who did a song and dance with her partner to the foot-tapping tune of "Music, Music, Music," fascinated the audience.

It is always a pleasant surprise for the student body to discover that in our midst we have talented singers, dancers and entertainers.

ORATORICAL CONTEST

ANNUALLY, for many years, the American Legion has sponsored a national oratorical speech contest. The purpose of these contests is to keep the spirit of the Constitution alive.

Last January Hempstead High School was represented in the Nassau County semi-finals by Elena Coban and her alternate, William Heath. Her topic was "I Am Proud to Be an American." This speech was repeated in March at the American Legion Chapter in Hempstead, where both of our representatives received medals.

When asked what her personal evaluation of the project was, Elena replied:

"The work one has to put into a speech of this kind has far reaching results, both in the extension of your knowledge of the Constitution and the art of creating a speech. To all future contestants I would suggest that you sincerely believe what you say whether you win or not."

STUDENT COUNCIL LUNCHEON

ONE of the most interesting social functions this year was a luncheon held in honor of the foreign students who were attending Hempstead High School.

After the luncheon the members of the student council discussed with the foreign students some differences between the United States customs and those of their home country. We learned that bull fighting takes the place of our baseball as a major sport. In the countries of Asia, where these students came from, bull fighting is conducted by two bulls fighting each other.

Their schools differ from our own. A student is allowed to attend grade school free, but very high grades and money to pay tuition are necessary to attend high school. Before receiving his diploma a student must pass a rigid examination in all subjects studied.

SENIOR-FROSH DAY

THE halls are suddenly filled with senior girls displaying big bows in their hair, wearing aprons, and carrying stuffed animals. Mingled with them are girls in pigtails and bibs. Rattles and lollipops add to their equipment. What can this mean? Senior-Frosh Day is here again. The official welcoming of the freshman girls by their big sisters, the seniors, is in full swing.

At the end of the day, a big party is held in the boy's gym. Corsages are presented to Mrs. Foster, the Dean of Girls, to the freshman class officers, and to their advisers. Following this, the freshmen start the "Grand March" around the gym. The seniors single out the prettiest freshmen; the one with the prettiest smile; the most sophisticated, etc. Prizes are awarded to the winners.

Next, some of our H. H. S. talent, called in especially for the occasion, entertain the group. Refreshments are served and the freshmen leave feeling that this was truly the best Senior-Frosh Day ever.

STUDENT COUNCIL VISITS FORUM

It is the aim of every Social Science teacher to have the student learn about government and how it is run. Last January a group of students from the student council learned a very valuable lesson in government and foreign policy. The students went to a city-wide discussion conference in New York City.

The topic under discussion was "How Can the United States and the Countries of Asia Work Together for a Better World?" After discussion by both American and foreign students, sponsored by the "Herald Tribune," the following conclusions were drawn:

A plan must be determined by which Asiatic countries can play a part in the world's economy. The United States should give Asia some aid so that she will benefit by educational and scientific progress.

SANTA'S WORKSHOP

AFTER our Art Department had designed a Christmas scene for the lawn of Kennedy House, our Community Center, they decided to decorate the school campus. Under the supervision of Miss Covell the art classes planned and constructed Santa's Workshop.

The plan called for seven figures. The center of attraction was a Santa Claus seven feet tall and his workshop standing nine feet. His helpers were of various heights. The carpenters obtained the plywood and cut the figures after the students had outlined them. After a coat of bright paint they were ready for their setting among the white sprayed trees.

This most effective Christmas scene was completed within a week. After the final work was completed the difficult task of arranging it artistically on the campus remained.

Joan Ann Macauto, Marjorie Hoegl, Jean Schweitzer and Frank Schilling worked long and faithfully to the end, encouraging their many helpers.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

ONE of the most interesting but least familiar to many in our school is the Industrial Arts Department. This department teaches its students important trades so that when they graduate they will be trained for a good job.

The Industrial Arts Department is centered in Prospect Street School. Here about four shops are located. The shops consist of Auto Mechanics, Electricity, Leather Crafts, and the Metal Shop. Shown in the picture above is the Metal Shop. These students are learning silver-soldering and other crafts pertaining to metals. This department also offers its students a very interesting course in radio repair and radio fundamentals. The radio club is sponsored by this department.

Many of the graduates of the department have become expert repairmen and technicians. The Industrial Arts Department has done much to prepare its students for good occupations.

THE CAMPUS PATROL

THE handsome fellows whom you see busy on H. H. S.'s property are the Campus Patrol. Their duty is to enforce the rules concerning good conduct on the campus. Because of the large student body, a good job becomes more difficult. When the necessity arrives they must assert their authority.

Have you ever passed up your geometry class with the intentions of going for a soda? You glide past the unsuspecting hall cop and breeze through the outside door. When you round the corner a smiling face greets you. He calls most convincingly, "Back where you belong, quick!" Very meekly you backtrack to geometry. Don't be annoyed with him since he's only doing his job and doing it well.

SPANISH FESTIVAL

ON January sixth, the Spanish Club held their annual Christmas Party in Room 30. Unlike many other countries, the Spanish-speaking countries celebrate Christmas at this time, which is called the "Day of the Three Kings." It also ends the Christmas season. Gifts, called "aguinaldos," are brought to the children on this day. Instead of a Santa Claus, the three kings come by camel. The children leave their shoes, filled with straw, on the balcony, and they are filled with candies and gifts.

The party guests were entertained by one of our students who executed a traditional Spanish dance using castanets. After this entertainment, they played some party games and broke the pinata. The pinata is filled with candies and gifts. A blindfolded person tries to break it with a stick. This is one of the Spanish customs which is observed on Christmas. Refreshments were served, including the Mexican candy which Miss Zarembo made for the club.

COMMENCEMENT

"FAREWELL old Hempstead High," is not only a part of our "Alma Mater, Hempstead High," but also typifies to perfection the uppermost thought in the mind of any graduate. As each graduate looks around him at all of his high school associates and then at the familiar walls of the auditorium, this phrase enters his mind and takes root; he realizes that he may never again see many of these people.

The class of 1949 may have been the last class to graduate in the auditorium of H. H. S. The class of 1950 voted to graduate in a larger auditorium so as to enable the entire class to be graduated together. Regardless of the location, the meaning of commencement will never change. High school commencement will always remain an unequaled event in everyone's life. It separates the familiar, happy past from the bright and shining horizon of the future. All ambitious graduates face the future with the spirit, "The sky's the limit."
