JOHN MILLS

DEDICATION

In deepest appreciation for outstanding achievements in inspiring a unique sense of team spirit and fair play which encourages in each team member the desire to play his best, THE 1966 COLONIAL dedicates its current edition to JOHN MILLS—teacher, coach, and most recently guidance counselor. Having devoted thirteen years to coaching varsity basketball, he has seen eleven of his teams reach county playoffs—one as county champions and eight as section champions. Although the loss of his efforts will, indeed, be greatly felt and missed by both the team and the school, he will continue to serve by directing his energies to his position in guidance.

FOREWORD

Mankind is currently in the toddling stages of a second and far greater Age of Exploration. Indeed, the feats of this age may well make those of the first seem no more important than a few grains of sand against the shoreline of a continent. Man has now assumed the awesome task of exploring outer space—a solar system—a galaxy—perhaps, in some unimaginable day—the entire universe. Space—vast, silent, and unexplored—represents the main challenge for our generation. With its immensity and mystery, it contests all of man's knowledge and daring.

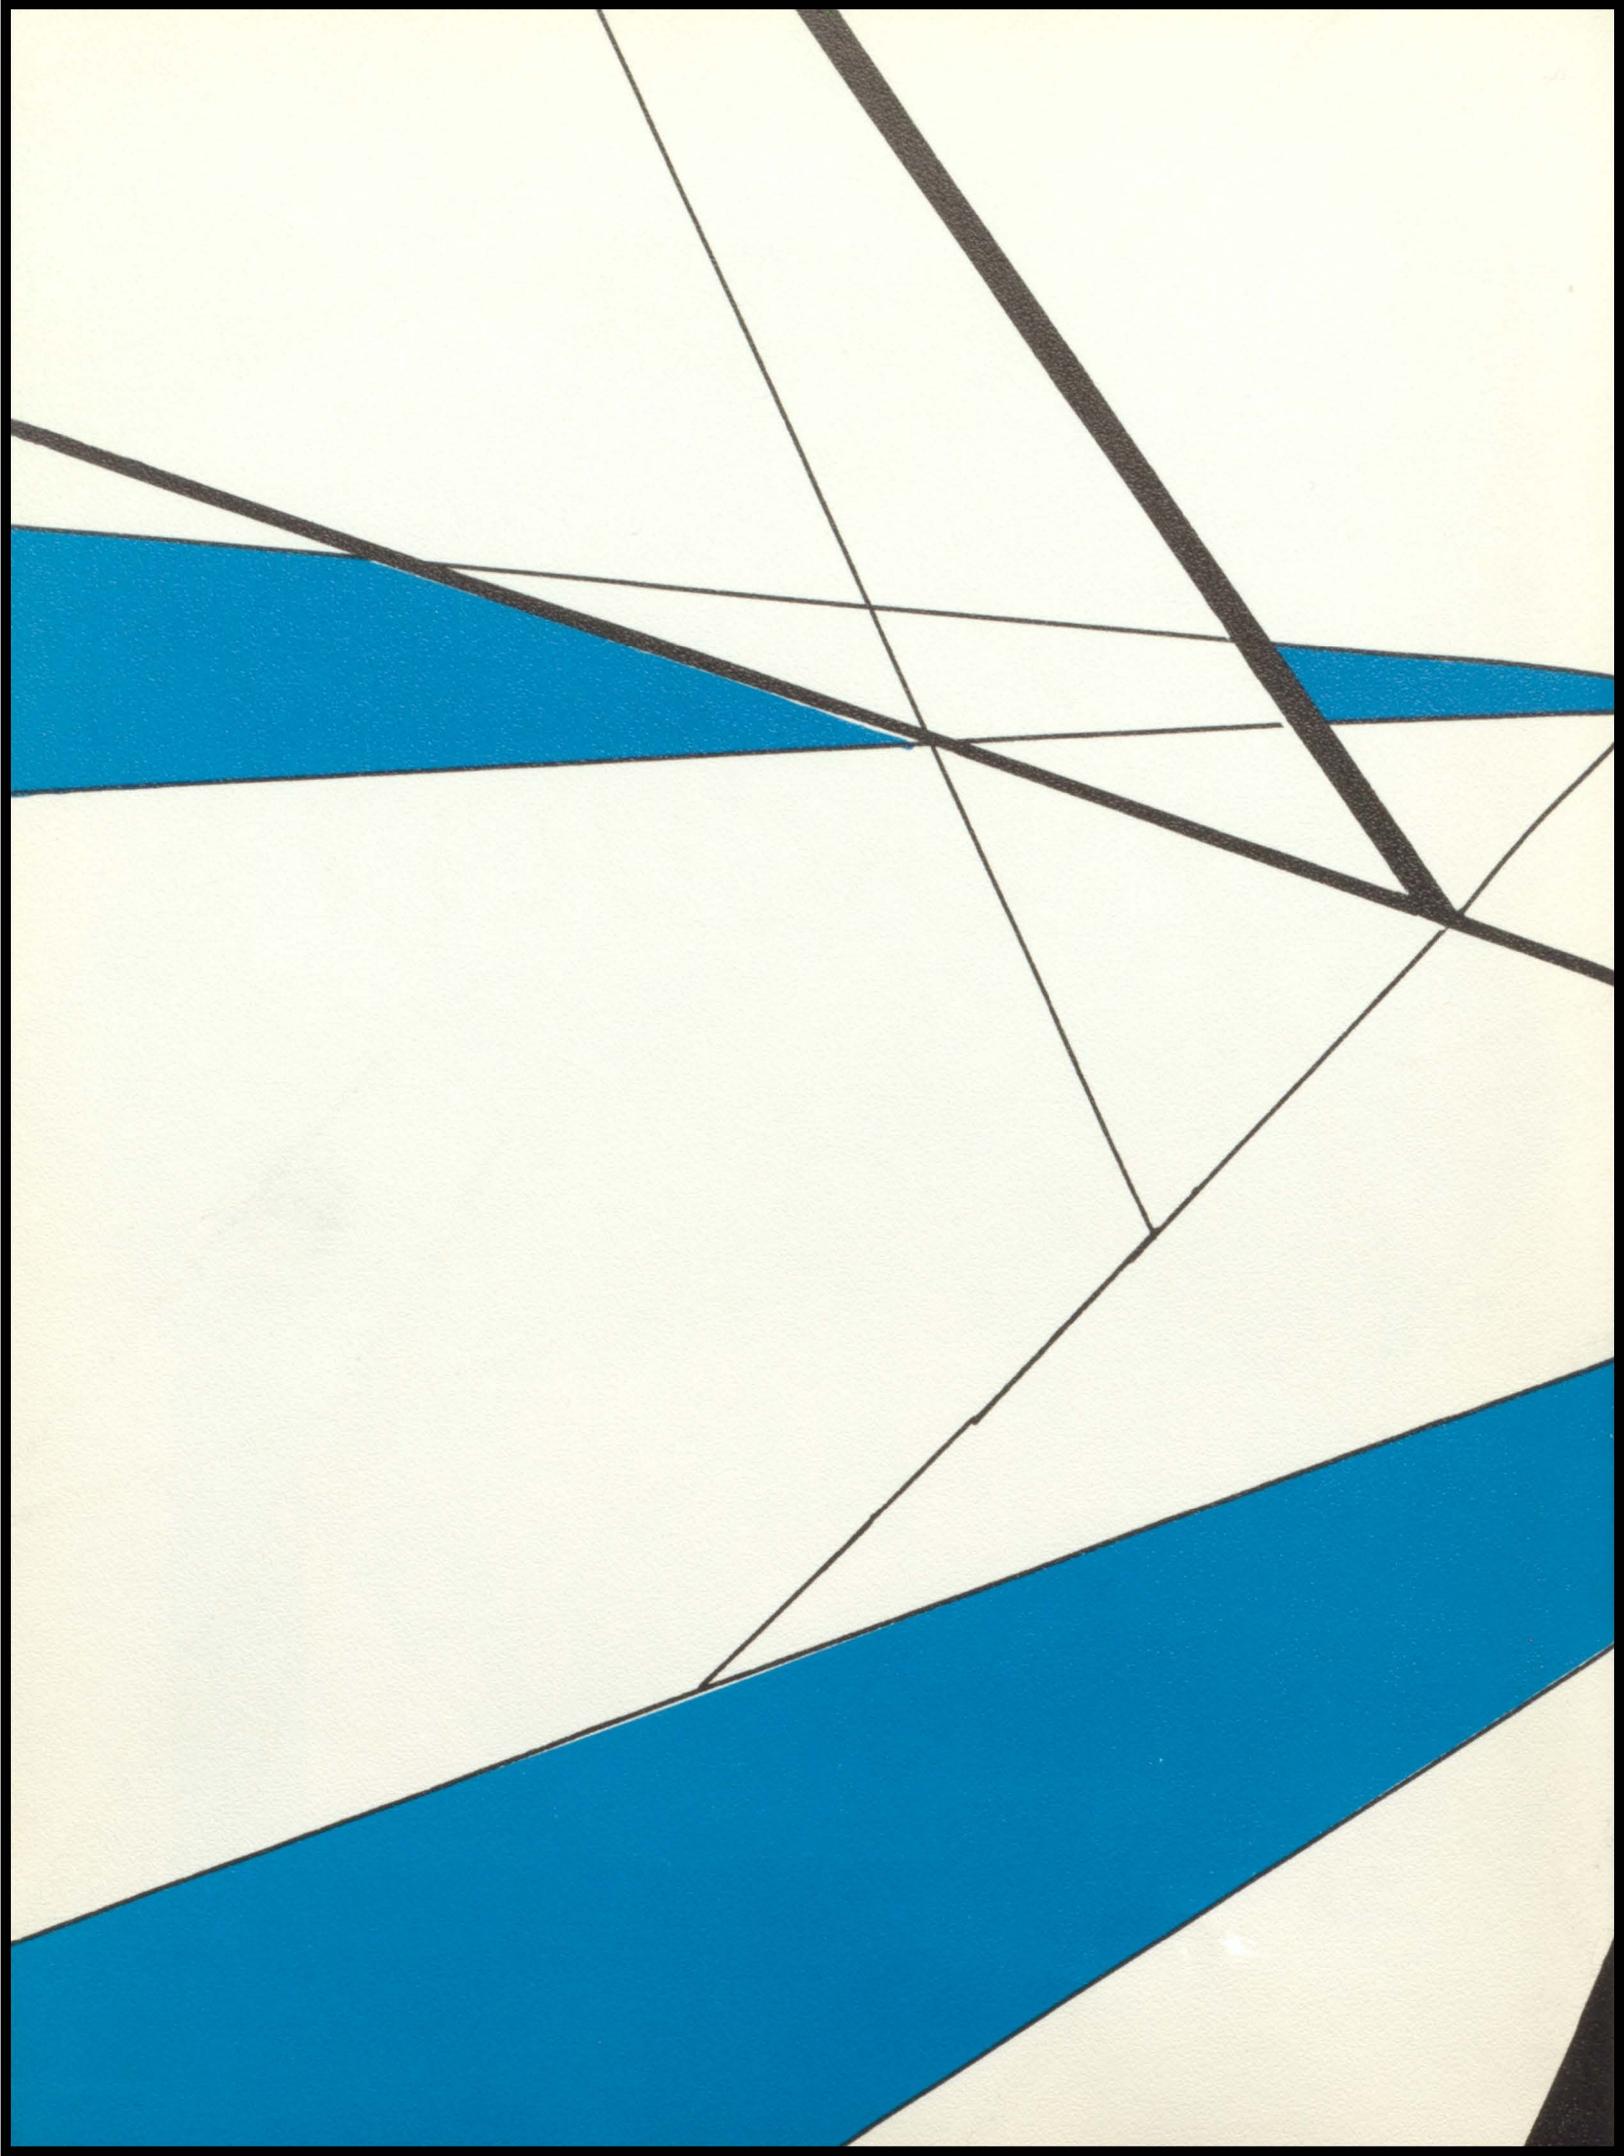

Hempstead High is our personal launching pad for the future. It is here that we are readied for the conflicts of the oncoming decades. In a sense, our school is similar to the space program itself. In both cases, diverse groups and individuals are united towards a common goal, the quest for knowledge and enlightenment. And, in both cases, man discovers that knowledge of himself is his personal rocket ship to the future and the stars.

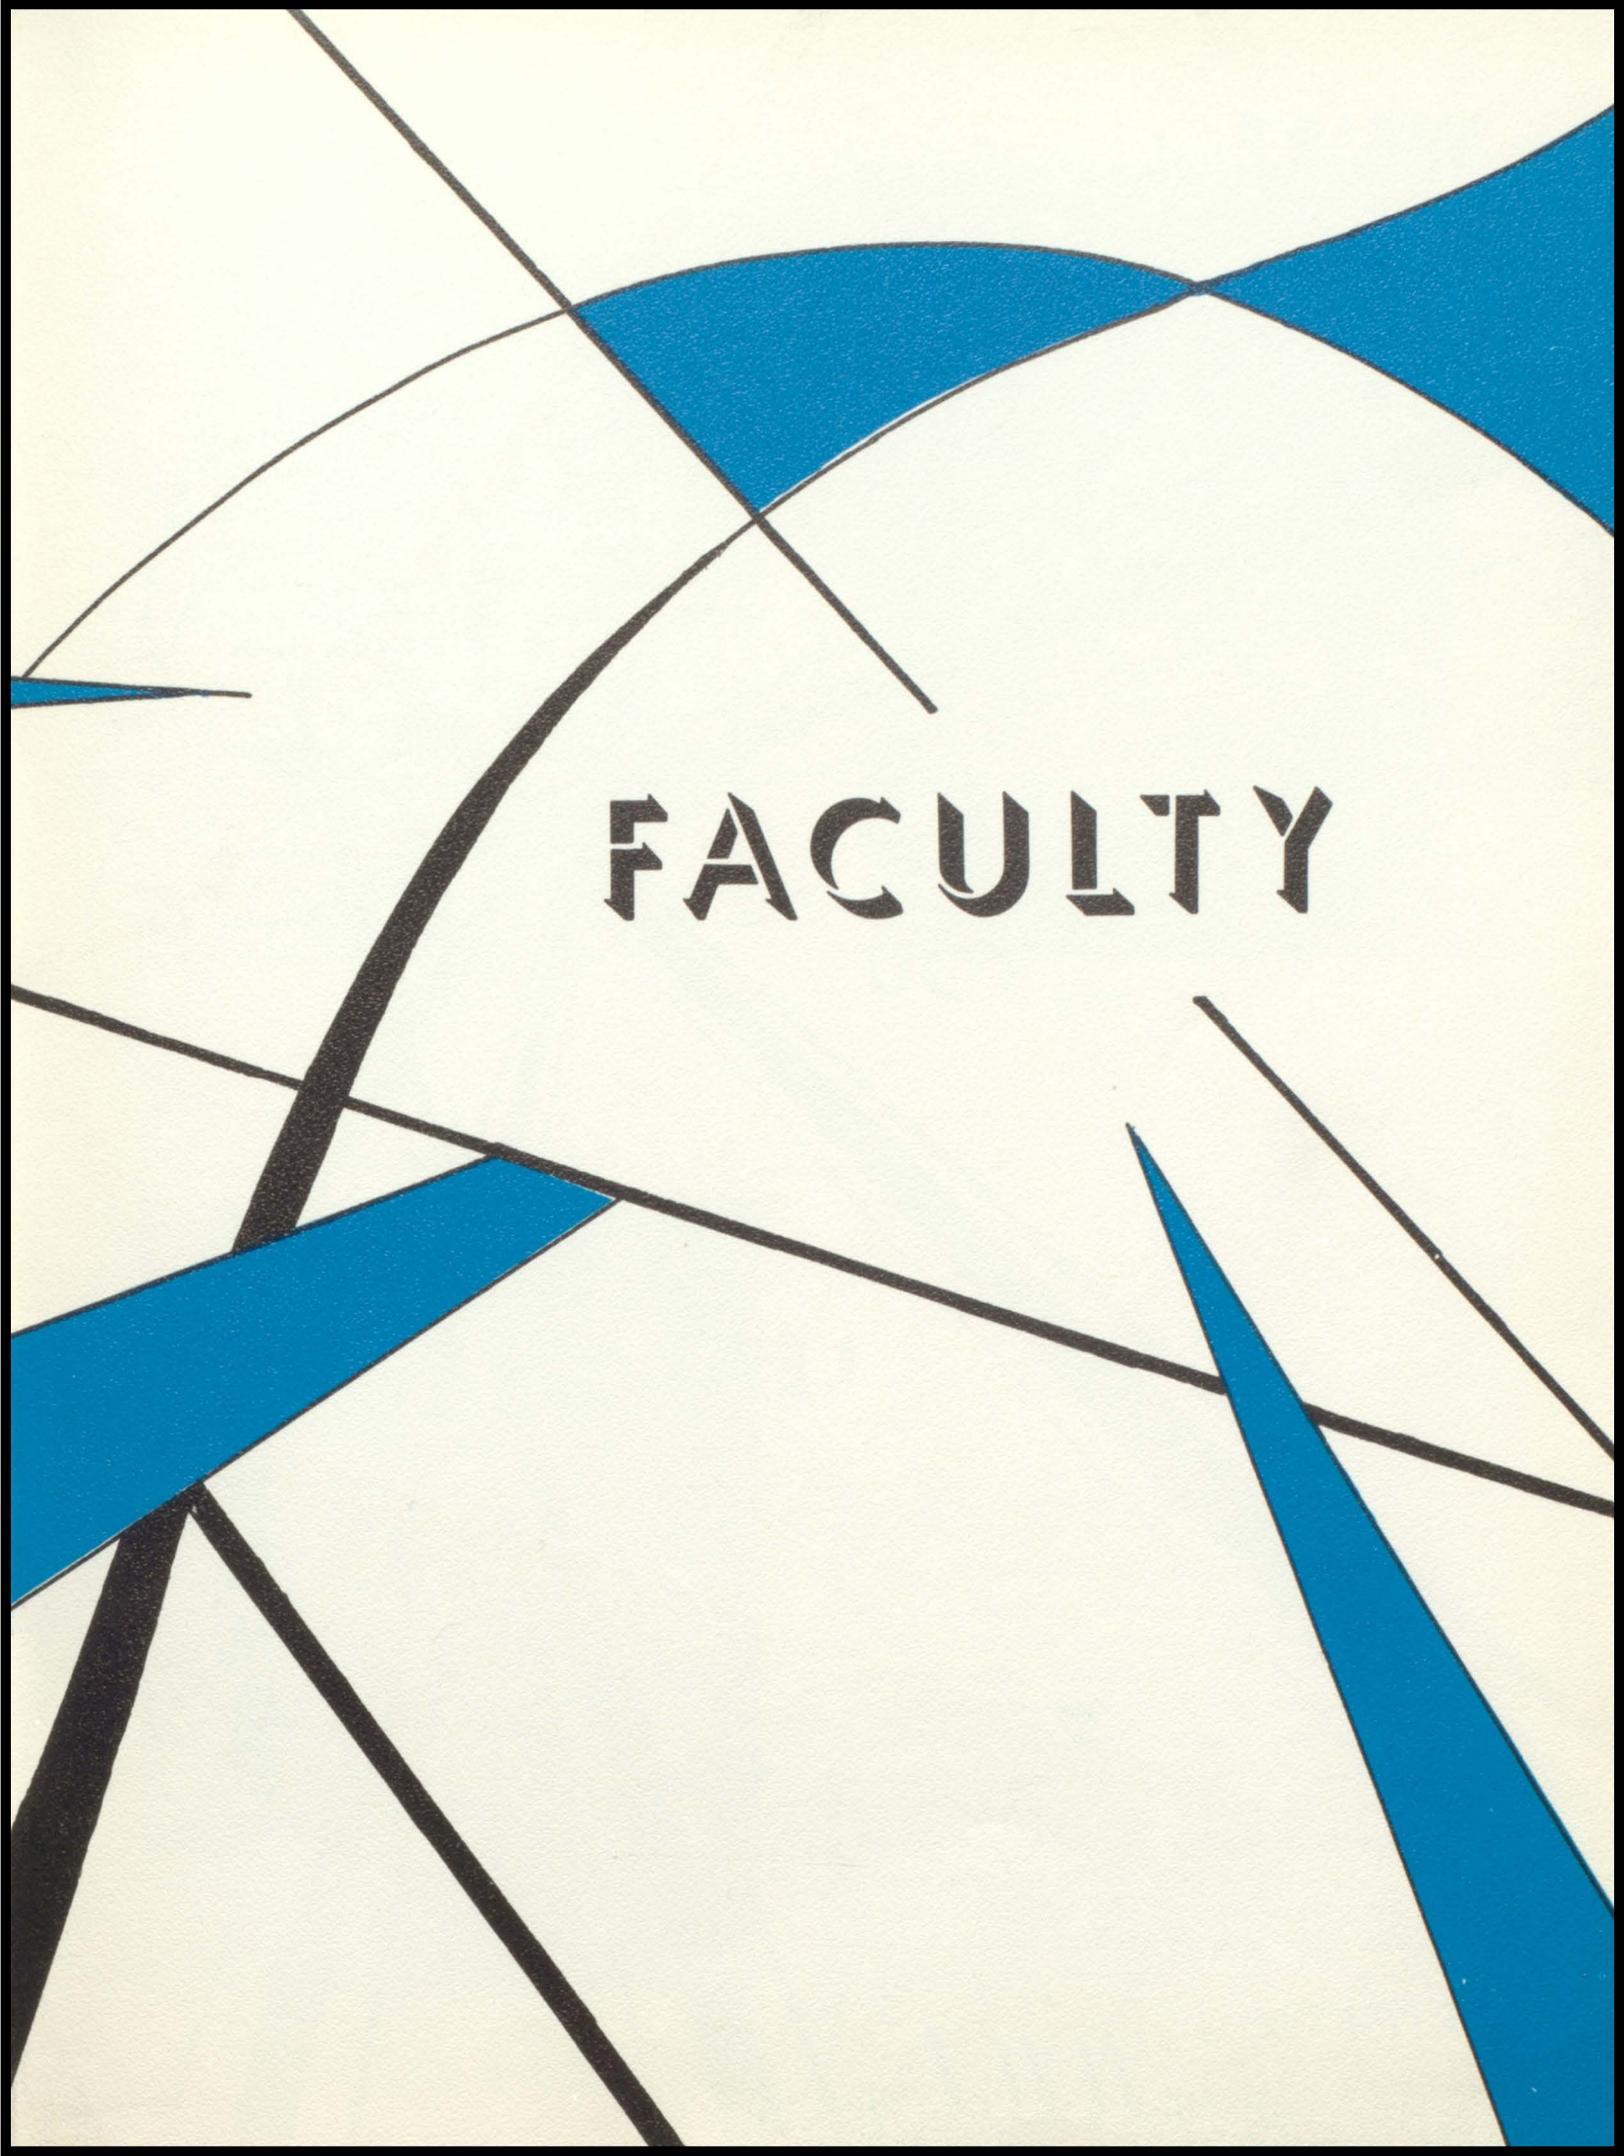

There will always be disappointments and setbacks, along with the triumphs, but still, the flight to progress goes on, and both the men who conquer space and the students who conquer the challenge of Hempstead High School will be the richer for the experience.

The background features an abstract geometric design. It consists of several overlapping shapes: a large, light blue semi-circle at the top, a smaller blue semi-circle to its right, a blue triangle pointing left on the left side, a blue triangle pointing right on the right side, a blue parallelogram at the bottom left, and a blue triangle pointing up at the bottom right. These shapes are outlined in black. Several thin black lines intersect across the page, some forming a grid-like pattern. The word "FACULTY" is centered in a bold, black, serif font.

MR. ROBERT HAYES

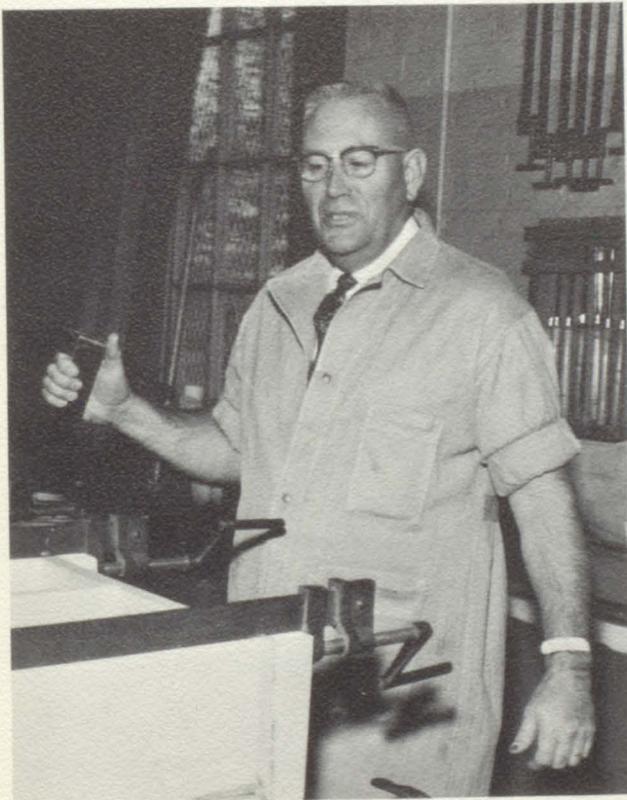

Students in the classes of Mr. Robert Hayes, Chairman of the Math Department, are immediately impressed by his vitality, sense of humor, wide flamboyant ties, and love for teaching. He himself has stated that his greatest satisfaction in teaching has been, "Helping to mold the lives of the students taught, and doing all possible to give them a proper place in a democratic society." "Pop" displayed his characteristic sense of humor when asked what he would miss most about Hempstead High School. His reply, "Mr. Zara." He did, however, add that he would miss his other fellow teachers and students.

It was certainly no surprise to his students when "Pop" was one of the three secondary school teachers to receive this year's Conolly Award in recognition for outstanding achievement as a teacher!

ROBERT HAYES

WILBUR MONSELL

MR. WILBUR MONSELL

The high school will lose more than a department chairman when Mr. Wilbur Monsell retires. Mr. Monsell, in his years of teaching Hempstead boys, has contributed significantly to their education.

He has found the teaching of Industrial Arts extremely rewarding; for it is a field in which a teacher can see the students progress, and in which the students themselves see their skills develop. He also found satisfaction in the fact that, "As a result of this work, the students are better prepared to meet adult problems."

Mr. Monsell doesn't have any definite plans for the future, but one fact is definite; Hempstead High will miss this teacher!

MISS MIRIAM RANDALL

When Miss Miriam Randall retires this year, Hempstead High School will lose one of its most talented faculty members. For many years she was the dramatic coach and her varied productions including Our Town and Teahouse of the August Moon were always characterized by a creative beauty and sensitivity that impressed audiences long after the performance. Her students will also remember her in her role as a teacher; for daily, without benefit of lights, make-up, or costume, literature lived and became meaningful in her room.

Miss Randall will return to her original home in the Northwest when she leaves us, but her students and friends hope she will visit often her second home, Hempstead.

MIRIAM RANDALL

HENRY SCHAEDEL

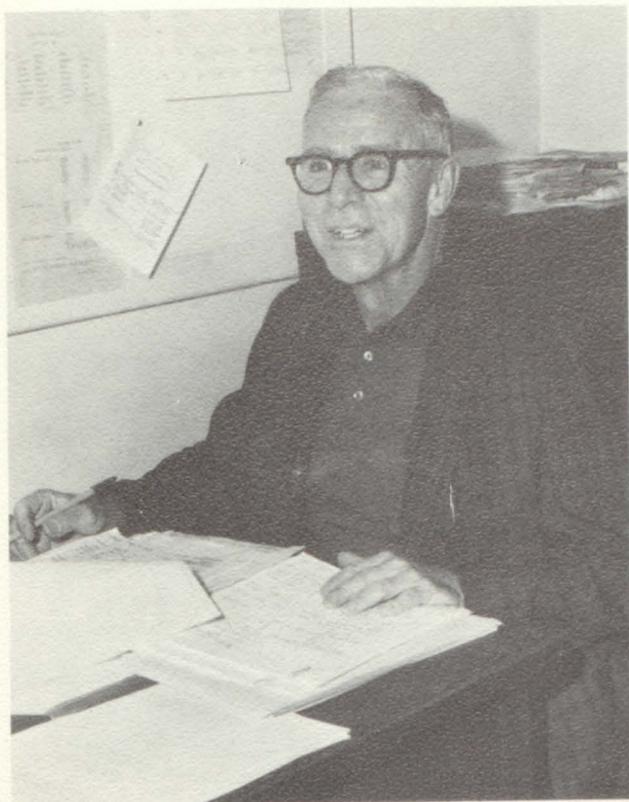

MR. HENRY SCHAEDEL

Mr. Henry Schaedel, long-time member of the Industrial Arts Department, has the unique distinction of having been the designer of that little green piece of paper fondly known to Hempstead High students as a detention slip. He will, however, be remembered much more for his contributions in other phases of industrial art work.

Aside from designing the detention slip, Mr. Schaedel finds that his greatest satisfaction in teaching has been "That you can see the boys' talents develop." His proficiency has been illustrated by his results; boys who at first could not draw have gone from straight line to blueprints.

Mr. Schaedel's plans for the future include travel and plenty of leisure time to work on his many hobbies, such as repairing clocks and collecting antiques.

ALFRED VOORHIES

MR. ALFRED VOORHIES

Hempstead High School will lose one of its most popular advocates of physical fitness this year as Mr. Alfred Voorhies, Chairman of the Physical Education Department, retires.

Mr. Voorhies has dedicated his long career in teaching to passing on to his students his own enthusiasm for athletic skill. He himself has an impressive record of athletic accomplishments. He played high school basketball, was on the football and wrestling teams in college, and played semi-professional football for the Patchogue Red Raiders.

Mr. Voorhies has stated that he will miss his many friendly relationships with faculty and students. He has found great satisfaction in watching the boys' skill and confidence develop. It is obvious from Hempstead's athletic record that he has had much to be proud of!

CELINE YOUNG

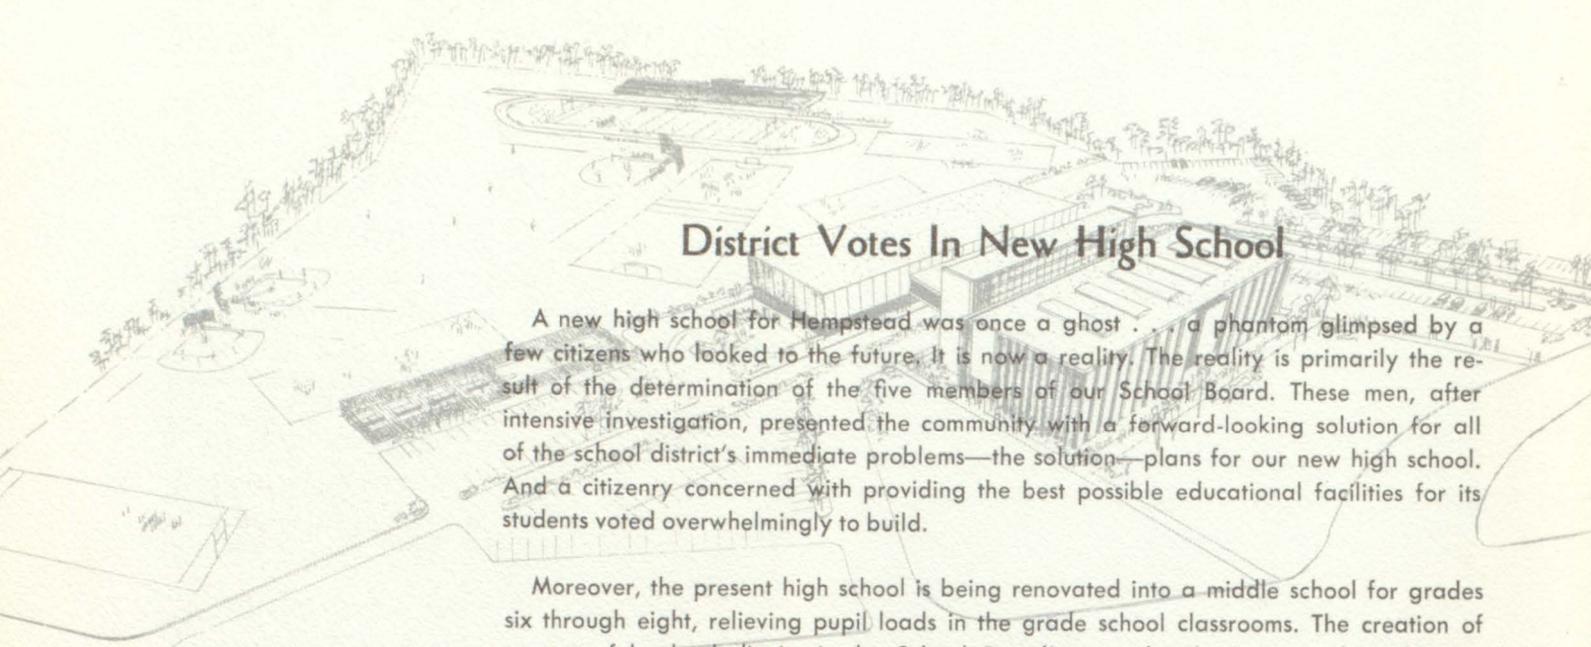

MRS. CELINE YOUNG

Mrs. Celine Young, Chairman of the Language Department for twenty years, has devoted over thirty years at Hempstead High School, instilling in her students a lasting interest in the country, history and language of France. She has derived great satisfaction from contributing to the educational development of the student. This, she states, is the "Nub of teaching."

Just as Hempstead High students will miss their contact with Mrs. Young, she will miss her contact with the students, who she says, "Good, bad or indifferent, have an impact on your personality."

Mrs. Young's primary plan is to buy a house with some land so that she can garden. Her obvious energy, however, will not allow her to confine herself to gardening, and she hopes to travel in the years to come.

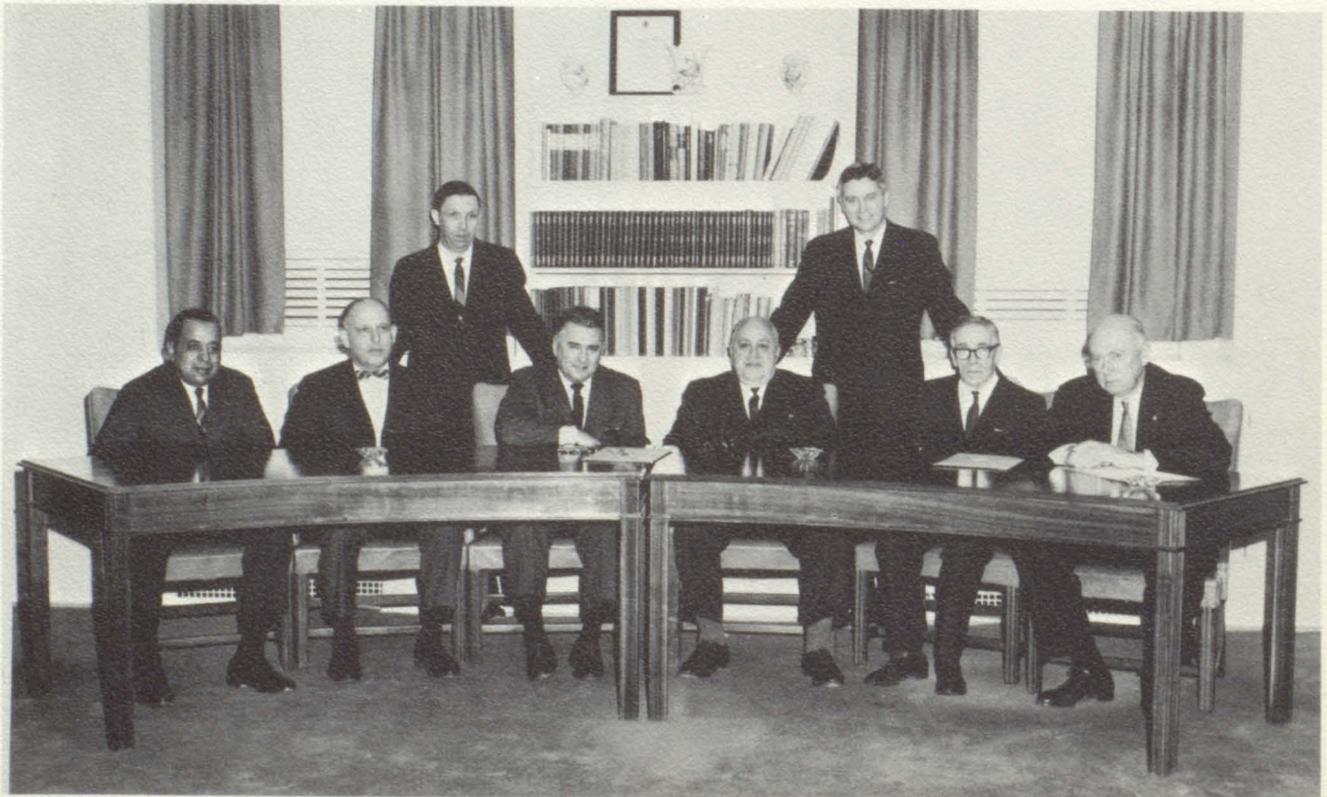

District Votes In New High School

A new high school for Hempstead was once a ghost . . . a phantom glimpsed by a few citizens who looked to the future. It is now a reality. The reality is primarily the result of the determination of the five members of our School Board. These men, after intensive investigation, presented the community with a forward-looking solution for all of the school district's immediate problems—the solution—plans for our new high school. And a citizenry concerned with providing the best possible educational facilities for its students voted overwhelmingly to build.

Moreover, the present high school is being renovated into a middle school for grades six through eight, relieving pupil loads in the grade school classrooms. The creation of a successful school district is the School Board's everyday business, and, under our present Board of Education, this too is a reality.

SCHOOL BOARD

Standing: Mathias C. Helbach, Administrative assistant, Dr. Thomas D. Sheldon, Superintendent of Schools;
Sitting: William Urquhart, Treasurer; Richard Pasternak, Second Vice-President; William F. B. Lindenberg, First Vice-President; John M. Serenci, President; Russell G. Booth, Secretary; C. H. Tunnicliffe Jones, School Attorney.

Number One Man

Ultimate responsibility for the quality and direction of education in Hempstead rests in the extremely capable hands of Dr. Thomas D. Sheldon, superintendent of the Hempstead Public Schools and advisor to the Board of Education. As chief executive, Dr. Sheldon attends various school and community functions, supervises the hiring of teachers and other employees, and wrestles with such quandaries as overcrowding in the elementary schools.

Not only has he fulfilled the administrative requirements of his job with skill and intelligence, but he has always impressed everyone with his warmth and friendliness. Hempstead is indeed fortunate to have such a top-flight educator at the helm.

SUPERINTENDENT

JAMES T. BEALE, DR. ROBERT CODY
ASSISTANT SUPERINTENDENTS

Number Two Men

ONE of the most important men in any organization is the man who handles the money, and James T. Beale handles it ably. As business manager for the school system, he directs fiscal and business affairs, including purchases, loans and the expenditure of monies needed for operating the school system.

A new addition to the executive staff of the Hempstead Public Schools is Dr. Robert Cody, Assistant Superintendent for Instruction. Dr. Cody, who received his doctorate from Syracuse University, coordinates instruction of the schools so that uniform goals will enable pupils to meet the demands of high school on an equal footing. Dr. Cody stated that the ultimate aim of his position is the better educated student.

To the Class of 1966

GRADUATION closes old doors and opens new ones. The opportunities and responsibilities you had as a student in Hempstead High School will change after graduation. Some of you will go directly to the world of work and have a responsibility to employers and will find yourselves financially independent for the first time in your lives. Others will go on to further education with the independence and responsibility of college students.

At Hempstead High School you have had a unique opportunity to prepare yourself to open these new doors and to meet your new responsibilities. I should like to take this opportunity to wish you well in future endeavors. I shall follow with interest the many successes that I feel are in store for the members of the Class of 1966.

To the Senior Class

OUR yearbook, The Colonial, is a visual summary and record of a considerable number of important aspects of the life of our school community with emphasis directed toward those who are soon to be graduated. It is necessarily brief and there are, of course, omissions, but it should be remembered that The Colonial is not the final summation, not the last chapter or final act, but rather an exciting introduction of characters in the most important play of all. It is my expectation and sincere hope that the dramatis personæ presented here will play their roles to the best of their abilities and continue the fine tradition established by those who have preceded them.

Guidelines Drawn

Mr. Miller, T. Kasnicki, Mrs. Kasnicki
But there are certain disadvantages in going to college in Alaska.

This year, each of the four main counselors, Mr. Miller, Miss MacDougall, Mr. Turnbull, and Mr. Tingman, who previously dealt with a particular class and course of study, now guides students whose last names fall in a specific section of the alphabet. In this way each counselor gets to see a cross section of classes.

Included this year in the Co-operative Work Program are two new teachers, vocational industrial co-ordinator Mr. Becker and Mrs. Bowen, home economics occupational co-ordinator. Within this over-all program, Mr. John Mills is the counselor-co-ordinator of the STEP program and Mr. Davidson serves as supervisor of the Co-operative Work Program.

The dean of boys, Mr. Keenan, and dean of girls, Miss Brennan, ably handle the problems of office 103, thereby lightening the teachers' and students' problems.

Co-ordinating all of these varied departments is an overwhelming job, but Mr. Prahl, Director of Pupil Personnel Services, performs its skillfully.

Seven new staff members joined the Hempstead faculty this year. Mr. Charles Meyer graduated from H.H.S., earned his B.S. from Lafayette College in Pennsylvania, and his M.A. from Hofstra University. He teaches general science. Another graduate of H.H.S., Mrs. Sondra Swedlow, is in the Business Education Department. She attended Hofstra University and is now completing her work in guidance at Post College. Miss Leah Green is teaching Economic World. She previously taught in Manhattan and in Levittown after attending Hunter College and Stanford University. Mrs. Elsie Green teaches four levels of German. With an A.B. from Brooklyn College, she is working for her M.S. at Hunter. Formerly she taught in N.Y.C. Mrs. Eva Hinkel is new to the Art Department. She matriculated at Villa Madonna College in Kentucky and now attends Adelphi University. Miss Barbara Korneliusen from the Hempstead elementary schools teaches girls' physical education in H.H.S. She earned her B.S. in Education, an M.S. in Guidance, and is working on her doctorate at N.Y.U. Mrs. Irma DeFord teaches English. She attended City College and did graduate work at Queens College. She formerly taught junior high school in Queens. Mrs. Dorothy Lellis, with a B.S. from the University of Cincinnati, is the new executive manager of the school cafeteria. The high school is noted for the quality of its staff, and these new members are indeed a part of this Hempstead tradition.

Staff Cooks Up A Storm

From the first school day in September to the last day in June, Cook Schuerlein and Assistant Cook Eickmeyer prepare delicious hot meals for the ravenous hordes of Hempstead High School. For the dieters among us, Mrs. Ouwerkerk prepares nutritious salads.

However, this is only part of the job. The food must still be brought to the student quickly and efficiently. This important duty is done amiably by Mrs. Christiano, Mrs. Giordano, Mrs. DeLeo, and Mrs. Albano.

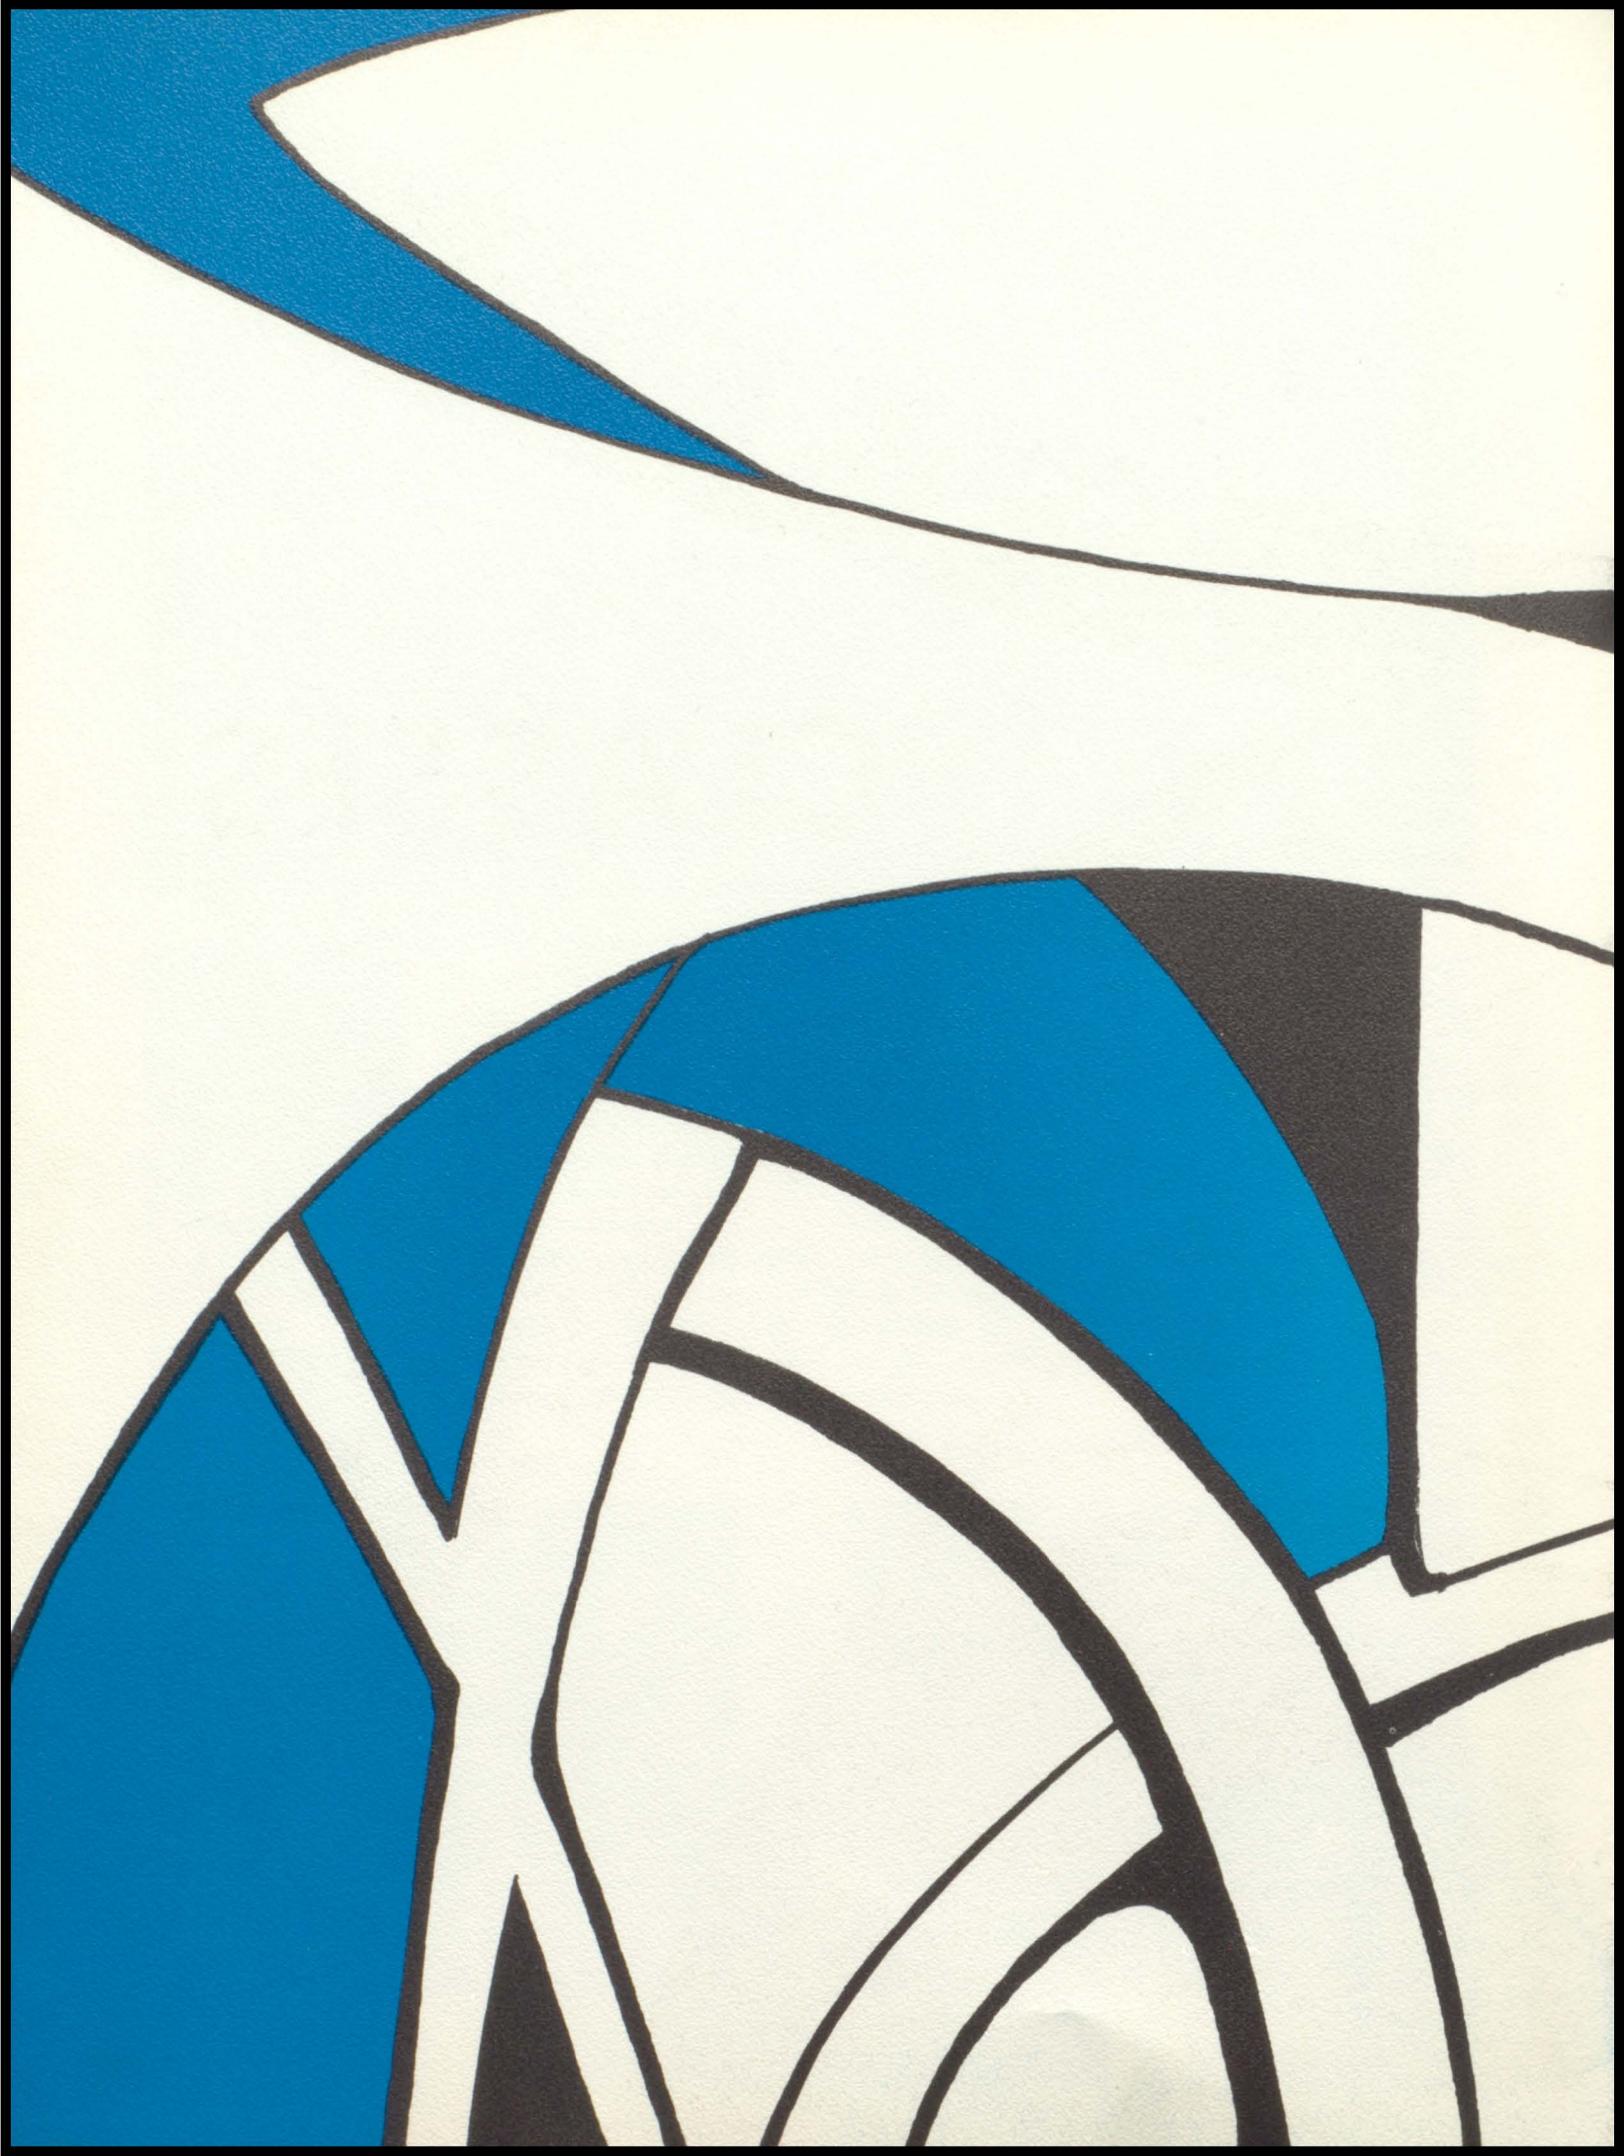

It's a deal, then, a bite of my ice cream sandwich for your Class A lunch.

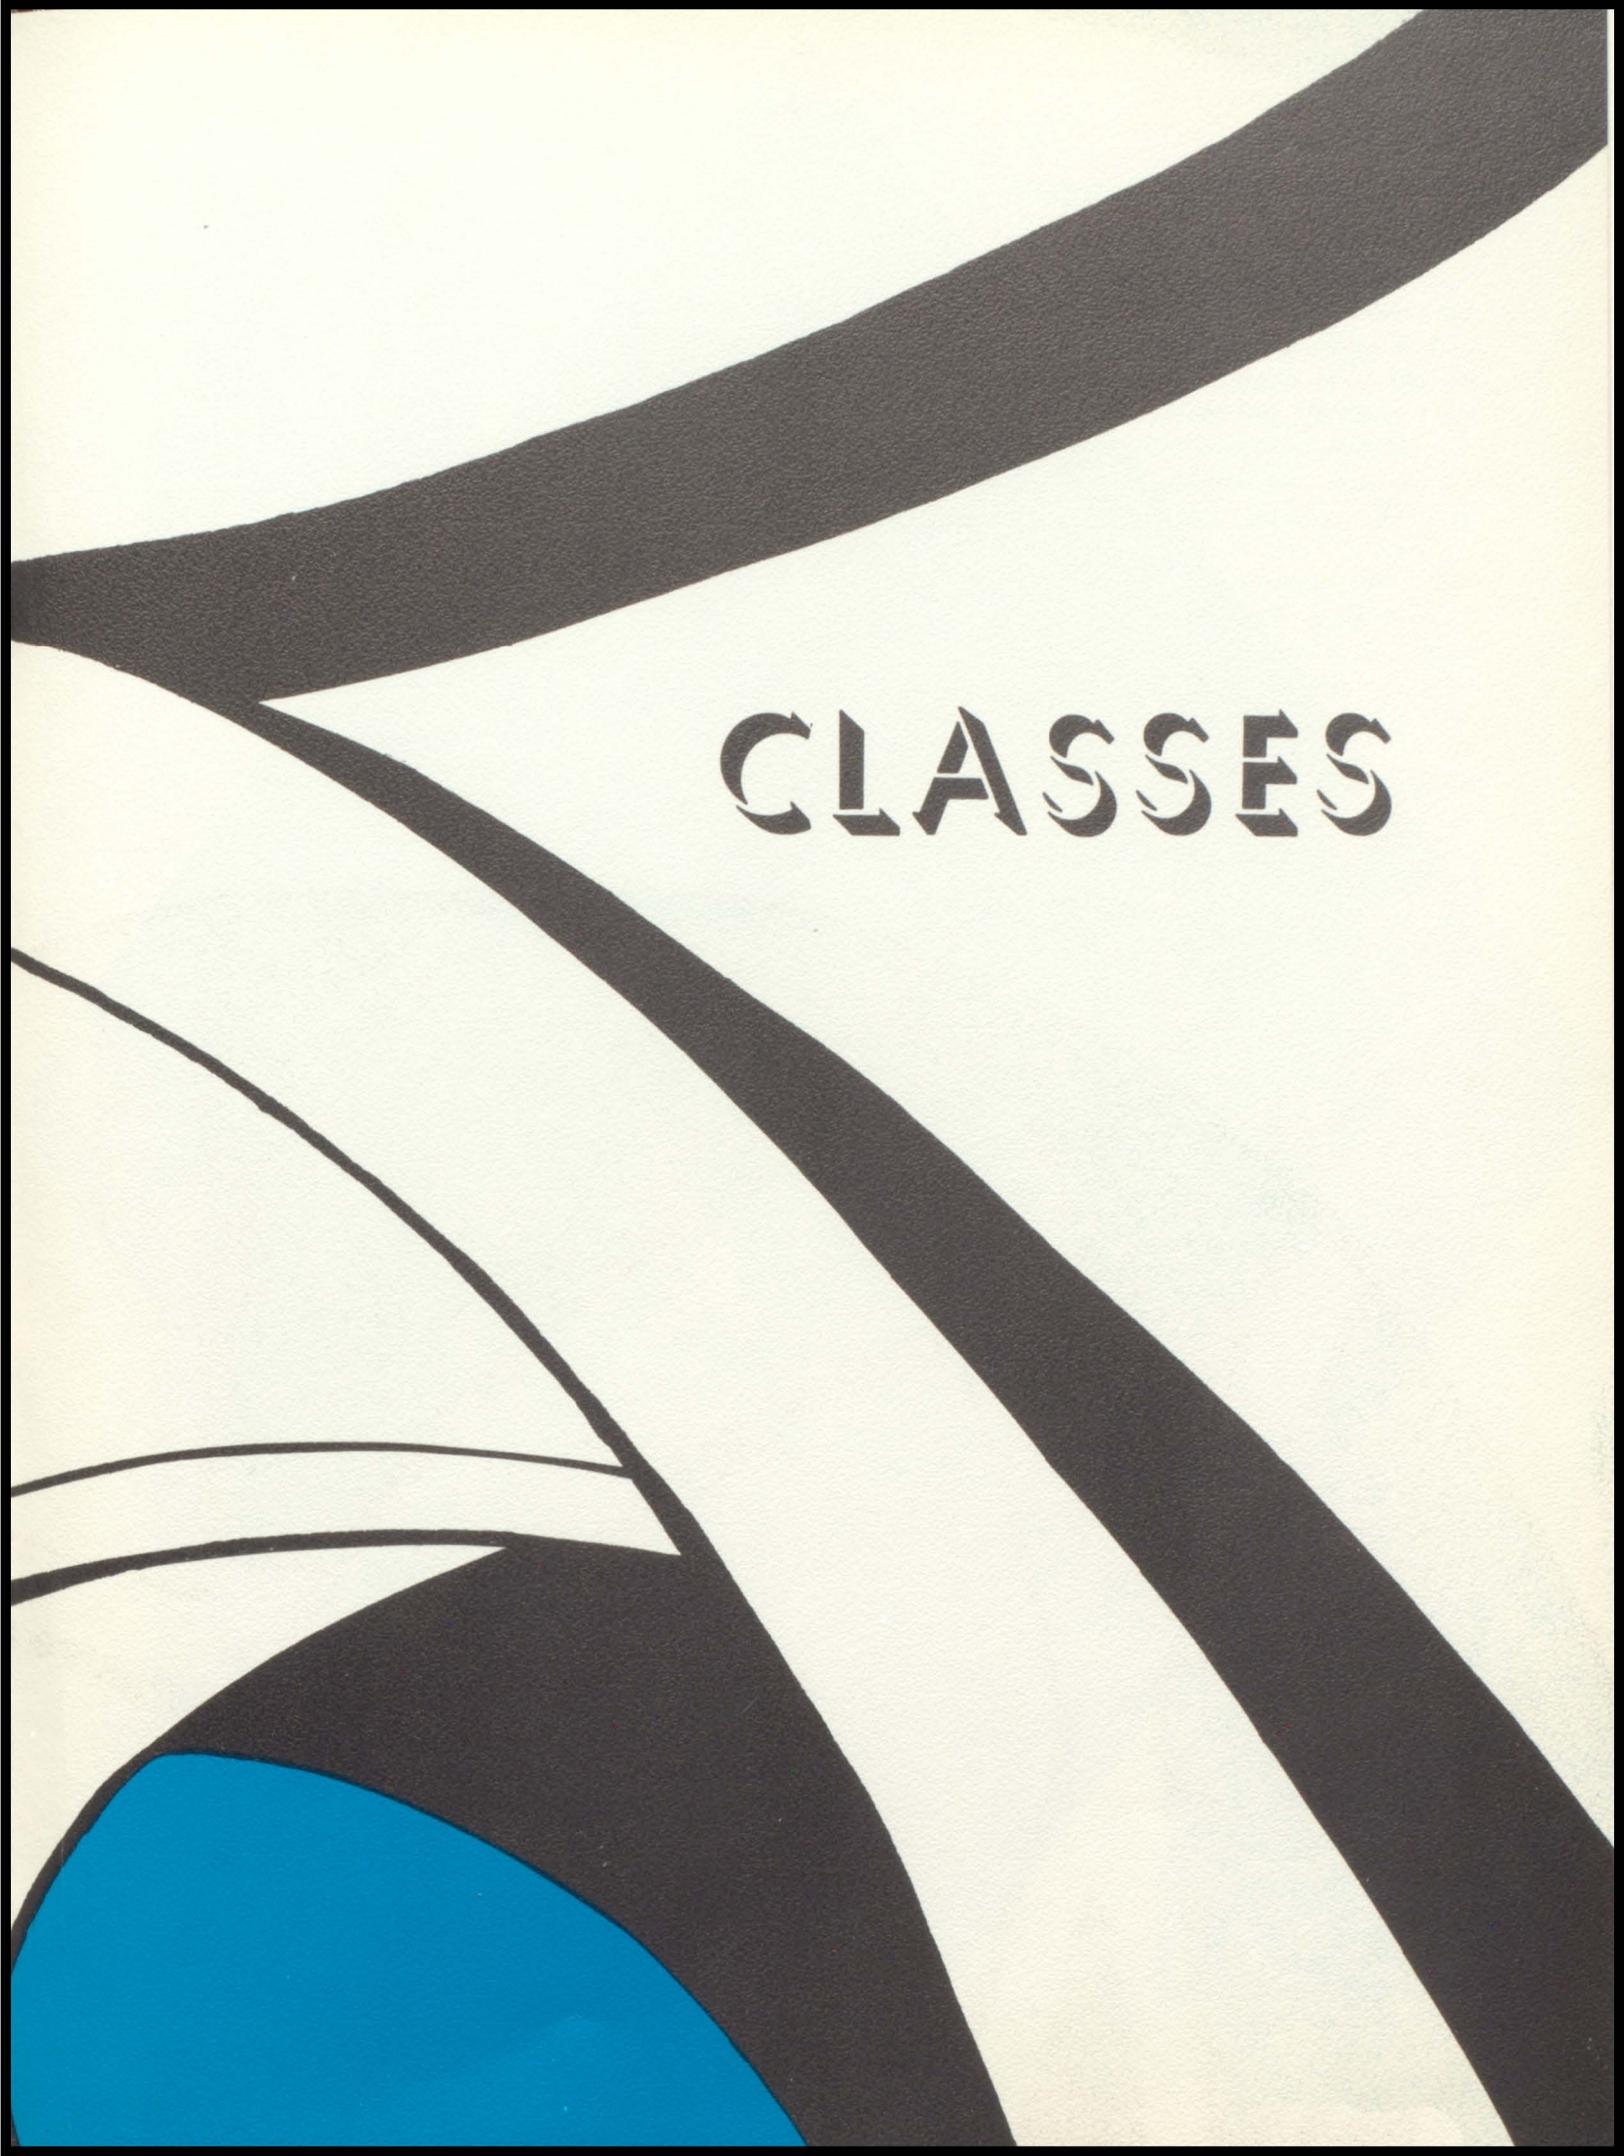

The clean-up detail is under the able direction of Mrs. Joseph. The necessary cleaning of both lunchroom and kitchens is accomplished swiftly and expertly by Mrs. Moskowsky and Mrs. McCarthy. Under the auspices of Mrs. Lellis, this crew successfully feeds about one thousand students a day.

By the way, what's good for ptomaine poisoning?

The Class of 1966 will now disperse and each graduate will face the larger world of college or community. He has become more aware of his place in society and the world around him. His thinking and interests have matured and broadened since his early days as an impressionable freshman, and now it is his turn to make his impression on the world.

Scholastically, the senior class boasts of a Merit Finalist, John Tully, and a winner of the National Achievement Award, Gary Williams. It also has a long list of Regents Scholarship winners and alternates.

Graduation marks the conclusion of an important period in development; but another door opens wide to new experiences. Seniors may never reunite as a class, but the many memories and experiences that have been shared will probably always remain with them as they ascend the ladder of life.

Council Action Please Seniors

Robert Schuessler, President; Mr. Lawson, Advisor.

Once again the seniors stepped out for the thrilling event of the year—the Senior Ball. Although there was some difficulty in securing a hall, the Senior Executive Council came through. Due to the hard work and determination of the council and Advisor Mr. Lawson, the social event was held at The Monaco on June 3.

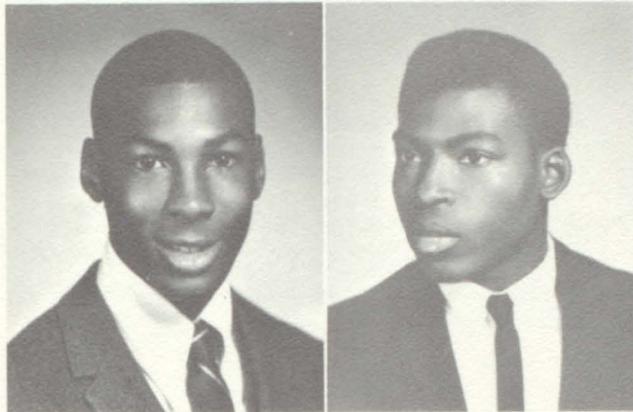

As in the past, the executive board had many other tasks to perform. Under its supervision, Senior-Frosh Day, Senior Week, and Senior Class Night were all a success. In the middle of December the board was in charge of a book sale whose proceeds went to Operation Crossroads.

Late in February the class motto, flower, and colors were chosen. The colors are midnight blue and silver; the flower is the peace rose, and the motto is:

Strike out against injustice;
Cry out for your belief.
Ne'er remain stifled,
In the bleakness of defeat.

Junior Turkish Ambassador Wins Everybody's Approval

The foreign exchange program this year brought to Hempstead a student from the Republic of Turkey, Haluk Ar. Haluk was the guest of Mr. Ayres of the Math Department. Along with shattering the popular notions of Turkey as a nomadic wasteland with camels and desert oases, Haluk presented many modern Turkish concepts during the assembly program in which he was featured.

Haluk is presently an honor student at Kadikoy College in Istanbul. He is very interested in philosophy, psychology and classical music. However, Haluk also enjoys the various sports of which football (soccer in the U.S.) and volleyball are his favorites. Haluk's greatest ambition is to be President of Turkey. If he accomplishes this, and he certainly seems qualified, Hempstead High School will be proud to say, "I knew him when."

Back-Up Crews Ready For Take Over

Holland came to Hempstead High on January 28, 1966. The boys' gym was colorfully arrayed with tulips, a quaint, old-fashioned windmill, and other symbols of the Dutch land. The fabulous Fabulons provided musical entertainment. Credit for the dance's success goes to the Junior Class Advisors Miss Dorwin, Mr. Lunde, and Mr. Lacombe. Praise also goes to the Junior Class officers: President Arlene Wang, Vice-President Gilbert West, Secretary Jo Anne Benjamin and Treasurer Susan Chin.

The Juniors' annual magazine sale set a record. Congratulations should be given to Susan Forbes and Margaret Hwang, the top sellers.

Life is not all "peaches and cream" and, unfortunately, the junior year marks the beginning of the "big sweat." The Juniors had to face the Merit Scholarship Exam, college boards, and regents in practically every subject. Having finished another chapter in their lives, they eagerly await the new challenges that their senior year will bring.

Test Pilots Train For Future

"Get your free slice of cake," was the cry as members of the Sophomore Class began their membership drive this year. The good things in life, however, are not free, for in order to get his cake, one had to pay his class dues. Gimmicks seem to work, and our second year students responded with great enthusiasm.

Sophomore officers lead by Kevin Smyley, President; Philip Creech, Vice-President; Sharon McNease, Secretary; and Charles Weinstein, Treasurer planned a successful discotheque which high-lighted the activities of the year. Informally dressed sophomores danced to current hits from a juke-box. Obviously these prospective juniors will continue to add pep to H.H.S. in the coming years.

FRESHMAN CLASS ADVISORS
Miss Murphy, Mr. Sexton, Mrs. Carde.

Last September, 423 new, bewildered students wandered through the halls of Hempstead High looking for their classrooms. In a surprisingly short time, they fell in step with the upperclassmen. Their senior sisters welcomed the freshmen girls on Senior-Frosh Day, and since then the freshmen have made themselves at home, studying seriously and taking part in sports, clubs and every phase of school life.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Carde, Miss Murphy and Mr. Sexton, they are making the Class of '69 one of the best yet. Their success was reflected from the beginning in their wise choice of officers, Kerry Price, President; Karen Collins, Vice-President; Judy Rollins, Secretary; and Chris Grimaldi, Treasurer.

The People's Choice Proves Wise

Our Student Council, led by President Delrita Hunter, assisted by Secretaries Linda Lee and Kathy Krolack, and Treasurer Dean Rollins, as well as homeroom representatives and alternates, together with the counsel of Mrs. Gottfried and Mr. Holtz, gave us an exciting, fun-filled year.

The fall pep rally and the winter "Sports a go go," the successful G.O. Dance, organized by Judy Fener and Linda Lee, the popular B.B.B., organized by Ilene Semon and Kevin Smyley, the record magazine sales supervised by Dean Rollins put us in full swing. The year ended with something new when Student Council candidates were introduced through a "Meet Your Candidates Ball."

Booster Club Boosts Spirit of '66

Ilene Semon
President

G-R-E-A-T! That's the word for this year's booster club, led by Ilene Semon, under the supervision of Mrs. Gottfried and Mr. Holtz.

Its members instilled school spirit and saw to it that vital school news reached the students. Throughout the year, they publicized school functions, decorating our halls with their lively posters.

Their activities included a cake sale, car wash, and an end-of-the-year picnic. All profits earned from their school fund-raising projects appropriately went to Care; for this year's boosters cared, as was evident in their activity and achievement.

Yearbook Turns Over New Leaf

Each year the Colonial workers are faced with the challenge of putting out a yearbook which will live up to the standards of the past and yet have an individual quality in its theme and in its presentation of the new graduating class. This task is not an easy one. The co-editors, John Tully and Roslyn Hoff, with their advisor Mr. Leusch, have been working since the beginning of the school year. Miss Murphy, Mr. Chambers, and Mr. Ayres, the other advisors, deserve credit also. Miss Murphy is the new copy advisor who reads, corrects, and proof-reads all material before it is submitted. Mrs. Kamen has taken Mr. Ayres' place as business advisor while he is on sabbatical during the spring semester. Under the guidance of Mr. Chambers, the art staff worked diligently to carry out the theme with pen and ink.

Two major changes in the Colonial are in the size and printing method. Until this year, Hempstead High School had used the smallest size book. The size has been enlarged for the first time and the results rate large and clearer pictures. Offset printing is used instead of the letter press method so it is possible to produce a less expensive book. Copy is smaller and more precise which makes it possible to have more photographs, the new trend in yearbooks. The paper used is of a dull finish, rather than a glossy one, and a large section is devoted to the retiring teachers.

The age of space demands innovation and the year-book, true to its theme, has a new look (or should we say, a new book?) this year.

Boy, writing these captions is a pain in the head.

Format Changed: Patriots Better Than Ever

This year's Patriot has been explosive. Each issue of the school newspaper has given the students of Hempstead High pages of worthwhile reading. From controversial editorials to our favorite "Tiger Tales," the Patriot has been highly interesting and informative.

Under the direction of Mr. Lattimore, editorial advisor, and Mrs. Kamen, business advisor, the Patriot is getting bigger and better feature articles and new columns, such as "Guest Columnist," have been an added delight. Pertinent cartoons are promised. Editors-in-Chief, Leslie Berman and Ila Kaplan, are looking forward to a mighty fourteen-page final issue.

National Honor Society Holds Torch High

The members of the Diogenes chapter of the National Honor Society follow four basic club principles: Character, Scholarship, Leadership, and Service. New members were made familiar with the importance these factors play in rounding out a student's academic and social life at the introduction ceremony held on March 3, 1966.

In addition to the regular officers, President Gary Williams, Vice-President Roslyn Hoff, Secretary Virginia Smith, and Treasurer Ila Kaplan, Ken Perlow was chosen program chairman to aid the president and direct the Debating Team. All the club's activities were carried out under the auspices of Advisor Mrs. Stilger.

In February, each club member was assigned a home-room from which to collect for the March of Dimes. In this and other ways, the members of the National Honor Society showed how their principles were put into practice.

The symbols of the National Honor Society are the keystone and the flaming torch. Just as the keystone holds the arch and the torch guides the way for others, club members uphold the ideals of the school and become the leaders of tomorrow.

Scholarship Wins The Day

In Stadium 235, Senior Scholars ran onto the field with hopes of defeating the New York State Regents Exam. Panic ensued when the exams were placed in front of their opponents; for the Seniors had never seen a team like this. Bang! Seniors grabbed their pens and attacked. Slowly, they began to tire as the clock ticked on. Last-minute plays were performed by the Scholars before the buzzer sounded.

Outstanding players were John Tully, a Merit Scholarship Finalist, and Gary Williams, a winner of the National Achievement Scholarship Program for Negroes. Hempstead High cheered its scholarship Tigers as they were carried victorious from the field!

Pretzels Parlayed Into Plaque

There's a saying that has become trite because it's true: "The first few years are the hardest." But in the face of this truism, a surprisingly large number of freshman and sophomore students make the honor roll each year, and with it, the Freshman-Sophomore Honor Club.

The club, led by Advisor Mrs. Carde, has been as active outside the classroom as in, and has engaged in a variety of activities this year. A formal induction of officers got them off to a ceremonious start.

In a less formal mood, members, including President James Chadderdon, and Secretary Randy Pasternak, hawked pretzels during Greek Games. The proceeds went towards purchase of a plaque honoring underclassmen who maintained a ninety average or better. This memorial will be displayed in one of the school's prominent show cases and attests to the fine achievement of the honor students and their club.

The Carpe Diem Sodalitas (translation—the Latin Club) has once more shown that Latin is not a dead language. The lively meetings, under the direction of Advisor Miss Winter, First Consul Irwin Solomon, Second Consul Paul Goonan, Scriba Harry Tonges and Quaestor Abby Ossoff gave a lively twist to the popular, dull conception of Latin. Such activities as a Latin treasure hunt and a Latin version of "Password" gave the language an all-together different, enjoyable flavor. Anyone who has completed Latin I is eligible for membership, even if he is not presently taking Latin. The slogan is "Once a Roman, always a Roman." The gala, end-of-the-year festivities featured a toga party with a special quartet composed of four members of the Latin IV class. Vos iungite cum multitudine! (translation—join the crowd)!

The highlights of the German Club, Der Deutsche Kreis, led by a new advisor, Mrs. Green, were the Christmas party, a lecture on German Theater, and a trip to the city.

The Christmas party was attended by some notable guests, including Dr. Sheldon, Miss Winter of the Latin Club, and Mrs. Young of the French Club. The club members sang traditional Christmas carols in German. Margaret Hwang and Linda Lee entertained by playing a duet on the piano. Everyone wished one another "Fröhliche Weihnachten!"

In March, Professor Lederer, who teaches German at Queens College and at Middlebury Language School, gave a lecture on the German Theater and "Woyzek," a play by Buchner.

The interested members of the club attended the play in New York City and agreed it was a worth-while experience.

President Roslyn Hoff, Vice-President Marilyn Graff, Treasurer Mara Lauva, and Secretary Linda Lee encourage German students to join next year in the entertaining and educational activities.

French Club members this year were taken through the Loire Valley, the Riviera and Paris via the slide presentations of Advisor Mrs. Young, Vivian Piel, and Alice Fox. These were only a sampling of the interesting and informative meetings held by the club this year under the guiding hands of President Alice Fox, Vice-President Gary Williams, Secretary Kathy Graves, Treasurer Laurie Fox, and Program Chairman Paul Fields.

The highlight of the season came at Christmastime when the members held their annual and once-again successful Christmas party. Later, they serenaded the community with favorite French Christmas carols. After the carols came food and the warmth of hot chocolate and Christmas cheer.

The members of this year's "El Circulo Castellano" were transported to Spain and Guatemala via films shown by Elaine Sacks and Laurie Fox. The flavor of Latin America came through when they attended a real Mexican Christmas "fiesta," complete with the traditional "piñata," filled with small gifts.

In addition, a few of Hempstead High's Spanish speaking students gave a panel discussion on their respective countries. Teresa Ramis from Cuba, Adolfo Taboada from Mexico, David Gordon from Ecuador, and Felipe Mercado from Puerto Rico each told of his country's social, economic, and political life.

Mrs. Stilger, the advisor, and this year's officers, President Felipe Mercado, Vice-President Vicki Weinstein, Secretary Virginia Smith, and Treasurer Danny Lanzetta guided the members of the Spanish Club through an enjoyable year.

Pop Math Is In

Silence is complete. The stillness is broken only by an occasional scratching of the head or rustle of paper. The Tupiar Club sits poring over a test administered by its stalwart Advisor Mr. "Pop" Hayes, who enlists the entire Math 12 class. As the club sits in deep contemplation of the art and mystery of mathematics, intent on solving its enigmas, all are equal. President Michael Bigby, Vice-President Patricia Rodzenski, Treasurer Leslie Berman, and Secretary Linda Lee are no longer officers. No posts are held; all titles are titular; all are rendered equal and many rendered helpless by the great equalizer, the math test.

Numbers Racket Uncovered

They live in a jungle of universal sets, slide rules and equations; they are the members of the Freshman-Sophomore Math Club. Led by Advisor Mr. Windt, with the aid of President Chris Grimaldi, Vice-President Paul Glorioso, and Secretary-Treasurer Nick Chamousis, these prospective math majors learn that mathematics is not only an essential part of their education, but also an enjoyable pastime.

Mathletes Make Victory Easy— For Everyone Else

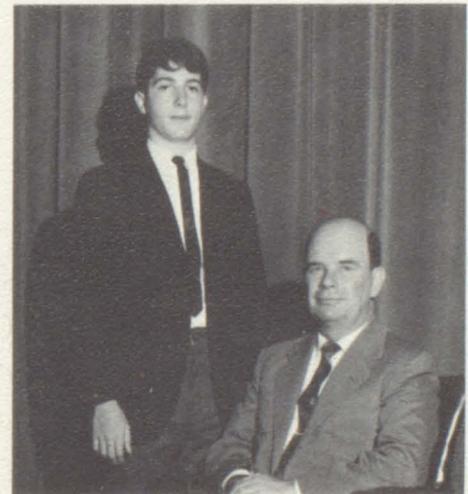

The dynamic math team, under the direction of its advisor, Mr. Smith, and Kenneth Perlow, its captain, has once again proven that the nice guys come in last. The team participated in six meets with four other schools. Members gain points by solving difficult problems in a short time. Five problems are posed to the members at each meet. It should not be unusual for an experienced member to get three or more problems correct during one meet, but it is—for Hempstead.

The team standing makes the "Mets" seem like pennant winners, but just wait until next year!

Science Club Reaches For The Stars

The Senior Science Club, founded in 1921, is the oldest in the school; but its members delve into the very frontiers of human knowledge. As a member of a larger organization, The Future Scientists of America, the science club is reaching for the stars. Our technological leaders of tomorrow can be seen on any Thursday poring over their projects in physics, chemistry, electronics, or any other field challenging the mind of man.

If you don't find them poring over texts, they are very likely out in the field viewing science at work, as they did when they visited the R.C.A. Computer Center.

Under the leadership of Advisor Mr. Levin, and President Victor Batorsky, Vice-President Byron Diggs and Secretary-Treasurer Carol Baugh, the members pry more deeply into problems left unsolved in their regular science classes. They tackle these problems unceasingly, until some sort of solution is reached, and new insights gained into the structure of the universe. Through their unsatiable curiosity, one truly finds that knowledge is truth.

Club Launches Junior Scientists

When is a club not a club? When it's the Junior Science Club. Then it becomes more an extension of the classroom. Under the able direction of Advisor Mr. Lawson, members of the weekly club view demonstrations of various scientific principles.

These students, science-minded freshmen and sophomores, are then permitted to conduct their own experiments, using the equipment in the science rooms. Students who are interested in a scientific profession find the science club a launching pad for the future.

Under the guidance of Miss Winter, F.T.A. served both our school and community. F.T.A. ushered at Open House, hosted at Faculty Teaching, helped at a grade school drama production and honored teachers on Teachers' Recognition Day. In serving our community, members participated in tutoring programs at Franklin and Jackson Schools.

To acquaint the members with the different opportunities offered by the teaching profession, each month's meeting presented a variety of programs.

Get A Whole New Perspective

Hempstead High School's literary magazine offers a varied perspective on life, hence its name. Perspective offers creative students an opportunity to express themselves. Under the direction of Advisor Miss Newlon and Editor-in-Chief Cheryl Formisano, the staff, composed of those students who contributed to last year's edition, reviewed the vast selection of entries and made the difficult choice of poetry, prose, satire, and short stories. This year's Perspective was, as it has been since it was started by Miss Newlon five years ago, an excellent example of the students' literary achievement.

English Club Boasts New Name

If you like to read, write, or discuss any form of literature, you're a natural for the Literary Society, which, under the direction of Advisor Mrs. Weismann, is better known as the English Club. Scheduled to meet on alternate Tuesdays, the society adopted the custom of the nineteenth century New England Transcendental Society; they meet when they get together. The meetings consist of poetry readings, movies, dramatizations and recitations. The officers are President Kathy Graves, Vice-President Petra Helms, Secretary Alice Fox, and Treasurer Janet Greenhouse. By obtaining an understanding of works from Shaw to Shakespeare, the members become more appreciative of literature.

History Club Joins Nassau Career Day

This year's History Club added two new activities to its calendar. Under the leadership of President Robert Loewy, Vice-President Glenn Goldberg, Secretary Kenneth Tully, Treasurer Alan Goldstein and the counseling of Advisor Mr. Nelson Williams, the members bolstered their usual seminar-type meetings by participation in Nassau County Career Day, an opportunity enabling selected students to manage Nassau County government for a day. The History Club also sponsored this year's Florence Abbott History Award. This honor is annually bestowed upon H.H.S.'s outstanding all-around student. The winner must be an active member of the community as well as a strong academic student.

Bookies Discovered in School Library

The next time you're in the library and find the right book in the right place, thank the library staff who file pamphlets and cards, type, serve as messengers, work on the display cases just outside the library and process the new books that come in.

The staff has twelve members; three are paid for their work as part of the school's STEP program. All twelve aid the chief librarian, Mrs. Ryder, and her assistants Miss Herod and Mrs. Young.

Shutterbugs Light Up Scene

On a couple of occasions this year, students enjoying their lunches in the cafeteria were startled by a brilliant flash of light. They soon discovered that it was only another camera bug taking action shots around the school.

The members of the Camera Club have been zealous this year with four photo contests spurring them on. Three of them were won by Vice-President Jeff Chan. In the other contest, President Richard Nass took first-place honors. The club obviously had a brilliant year.

Don't Stomp On The Stampers

This year's stamp club was a tightly knit group sharing one passion—stamps! Unlike other clubs, the formality of electing officers was eliminated. Once a month the members put their stamps on the trading block, and violent bartering began. Through the accomplished trades, the members tried to complete their collections, and perhaps sell them at a profit. All activity was carried on under the approving eye of Advisor Mr. Holtz.

Bargains Galore At "The Corner" Store

A small sample of the business world is shown in Hempstead High's own store, the Blue and White Corner. This enterprise is a nonprofit organization founded by the General Organization in 1934. It is operated entirely by students, under the supervision of Mr. Charles Mills, in conjunction with the retailing program, and is designed to serve the best interests of the students and school.

The store's main purpose is to render service to the students by providing classroom materials at a minimum price, especially items that cannot be secured elsewhere in the village. It also provides for the retailing student valuable experience in merchandising.

Business World Challenges Club Members

Business students make up a large percentage of the H.H.S. population, and the members of the Business Club have emphasized their importance this year. President Pat Westbrooks, Vice-President Sarah Deans and Secretary Shelly Hines initiated a Business Students' Recognition Day. Aided by Club Advisor Mrs. Swedlow, business students received awards and certificates at a tea in May.

To acquaint the members with opportunities offered by the business world, each month's meeting presented guest speakers, panel discussions, films, and, once, a tour of the Stock Exchange and important city banks. Obviously, club members got down to business!

A.V. Projects For The Future

Not only does the A.V. squad provide reliable service for the school and community, it helps the boys as well. They perfect their skill in operating movie projectors and other A.V. equipment in the classrooms, night school and various clubs and churches throughout the community. At the same time, they are able to earn money and, in part, become not only responsible but self-sufficient citizens.

Boys who become especially proficient may find their skills useful in gaining permanent employment later. Mr. Lind, director of the Audio-Visual Department and the A.V. squad, together with Mrs. Murphy, must be given credit for the care of our up-to-date films, televisions, projectors, tape recorders, and other audio-visual equipment.

If you've passed by Room 114 after school on the first or third Wednesday of the month, then you've had a real treat. On those days, enticing aromas came wafting from kitchens of the Future Homemakers of America.

Under Miss Lane's supervision, and the leadership of President Tina Rice and Vice-President Donna Pokorny, the club made many fast-to-prepare and delectable foods. The club also had many interesting guest speakers and films. At the end of the year, they celebrated with dinner at a well-known restaurant, climaxed by a tour of its kitchen.

Cartons of Good Will Sent To Viet Nam

This year the Red Cross was fairly active. Under the leadership of Advisor Miss Lane, they started their annual membership drive. Each homeroom's representative collected money and gave out the membership pins. Another activity of the Red Cross this year was a fund and supply drive for the children of Vietnam. Money and other articles of various sorts were collected and sent to these refugees. All in all, this year has proved to be quite fruitful for the Red Cross and the many happy people it has helped.

Health Careers Club "Cuts Up"

Medicine may seem an uninteresting or gory subject to many of us, but the girls in the Health Careers Club have found a common interest in medicine and have been very active this past year.

Under the leadership of Advisor Mrs. Dolley, President Monica Reid, Vice-President Pam Sumbly, Secretary Blair Ebert, Treasurer Judy Mason and Publicity Agent Leslie Ford, members heard speakers talk about narcotics, alcoholism, and cerebral palsy. Films on the subject of hospitals on Long Island and venereal disease were viewed with interest.

The Bellevue Hospital School of Nursing and the Mount Sinai Hospital were two institutions which the girls visited this year. In addition, the girls threw an Easter party for the pre-kindergarden children at Prospect School. Such a club program might lead one to ponder the saying, "An apple a day keeps the doctor away"—but, what about the nurses?

Aides Give Secretaries Helping Hands

Throughout the year, the unheralded "Office Aides" of 101-106 have been circulating through the building, running errands, filing material, delivering messages, and, in general, making life easier for those secretaries fortunate enough to have these girls in their respective offices. Under the direction of Miss Ronnermann and Miss Brennan, girls of special ability and responsibility have learned the use of business skills necessary to the smooth running of an office.

Work—A Paper Tiger

Heads of departments breathe a sigh of relief at the very thought of the secretaries to the faculty. For these girls do a great deal to relieve the paper work of such jobs. Typing, filing, and marking papers for some teachers, the secretaries, supervised by Miss Jones, help put the teacher's emphasis on the classroom rather than the workroom.

There is talk of expanding the squad and their tasks next year so that all interested teachers can have a Girl Friday.

Mrs. Houck and Miss Degenhardt and their staff provide all the mimeographed and dittoed material for teachers. This service has proved a real lifesaver.

In posting notices of club meetings and other important student functions, Mrs. Gaffga's bulletin board staff performs an indispensable service to our school.

Orchestra Features On-Campus Arranger

Every year, the Hempstead High School Orchestra does justice to the compositions of Bach, Brahms and Beethoven. However, arranging music is no less an art, and this year the orchestra did not have to reach back to the aged immortals to find the arrangement they needed. At the Christmas Concert, Paul Goonan orchestrated a four-part choral "Wie Schon Leuchtet der Morgenstern" by Michel Praetorius. Paul is just one of the students, who, under Mr. Strickland's direction, makes our orchestra one of the finest on the Island.

Each group within the orchestra; Mr. Weinberg's woodwinds, Mr. Hodges' bass, Mr. Foster's cello, Mr. Parvis' percussion, and Mr. Albinski's brass, practiced ceaselessly to make the Christmas and Spring Concerts truly memorable.

An excellent orchestra is the product not only of talent and theory, but also of long hours of practice. Mr. Strickland's course in music theory, the techniques taught from grade school on, and the students' enthusiasm give our orchestra all of the necessary ingredients.

The Glee Club groups include the Lorelei (advanced girls), Nightingales (freshman girls) and The Note-dusters (boys). They are composed of freshman and sophomore students who enjoy singing. Able Director Miss Peterson, and her assistant Mrs. Fish prepare the members for the Choir by teaching basic singing techniques, such as voice control and sight reading. For the members it is a pleasant change of pace from the usual classroom activity. The joy of singing in such groups is a rewarding experience and a springboard to further group singing and a lifetime of appreciation of music.

The Band Steps Out

"Roll off! One-two, one-two!" And the Hempstead High School Band, drums drumming and flags waving, steps out to the tune of "Hello Dolly", in this year's presentation, Show Time! The band displayed its flags, highsteppers and adroitness at three home games, later at Yankee Stadium for the Giants' opening football game, at a show for the fans of the New York Jets, and at Wagner College. The climax of its star-studded season was the Newsday Festival of Bands on October 21 at Hofstra College. Bands from all over the island attended the festival and the Hempstead High School band, led by Mr. Kazimier Albinski, was given another opportunity to enhance its fame and prestige.

But a marching band is not all fame and fortune. The students spent many cold hours out on the football field in late September and October practicing their tunes and routines, forming a thousand times a day the treble clef, a huge umbrella (for the tune "Don't Rain on My Parade") and the words Show Time.

Those who saw the Memorial Day parade saw the band marching up Greenwich Street in full dress, playing its stirring marches. The band topped off the year with a great performance at the Spring Concert, this year held at Hofstra College. "If music be the food of life, playing on!"

Cheerleaders Behind Surge In Spirit

School spirit, which was very high this year, was fostered and enthusiastically directed at football and basketball games by our very able and vibrant cheerleaders. Their advisor, Mrs. Luckman, Captain Louise Korn, and Co-Captain Sharlene Asendio molded these girls into a polished group.

The squad originally consisted of twelve girls, but, due to a strict set of rules formulated this year, some of them had to forfeit their positions because of low school grades. There were many basketball games at which only four or five cheerleaders were present, and yet they were able to rouse the school's spirit and cheer our Tigers on to victory as though they had the spirit of twenty. Badly needed uniforms were obtained this year, only through the determination of these girls who made the uniforms themselves. "Success, success, to the H.H.S.," certainly came, and in part was guaranteed by these Tigerettes who cheered others on to it.

Hempstead Brings Touch Of

Despite having a five and three record and placing third in SSAL Division III, Hempstead High's football team was a disappointment to the players and coaches. After reeling off five straight victories and outscoring the opposition one hundred and eighty-three points to six, Hempstead suffered its first loss in eleven straight games at the hands of Long Beach, 6-0. The team didn't recover from the loss and proceeded to lose to Valley Stream North and Carey.

The football team was characterized by a power offense, averaging over twenty-six points per game and a sturdy defense, yielding less than seven per game.

The starting team was composed of ends John Harris and Dean Rollins, tackles John Heltz and Charles Wytenus, guards Hank Savarese and James McCormack, center John Tripp, quarterback Calvin Hall, halfbacks Charles Moore and Mike Bigby, fullback Bob Schuessler and linebacker Frank Walker.

First Place:

Mr. O. Mills, Mr. J. Mills, Mr. Gangemi, Coaches.

Who's that tiger in our "Basketball Tank"? For thirteen years, he has been Mr. John Mills. After devoting his time and energy to our twelfth winning team, Mr. Mills retired from his coaching position to devote full time to his role as guidance counselor. However, Mr. Mills did not leave without glory.

The 1966 Varsity Basketball Team ended its season with a 15-4 record and again won first place in its section. With this title, the Tigers entered the county tournament as they have done in the past eleven years, though they were eliminated, unfortunately, in the first game.

The success of this season can be attributed to Mr. Mills, Mr. Gangemi, Managers Luther Cumbo and Randy Williams, and of course the Varsity players. Congratulations should be extended to Hank Fischetti and Al Williams for having been selected to the All-Division Team.

As Mr. Mills retires from his coaching position with such an impressive record of victories, the fans, the Tigers, and even the gym will miss his slightly crooked smile, familiar slump-shouldered stride, and droll humor.

Quick, before they run out of pretzels!

Soccer Team Ties Last Game—In Vain

Maybe we'll catch some fish when the tide comes in.
R. Wierbicki, M. Swink, R. Pernal

J. McNeil, Captain; Mr. Just, Coach; L. Spry, Captain.

In spite of excellent playing on the part of the squad and fine coaching by Mr. Just, the soccer team had a rather disappointing season, compiling a record of three wins, two ties, and seven losses. These losses were by slim margins, three in overtime. The percentage of losses was due to the size of the squad, which, because of a poor preseason turnout, was small.

However, led by Co-Captains Lerverne Spry, John Garrido and "Scobie" McNeil, the team finished the season with an impressive two wins and two ties. Also, for the third straight year, Hempstead was represented on the all-county team, this year by John Garrido.

Next year, with more participation and with returning lettermen Jan Wierbicki and Paul Martin, the soccer team can look forward to a better season.

"Matman" Strikes Again

Wrapping up another one on the way to 42 in a row.
L. Spry

A. Mays, L. Spry, Captains; Mr. Just, Coach; J. Akins, Captain.

Our matmen began their schedule with all the promise a successful season entails. With five of his wrestlers returning for their fourth year, Coach Just had high hopes for the team.

These hopes were realized during the early part of the season, when the team won its first five matches. Then the difficulty started. Amid an avalanche of injuries, closely followed by a waning of team spirit, the last six matches saw one victory and a tie, interspersed with four defeats.

The performance of Lervere Spry highlighted this year's wrestling team. Spry, a three-time divisional champ, compiled an outstanding record of forty-two consecutive wins. His streak was broken in the county divisionals, but only by a boy who later went on to capture the New York State Championship.

It's Turkey Time

During this past season, Coach Bottjer's forces came through in many crucial frames. Even though they finished sixth in Division III, the bowling team regained their form in the Nassau Rolloffs and finished twelfth out of forty-two entrants.

This year's high average of 185 belonged to Gary Sjogren. Backing Gary up were Captain Lee Constantine, Arnold Garick, Jeff Chan, and John Vanek.

Despite losing four starting seniors, next year's team will not be lacking in experience. A Junior Varsity team has been active, and the boys picked up invaluable experience for next year.

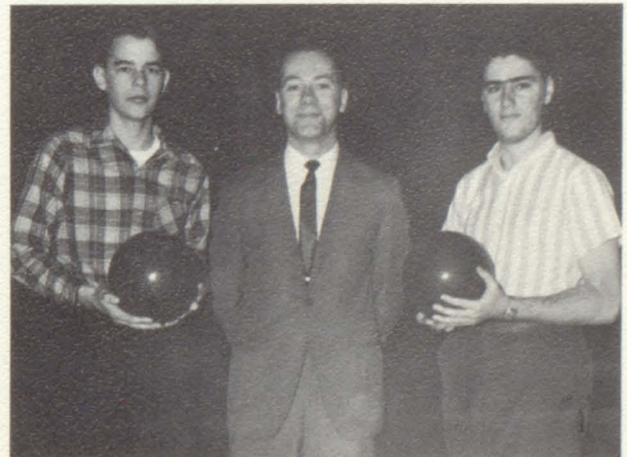

Keith Tennyson lets ball roll for a strike.

Rifle Team Aims High

This year in a new league, and with a new coach, Mr. Lacombe, the rifle team shot its way to a favorable seven-five record. But there were few high spots this year in a league that had two unbeatable teams, four losing teams and us, right in the middle.

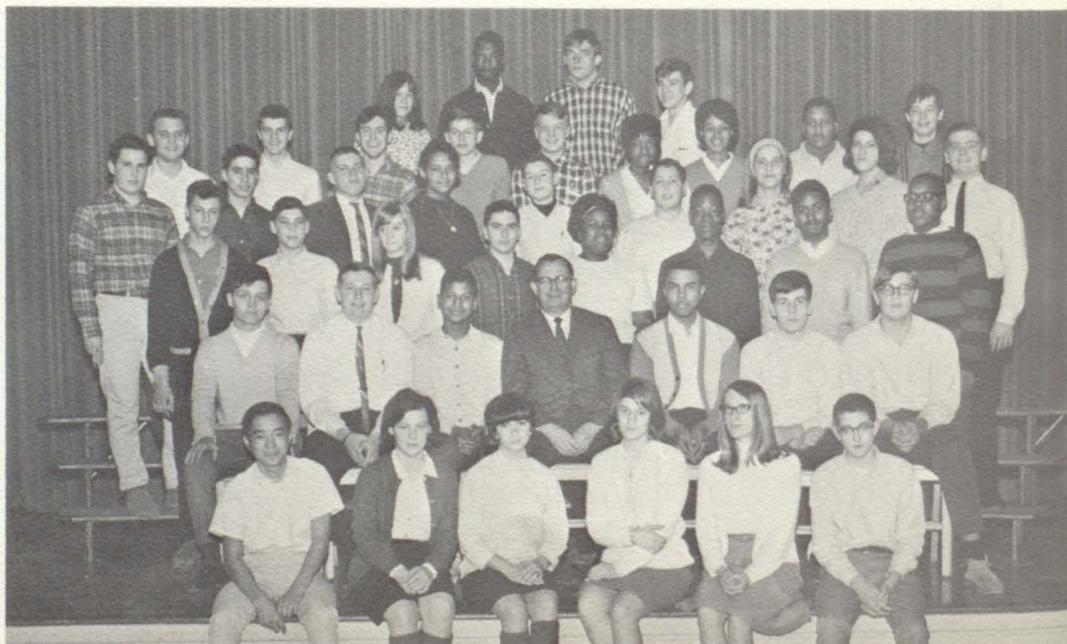

Next year we hope to have a well-balanced team consisting of five returning varsity men including John (Hawkey) Michelis, our leading scorer, and three or four promising shooters from the J.V. We then hope to be in a position to challenge the unbeatables.

The members of the varsity rifle team are also involved in the club. Real rifle enthusiasts, members of the rifle club, come down to the range twice a week for instruction. Then, at the end of the year, awards are distributed to the better marksmen.

Lacrosse Nets Experience

Lacrosse, although a relatively new sport in many public high schools, is the oldest organized sport in America, played in New York State by the members of the Six Nations of the Iroquois before Columbus landed in the New World.

But, even though a latecomer to Hempstead, it has been steadily rising in popularity and in the quality of its teams. Over the past few years, Hempstead has made the County Playoffs, and this year's team appears to be no exception.

Experience was a valuable asset to the team, with seniors, Dave Ayres, Tom Elsner, John Harris, Bob Schuessler and Frank Walker applying their skills and finesse on the field for their fourth straight year.

The Indians used Lacrosse for a warm-up to war; they felt it kept their braves in top physical condition. For modern Americans the game itself has become a battle, but one old tradition remains—we're out to scalp them!

Gone from the 1966 track team were the super stars of the preceding season. This year's team relied upon steady performance and depth in both the running and field events.

John Tripp led the team in the strength department with outstanding efforts in the shot-put and discus. With aid from Bruce Lattimore in the pole vault, Gilbert West in the broad jump and Steve Morse in the high jump, Coach Kight had little cause for worry in the field events. The team was equally well represented in the running events with Robert Moore and Dennis Vanputten excelling in the sprints, Horris James topping his competition in the hurdles and James Green specializing in the quarter mile.

H.S. was also blessed with many fine middle and long distance runners including Bill Forbes, Hugh Whitaker, Richard Roccio and Marc Friedman. This year determination paid off and proved again that teamwork is the real star of any sport.

Batmen Strike Out (Against Defeat)

Over the past two seasons, the Hempstead baseball team has come to be known as the Hempstead Mets, and their record has tended to live up to their name. However, this year with eight of last year's Varsity men returning, the Hempstead Mets may once again become the Hempstead Tigers under the coaching of Mr. Martone. The players are hopeful and expect to definitely make an improvement over last year's record, because, although the record is poor, most of the losses were by a margin of only a run or two. Fielding and an experienced team this season may give them the needed edge.

Rackets Pay Off

For the second time in as many years, the tennis team was faced with the problem of adjusting to a new coach. Mr. Lunde assumed the coaching responsibilities of this year's team. With only three returning players from last year's squad, Mr. Lunde decided that this was the year to draft young players and build for the future. Next year we should see a great improvement in the tennis team, and what is even more important, every member of next year's team will be back for the 1968-1969 season.

Successful Season Finds Golf Team Up To Par

It was Mr. Nolan's second year as coach of H.H.S.'s golf team, and with the return of four of last year's five veteran starters, the team clubbed its way to a successful season. The team responded well to this year's revised sports schedule and scored accordingly on their opponent's courses. On their familiar home course they were even more formidable, aspiring to the low scores of their captain, Bill Lindenberg.

Varsity Club Expands Programs

Over the past few years, the Varsity Club has been expanding its activities and services. Under the direction of Mr. Schuessler and with the aid of President John Tripp, Secretary John Tully, Treasurer Mike Bigby and Sergeant-at-Arms John Heltz, much was accomplished this year, and for the years to come. The club provided a sports patrol at home athletic contests. It also offered members varsity jackets at a reduced price.

Inspiring a spirit of teamwork and sportsmanship was the main purpose of the club. This combination of attitudes can often result in a victory over a more talented opponent.

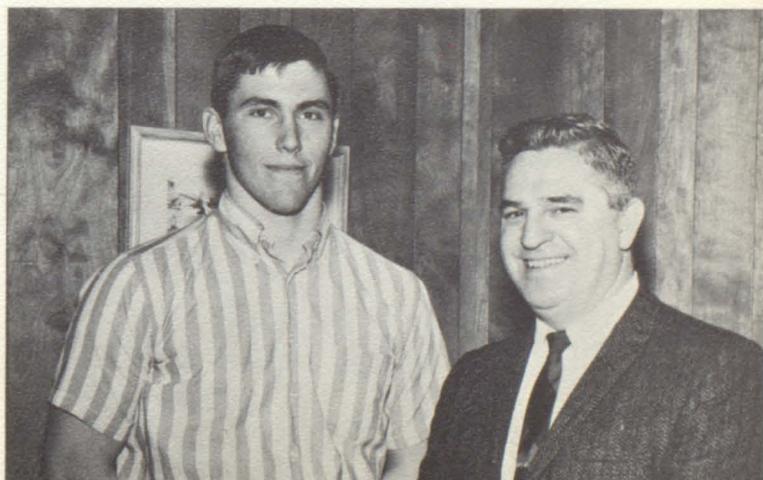

The Varsity Club made a special plea to the fans and because of these efforts, good sportsmanship was shown on the field and in the stands all year.

J.V. Spotlights Shooting Stars

The J.V. Basketball team once again completed a dynamically successful season with sixteen victories and only two defeats. The team with many talented players, Captain Wayne Morgan, Kerry Price, Charlie Simkins, Robert Albinski, and Lorenzo Knight, working under the guidance of Coach Olvin Mills, produced this enviable record. A giant hope for some future varsity team came in the person of six-foot-six Art Barton. The team's ballhandling and driving abilities made Coach Mills' four-year record 66-4.

J.V. Gridmen Shutout 6

Six shutouts boosted the spirits of our hardworking junior varsity. These young tigers racked up six out of their eight games. Football is action, teamwork and strict training which the boys learned from their coaches, Mr. Brennan and Mr. Keyes. Star players such as Captains Al Williams and Wayne Morgan resulted from this successful training. It's hard, tiring work, but for our future varsity, it was well worth the effort.

Winning Tradition Holds Good

This year's freshman football team, coached by Mr. Martone and Mr. Stromberg, posted a strong five and one record. After losing their first game to a much more experienced team, the freshmen bounced back and defeated all their remaining opponents. Future Varsity candidates include Todd Friedman, Tom Krolack, McArthur Lumpkin, Craig Morgan, Kerry Price and Dan Simone. This year's freshman team indicates that Hempstead's winning tradition will continue.

Girls' Phys. Ed. Gives Key To Success

Girls' physical education at Hempstead High School consists of a variety of intermural and intrascholastic sports, such as soccer and field hockey in the fall, volley ball, bowling, and gymnastics in the winter, and modern dance, tennis, softball, archery, track and field in the spring. The girls participate in these sports under the expert supervision of Mrs. Luckman and Miss Korneliusen.

This spring, Hempstead hosted the Girls' Nassau

County Track and Field Meet. Girls from many of the junior and senior high schools in the county competed in the events such as the high jump, fifty and seventy-five yard dashes, and the two hundred and forty yard relay.

Achievement in these various activities was recognized at the Annual Awards Dinner. The girls were awarded numerals, varsity letters, shields, and keys in recognition in their athletic achievement.

Athens, Sparta Clash

Once again the Athenians and Spartans demonstrated their ability in Greek Games. Over a hundred girls participated in competitive events such as discus, hurdling, hoop, torch racing, charioteer and horse exhibition. An added attraction featured the girls in the non-competitive events of tumbling, gymnastics, and modern dance.

The format of this thirty-first performance has been slightly altered. The Greek Chorus was one of the innovations. This group of girls narrated the story of Greek Games. A board of directors, known as the Muses, was organized. Some of its duties were to choose the teams and to direct and boost team spirit. This year's Greek Games was dedicated to Aphrodite, Cupid, and Psyche. There were two honored guests, Mrs. Reicher, who originated Greek Games in our school, and Mr. Uhl, who constructed the original chariots and hoops.

Miss Korneliusen and Mrs. Luckman were the advisors. The co-chairmen of this production were seniors Mary Hwang and Sandra Haynes. Doing their utmost to help them were thirty coaches and committees to handle miscellaneous details.

Two months' hard work and devoted efforts were evident in the overwhelming success of this year's performance.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS: TO GET AHEAD... GET A DEGREE!

We'll finance your college education

Get your diploma and get good grades. It takes good grades to get into college or special training schools. The one other thing you need is money. If you haven't got it we'll lend it to you.

We are prepared to lend up to $7,500 to promising students to enable them to get college degrees and even to go on to graduate schools. Students pay no interest while they are in school and then only 3%.

They have six years after graduation to pay us back.

This is an opportunity no boy or girl can afford to miss.

Work Program Expanded

HEMPSTEAD'S Co-operative Work Experience Program continued to expand its offering to students again this year. In addition to those programs already in force, such programs as the STEP Program, Co-operative Food Services Program, Employment Orientation Program and the Vocational Industrial Co-operative were instituted, enabling more and more students to take advantage of professional on-the-job skill training coordinated with related classroom instruction.

Aside from immediate monetary rewards for services rendered, the students thus enrolled have the opportunity to learn new skills, to apply almost at once the learning from the training received at school, and to have a first-hand opportunity to adjust to the responsibilities of the world of work. Directing all aspects of the various work-study programs is Mr. Davidson with Mr. John Mills, counselor-coordinator of the STEP Program; Mrs. Mary Bowen, Home Economics occupational coordinator; Mr. Clarence Becker, vocational-industrial coordinator; Miss Yvette Dogin, chairman, Special Education Department; Mrs. Doris Dolley, coordinator, Pre-nurse Training Program; and Dr. Jerome Ferber, instructor, Dental Assistant Program.
