Wow! Who would've thought these 4 yrs. would go so fast? In the words of Shakespeare my experience at Hempstead High was "wonderous strange." I've met a lot of people who have influenced me regarding my goals and outlook on life and they have all taught me something. My experiences have shaped the person I am and will become. So I guess, Hempstead was good for somethin'. In my senior year I've made friends, lost friends, but have always been a friend, or at least I try. I'm already short, so the way I figure it, I got nowhere to go but up. Lotta laughs and good times is how I'll remember Hempstead. And that's sorta me in a nut shell. Thanks to my parents for their support. Je Tien. Peace. P.S. Badminton is a sport!

SENIORITIS

Senioritis — (n.) Most common disease amongst seniors. The process of ones ego growing at a tremendous rate from the realization that one is leaving the high school atmosphere. Side effects include severe cutting, laziness, sleeping through class, nonchalant attitudes, extreme cockiness and total disinterest in all that is scholastic.

Tomi Joshua: The 2002 yearbook is here. I want to thank everyone who made it what it is. To my co-editor the beautiful and always funny, Helen. Good luck in college and all your future plans with your A&F guy. To Ms. Graves, you truly put your all into this book and I want to thank you for taking time out to capture our days of high school so we can share it with our family and friends. On behalf of the senior class of '02 I thank you for all you did and also for feeding us when we stayed in school late. Throughout high school I have made and lost friends unnecessary this is why I thank God for friends such as Porshcia, Adama, Mesue, Helen, Aunt Tamara and Rachel. These ladies have taught me so much (RC). I thank my family for their support and constant reminder of my Nigerian background, which I can now share with friends just like Mesue, who taught me the SAK PASE and Helen the African-American (Wink). To the HHS staff, thanks for your support. To my track team I love you girls and thanks for everything coach I'll miss you. To Ms. Travis, Amo, Mr. Roy, Ms. I and Mrs. Hammond. To my brothers, Seun, Kay, Shola, Mida, Brandon and Akeem, I love you...Now where's my graduation gift? To Ms. Gant and Mrs. Johnson Gant thanks for everything. Well I would like to thank everyone in my environment for making me who I am and the highest praise to God because only with him could I have made it this far and he still lives in me. To everyone else, Carpe Diem.

Helen J. Galarza: In the four years I've been at the High I have to say the best has been this last one. Between being here and at work I have finally begun to understand myself, who I am and who I want to be. This year I've decided to surround myself with people who feel the same and understand compassion. In saying that, my first big thanks goes to my co-editor/close friend and partner in most crimes, Tomi. Good luck on everything you do and know that I got'cha back always! To Ms. Graves, Thanks for putting up with me walking into you room every morning cursing like a sailor. I hope people appreciate how much you worked your butt off. To the yearbook club and all the people who came in everyday and gave themselves to this project when they didn't have to... One Love. To the pizza place that made those crazy hot pizzas we ate those late nights working on the book. Thanks to the Sony Company who conveniently made the worlds most undependable alarm clock so I could get those extra three hours of sleep in and improve on my senioritis. To Swiss Miss, for making those helpful little packets of chocolate powder. To all the people who grew to hate me, you're all just as important as those who grew to love me. To Ms. Fazio, wherever you are, thank you for teaching me how to live in the moment. I would literally not be here without you. To the graduating class of '02, bless your tiny, little hearts. I hope you like our labor of love and if you don't, I could care less! HG.

The Yearbook Club would like to thank the Hempstead High School Family for their help and support toward the creation of the 2002 Yearbook. We thank you for allowing our intrusions into your classrooms. You may have let us use your classroom for fundraising or maybe you let us use your art work or photography. Some of you let us leave a class early or come a little late, because you understood the enormous job of putting one year into a few pages.

Whatever you did to assist us, WE THANK YOU.
Special thanks to Ms. Baird, Mr. Stewart, Ms. Barnicki, Ms. Scott, Mr. Jackson, Mr. Curry, and The English Department.
